TWENTY THIRD ANNIVERSARY.

THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY held its Twenty Third Anniversary in the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, on Wednesday Evening, May 9th, 1849.

HENRY DWIGHT, Esq., President of the Society, took the chair, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. GEORGE E. PIERCE, D. D., President of Western Reserve College, Hudson, O.

An Abstract of the Treasurer's Report was read by JASPER CORNING, Treasurer.

An Abstract of the Annual Report of the Executive Committee was presented by Rev. MILTON BADGER, D. D., one of the Secretaries.

On motion of Rev. HENRY LITTLE, of Madison, Ind., seconded by Rev. ROBERT ADAIR, of Philadelphia, Pa., the reports were adopted and ordered to be published.

The following resolutions were also adopted, viz :—

On motion of Rev. DARIUS H. ALLEN, D. D., Professor in Lane Seminary, O., seconded by Rev. PARSONS COOKE, D. D., of Lynn, Mass.

Resolved, That greatly increased efforts in behalf of Home Missions are demanded by the exigencies of the country and the providence of God.

On motion of Rev. RICHARD S. STORRS, Jun., of Brooklyn, N. Y., seconded by Rev. NATHANIEL HEWITT, D. D., of Bridgeport, Ct.

Resolved, That the work of establishing throughout our country an evangelical ministry is now the grand work for the world's conversion, and should be prosecuted with an enthusiasm corresponding to its magnitude.

On motion of Rev. JOSEPH C. STILES, of New York, seconded by Hon. REUBEN H. WALWORTH, LL. D., of Saratoga, N. Y.

Resolved, That the sublimity of the missionary work, at the present time, especially in our own land, should inspire the people of God with greater faith and self devotion for its advancement.

The Society was addressed, in support of these resolutions, by the gentlemen by whom they were respectively introduced. The missionary field in its expanded and still expanding extent ; the relations which the conversion of this country is to bear to the conversion of other portions of the earth ; the encouragements afforded us in prosecuting this enterprise ; as well as the inspiration derived from its intrinsic nobleness, and from the promised aid of the Holy Spirit, were among the themes of eloquent remark.

The choir of the Tabernacle, under the conduct of Mr. JAMES L. ENSIGN, executed anthems and other music selected for the occasion.

The Benediction was pronounced by Rev. DAVID SMITH, D. D., of Durham, Ct.

The following officers were chosen :

CONSTITUTION
AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ART. 1. This Society shall be denominated THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ART. 2. The object of this Society shall be, to assist congregations that are unable to support the Gospel ministry, and to send the Gospel to the destitute, within the United States; also to co-operate with evangelical Christians in the support of Home Missions in nominally christian countries, to such an extent as the funds of the Institution may justify.

ART. 3. The officers of the Society shall be a President, Vice Presidents, a Treasurer, an Auditor, one or more Secretaries for Correspondence, a Recording Secretary, and fifty Directors, who shall be annually appointed by the Society; and who, together with the Directors for life, shall constitute a Board, seven of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened.

ART. 4. The Officers and Directors shall appoint an Executive Committee of fourteen, (including the Treasurer, the Secretaries for Correspondence, and the Recording Secretary,) residing in the City of New York and its vicinity; five of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened. This Committee shall have power to appoint its own meetings, form its own rules of business, and fill any vacancies in its own number which may occur during the year, and to convene special meetings of the Board or Society; shall appoint missionaries and instruct them as to the field and manner of their labors; shall have the disposal of the funds; shall create such agency or agencies for appointing missionaries, and for other purposes, as the interests of the Institution may require; and shall make an Annual Report of their proceedings to the Society.

ART. 5. The Treasurer shall give bonds, annually, to such amount as the Executive Committee shall think proper.

ART. 6. Any person may become a Member of this Society, by contributing annually to its funds; thirty dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Member for life; and one hundred dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Director for life; and any person on the payment of a sum, which, in addition to any previous contribution to the funds, shall amount to one hundred dollars, shall be a Director for life. An executor, on paying a legacy of two hundred and fifty dollars to the funds of this Society, shall be a member for life; and the payment of a legacy of one thousand dollars shall constitute him a Director for life.

ART. 7. Any Missionary Society may become Auxiliary, by agreeing to pay into the Treasury of this Society the whole of its surplus funds, and sending to the Secretaries for Correspondence a copy of its Constitution and Annual Reports, mentioning the names of its Missionaries, and the fields of their operations.

ART. 8. Every Auxiliary Society, which shall agree to pay the whole of its funds to this Society, shall be entitled to a missionary or missionaries, to labor in such field as it may designate; at least to the amount of its contributions; provided such designation be made at the time of payment.

ART. 9. The officers of all Auxiliary Societies, shall be, ex officio, Directors; and annual contributors to their funds shall be members of the Society.

ART. 10. This Society shall meet annually in the city of New York, on the Wednesday next preceeding the second Thursday in May.

ART. 11. No alteration shall be made in this Constitution without a vote of two thirds of the Members present at an annual meeting; nor unless the same shall have been proposed at a previous annual meeting, or recommended by the Executive Committee.

TWENTY THIRD REPORT.

As we commence the review of another year, we would pause, for a moment, and listen to the admonition which comes up to us from the graves of honored associates, patrons and fellow laborers, saying, "Be ye, also, ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh." Three of the Vice Presidents of the Society—Hon. CHARLES MARSH, LL. D., Hon. DAVID L. MORRILL, LL. D., and Rev. ELIPHALET GILLETT, D. D., who commenced the year with us, have given us their last counsels, performed their last deeds of benevolence on earth, and gone to their reward on high. They took a deep interest in the organization of this Institution, held official relations to it from the beginning, and contributed largely of their influence, their substance and their personal toils for the accomplishment of its objects; and, we cannot doubt, that they now rejoice with us, in the themes of our contemplation, with a joy which we can comprehend, only, when it shall be our blessedness to survey the results of missionary action from the hills of immortality. The Rev. Dr. Gillett had, also, sustained to a Branch of this Institution—the Maine Missionary Society—the relation of Secretary, for a period of forty-one years; during the last twenty of which, he had devoted his entire time and strength to its service. He sought its prosperity with wisdom and kindness, with energy, perseverance, faith and a spirit of self-sacrifice. As the wants of the destitute, the trials and privations of his brethren, were ever on his heart, so words of encouragement and hope continually distilled from his lips. The missionary work, which had so engrossed him in life, and the goodness of God which had so long spared him to labor for its advancement, were the last themes to linger upon his tongue, as it was trembling in death, or call forth from his spirit, as it was struggling for its emancipation, ascriptions of praise. But, he is gone. And others, of kindred spirit, whose sympathies, benefactions and prayers have been given to this cause so freely, are gone likewise. The missionary, long tried in the service of his Master, with many souls gathered as the seals of his ministry; and the youthful herald, girding on his armor for toil and endurance on the distant frontier, have been summoned from their earthly cares to the rest of heaven. And we have been spared, to labor on in the vineyard of God—to see his favor dispensed upon efforts to build up his kingdom, his Spirit poured upon many churches in the wilderness, the field of our culture greatly enlarged, and the signs multiplying and brightening, that he whose right it is to reign will soon reign on earth as he does in heaven. Here, then, would we record our tribute of thanksgiving and praise; here, consecrate all we have and all we can command anew to Christ; and here invoke his special presence and blessing in all our future pathway.

The details of the Society's operations are embraced in the following

GENERAL TABLE,

Showing, in parallel columns,

1. An alphabetical list of Missionaries.
2. The names of congregations and missionary districts aided.
3. Dates of commissions, or time of commencing labor.
4. Length of commissions in months.
5. Amount of aid pledged, for the time named in the preceding column. Where $400 is pledged to those who go West to be located under the direction of the Society, the pledge includes what will be raised by their people, during the year, for their support. In other cases, the amount pledged is paid by the Society, on fulfilment of the stipulations of the commission.
6. Months of labor performed, since the last report.
7. Additions to the churches on examination.
8. Additions to the churches by letter.
9. Number of subscribers to Temperance pledges.
10. Number of Sabbath school and Bible class pupils.
11. Number of volumes in Sabbath school Library.
12. Other particulars.

SUMMARY OF RESULTS.

The number of ministers of the Gospel, whose names are found in the preceding table—together with those engaged in superintending the missionary work, and who are mentioned in connection with the respective Auxiliary Boards and Agencies—has been 1,019.

Of these, 827 were in commission at the date of the last Report, and 192 have been since appointed.

They have been distributed in 26 different States and Territories, as follows:—in Maine, 89; New Hampshire, 41; Vermont, 50; Massachusetts, 67; Rhode Island, 10; Connecticut, 45; New York, 186; New Jersey, 4; Pennsylvania, 49; Maryland, 4; District of Columbia, 2; Virginia, 7; North Carolina, 1; Georgia, 1; Kentucky, 7; Tennessee, 7; Ohio, 94; Indiana, 51; Illinois, 110; Michigan, 73; Missouri, 25; Wisconsin, 58; Iowa, 33; Texas, 1; Oregon, 2; California, 2.

This distribution gives to the New England States, 302; the Middle States, 239; the Southern States, 15; and the Western States and Territories, 463.

Of the whole number in commission, 698 have been the pastors or stated supplies of single congregations; 218 have ministered to two or three congregations each; and 103 have extended their labors over still wider fields—many of them embracing the destitutions of a county, or of several counties, or those lying within the limits of an ecclesiastical body.

While aiming at the establishment of a permanent ministry, the Society thus avails itself, so far as its means will allow and suitable men can be found and circumstances seem to require, of whatever is advantageous in the itinerant system, in its adaptation to the wants of a sparsely settled community, to the gathering and organizing of churches on our frontiers, and as introductory to the institution of the pastoral relation.

The aggregate of ministerial labor performed is equal to 808 years.

The number of congregations and missionary districts supplied, in whole or in part, at stated intervals, is 1,510; while many others have enjoyed the occasional preaching of the word.

Eight missionaries have been in commission as pastors or stated supplies of churches of colored people. Thirteen have preached to Welsh, and 25 to German congregations; and two to congregations of Norwegians—one of them through an interpreter.

The Committee feel it to be of great importance to meet the foreign population, which is coming in such numbers to our shores, wherever we may, with the preaching of the Gospel in their own tongue, until they shall become so far Americanized that they can comprehend it in ours. The greatest difficulty which we experience in enlarging this department of our labor, is in obtaining preachers of suitable qualifications—giving evidence of a thorough acquaintance with experimental piety.

Sabbath school instruction has been pursued, as heretofore, with system and interest on the part of the missionaries. It is one of the first things to be established in gathering a congregation, and is justly regarded as an invaluable auxiliary to family training, as well as a fruitful nursery for the church. It is not unusual, in our new settlements, for a missionary to have two, four or six Sabbath schools under his care, in different directions from his main preaching place; one, the last year, has had ten; another has supplied thirteen with libraries. Great encouragement has been given to the missionaries, and lasting good accomplished in their congregations, by the liberality of the "American Sunday School Union," and the "Massachusetts Sabbath School Society," in furnishing schools with suitable libraries.

It is a reflection that must be grateful to every christian heart, that not less than 83,500 children and youth have been carefully instructed, the last year, in the Sabbath schools and Bible classes under the superintendence of the missionaries. This, of itself, is no mean consideration for all it has cost the churches to sustain these missionaries at their posts.

We would here also make grateful acknowledgments to the "American Bible Society" and the "American Tract Society" for their liberal grants, the one of Bibles and Testaments, the other of Tracts and bound Volumes to missionaries of the Society, especially to those who have gone to Oregon and California.

The progress of Temperance, in the congregations of the missionaries, we cannot note so accurately in statistical returns, as in the earlier years of the reformation; inasmuch as the pledge is not so universally the test of temperance principles. Associations, in some sections of the country, have been injudiciously managed, and have brought the cause, temporarily, into disrepute; and little can be accomplished, in this form, until these organizations give place to those which shall secure more general confidence and respect. Temperance, however, is preached as a religious duty, and urged as a matter of principle, no less than ever; and many missionaries report that their churches are temperance churches, their congregations temperance congregations, and some of them, that there are no intoxicating drinks sold in their townships or counties. Those who are pledged to entire abstinence, are so connected in these associations with other denominations, that their number cannot be stated very definitely; from the reports which we have received, however, we may safely say that, in the communities where the missionaries labor, the number of pledges cannot be less than 105,000.

The contributions to various charitable objects, reported by 598 missionaries in connection with 702 congregations, amount to $20,157 74. This item and those of a similar character in former reports are valuable, not only as they show a large amount annually returned by the churches aided for the furtherance of benevolent enterprises, but, also, as they exhibit evidence that these churches are coming up to manhood, in the cultivation of habits which will make them most efficient helpers—as many once missionary churches now are—in the work of evangelizing the nations. In but few places, is the cause of Foreign Missions more justly appreciated, or the Monthly Concert attended with more interest, than by the great body of the missionary churches.

The additions to the churches, as nearly as can be ascertained, amount to 5,550; viz: 2,706, on profession of their faith; and 2,844, by letters from other churches. Many of the congregations of the missionaries, in the remoter West particularly, have been visited, within the last few months, with special effusions of the divine Spirit. Sixty-five missionaries, in their recent communications, make mention of revivals of religion, and report no less than 1,194 hopeful conversions. Many of these revivals are still in progress, and intelligence is reaching us, almost daily, of new triumphs of God's grace over worldliness, infidelity and sin. It has been made especially manifest, in these scenes of spiritual quickening, that God delighteth to honor those outward and ordinary means, whereby he has purposed, of old, to communicate unto his people the benefits of redemption. He has made "the reading, but especially the PREACHING of the word an effectual means of convincing and converting sinners, and building them up in holiness and comfort, through faith unto" a hope of "salvation."

A revival of religion, in any place, is an unspeakable blessing. But in a new country, where every thing is unsettled, the materials of society discordant, and the restraints which are thrown around men in our older communities unknown, an outpouring of the Spirit of God, not only gathers many souls into his kingdom, but, by its refining and assimilating power, it, not unfrequently, puts a new phase upon the whole structure of society, and gives a character to its institutions and influence for all coming time.

Surely, then, every individual, who has contributed of his substance to sustain the preaching of the Gospel in our new settlements, will feel his soul stirred within him to unite with his fellow laborers, in giving thanks to God and the Lamb, for such precious exhibitions of his grace.

And with reference to the future, the one request, which the Committee would urge upon the friends of this Institution above all others, is, THAT THEY ACCOMPANY THEIR BENEFACTIONS AND FOLLOW THEIR REPRESENTATIVES TO THE DESTITUTE AND PERISHING WITH THEIR PRAYERS, and that, day and night, without ceasing, and with that faith which knoweth no denial, they invoke upon the ministry of the word, at every missionary station, the power of the Holy Ghost. In that power is all our hope. Without it, the watchman will lift up his voice in vain, the sinner will die in his iniquity, and the land will be cursed by the atheism of its inhabitants. But, if the Spirit shall be poured out—as in days of old, and as is promised in these latter days—our wildernesses shall bud and blossom as the rose, and our country, in every section of it, and from every heart, shall send up a sweet smelling savor unto God.

THE TREASURY.

Resources.—The balance in the Treasury, March 1st, 1848, was $1,246 55. The receipts of the succeeding twelve months have been $145,925 91; making the resources of the year $147,172 46.

Liabilities.—There was due to missionaries, at the date of the last Report, $9,535 06. There have since become due $144,281 21; making the total of liabilities $153,816 27.

Payments.—Of this sum $143,771 67 have been paid. The remainder—$10,044 60—is still due to missionaries for labor performed. Towards cancelling these claims, and redeeming the additional pledges on commissions which have not yet expired—making in all $61,340 38—there is a balance in the Treasury of $3,849 00.

PROGRESS OF THE SOCIETY,

ACHIEVED AND DEMANDED.

By comparing the results of the past year with those of the preceding, we find gratifying evidence that, however much the Society may have come short of realizing the hopes of its conductors and friends, it has, by the blessing of God, been able, not only to retain the advanced position which it occupied at the last anniversary, but this year, also, to make still further progress.

The receipts of the year exceed those of the last, by $5,728 81; the increase being derived mainly from the contributions of the churches. The number of missionaries is 13 greater; and the years of labor performed, are 35 more than were noted in the last Report. Sixty-three congregations more than in the preceding year, have been blessed with the preaching of the Gospel; 530 more added to the churches; and 6,500 more children instructed in the Sabbath schools. This year, we have also found the FAR WEST; which had been here, and there, and every where, and yet we had not been able to reach it. Before we could get to it, it was gone. Fifty years ago, it seemed to be in Central New York; forty years ago, in New Connecticut; twenty years ago, in Indiana and Illinois; and fifteen years ago, to be meditating the passage of the Upper Mississippi. But, this year, it has made its permanent settlement on the shores of the Pacific, and men are calling unto us from thence for the bread of life—the Pacific unto the Atlantic—deep calling unto deep. And we have responded to this call, as best we have been able. One missionary is already in Oregon; having reached it, in June last, by the way of the Sandwich Islands. Another, for that Territory, sailed from this port on the twenty second of November; and when last heard from, the propitious winds of heaven had taken him around the Cape and were wafting him fast along the Pacific coast; and ere this, his voice, we trust, is the voice of one crying in that most distant wilderness of our land, “Prepare ye the way of the Lord.” Two missionaries for California, also, went out in the first steamer from this city to the Isthmus; which left, December first. They reached Monterey and San Francisco, as we learn indirectly, the last of February; and we hope soon to hear that an abundant door of usefulness has been opened unto them there. Another, who was to have been, at this time, on his way to join them, has been suddenly called, with his devoted companion, into the immediate presence of their Lord.

We have four men, then, in these two Territories. But what are they among the scores of thousands who are seeking here their home? We mention the fact, that they have begun to lay the foundations of many generations in this infant empire, with gratitude to God; and yet we hardly know, whether with more of congratulation to the friends of missions that their number is so large, or of self-abasement and despondency that it is so small. That the number of laborers in this section of the field has not been more than doubled, and in other new and destitute settlements greatly increased, is not that the call for them has not been urgent and the prospects of usefulness most inviting, nor that men of promise and self-devotion could not be found; but because we have gone to the utmost extent of our pecuniary ability in accomplishing what has been done. The Society has no perma-ment funds, obtains no loans, and contracts no debts, except with its missionaries for services rendered. The scale of its operations is graduated, every year, by a careful reference to what may reasonably be expected to be the amount of its cash receipts. The appropriations were commenced, the last year, on the presumption that its receipts would considerably exceed those of the previous year, as the record of the past and the indications of the future seemed abundantly to warrant. But on the first of January, it was found that the receipts had actually fallen below those of the previous year, so that an amount of $8,000 was then due to missionaries for labor performed and reported, which the Society had no means to pay. This deficiency seemed to have arisen, in part, from the peculiar exigencies of another department of benevolence, and the extra efforts which were made in its behalf. In consequence of these efforts, individuals had diminished their contributions to missions at home, and the annual collections of churches and congregations, in different parts of the country, had been postponed or passed by for the year. But the missionaries in our new settlements were not in circumstances to dispense with the pittance of aid which had been promised them; and it became necessary to direct the chief energies of the Institution to their relief. We owe it to the sympathies of the friends of missions, but more to the providence of God in placing legacies at the disposal of the Society towards the close of the year, that we have been able to report so large an amount of payments, and a small advance in expenditures on former years. It has been painful, however, to the Committee to check the work of expansion, at a time when it was so much needed,—to refrain, not only from seeking to enlist many more young men in the service of the Society, but from giving encouragement even to those who were ready to go forth and bear the heat and burden of the day in the most difficult parts of the vineyard. But, there was no alternative left them. It would not have been safe to commission an additional missionary, much less to increase the missions on our Pacific coast—the expense of which, at the present time, is not surpassed by any of the missions in the foreign field. If similar embarrassment to the conductors of the missionary work, and disappointment to those who are looking for its advancement, are to be prevented in future, it must be by more system and regularity on the part of its friends in forwarding their contributions, and by a liberality which shall expand with the growth of the country, and be proportionate to the imperiousness of its wants and the claims of a world, so soon, we trust, to be redeemed unto God through the instrumentality of his people.

The progress we have made the last year, in work accomplished, is indeed so small, compared with the increased demand, that we must go back a little, to gather sufficient encouragement to inspire the hope of accomplishing great things in years to come. If we look back over a period of ten years, we can discover that our ship has made good reckonings, though she may seem to us to be moving so slowly now. The advance on receipts, during that period, has been $63,361—or more than 76 per cent. The number of missionaries has increased from 665 to 1,019; and the years of labor, from 473 to 808. And if we examine also the fields which have been occupied, we shall find that in 1839, there were 160 laborers only, in our western states and territories. In 1849, the number is 463—an addition of 303; or, in other words, six sevenths of the increase on the whole field, has been in that part of it which is so soon to decide our political destiny. In 1839, we had but three missionaries in Wisconsin, where now we have fifty eight; and we had then a less number, the other side of the Mississippi north of Missouri, than we have now in Oregon and California. To settle in Iowa—where President Munroe, fifteen years previous, would colonize the Indians, so that they might be forever undisturbed by the encroachments of white men—was as bold an adventure then, as embarking for the valley of the Sacramento is now; and the reports of the missionaries, as they followed the Indian trail or the pointings of the compass, or encamped at night in the unbroken forest in their search after the scattered settlements there, were scarcely less marvellous and exciting to the friends of missions, than the experience of our brethren beyond the Sierra Nevada can be now.

If we shall make corresponding progress for ten years to come, what a work, under God, may we not see accomplished? A like increase of receipts,—would put at the disposal of the Society more than $250,000, and, under its direction, full 1,700 men; and a similar distribution would give to our western states and territories, and our new settlements wherever they may be, a greater number of laborers than are now employed on the whole field of the Society's operations. But, why should we be ten years in realizing this progress? Is the enlargement of our boundaries delayed? Does the tide of emigration wait? Does the providence of God linger? Or is the way already open for our Christianity to lengthen her cords in every direction and make her stakes strong—to take up her march over the mountains and across the deserts and plant down her institutions, thick and fast, three thousand miles nearer the great work to be done in Pagan nations with but a single ocean to intervene?

Why may not these results be reached in five years? Would it be greater progress than that, which, as christian men—a christian people—we ought to make, under the high responsibilities which are devolved upon us?—or greater than that which is revealed in the signs of the Redeemer's coming? Let the friends of this Institution increase its resourcess but $20,000 annually, and, with God's blessing, the results of the last ten years MAY well nigh be wrought out in five. And that this increase is practicable we have the fullest assurance. For the resources are in the churches; and the motives for their development are unnumbered and mighty. And not only so, but in each of two years within the last ten, an equal advance has actually been made. And it can be done again. An increase of fifteen per cent., on the collections for the last year, will do it for the year to come—will give the Society an additional income of more than $20,000. This, then, is no visionary calculation; and we trust it will be no delusive hope. We would enter upon the labors of another year, in the confident expectation that it will be realized. We ask the friends of the Redeemer, therefore, in sober earnest, under a deep sense of our responsibility and in anticipation of meeting them and our perishing fellow countrymen shortly at the judgment seat, if they will not enter into their closets and shut to their doors and inquire of their Father who seeth in secret, if he will accept at their hands an offering any less, the coming year, for the advancement of a cause which he has so signally marked as his own!

INSTRUMENTALITIES FOR FUTURE PROGRESS.

We would say a word, in this connection, in regard to the instrumentalities which must be relied upon to secure the increase proposed. It cannot be done by Agencies. The Society has no Agents devoted, exclusively, to the business of collections—none that would not be needed, if no collections were to be made. Its Agents are superintendents of missionary districts; and their services are indispensable for the judicious disbursement of the Society's funds. So far as their other duties will permit, they give attention to collections, in those sections of the country whence the resources of the Institution are chiefly obtained. In other parts of the field, they act as general missionaries—exploring uncultivated ground, preaching to the destitute, inspiring them with hope, and preparing the way for the institution of the pastoral relation, or where this relation exists, for the transfer, from the Society to the people, of the entire responsibility of ministerial support. It has ever been the policy of this Society to spread before the community, as extensively as possible, the fullest information, both in regard to its operations and the condition and wants of the destitute, and depend, mainly, upon an intelligent, large-hearted, christian liberality to furnish the means for prosecuting its labors. Every lover of his country and of the kingdom of Christ, then, we would regard as an Agent of this Society, and as duly authorized to act in its behalf, with reference to the progress proposed. To the Pastors of the churches we have ever looked, for their generous and efficient aid; and we have not looked in vain. The encouragement which we have received from many of them in regard to the future, confirms us in the persuasion, that no more available agency than theirs can be relied upon, either for the advancement which we have named or for permanent prosperity; and that the PASTORS OF THE CHURCHES have only to WILL it, and the course of this Institution is ONWARD, from this time forth, even unto the end.

COMPARATIVE RESULTS.

The following Table gives a comparative view of the amount of receipts, expenditures, number of missionaries, new appointments, congregations and missionary districts, years of labor performed, additions to the churches and pupils in Sabbath schools, for each of the twenty three years of the Society's operations. It also exhibits, in the tenth column, the average expenditure, each year, for a year of missionary labor, obtained by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of the year by the number of years of labor performed. And in the eleventh column, by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of each year by the number of missionaries employed, is shown what the average to a missionary would be if the expenditures were equally apportioned among them.

Remarks—1. From the foregoing table, it appears that the sum total of the receipts of the Society, for twenty-three years, is $1,897,257 13. The years of labor performed amount to 11,431; and the additions to the churches to 94,421.

2. The average expenditure for a year of missionary labor, for the twenty-three years, is $166; for the first thirteen years, it is $167; for the last ten years, it is $165.

3. The average expenditure for a missionary, for the twenty-three years, is $117; for the first thirteen years, it is $114; for the last ten years, it is $125. Showing that the same amount of labor is now performed by a less number of men than in the earlier years of the Society's operations.

DISTRIBUTION OF MISSIONARIES, No. 1.

* Of these, 24 labored in France and Switzerland, under the direction of the Evangelical Societies of Paris and Geneva.

REMARKS.—1. In explanation of the comparatively large number of missionaries in the Middle States and the increasing number in the New England States for several of the earlier years, it should be remarked that, at the organization of this Society in 1826, the missionaries of the United Domestic Missionary Society, whose responsibilities it assumed, were transferred to it, and that the greater portion of them were in commission in the State of New York. The New England State Societies, also, became integral parts of the National Society, in several successive years—the Maine Missionary Society and the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society in the third year of its operations; the New Hampshire Missionary Society, in the fourth year; the Connecticut Missionary Society, in the fifth year; and the Massachusetts Missionary Society, in the seventh year.

2. In the New England States, it will be observed, there has been but little increase of the number of missionaries, at any time, since the auxiliary relationship of the State Societies was completed. Since 1837, the number has diminished, and is, this year, 29 less than at that date. In the Middle States, also, the number the present year, is but 12 greater than in 1837.

3. The increase of the Society's labors, the last fifteen years, has been mainly in our Western States and Territories. The last ten years, the increase alone in that portion of our country, has given it—as has been stated on a preceding page—303 additional missionaries, which is equal to six sevenths of the increase on the whole field during that period.

4. In 1845, the missions of this Society in Canada were, by an amicable arrangement with the British Colonial Missionary Society, transferred to the care of that Institution.

5. In the table on the next page, will be seen the progress which has been made, year by year, in the newer states of the West, as they have severally come into being and presented fields of peculiar promise for missionary culture. When this Society was formed, Indiana and Illinois were in their infancy. Four years previous, there was but one Presbyterian minister in Illinois. Michigan was, at that time, and for ten years subsequent, a territory. In 1825, it had but one Presbyterian or Congregational minister, and he was a missionary. Wisconsin remained, eight years after the organization of this Society, the almost undisputed home of the Indian. At Milwaukie, in 1834, there was but a single white man. Iowa was not organized as a territory till 1838.

6. It should be borne in mind, that the number of missionaries in these newer states and territories, as well as in those that have been longer cultivated, gives but an imperfect idea of the ground that has been occupied by missionary enterprise. Churches, every year, become independent, and others are taken up in their stead. Such churches adorn the land and bless its population, in our most flourishing villages, along all our great thoroughfares, and at the gate-ways into the distant interior.

DISTRIBUTION OF MISSIONARIES, No. 2.

PRINCIPAL AUXILIARIES, AGENCIES AND MISSIONARY FIELDS.

MAINE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The receipts of this Society, for the year ending March 1st, were $11,169 77; and its expenditures $11,690 94; leaving a balance against the treasury of $521 17; $156 have also been received, from this State, into the treasury of the Parent Society.

Eighty nine missionaries have been in commission in this State the last year; one of them—Rev. John Sawyer,—at the advanced age of 93 years; and another—Rev. Jotham Sewall—at the age of 89. The larger portion of them have been employed as pastors or stated supplies in single congregations; others have ministered to two or three churches each; and the missionary fields of others have comprised the destitutions of extensive counties. The missionary churches are, in general, in a prosperous state; and several of them have been visited with seasons of refreshing from on high.

The Home Missionary work has a no less strong hold, than in former years, on the affections of Christians in Maine, as is evident by their increased liberality, (their expenditures the last year being almost double what they were five years since,) and their vigorous efforts to extend the influences of the Gospel over all their sparsely settled territory. "The single aggressive movement," say the Trustees in their last report, "made within a very few years past, upon the northern section of our State—a land so lately trodden by the foot of a missionary—furnishes, in its results, an ample reward for all the labors and all the treasures that have been bestowed, within the same time, upon the whole field of which the Society has the supervision."

But this Society, in the midst of its prosperity, has been called into deep affliction. Arrested suddenly, by severe disease, its most valued and honored Secretary—Rev. ELIPHALET GILLET, D. D., was called away from his earthly labors, when the last missionary year had but half expired. Dr. Gillett was elected Secretary of the Maine Missionary Society, at its organization, in 1807; which office he continued to hold until his death. And for the last twenty years of his life, he was constantly employed in watching over its interests, conducting its affairs and seeking its prosperity. One who had intimately known him and been long associated with him in missionary action, says of him, "In the cause of Home Missions in the State of Maine, his heart was bound up; and he never ceased to pray and labor for its advancement. The feeble churches in the State, and the missionaries sent forth to minister to their necessities, ever found in him a sympathizing friend and counsellor. In prosecuting the work committed to him, he did not shrink from any labor or fatigue, which he thought himself able to bear. After he had passed his three score years and ten, he traversed the wilderness, inquiring into the state of the new and scattered settlements, and cheerfully partaking of such accommodations as the log cabin or camp might afford. When the business of the Society and the wants of the destitute required his attention, neither inclement skies, nor the winter's cold could detain him. Forgetful of his own ease, he lived and labored for the good of others." And, behold, the end of such a man, as we should expect it to be, is peace! "All's well,"—he exclaimed, amidst the extreme distress of his last sickness,—“no one can have greater reason for thankfulness than I have.” To the last, he expressed his unshaken confidence in those soul-humbling and God-exalting truths which he had preached to others, and spoke of death as having no terrors; he gave up his family cheerfully into the hands of God, and then, after some hours of comparative ease and quietness, on the morning of the 19th of October, 1848, in the 80th year of his age, he fell asleep in Jesus.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The number of missionaries employed by this Society during the year, is forty one; and the aggregate of their service 36 years. The receipts have been $6,027 25; which is $434 53 more than the receipts of the preceding year. Of this sum, there have been forwarded to the treasury of the Parent Society $952 53 agreeably to the designation of donors, and $300 by vote of the Trustees; leaving $4,764 72 for the use of the cause within the State. In addition to this, $1,671 85 have been forwarded directly to the treasury of the Parent Society, in payment of legacies and from the donations of individuals and congregations—making the sum of $2,934 38 to be expended out of the State, and the whole amount for the cause, $7,699 10; which is $1,005 64 more than the last year.

The first donation from New Hampshire to the American Home Missionary Society, was made in 1828. Since that time, there have been received from this State, $21,240 24; viz.: $11,122 18 in donations from individuals and congregations; $6,718 06 in legacies; and $3,400 from the treasury of the Auxiliary. Nearly four fifths of this amount have been received within the last ten years.

The Secretary of this Society—Rev. BENJAMIN P. STONE—in his report, says: “While we lament the low state of religion in our churches and the declining aspect of some of them, we would not be unmindful of the various tokens of God's favor to the cause. He has, in general, preserved the peace and harmony of the churches under our care; and he has enlarged the ability of a few of them, so that there is a reasonable prospect that they will soon be no longer objects of charity. And though there are others which have been long on our list, in whose condition we can see no such encouraging prospect, yet we rejoice that the Gospel has not been preached to them in vain. The people of God have been comforted and edified, children and youth have had their feet restrained from the paths of sin and ruin; and, now and then, a soul has fled from the wrath to come and found safety in the pardoning blood of Christ. We would, therefore, take courage and labor on, knowing that we shall in due time reap a plentiful harvest if we faint not."

VERMONT DOMESTIC MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The receipts of this Society, for the last missionary year, have been $4,435 42; $1,303 92 have also been paid from this State into the Treasury of the National Institution, including legacies, to the amount of $851. There has been expended within the State $4,548 60, in sustaining fifty missionaries; the aggregate of whose labors is equal to 39 years. Fifty six churches, and four communities where no churches exist, have enjoyed the benefit of their labors. Eleven churches, and two districts without churches, have been added to the missionary list, during the year; while five, formerly aided, are now sustaining the ministry without assistance from the Society.

"The providence of God," says the Secretary of the Society, Rev. JOHN F. STONE, "is evidently encouraging us to make more vigorous efforts than ever before for the enlargement of our borders. Some communities, which have been almost entirely given up to the influence of Universalism and kindred errors, are beginning to perceive the wide difference between the influence of such errors, on even the moral and social interests of society, and that exerted by what they are pleased to call, "old fashion orthodoxy;" and have expressed a wish to obtain a thoroughly evangelical ministry. In one place, in which, so far as we can learn, there is not one orthodox professor, they have gone so far as to make an application for aid in supporting a sound minister—one that our Executive Committee would entirely approve—expressing the confidence that they can raise, to begin with, two hundred dollars towards his support. As erroneous and fanatical systems are losing their hold on the confidence of men and those organizations which have sustained them seem tending to decay and dissolution, it seems to be a time eminently favorable for us to press forward in the work assigned us. And the Directors of our Society seem inclined to act in accordance with these indications of Providence, as well as with the instructions voted them at our last annual meeting—to ‘take means for supplying every destitute place in the State, where there is good prospect of success, with the preaching of the Gospel.’ And we believe the churches will sustain them in such an undertaking.”

MASSACHUSETTS HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The number of missionaries in the service of this Society, the past year, is sixty seven. During the year covered by its last report, ten missionaries had been settled as pastors, and two pastors only dismissed. Nine churches had assumed the support of their own ministers, and seven others had been taken on the missionary list, bidding fair, however, to have but a short dependence on charitable aid. Twenty thousand families had been brought under the direct influence of these missionaries, and 3,345 scholars instructed in their Sabbath schools. Four houses of worship had been built, two others commenced, and several thousand dollars of indebtedness on others cancelled. Not far from forty two per cent., also, of the whole amount which these churches have received, had been returned by them into the treasuries of different benevolent institutions.

The receipts of the Society, for the year ending March 1st, have been $25,384 80—exceeding those of the preceding year, by $1,070 10. The expenditures within its bounds have been $7,384 80; and $18,000 have been remitted to the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society. There have, also, been received into the treasury of the Parent Society from the Hampshire Missionary Society, $2,018 55; from various individuals, congregations and auxiliaries, $2,228 97: in payment of legacies, $6,479 54—in all, $10,727 06, making the whole amount realized from the State to the cause of Home Missions, during the year, $36,111 86; which is $4,421 00 greater than the amount of the previous year.

The sympathy of this Auxiliary with us in our national work, illustrated so strikingly in their annual contributions, is expressed, also, in the spirit-stirring appeals, which are embodied in their annual reports. In the last, drawn up by the Secretary of Society, Rev. JOSEPH S. CLARK, after contemplating the relation of this enterprise, at the present moment, to the conversion of the world, they say, “What nation ever wielded a moral power equal to that which Providence has conferred on this? What people were ever placed in a position where, by mere example, they could do so much for the honor of Christ and the good of man? To sanctify that power, and thus make it a fountain of life—to elevate and purify that example, so that it shall lead to God the bewildered nations who follow it—is a privilege which angels might covet. But it never can be theirs. Heaven has bestowed it on us. Viewing this Home Missionary enterprise as adapted to cast human character in a christian mould, how else can we do it on a grander scale? Regarding the Gospel as a moral lever, where else can we place the fulcrum with more certainty of moving the world? It should be considered, moreover, that the failure of one attempt after another, both in the old world and in the new, to establish popular institutions without those pillars of moral culture and religious principle which have hitherto supported ours, is not a lost effort. It has prepared the way for an easier and more convincing illustration of their absolute necessity. It helps out the demonstration which our fathers commenced two hundred years ago, that 'righteousness exalteth a nation.' To finish this demonstration for the use of all mankind, is plainly THE work which God has given us to do. It can be done. The occupancy of every moral waste, and every new settlement in the land with the christian ministry—at a less cost than it required to occupy the city of Mexico with an armed force—will do it."

RHODE ISLAND HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Ten missionaries have been employed in this State, the last year—seven of whom still continue their labors; $1,925 have been appropriated towards their support; $823 66 of it have been contributed within the State; $1,000 received from the Connecticut Missionary Society; and $101 34 remained due to missionaries, March 1st, for services performed. During the year, also, $780 62 have been received from this State into the Treasury of the American Home Missionary Society—the greater portion of it contributed by the Beneficent Congregational Church of Providence.

The churches aided are adding to their numbers and increasing in strength, exerting a healthful moral influence in the communities where they exist, and encouraging the hope that they will ere long sustain, without assistance, the institutions of the Gospel.

Rev. JONATHAN LEAVITT, of Providence, is the Secretary of the Society.

CONNECTICUT MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The receipts of this Society, during the year, have been $7,669 44. The expenditures, within the State, have amounted to $4,383 87; $1,000 have been appropriated in aid of the Rhode Island Home Missionary Society; and $2,000 have been remitted to the Treasury of the Parent Institution. There have also been received into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society, from auxiliaries, congregations and individuals, $12,273 93; and in payment of legacies, $5,728 67—making the total realized to this cause from the State, the past year, $25,672 04; which exceeds the amount of any previous year, by $2,868 45.

Forty-five missionaries have been in commission within the year. Two of them have ministered to congregations of colored people, and one has been appointed to preach to the German population of the State. Six churches, formerly under the fostering care of the Society, have, this year, ceased to ask a continuance of its aid, and are now, with one exception, enjoying the labors of settled pastors.

“The causes which have driven some churches to seek aid from this Society,” say its Directors, in their last report, from the pen of the Secretary, Rev. HORACE HOOKER, “will probably prolong their weakness for years to come. An exhausted soil, an uneven surface, remoteness from a suitable market, repel accessions from abroad, and admonish the native inhabitants to look out for situations more inviting. Still, as points of migration, it has long been judged expedient to occupy these posts, for the sake of furnishing good members of the church and of society, at the West. To a considerable extent, however, the migration is not now to distant, unsettled regions, but to manufacturing villages within the State. The population gathered at these points, will derive many of the elements of their character from the early training of the young men and women on the adjoining hills, just as the soil at the mountain’s base partakes of the nature of the rocks by whose disintegration it is formed. The craftsmen wrought into shape, on Lebanon, the cedars which contributed to the strength and beauty of the ancient temple—so our Society, in retired and unpromising fields, is preparing materials for churches in many a rising village in our borders.”

The comprehensive and liberal views of the importance and relations of the Home Missionary work, entertained by the friends of the cause in this State, so fully attested by their generous contributions, are expressed, also, in the closing paragraph of the report from which we have already quoted—“Modern inventions have made Europe our neighbor, and converted its states and kingdoms into fields of deep Home Missionary interest, if not proper fields of Home Missionary enterprise. We cannot safely be indifferent to the political or religious sentiments of any of its multiplied population. The men who are to aid in giving tone to our manufacturing villages, may, even now, be forming their habits or principles in Germany or France; the domestics who will, to no small degree, mould the character, and give a tinge to the moral feelings of our children, may be shaping their own feelings and character, in the mud cottages of Ireland.

When we give of our substance to evangelize the ignorant and the erring on the other side of the Atlantic, it is Home Missions—we are laboring for our country; when we patronize efforts among the Germans in Connecticut, it is Home Missions—we are laboring for our country. When we contribute our charities to convert emigrants thronging the prairies of the West, it is Home Missions—for in extending the kingdom of Christ, we are still laboring for our country.”

PHILADELPHIA HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

This Society—comprising the States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland—has had in commission, the last year, fifty nine ministers of the Gospel, viz.: four in New Jersey, forty nine in Pennsylvania, four in Maryland, and two in the District of Columbia. Eighty congregations have enjoyed the labors of these missionaries; four new fields have been occupied during the year; three churches ask no further aid; and two others hope to support their own ministers after the present year.

At the commencement of the year, March 1st, there remained a balance in the treasury of $478 39; and the receipts, since that date, have been $7,618 35; exceeding, by a small amount, those of the preceding year. The expenditures, on the field of the Society, have been $8,066 31; leaving a balance in the treasury of $30 43. There have also been received into the treasury of the Parent Society, from congregations and individuals within the limits of the Auxiliary and in payment of legacies, $2,825 92; making the total of Home Missionary collections on this field, during the year, $10,444 27.

“Since the organization of the Philadelphia Home Missionary Society, in 1840,” says the Secretary—Rev. ROBERT ADAIR—in his last report, “there have been collected for Home Missionary purposes, within its field, $77,286 87—[now $88,731 14]. About three fourths of this sum have been expended in cultivating its numerous destitute and waste places, both east and west of the Alleghany Mountains. The balance has been expended through the Parent Society, in the Valley of the Mississippi, or remote western settlements of our country. Among the results of the appropriations and labors on this field, are the following, viz.: thirty new church organizations; thirty two substantial and convenient houses of worship erected; and eight in such a state of forwardness that they may be finished at an early day; twenty eight churches raised to self supporting power; thousands of persons secured to the cause of temperance—thousands of children taught in Sabbath schools and Bible classes—MORALITY and good order greatly promoted.”

CENTRAL AGENCY, N. Y.

Forty three missionaries have been sustained through this Agency, in preaching the Gospel, for more or less of the time since the last report, to 46 congregations; and have performed 35 years of ministerial labor. The receipts of the year, ending March 1st, were $5,097 10; or $1,254 36 above the income of the year before. The disbursements were $4,855 81. Additional sums have been remitted to the Parent Society amounting to $1,110 34; showing an aggregate for Home Missionary purposes derived from this portion of the State, equal to $6,207 44.

More religious prosperity prevails in the missionary churches of this field than during several years past; and in several cases, this assumes the form and involves the blessings of a revival. In numerous instances, improvements in the external affairs of churches, and important reductions in the application of missionary funds have been made. But while increased economy and efficiency have been infused into this Agency, it is not to be concealed, that too great apathy exists in the churches of that region, in reference to its moral state. They do not sufficiently appreciate the wants of the communities around them, nor the benefits which would result to other sections of the country from having those wants supplied. Situated where the facilities and inducements to change are abundant, the churches of Central New York are often weakened, or their growth hindered, simply by the fluctuation of the materials of which they are composed. The emigration of their members, and the supply of their places in society by strangers of foreign birth or of dissimilar views, tend to postpone the day when these feeble communities will become strong. It is the aim of the Agency to stir up the active Christianity on its field to a deeper interest in the desolations that abound; until that wide territory—as large as all Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut—is brought under hopeful missionary culture.

Some details appropriate to this notice have failed to reach the Committee at the proper time, owing to severe affliction in the family of Rev. WASHINGTON THACHER, the Secretary of the Agency.

WESTERN AGENCY, N. Y.

In the twenty counties of the State of New York, lying west of Oswego, Onondaga, Courtland and Broome—and together comprising the field of this Agency—48 missionaries have been appointed during the year, and 22 who were previously appointed have continued their labors; making 70, who, for the whole or a part of the year, have preached in 80 congregations. This enumeration does not include several other appointments made directly by the Executive Committee, without the intervention of the Agency. Four missionaries, to whom a portion of the funds raised in the churches of the Presbytery of Rochester is applied, have been appointed through its Missionary Committee, to labor in an equal number of churches.

The annual receipts of the Agency have been $8,916 02. Add to this $3,220 47, sent by various contributors to the treasury at New York, and $325, applied to missionaries under the direction of the Presbytery of Rochester; and the total of Home Missionary contributions for the year, on the field above named, is $12,461 49, being $1,230 16 more than the receipts of the year before.

It is a fact of much interest, and one highly creditable to the active members of the Agency, to those who have filled the office of Secretary, and to the community that has sustained them—that of the $186,287 collected since the organization of that Board in 1826, the sum of $71,682, or nearly forty per cent.; has gone to bless the destitute in other parts of the land. And hereafter, it is supposed, at least two-thirds of the income raised on this field may be withdrawn from it, and applied to the general purposes of the Society.

The improvement that is steadily going forward in those dependent churches, may be inferred from the diminution of their number, and of the aid required. Three years ago, seventy cases were judged worthy of help by the Agency; this year they have found it necessary to assist only forty eight; and the amount pledged has decreased from $6,028 to $4,100. Some congregations that have ceased to ask for aid, have done so only by the most strenuous exertions; and in case of any unforeseen disaster, it is possible that they may again, for a time, become dependent.

The Secretary of the Agency, Rev. JOHN A. MURRAY, in reviewing the work assigned to his supervision, speaks of the churches in the south western counties as most in need of assistance from abroad. “But when the public works now commenced in that region shall have been completed, the ability of those communities to sustain themselves will more rapidly improve. We are now aiding sixteen little towns or villages through which the New York and Erie Rail Road is to pass, most of which, on the completion of the road, will reach the point of self support. We thus judge, from the effect of similar improvements in other parts of the field. Of eighteen churches on the canal that have been aided, not more than one or two now need assistance; and of the thirteen churches near the rail road, between Auburn and Buffalo, which have received assistance, but two are still dependent, and one of these is of very recent organization. There is ‘a good time coming’—it may be nearer than we now anticipate—the time when every Presbyterian and Congregational church in Western New York shall have its pastor, and be able, without aid, to sustain the institutions of the Gospel."

That this expectation is not unfounded, is the more evident from an inspection of the missionary reports. The details show an accumulation of encouragement in the erection or completion of church edifices and parsonages; in the settlement of pastors; in the announcement that, after the current year, some eight or ten of the churches will need no further assistance; and especially, in the strength imparted to as many as one congregation out of six, by revivals of religion.

WESTERN RESERVE AGENCY, O.

The original charter of Connecticut gave to that State a territory extending from her present boundary westward, across the southern part of New York, to the Pacific Ocean. After the formation of other States in the region covered by this claim, conflicts arose between them and Connecticut in reference to title and jurisdiction. After various temporary arrangements, which failed to settle the matters in dispute, an agreement was effected, in 1800, by the Government of the United States, by which the State of Connecticut relinquished all claims to the lands beyond her present limits, reserving to herself 3,300,000 acres lying south of Lake Erie, within the present limits of Ohio; the title to the soil of this reservation being confirmed to Connecticut by the National Government. From this transaction was derived the name of the "Western Reserve;" and an explanation is afforded for the emigration from Connecticut to that part of the West; and also for the interest manifested in its spiritual welfare by the Connecticut Missionary Society, at least as early as forty-four years ago.

But though this region has been so long under missionary culture, it has not made a proportional moral advancement; but is yet painfully deficient in stated ministerial labor. Many of the churches are destitute of preaching, and a still larger number of townships contain no religious organization of the denominations acting through this Society; and none of much efficiency of any denomination. Even of the churches once supplied with a settled ministry, no less than seven, having become vacant, and then feeble, have gradually gone down to extinction. This decay may have been occasioned, in part, by too exclusive a reliance on the itinerant system of missions in the earlier days of the Western Reserve—by which a partial supply was provided for the people without their care, and consequently was less valued by them than if it had been mainly sustained by their own efforts;—and partly, by local agitations which have more recently rent many of those little churches in pieces.

It is hoped, however, that the condition of those communities is improving. Rev. MYRON TRACY, the Secretary of the Agency, reports that "five of the churches aided at the commencement of the year are now supporting their ministers by their own efforts, and will ask no further aid at present."

The receipts of this Agency for the last twelve months, were $2,478 88; of which $2,439 19 were applied to missionary purposes on the Western Reserve. The number of missionaries commissioned on recommendation of the Agency is 34. They have reported stated labors in 48 different congregations, amounting in all to 30 years. Other missionaries, appointed directly by the Parent Society, have labored in the north western part of the State, and on the line of the Wabash and Erie canal.

MARIETTA AGENCY, O.

Thirteen missionaries have been appointed on the recommendation of this Board, during the past year. These have performed upwards of 12 years of ministerial labor, in 20 different congregations. The income of the Agency was $616 94; which is an encouraging advance on the previous annual receipts.

The region assigned for missionary culture by this Agency, consists of nine counties lying in the vicinity of the Muskingum River, and extending in a direction north west from Marietta. The face of the country is broken by hills and valleys, and contains much land that is not favorably situated for the formation of compact settlements. Hence, churches can be founded only by missionary labor; and can hardly be sustained without foreign aid, at least for a long time to come. "Yet we cannot find it in our hearts," says the Report of the Secretary, Rev. THOMAS WICKES, "to say that they must not look to us for assistance. We cannot assume the responsibility, as almoners of the bounty of the churches, of denying to the destitute, scattered on the hills, the privilege of hearing the Gospel preached; or of deciding that their children must grow up without its transforming and sanctifying influence. That good is accomplished in these places, we cannot doubt. The leaven of the Gospel is at work in them, and the preached word produces the same effects there, in moulding the character of society, that it does in communities where greater numbers are brought under its saving power."

"But these statements are not applicable to all our churches. There are those which are evidently growing, and becoming better able to help themselves. We can see a rapid and cheering advance. Within a very few years, the Gospel has been preached in some of the most destitute fields, grown over with the rank luxuriance of vice, and has transformed them into the gardens of the Lord. A few of our churches, during the past year, have enjoyed seasons of refreshing, though not to as great extent as in some years past."

CINCINNATI AGENCY, O.

The number of missionaries connected with this Agency, the past year, is 39. The receipts were $3,751 18; being nearly $800 above the greatest previous annual amount. As this is not derived from any large donations or legacies, it indicates a general growth of favor towards the Home Missionary cause.

The Report of the Agency bears honorable testimony to the spirit and efficiency of the missionaries. "They are faithful and laborious men in every good work. Their congregations have increased through the year, and several of them have been blessed with precious revivals. We have advanced a little in supplying the destitute: but still, nearly all those wide fields described in the reports from this Agency in 1846 and 1848, are unsupplied, and call more and more loudly for aid."

In searching for the causes of the striking difference observable in western fields, we cannot overlook the correspondence between their present character and the materials of their first settlement. Many sections were peopled by immigrants whose fathers, on the Atlantic slope, were pious, and decided advocates of intelligence and order. Their children carried these characteristics with them to the West; and hence, in so many cases, towns and cities have sprung up, adorned with churches and schools, and instinct with enterprise; and all within the memory of men now living. The secret of this advancement of moral culture at equal pace with temporal improvement, lies in the fact, that the living ministry and church order were incorporated with those communities at their origin, or were among their earliest cares. "As we travel over our field," says the Secretary, Rev. HENRY LITTLE, "and see the foot-prints of some of those first ministers who have gone to their rest, or look on the gray hairs of those who survive, or behold what the christian ministry has more recently done and is now doing, we thank God and rejoice; and yet we cannot but grieve, that means so richly blessed had not been more generally applied over the whole West at an early day."

The districts settled by emigrants whose ancestors were not supporters of the ministry, have had a history very different from the foregoing. They carried not with them, and have been slow to seek, or even to receive, the means of grace. And the effect is seen in all the departments of their social life, and extends even to the physical appearance of the places they inhabit. Such are the districts that remain permanently destitute; that are largely deficient in schools, and other provisions for the public improvement and peace; that abound in intemperance, and are disturbed by brawls and bloodshed. Could the full importance of Home Missions have been felt and acted on fifty years ago, how different would now be the aspect of the western field!

But that great receptacle of immigration is far from being full ; it is indeed only now fairly made known to the world, and the streams that pour into it are as yet in their earliest flow. Of the hundreds of thousands who land on our shores, but a small portion abide east of the Alleghanies. Our Agent estimates the foreign and American settlers who have, the last year, taken up their abode in the West, at 300,000 ; and these added to the increase of those previously there, show what has been the addition of the year to the missionary claims of that section. But it is not only on account of those who will remain there, that evangelical efforts are required. By far the larger part of the migration to Oregon and California, is likely to be derived from the western States. " You will send a few," remarks our Agent, " but we shall send the many. We are ignorant of much ; but we have learned how to emigrate ; and like birds of passage, are ready to take wing at every change of season, or opening of new territory. Nearly twenty years ago, I was an agent in the East, and stirred the spirit of many a Christian by pointing over the mountains to ' scenes surpassing fable, and yet true.' Now I am here, a young man still, in what used to be ' the West,' pleading for another ' West,' still ' over the mountains.' "

MISSOURI HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Twenty five missionaries have been sustained in Missouri the last year ; eight having received either the entire amount appropriated for their support, or a portion of it, from the treasury of the Auxiliary. The amount of receipts was $1,274 75. Taking into account an error in the reported income of the previous year, the resources of the last twelve months show an advance of between $300 and $400.

The infant churches in Missouri have suffered in an unexpected manner, and to a very serious extent, the past year, from emigration ; and are still threatened with even greater embarrassment from this source in future. The great starting points on the routes to New Mexico, California and Oregon, lying on their western limit, the people of this state have for years furnished a large proportion of the explorers and emigrants who have crossed the plains. Through these, and their connexions scattered over the State, the recent excitement has been more extensively diffused than in any other inland state. Every county and every town is stirred, and many thousands are leaving, in quest of adventure and sudden wealth. Unlike the migrations of former years, this involves chiefly the best citizens and the most useful members of society. Many of them are connected with feeble churches, which can but poorly afford to lose them. From several congregations a fourth or a third of its efficiency is thus abstracted ; and the re-

The facts which have been repeated from year to year to show the affecting need of ministers, and the abundant openings for their labor and support, are this year re-affirmed with augmented urgency and pathos. Besides fields wholly waste, so frequent that it is of no avail to number them, there are not a few which have been visited and organized through the efforts of the Auxiliary, that have drooped for want of ministerial care, and are ready to die.

But it must not be inferred that the cause is not on the whole making progress in Missouri. Some marked encouragement is afforded, especially by the effectual working of the Holy Spirit in several of the churches. Moreover, progress has been made in supplying them with appropriate houses for the service of God. The completion of such an edifice is to a western congregation a peculiarly joyful event, and clusters about it numerous other improvements, such as the choir of singers and the Sabbath school organization; so that the day of dedication is often the beginning of a new era in the spiritual history of the place. Such has been the experience of at least one missionary church in Missouri since the last Report. Four others have so far completed their church buildings, that they can be comfortably occupied. A new spirit of enterprise on this subject has been awakened throughout the State, which must be regarded as a hopeful token of growing and permanent results.

The Secretary of this Auxiliary, Rev. J. B. TOWNSEND, renders his services without charge. The voluntary agency of Rev. ARTEMAS BULLARD, D. D., mentioned in the last Report, has been repeated with important advantage to the missionary cause.

MICHIGAN.

The number of missionaries in this State, during the year, has been 73. The collections have amounted to $1,359 27.

The Agent, Rev. CALVIN CLARK, in his annual review of the field, notices the cheering facts which follow. "Missionary churches that have been struggling for years to advance—meeting in most inconvenient school houses—have finished and dedicated their temples to the worship of the living God. It is impossible to appreciate the emotions of Christians on such occasions, without being present, and seeing with our own eyes. Other churches that had long prayed that they might enjoy the preaching of the Gospel, have had their prayers answered. Others had long been in a state of declension; the ways of Zion mourned; but God has regarded their low estate, and granted refreshings from his presence. In some portions of the State, the manifestations of the converting power of God are most illustrious, and must exert a marked influence on the future character of the communities where they are enjoyed." The last year, 180 Presbyterian and Congregational churches are reported as in existence, several of them having attained ability to support the Gospel. And what has the American Home Missionary Society done for this state? Or rather, what has it not done? "Tell the friends of Home Missions," says the Agent, "to take the map of Michigan and survey it attentively. Tell them to begin at Detroit—the beautiful 'City of the Straits'—and there they will find one Home Missionary church. As they take the Central Rail Road westward—and pass the thriving villages of Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Dexter, Jackson, Albion, Marshall, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Paw Paw, on to Niles—and ask 'What has the Home Missionary Society done for these churches?' the reply is, 'She has done all; they are her children; she has nursed them in infancy, sympathized with them in their trials, and reared them until they can go alone and repay the debt of gratitude which they owe to their benefactors. If you take the Southern Rail Road, and pass from Monroe through Adrian and Hudson to Hillsdale, you pass through churches which are all the fruits of Home Missions. And any similar excursion through the Peninsula, would lead through similar monuments of the usefulness of the Society. She is our foster mother. Never can we forget her care for us in the days of our dependence.'"

But there is abundant testimony that our work in Michigan is as yet very incomplete. The language of all the Missionary Committees of the various bodies in the State that act with this Society, is, "We want more men, and we must have more. Whole counties are entirely destitute of our ministers. In one county there are three churches but no missionary. In another, four churches are vacant. Ten or fifteen good missionaries are needed without a day's delay, to occupy ground and to reap the harvest where churches are already planted, and where from $100 to $300 can be furnished by each. And we can scarcely set limits to the number of places where churches might be gathered, could we have the men."

ILLINOIS.

In the year just closed, this Society has had in commission, in Illinois, 110 laborers; or 9 more than the largest previous number. The contributions gathered on the same territory, amounted to $2,345 29.

The missionary operations carried on by this Society in that State, are conducted in three divisions. The Southern counties are principally under the superintendence of the Committee of Missions connected with the Presbytery of Alton. The Central portion of the State forms the field of our Agent, Rev. WILLIAM KIRBY. In the North, Rev. ARATUS KENT, extends his supervision over twenty three counties.

Southern Illinois has repeatedly been presented, in the Reports of the Society, as a region of great destitution. Towards the missionary labor expended on it, the churches in the Presbytery of Alton have raised $448 05; nearly one hundred dollars more than during the previous year. Besides the missionaries stationed in definite fields, two have been engaged in exploring the destitute counties in this section, and doing whatever was practicable to prepare the way for the introduction of a more permanent species of labor. One of these, Rev. William Chamberlain, who had performed this pioneer service for many years, and whose experience and fidelity seemed to be indispensable in the present feeble condition of those infant communities, has been suddenly called to his reward, from the midst of a revival of religion in which he was most actively engaged. The last communication received from him was laden with expressions of grief, at seeing the sheep of Christ's flock scattered abroad for want of shepherds. Another minister, who for more than a quarter of a century stood manfully by the banner of the cross, has been compelled to relinquish his missionary labors. In his closing message to the Society and to the churches, he bears his personal testimony to the value of the missionary aid extended to the ministers of Illinois. "These men," he writes, "could not have lived—could not have been here—if they had depended on the people alone for support. If they do not continue to receive aid from your board, they will be compelled to quit the field, or starve."

From the Central portion of the state, the Agent reports: "Our churches have not been without indications of the divine favor, though revivals have not been numerous nor powerful. In several instances the weak have been strengthened, and destitutions of several years' standing are now supplied. Of four county seats which were not long since destitute of the ministry of the Gospel, three have been supplied, and the fourth is not wholly neglected." Of the churches gathered on this territory, sixty have houses of worship; four, including a village where no church is yet organized, are engaged in building; and thirty two depend on public edifices of some kind. The usefulness of the missionaries does not terminate in immediate results. On them and on the communities which they train, more than on all others, devolves the work of organizing society, and directing its energies to the highest point of civilization. Much that is thus accomplished, is already apparent. "A stranger," says the Agent, "in travelling through our villages, can tell at a glance of the eye, where they have been at work, and where not."

The Agent in Northern Illinois has been a laborer on that field from its earliest settlement, and bears witness to the mutual assistance which temporal progress and spiritual culture have rendered each other. In those twenty three counties are some 300,000 people. "Facts," he remarks, "are sometimes stranger than fiction. Sixteen years ago, this field was a desolate wilderness; now it is as the Garden of Eden. When I first travelled on an exploring tour in 1833, from Galena, going eastward, there was no settlement, after leaving the mining districts, until I reached Du Page, twenty miles from Chicago. There was no road but an Indian trail; no lodging place but the grass and the grove; no food for my horse but the wild herbage; and none for myself but the delicious berries. Now, the surplus of provisions is oppressive. It is estimated that 100,000 bushels of wheat were furnished for market last season from one small area described by a radius of five miles." Other physical and social changes are thus noticed: "Farms are multiplying every year, and the people are rearing more comfortable tenements. The school house is every where making its appearance—often large, and convenient for public worship. There are already forty or fifty churches finished, or in progress; and there are on this field thirty or forty villages, whose population ranges from three hundred to three thousand. A commendable zeal for the higher branches of learning begins to develop itself in the founding of ten or fifteen academies. The missionaries number 46, or an average of two to each county." While we would not claim all these improvements as the direct results of missionary effort, no one who will contrast this field with such as have been devoid of similar culture, can fail to see how profitable is that godliness which hath the promise of the life that now is, as well as of that which is to come.

WISCONSIN.

In this State, the Society has employed no Agent during the past year. Much of the investigation and correspondence required in making appointments, therefore, has devolved on Missionary Committees connected with the District Conventions, and upon the members of the Wisconsin Agency residing at Milwaukee.

Fifty-eight missionaries have been aided in supplying, in whole or in part, 70 congregations. There has been returned to the Treasury of the Society, principally in collections from the churches aided, $661 14.

In looking over the reports for the past year, no striking changes are discoverable, that can be put in a statistical form. There are nine more missionaries; several pastors have been installed, and a desire prevails for a permanence of ministerial labor. There has been an evident increase of spirituality among many ministers and members of the churches, and an ardent longing to see the salvation of God. The former Agent of the Society writes: "A deep conviction of the importance of an increase of personal holiness and of a general revival of religion, was found to exist last spring; which deepened and increased during the year. This feeling manifested itself at all our ecclesiastical meetings—which were, indeed, 'holy convocations'—especially at the General Convention in October. The indications afforded and the hopes awakened at that time, have been realized in numerous revivals of religion among the churches during the winter. There has been a thorough, and it is hoped, a permanent work of grace in many of God's people, and a precious ingathering of souls, embracing a large number of youth, 'the hope of the church.' Among the blessings realized, it is proper to mention the gracious influences of the Spirit on Beloit College, which was established chiefly by the missionaries of the American Home Missionary Society. Twelve young men connected with this institution have been hopefully converted to Christ, most of whom will probably become ministers of the Gospel."

The fruits of evangelical culture bestowed on Wisconsin, are well suited to encourage its continuation and extension to other fields. Could the patrons of this Society visit in person that State, where fourteen years ago their first missionary was stationed, they would find a hundred churches—young, indeed, but thriving; and over seventy ministers, laboring among them with harmony and efficiency. These are the results of beginning early and beginning aright. As an example, which may repay all that has ever been done for the whole State, we may refer to the principal city, Milwaukee. "Scarcely fourteen years have passed," says an intelligent promoter of this and all good objects in the West, "since a Home Missionary gathered the first religious assembly ever convened on the site of Milwaukee, and commenced delivering the truths of the Gospel. From that day to this, the Gospel has been stately preached. Now, there are four churches and four pastors of the Presbyterian and Congregational order, in the city. By the timely aid of the American Home Missionary Society, the country has been, in a sense, taken possession of in the name of the Lord."

A pleasing feature in the condition of this part of the field, is the permanency of the missionaries in their positions; they continue, for the most part, in the places assigned them, from year to year. Thus, the thorough cultivation of all the ground taken, may be regarded as secure.

But there yet remaineth very much land to be possessed. There are whole counties in which a large American population is already gathered, and is continually increasing, where no minister is yet stationed. Wide regions remain to be explored and organized. Wisconsin is, moreover, a favorite resort for that large part of the German immigration which lands at our northern ports.

IOWA.

The Society has had in commission, in Iowa, during the past twelve months, 33 missionaries; most of whom, besides ministering steadily to one or more congregations each, perform much labor among the surrounding settlements.

From the returns of our Agent, Rev. JULIUS A. REED, we gather the following particulars: Six of the churches have the past year built houses of worship, at a cost of from $200 to $1,200; almost wholly without aid from abroad. There are now completed 23 church edifices; only two of the number are encumbered with debt, and one of these, only to the amount of $75. Two congregations have assumed the support of their ministers since our last Report. Three new churches have been organized; and many more might have been, had it not been deemed unwise to increase the disproportion between the number of churches and of ministers. The attendance on the means of grace is enlarged and has become more regular. Nor have the blessings of the Divine Spirit been withheld. In addition to the general growth of active piety, some churches have been especially revived. At Dubuque and several places in the neighborhood, awakenings of great power have been experienced. At Burlington, where deep interest in religion has been manifested, some twenty persons have been hopefully born again, and several family altars set up.

But while gratitude to God demands that we should rejoice in the amount of good secured by the instrumentality of the Society in Iowa, during eleven years; it is a ground for humiliation, that our endeavors have advanced so slowly in comparison with the growth of the population. Iowa has now about 150,000 inhabitants. While our most distant missionary, in that State, is 150 miles beyond the Mississippi, by far the larger portion of the ministers are within 15 miles of that River or the Des Moines. In only 23 counties are there missionaries for even a part of the time; while 27 have no stated missionary labors. An intelligent and active minister in that State, bases an earnest appeal on such facts as the following: "We need now at least twenty new missionary laborers. You are aware that our State limits extend from the Mississippi River on the east to the Missouri on the west. Settlements are already formed in the extreme south western county, and will speedily extend up the Missouri; and you will soon hear of important towns on that stream. But in addition to this expanding field on the west of our State, another not less important is opening on our north. The tract called the 'Neutral Ground,' recently purchased from the Indians, is now opened for settlement and rapidly filling up. It is described as being surpassingly beautiful; and eastern settlers, to whom it is well adapted, will no doubt flow into that region."

OREGON AND CALIFORNIA.

The attention of the Executive Committee has, for some years, been turned to the Pacific Coast, as likely to require the philanthropic regard of the friends of religion on this side of the continent. In the Twenty First Report, it was announced, that a mission had been projected to that region; and the next year, that two missionaries had been approved for this service; and that one of them, Rev. GEORGE H. ATKINSON, with his lady, had already sailed for Oregon. The other, Rev. HORACE LYMAN, with Mrs. Lyman, embarked for the same destination on the 22d of November last. It was judged proper to appoint no others to this field, until these should have explored the country, and made report of the demands and facilities for missionary labor. Letters from Mr. Atkinson have been received, announcing his safe arrival at Oregon City, June 20th, 1848, and his cordial reception there, with flattering prospects of usefulness opened before him. At the date of his last communication, his impressions of the country and its inhabitants were such as to excite the regret of the Committee, that their resources would not admit of an immediate enlargement of this most promising mission. The whole territory, containing 341,463 square miles, is supposed to possess, in its natural products and resources, and in its advantages for commerce with the Pacific, the elements of a great and prosperous state. Already, some 16,000 or 18,000 people had crossed the mountains to take up their abode there, and others were rapidly coming in.

In the mean time, the late treaty with Mexico added the region of Upper California to the responsibilities of the American churches. Immediate counsels were had for an early occupation of this field also. It was foreseen that the maritime portion of California, under the protection of a free and stable government, must attract to itself a large population; and especially, that its magnificent harbor must eventually become the entrepôt of a commerce rivalling that of London or New York. The establishment by the United States government of a line of steamers on that coast, promised to hasten these results. Arrangements were accordingly made to send forward two pioneer missionaries, by the earliest possible conveyance. As intimated already, in a former part of this Report, Rev. JOHN W. DOUGLAS and Rev. SAMUEL H. WILLEY embarked from New York on the first of December, and proceeding by way of the Isthmus of Panama, arrived in California in the latter part of February. The details of their operations since their arrival, have not yet reached the Committee.

The acquisition of this territory by the United States, has already, in a single year, proved to be one of the most remarkable events of the age. This is not merely on account of the transfer of some 439,000 square miles from one government to another, but because of subsequent events, from which the most surprising social and moral results are likely to follow. The growing ascendancy of the English in China and the Asiatic Islands, simultaneously with the transfer of California to our people, completes the control of the four great coast lines of the Northern Hemisphere, by two Protestant nations, speaking the same language, and one in all the great features of their character. The bearing of this fact, coming to pass just as steam is giving ubiquity to commercial adventure, cannot but be direct and powerful on the conversion of the Pagan tribes. And the circumstances that preceded and have followed our possession of California, show that herein a great trust is committed to us by Providence, for the benefit of a new empire, about to arise in the Pacific world. God kept that coast for a people of the Pilgrim blood; he would not permit any other to be fully developed there. The Spaniard came thither a hundred years before our fathers landed at Plymouth; but though he came for treasure, his eyes were holden that he should not find it. But in the fulness of time, when a Protestant people have been brought to this continent, and are nourished up to strength by the requisite training, God commits to their possession that western shore. But will they throw into this great enterprise such vehemence—give it such a body and soul—as the divine purposes require? To insure this, also, Providence is at no loss for means. “He spake, and it was done.” The cloud, which for all past time has concealed the wealth of that golden coast, is lifted up; and instantly the heart of the nation throbs at the sight, with a pulse that is felt to its farthest extremity. The world has never seen a voluntary migration of such materials as these. In four months from the first of December, 17,300 persons sailed from our Atlantic ports to California; and it is estimated that from 20,000 to 40,000 more will have started overland for the same destination, before the first of July. These carry with them an amount of property, education, professional and mechanical skill, and of enthusiasm, never before combined in any similar movement. This enthusiasm imparts its own fervor to science and capital; it seizes upon and converts to its own purpose all physical and moral energies; and ere long, will bore through the mountains, and drive the car of commerce from sea to sea. Additional crowds, that defy all estimate of their numbers, are going there from other portions of the globe. Was there ever an epoch in the history of missions, which carried with it such a divine endorsement of its importance; which seemed so to preclude all doubt and hesitancy, and to demand such prompt and efficient action? The Committee wish to send out additional laborers with all practicable despatch; and now wait only for the requisite pecuniary means. These laborers are needed immediately; and, there is reason to believe, would be cordially welcomed; and in a few years will be liberally sustained on the ground. Oregon and California are rising into maturity without the usual period of pupilage and dependence, full grown sovereignties, replete with all other elements of greatness; let not the power of the Gospel be wanting to baptize their civilization into the name of Christ. Then will the cities and villages that shall line their coasts and overspread their valleys become the abodes of regenerated men, and sources of light and salvation to the thousand Isles of the Sea that lie beyond.

CONCLUSION.

PRESENT RELATIVE POSITION.

Having made this brief survey of the spheres of the Society's present labor, there remains on the hearts of the Committee an affecting sense that they are far from have compassed the true dimensions of this great enterprise. After all that has been accomplished in twenty three years, the country, both in territorial extent and in population, has outgrown our utmost endeavors. It is true, that the aim to secure a foothold at the most important points, and along the principal lines of migration and trade, has been happily successful. But those lines, like the boundaries and divisions of a map, do not occupy the spaces which they include. There is a vast interior, where the great mass of the people are to dwell. Each new State, in succession, has had a period in which it stood out, more prominent than all others, the Canaan of its day, to which the immigrant tribes have directed their course; but scarcely had the outline of its settlements been sketched, ere it was obliged to yield this distinction to some newer and more inviting territory beyond it. Ten states, between the Alleghanies and the Mississippi, have thus, one after another, been passed rapidly over, much of their best lands remaining for a later occupancy. These are now beginning to teem with communities which no former provision supplies with the means of grace. Routes of travel, by rail road, canal or turnpike are opened yearly, along each of which a new series of settlements springs up, for many miles in depth. Scattered farm houses cluster into villages ; the village of one year becomes a town the next. No geography or gazetteer is able to keep pace with their increase ; even the official lists of the Post Office, with all the advantages of a department of the government, are continually behind the advance of the country. To the vast amount of unfinished or neglected work on this side of the Mississippi, which these statements suggest, add what lies immediately beyond that river. There, we see a row of states bordering the stream for 1,400 miles, from Minnesota to Texas, much of their territory having been settled for many years. In those states, a million and a half of our countrymen, weary with appealing for relief, stand up before us in melancholy and almost voiceless desolation. That vast central portion of the continent, watered by the Mississippi and its tributaries, is to be THE NATION ! The myriads accumulating there will wield the national sceptre ; to them our destiny is linked ; they will do what they choose with us, as well as with themselves. With solemn significance, a voice speaks out of Heaven, and warns the East, saying, "When thou wast young, thou girdedst thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldst ; but when thou shalt be old, another shall gird thee, and carry thee whither thou wouldst not."

Meanwhile, the immigration from abroad is rapidly becoming a portentous fact ; and whether the portent shall be for good or for ill, depends on the way in which we meet it. The number of foreigners arriving here in 1848, through the Atlantic ports and through Canada, is estimated at 300,000 ; and the causes that stimulate emigration from Europe are in undiminished action. There is no rest to the bosom of the weary old world. Tossings to and fro, change without relief, war, pestilence and starvation are dissolving the ties of kindred and country ; and other hundreds of thousands are about to precipitate themselves upon our shores. "Eviction" by judicial process, and by the still more terrible mandate of famine, is rapidly transferring the question, "What shall be done with the Irish ?" from Great Britain to the United States. It cannot be too much to estimate the total immigration of 1849, as equal to 1,000 for every day throughout the year. Should our Government send out its surveyors to the frontier, to run out the boundaries of five new states—such as Iowa or Missouri,—the foreign immigration of this year alone, would give to every one of them a population large enough to bring it into the Union, and to elect a representative to Congress. And what shall be the next year ?—and the next ?

Nor do such facts as these, even, reveal the limit of our destiny, or exhaust the argument by which we are pressed on to its accomplishment. There are ulterior, and not very remote tendencies, that it is wise for us to contemplate. Out of the marvellous changes of the age, a new order of things is arising. Providence is more obviously taking the work of human progress into its own hands. An era of missions has commenced, not planned by men, nor conducted on human principles—missions, not of individuals, but of nations—offshoots from the leading races, transplanted in such masses, and with so much of the sap and vigor of their parent stocks, as to take root and gradually engross the soil. This is seen in the growing numbers and power of the British in the East, where their colonies are rapidly crowding out the original inhabitants, with their laws, social customs and languages. It is seen in the displacement of the Indians of this country by our Anglo Saxon fathers; and in the encroachments we are now making on the Spanish race on our south western border. Such an example is New Mexico, which has recently been brought under our national rule as the result of the aggressive power of trade, carried on for several years across the prairies. It is a novel spectacle—and one which carries its own argument with it—to see a Spanish race under a government which does not shield it from the free access of Protestant Christianity! And how long shall such a door stand open—open to us, especially—and no entrance be made on behalf of the Gospel? Similar inroads of people from the British and American stock, begin to appear in the leading ports and towns of Central and Southern America. Theirs are the enterprise and the capital that already cause the remote rivers of that magnificent region to foam beneath the wheel of the steamer. “A Yankee saw mill performs its office, fifteen hundred miles from the mouth of the Amazon; and a ‘Down Easter,’ who once wielded his axe on the banks of the Kennebec, fulfils the same mission on the shore of the Rio Negro. There are no laws, no institutions, no hostilities to innovation, which can stand against trade.” This ascendancy of the vigorous over the feeble nations is not necessarily wrong; it is the natural superiority and irresistible progress of freedom, knowledge and enterprise, when brought in contact with ignorance and inactivity. What an argument is this, that our Home population—which cannot be kept at home—should be of such a kind, that with themselves, they shall transfer the elements of regeneration to the countries which they enter by their traffic and control by their influence!

In this view of the enlarging sphere of American activity, may we not find some consoling explanation of the design of Providence in sending so many foreigners to our shores? As physical barriers are now so generally removed, and the whole world is coming into a condition of preparedness for receiving a christian civilization, is it not probable that a race will be raised up for this world-mission, whose character shall contain those selected elements which are most needful to make a complete missionary people? Let there be a mixture of the peculiarities of different races. For example; let the high resolve and energetic will of the Briton—which yields only to itself—with the wide and philanthropic scope of aspiration developed in our Pilgrim Fathers, form the basis of the combination. Add to this the reflection, discrimination and patience of the German mind, fruitful in the adaptation of means to ends. Let France add something, but Ireland more, of the fire of enthusiasm to quicken these elements into action. Thus would there be formed a composite character, more aggressive and efficient than either of the materials from which it is made up. But where could such a union take place? In Europe they cannot be separated from their present combinations, nor is there a space, there, where they could commingle. There is nowhere a common receptacle into which they can be poured, but the broad expanse of our own Mississippi Valley. For such an end as this, it has been kept in reserve for so many ages. For this, the materials are gathering, and beginning to act upon and modify each other, just as that grand movement in commencing, whose progress they will soon be wanted to assist.

In such a consideration of the uses which Providence is making of our country and our people, the duty assigned us becomes something more than merely to provide for a few hundred thousands, on the verge of the organized states. When the bearings of our work are justly considered, the distinction between Home and Foreign missions disappears. The enterprise of evangelizing this land becomes, in effect, and on a grand scale, a MISSION TO ALL MANKIND. And if the present generation are wise to understand and faithful to fulfill this divine appointment, the whole world will feel the blessing of it; and our children and our children's children will praise God on our behalf, saying, "THOU HAST INCREASED THE NATION, O LORD, THOU HAST INCREASED THE NATION; THOU ART GLORIFIED; THOU HAST REMOVED IT FAR UNTO ALL THE ENDS OF THE EARTH!"

Relation of Auxiliary Societies, Agencies and Committees of Missions to the American Home Missionary Society; Applications, &c.

State and other large Auxiliaries.

Most of the State Missionary Societies were in existence before the formation of the National Society, and some of them—as the Missionary Societies of Connecticut and Massachusetts—were among the earliest organized efforts in our country for sending the Gospel to the destitute. They have voluntarily connected themselves as Auxiliaries with the American Home Missionary Society, from a conviction that greater unity of plan and efficiency in action would thereby be promoted.

The terms by which such Auxiliaries—acting on the principles of the Parent Society, undertaking the supply of the destitute within their own bounds, and paying over their surplus funds to the Parent Institution—are connected with the Parent Society, are such as to secure the following objects, viz:

First—The Auxiliary is not superseded or overshadowed by the National Institution, but on the contrary, is invigorated and sustained by connection with it.

This is secured by the provision that the Auxiliary is the sole agency for this cause that operates on its field. It controls all appointments in the state to which it belongs. From it alone, so far as its means will allow, the feeble churches receive assistance. Thus, a direct relation and strong attachment is cherished towards it, in the hearts of the ministers and churches.

Again—While the local operations of the Auxiliary are thus encouraged and sustained, its connection with the Parent Society is such as to awaken an interest in the destitute beyond its own limits, and afford facilities for reaching them. It is not only a Society for local purposes, but it is also a branch of the National Society, and as such, has the control of all agencies for the collection of funds within its own field, and can direct the manner in which its surplus resources shall be expended beyond its own limits. Thus, the state and other large Auxiliaries are not merely organizations to help the Parent Society; they are integral parts of it, bound together in one whole by a common interest in, and free access, through the Parent Society, to the great field to be occupied, and governed by the same general principles and rules in carrying on their work.

Agents and Agencies.

Besides taking up contributions for Home Missions, the Agents of the American Home Missionary Society exercise a general superintendence of the operations of the Society within their respective fields. By correspondence and personal visitation, they ascertain the wants of the destitute; assist them to obtain the preaching of the Gospel; and instruct and encourage them to develop their own means for its support. They receive applications for aid, and make such preliminary examination as may be necessary before submitting them for the action of the Executive Committee; and in other ways labor to insure a judicious and economical application of the Society's funds. At present, the Society has in its employ no merely collecting Agents, nor any whose services are not required for other purposes in the regions where they labor. The Secretaries of several of the larger Auxiliaries, are also the Agents for this cause in their respective bounds.

In certain districts, where the duties of an Agent are likely to be peculiarly responsible, there is associated with him a board of counsellors selected from the region of his labors, called an Agency. These Boards of Agency differ from Auxiliary Societies, in that they have no independent existence, but are appointed by the Executive Committee from year to year, and are governed by rules which the Committee prescribe. Their office is to counsel and direct the Agent in carrying out the principles of the Society, and to give advice in relation to such local matters as may be submitted to them by the Executive Committee. The persons composing a Board of Agency, are selected for their intelligence and interest in this cause, and their influence in promoting it; and are so distributed over the field as to secure a personal acquaintance with its condition. The Agent of the Society is also the Secretary of the Agency with which he is associated.

These boards of counsel might not have been necessary, had the ecclesiastical bodies on the ground been able and disposed to pay sufficient attention to the missionary work, and to act as its directors in their respective bounds. But the ministers composing them are usually scattered over a wide extent of territory, and meet but seldom, and only at seasons when they are much occupied with other business; and accordingly it has been necessary in some cases to organize agencies for this specific work. But in other cases, Synods, Presbyteries and Associations have chosen to act as Auxiliaries to the Society, examining into the condition of the destitute within their bounds, and recommending the appropriate action for their relief. Ecclesiastical bodies thus related to the American Home Missionary Society act through.

Committees of Missions.

The American Home Missionary Society has ever regarded the ecclesiastical bodies as the appropriate judges of the standing of their own ministers, and of the wants of the churches in their connection. Accordingly, the commission issued to every missionary requires that his credentials be acceptable to that ministerial body of his denomination, within whose bounds he is appointed to labor. And the various Presbyteries, Associations, &c., are invited to appoint, each, a Committee of Missions from its own members to receive applications from its churches, and suggest to the Society the action proper in each case. Such a Committee constitutes the official source to which reference can be had for information and advice, in all matters pertaining to missions in the connection to which it belongs. This mode of co-operation has been preferred by numerous ecclesiastical bodies, from the first formation of the Society. It guaranties to the churches of each denomination represented in the Society, that their respective claims shall be fairly considered, with all the advantage of having the endorsement of the body to which they belong. The advice of such a Committee, acting in the name and by the direction of the ecclesiastical body to which they belong, is regarded as the highest authority in matters pertaining to the standing of ministers and churches in their connection, and has the same influence with the Society, as that of a Board of Agency appointed by itself.

There is one limitation to this influence, however, which ought to be stated. Should any ecclesiastical body so far swerve from the principles of truth and Gospel order, as not to retain the fellowship and confidence of the great body of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches in our land, that fact would cause its recommendations not to be respected, as a basis of action, by the Executive Committee.

As cases may occur in which the feeble churches may not be aware of the existence of any Board of Agency, or Committee of Missions, through whom to apply for aid, a general provision is made, that applications may be vouched by any two ministers of known and approved standing, who can certify to the facts of the case. If the information thus given is not sufficient, other facts are sought by the Executive Committee with as little delay as practicable, from the most authentic sources from which they can be obtained.

Such, briefly, are the relations of the American Home Missionary Society to the various organs, through which the community seeks to act out its missionary feeling. It will be seen that this plan secures the united action, in the missionary work, of those whose views of doctrine and church order admit of co-operation, and whose interests in the great field are essentially the same. This combination insures a homogeneous policy as to the manner and amount of appropriations, and the qualifications of missionaries; it has discouraged sectional feelings, and diffused throughout each part an interest in all the rest; and thus has formed ties between the West and East, along which have passed, from the latter to the former, a silent and invisible current of moral influences, more valuable, if possible, than all pecuniary grants. At the same time, the connection of the Parent Society with the various Associations that act with it, is such as to secure to them entire freedom in the missionary work, in their respective spheres, and an influence beyond them, in cultivating the waste places of our common country.

Applications for Aid.

Feeble congregations, applying for aid in supporting the Gospel, are requested to embody in their applications the following particulars, viz:

The name of the church or congregation; the number of communicants, and the average number of attendants on public worship; the denomination and size of congregations immediately contiguous, with the distance to their places of worship; the total amount of salary which the applicants propose to make up; the largest portion of that salary which they can raise for the given time, and the least amount that will suffice from the Society; whether the minister for whom a commission is desired, is the pastor of the church, or if not, whether any arrangements are made, or contemplated in the course of the year, with reference to his instalment. These statements should be signed by the trustees and elders or deacons, or by a committee of the congregation, and confirmed by the certificate of two or more clergymen of good standing, acquainted with the facts. Also—

The name and post office address of the minister whose services they desire to secure; his credentials; and the certificate of two or more ministers of known standing, as to his general character for piety, zeal and acceptableness as a minister of the Gospel, and his adaptedness to this particular field of labor.

Where the ecclesiastical body with which a church is connected has a "Committee of Missions" to act in their behalf, this Committee are the proper persons to certify the statements of the church, the standing of the minister and his prospects of usefulness in the place where his services are desired; and the application should, in all cases, be sent to them for their endorsement and recommendation.

As a general rule, the appropriations of the American Home Missionary Society are for twelve months from the date of the application; at the end of which, if further aid be needed, a new application must be made, containing all the particulars above stated, and endorsed and recommended in like manner. And each congregation applying for renewed aid, should furnish in addition to other testimonials, the certificate of the missionary, that they have fulfilled their previous pledges for his support.

It is desirable that applications should be addressed to the care of the Agent, Agency or Auxiliary Society of the American Home Missionary Society, for the region where the applicants reside; but in case of doubt as to the name or residence of such Agent, or the existence of such Agency or Auxiliary, applications may be sent directly to the office of the Parent Society, addressed to one of the Secretaries.

Addresses at the Twenty Third Anniversary.

Address of Rev. Henry Little, of Madison, Ind.,

On moving a Resolution for the acceptance of the Report:

MR. PRESIDENT,—I wish this resolution to be adopted, because that report ought to be circulated far and wide through this great nation. It communicates facts that the churches in our land ought to know, and in which they ought to be deeply interested. In it, our gratitude is expressed to the American Tract Society and to the Sabbath School Unions. It might also have expressed our gratitude to some friends who have sent us large boxes of those Sabbath Manuals that our missionaries and other ministers have taken along with them in their pastoral visits, and which have been great and important aids in their work. Allow me to give you one fact. A missionary, who was an eloquent German preacher, went with these tracts to a neighborhood where the people were almost entirely Roman Catholics. Being a little wiser than some of our tract distributors, when a man said he could read, he knew that he could not read well enough to understand the tracts, and he sat down and read and expounded them. When he had read and prayed with one of these Roman Catholics, he said, "As Christ is present as well as the priest, you may as well confess directly to him, and save the money for your family; and besides, the priests have no power in this country, and cannot injure you." In one winter, thirty or forty of these Roman Catholics were born again and became Protestants.

I wish this report to be widely circulated, because it urges an onward movement. We have lost immensely by neglect. We thank the Eastern churches for what they have done in what we used to call the West; but, sir, there has been an immense loss, because we have not come up to the indications of God's providence. Let me state a fact or two here. Long ago, a few ministers from the Connecticut Home Missionary Society went out into Ohio. Several churches were organized. One of these churches was organized at Granville, in the centre of the state. That church sent to the Connecticut Home Missionary Society for one hundred dollars a year, which they received for eight long years, and without which they could not have kept their minister. The other churches had no such aid, and all of them died; while this Granville church increased to 400 members, and now sends us $200 a year, for what they received, to help us on in this work. Look at another fact of an opposite character. There was a deacon of a church in Vermont, who moved to New-York and there became an elder of a Presbyterian church. He then went out to the state of Indiana, which was then the Far West, and there found another brother, who had been member of a church in New England. They were anxious to get a minister, but could not succeed; and he joined another church, which did not please him, and at length left it and became a Universalist, and took along with him several other Vermont professors, and made Universalists of them all, and they erected a Universalist meeting-house. Now, if there had been a missionary to go along with them, he might have restrained them from embracing such errors. Another man, the son of a pious woman in Connecticut, who was dedicated to the Lord in his infancy, went into that neighborhood about the same time, but there was no preaching that satisfied him, and he became an infidel, and died five years ago, a very old man, leaving two generations of his own name behind him, but not one of them is known to be a Christian of any denomination. He was taught the good old catechism in Connecticut, but there was no missionary to follow up these instructions, and he became an infidel. Now, his posterity would make a very respectable congregation, but not one of them seems to fear the Lord. I mention these cases, and the Granville case, to show the two classes of facts. If the Church would only come up to what Providence indicates, what wonderful, what heart cheering results would be witnessed. What has made the Eastern states what they are? What has made Massachusetts, for instance, what she is? As soon as the first settlers came they built a meeting house, where there was preaching every Lord's day; and close by they built a school house, where the Bible was read every day, and where that good old catechism was taught every week, and moral principles instilled, with line upon line and precept upon precept, until those principles were fixed in the minds and hearts. This has made those states what they are. On the other hand, very large fields have been left almost entirely uncultivated, while God in his providence, in the astonishing movements of this age, calls upon us to come up and finish this work.

Let me mention one other fact. We had a meeting in the Far West, a year or two ago, when a brother came in and reported that there were 20,000 Norwegians who were Protestants in their faith, and who were very anxious to be Americanized. They said they would be very glad to have their children go to our schools, but that "the American children are so bad that we dare not send our children to school with them, lest their morals should be corrupted." There has been most sinful neglect, and there are a great many other schools besides those in Wisconsin, where the honest-hearted Norwegian could not send his children to school without danger of their being corrupted, because the church and the school-house were not established, and christian principles inculcated, at the very beginning.

The Report speaks of the vast increase of population. It says, and no doubt with great correctness, that the increase will be about one thousand a day during the coming year, from foreign parts alone. Now, let us dwell a moment upon this thought. Suppose President Polk had last year appointed a committee to go out among the Buffaloes—where the rivers are near 3000 miles long, and where there is room enough—and mark out five great territories, as large as the State of New-York; and suppose he had placed some other committees at all the proper landings on the Atlantic, and whenever emigrants walked off the ships, sent them straight across to these five new territories; you see that in the course of the past year the increase of population, from that source alone, would have been sufficient to make five great additional states in this Union. The population coming in this year will also be sufficient, so far as numbers are concerned, to compel Congress to admit five new states, and this indicates the missionary work to be done up this year, besides all the unfinished work of past years, and what Oregon and California call upon us to do.

This immense augmentation of population causes continual change. Really, we Home Missionary agents ought to have some sympathy from the community. When we get a fine address made out fit to deliver, we have to deliver it quick, because facts will not remain facts. They keep changing. I heard a minister of Cincinnati say that he went there when he was personally acquainted with every family in the city, and now, said he, "We have 23,000 inhabitants." I used to tell what a wonderful and rapid increase of population that was; but now you must put more than 100,000 to it to make it tally with the fact. I went down the river Ohio to Madison, Ia., where they were receiving one hundred dollars a year to support a minister. They have now two Presbyterian churches, and give enough annually to support two Home Missionaries. I went down a little further, to New Albany, where they were receiving one hundred dollars a year of assistance, and where they have now two Presbyterian churches, each of which contributes enough annually to support a missionary. I labored long to procure a minister for La Fayette, in Indiana, before any church was opened, and now it has two Presbyterian churches, and the one which co-operates with us, contributes about enough to sustain a Home Missionary. So, you see, facts will not remain facts. A year or two ago, I had our whole territory all fixed out for a speech, but before I got it ready to deliver, we had added, by the annexation of Texas, a country as large as seven such states as Pennsylvania; and I had the matter barely re-adjusted, when the arrangement was again broken up by the acquisition of a new territory as large as all the original glorious thirteen. And, so, we deserve some sympathy; for facts will not remain facts. If any of your book makers are writing books about the West, I advise you to publish quick or they will not be true—for nothing remains a fact in the West.

The Committee in their Annual Report tell us that they have found the Far West. I am a little skeptical. I have been eighteen years travelling up and down after it, and have not been able to find it. When I see the Anglo-Saxon race all going west, not a man of them returning east, and when I see what kind of men they are, I am inclined to think that the Pacific is not going to stop them. We shall yet say the "West Indies," instead of the "East Indies." Missionaries will yet go from the Western Pacific shore to China, and all the various countries of Asia.

Now, brethren, let me urge you—as Oregon and California, those great regions, are filling up so fast—to send a missionary out with every vessel that sails, who shall stand beside the diggings and tell every man, day by day, as he is digging, that he has a mine in his bosom more valuable than that which he is working; warning him to prepare for the enjoyment of those riches which perish not with the using.

As I have said, there are many of these facts that will not remain facts, but there are some facts that remain, and will remain forever. Among these are the fact that man is immortal, and prone to go down to destruction; that he must be born again, or he cannot see the kingdom of God; that it is through the foolishness of preaching, not once, but by a continual repetition of it, by line upon line and precept upon precept, that erring men are reclaimed.

If the Society has found the West, and if this immense current of mind now flowing thitherward can rush no farther, then must come the re-action, and the tide of their own influences will roll back upon us, and those upon the Atlantic must take care of themselves, and provide that those influences shall be genial and good, by sending out now a missionary with every ship, who shall plant there the religion of the Cross.

Address of Rev. D. Howe Allen, D.D., of Lane Seminary, O.,

In support of the following Resolution:

Resolved, That greatly increased efforts in behalf of Home Missions are demanded by the exigencies of the country and the Providence of God.

MR. PRESIDENT—For a long time we have been accustomed to say that God has waked up the human mind to the most intense action of which it is capable; and yet, somehow or other, the intensity of its action seems to increase upon us every day; so that now it has come to pass that we dare not attempt to say what men will not accomplish. You tell us here in New York that before long we shall go to California in a balloon, and if we do not exactly believe it, we do not exactly dare to deny it, for the past few years would rebuke us if we should attempt to set such a limit to the discoveries and to the action of men in this land. But what I wish to direct your attention to is, that God's hand is in all this great movement. It is the same Being who, in the fulness of time, sent Christ to the earth when he had prepared the way for his coming; it is the same Being who when Luther appeared, gave him the printing press with which to turn the world upside down;—it is He who raised up the "universal Yankee nation" and planted them where they must work and become hardy and industrious or starve; and kept them there until their attachment to the soil became so strong that the tide of emigration is in no danger of sweeping them off. And when they needed to swarm, it was He that opened this great western world to them; and when they demanded greater facilities of intercommunication, it was He that raised up a Fulton, and by steam introduced a new age of commerce; and when still greater facilities were demanded, it was the same Being that gave us our own beloved Morse, who taught us to talk by lightning; and now when the experiment of navigating the ocean by steam has been demonstrated to be practicable, and we want to be linked with the old world by a shorter chain, it is He that has unlocked to us the mines of California, and poured in there a population of thousands and tens of thousands, who will presently turn round and demand at our hands the railroad to bind us to the Pacific by steam, and bring all the commerce of the old world through the new, and introduce another age of commerce. This I say is God's work, and in this way he has been adding one stimulus after another to the human mind until it would seem as if its most intense activity had been reached.

Now, sir, ought not the Church to sympathize with this movement of the mind? Ought not the schemes of the Church to be conceived and executed with as much energy and as much hope as the schemes of the world in respect to commerce? Nay, more, ought they not to be carried out with more energy and more hope inasmuch as the motives of eternity are mightier than the motives of earth, inasmuch as the promises of Jesus Christ are more sure than all the promises of the world? Ought we not to expect, that Christians, stimulated by those principles and sustained by those hopes and promises, would be in their schemes of benevolence far outstretching the boldest aspirations of the world? It seems to me that the providence of God in respect to the cause of missions especially calls upon us for this very thing. That providence is as marked in regard to the missionary operations, as it is with regard to commercial transactions or anything else. Where did our modern missions commence? If I am rightly informed they had their origin in Connecticut, in the days of old father Mills, the father of Samuel J. Mills, and in the days of the venerated father of President Day. We are told that those men and their associates were accustomed to leave their parishes two or three months in the year, and go on missionary tours to Vermont, and when they came back, and by their firesides told their children what they had seen and done, they kindled a fire the results of which they little anticipated. When Samuel J. Mills made known to his father that he had intended to preach the Gospel to the heathen, the old man in surprise said to him, "My son, where did you learn to be a missionary?" "I learned it of my father, sir," was the affecting reply. The old man learned it at the feet of Christ, the great missionary from heaven to earth, and put it in practice in Vermont. He taught it to his son at the fireside and that son took it with him to Williams College, and the old Williamstown haystack furnished not the fuel, but the place to keep the fire burning until it filled many hearts, and the American Board of Foreign Missions was formed. That ray of light has been penetrating the darkness of heathenism until the whole world is now opening to the labors of our missionaries. But the parent stock, domestic missions, how that has grown! Your Report has traced it from Vermont through New York, and Ohio, and Indiana, and Illinois and onward to the Pacific Ocean, counting its subjects by millions where they were at first counted by hundreds. Does not God, in this condition of the cause in which we are engaged, call upon us for corresponding effort? Is not his providence as marked in respect to this cause, as in respect to anything else?

I have sometimes thought, what would be the feelings of the apostle Paul if he could stand where we stand to-night. The privilege he had was that of writing letters to the churches and employing men to copy them by hand one after another, and of sending them—not by steam, not even by mails—but by private communication. For if you read the epistle to the Philippians, you will notice that the pastor of the church, Epaphroditus, was sent all the way from Philippi to Rome with a contribution to the wants of the apostle, and the apostle sent back a letter to the Philippian church by him. Such was their mode of intercommunication. But though laboring at such disadvantage, though exposed to tortures for the doctrines of the Lord Jesus which he advocated, and though his heart was attracted upward by the love of Christ such as never dwelt, perhaps, in any other mind so strongly, so that he could say "I desire to depart and be with Christ," still, he was "in a strait twixt two, and wot not what to choose." He was in doubt whether to decide to go up to Christ or stay and labor on in this world. Let him stand where we do to-night. Give him the printing press to publish more copies of his epistles in one day than all the Scribes of Judea could write out in a lifetime. Give him the steam engine, the rail road and all the means of intercommunication that we have to scatter those epistles; give him the thousand missionaries that you have; give him the colporteurs and all the immense machinery now in operation to work with, give him lightning to publish his doings to the churches, and would he not say, Let me live and toil on, that I may gather souls to Christ? And ought not such to be the response of the church? Does not God call upon us, by putting into our hands these agencies, to come up to his help with mightier energy, with a firmer purpose and with larger plans than we have ever before entertained?

But, Sir, I wish to say a few words as a Western man with respect to the work which this Society is doing in the Great West. It has been my privilege to labor there for sixteen years, and I have been so situated that by my correspondence, and by those who have come under my instruction, almost the whole valley has come under my eye. Sir, I am happy here to bear my humble testimony to a truth to which I believe the hearts of thousands and millions in that valley will respond, that of all the agencies employed for the evangelization of the West we owe most to you. To you thousands who were once destitute of the Gospel now render their benedictions for having bestowed it upon them. They remember with most devout gratitude the missionary who was sent to them in their destitution, who has knelt with them by their firesides, who has buried their husbands or their wives, baptised their children and consecrated them to Jesus.

Again, Sir, I would urge a larger devotion to this cause, because it affords you the quickest mode of evangelizing the West. When Jesus Christ stood upon the earth and looked over the whole world, then destitute, he prayed the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into his harvest, and by laborers he meant those to whom he could say—"Go preach the Gospel." And we certainly are not wiser than He. To illustrate this remark, that the missionary work is the quickest mode of accomplishing what you wish to do in the West let me refer you to the history of one of your own missionaries. You sent him a little less than three years ago to a town in the State of Ohio, which, when he went there, presented about as hopeless a field of labor as could be found in the western valley. The infidel was there before him, and almost the whole population was infidel. The grog shop was there before him, and the people were debased with intemperance. He went there, and sustained at first by you, he set himself down to do God's work, even for a life time if God willed it. He began by visiting from house to house, and conversing with men, women and children. He had learned how to do it. He knew how to meet the infidel. He was a gentleman and knew how to approach men—and strange to say, he learned it all in the Theological Seminary. In a very short time he had the vast majority of that population to hear him preach, and if you will read one of his late reports, presented, I think, within the present year, you will find that he says—and I can testify to its truth—that infidelity is fairly vanquished. He has been blessed with a precious revival of religion and has gathered a large church, and Christianity may be said to be fairly established there. Now, Sir, plant such men at every such point—and places where they are needed are more numerous than the heads I see to-night—all over the West, and you will do the work of evangelizing the West quicker, incalculably quicker, than you can by all other agencies combined. This is the agency which Christ commands us to pray for and which he himself has commissioned.

There is one other thought, and only one, upon which I will dwell. It is that this is the cheapest way to evangelize the West. Sir, I am almost ashamed to name this consideration. It is to me a humiliating thought, that those who are redeemed by the blood of Jesus Christ can calculate the value of their benevolent intentions in dollars and cents. But so it is, and therefore it must be named. I have been for the last ten or twelve years one of a committee of your Society, whose business it is to make appropriations to the missionaries, and on the field in which I have labored, covering most of Southern Ohio and the State of Indiana, our average appropriations have not exceeded $100, and I presume this will be found to be true of nearly if not all the missionary ground east of the Mis-

Mississippi river. Sir, the entire salary of four-fifths of all your missionaries east of the Mississippi and west of the Alleghanies, including the entire amount they have received from their people, will not average over $300 per annum; but so far as you and the Society are concerned, it is a missionary for $100. If you examine the statistics of this Society you will find that the entire expense of sustaining a missionary in any part of the field, including the expenses of the establishment in New-York, your Secretaries, your missionary rooms, and every thing else—averaging the expenses of the institution by the years of actual labor put forth by the missionaries—does not exceed $166. The present year it amounts to $178. The reason of that increased expense is obvious at once, when you remember what it costs to send a missionary to Oregon and California, and remember also what is stated in your report, that of the increase of your missionaries, six-sevenths of the increase of the missionaries in ten years, have been in the far West, where the missionaries must receive a larger appropriation than those in the more eastern States. I think this is enough on that point. It is the cheapest mode of evangelizing the West. If the Christians of this city wish to calculate their schemes of benevolence by dollars and cents, let them look at those facts. So far as the benevolence of the churches is concerned, you may have a missionary of the cross of Jesus Christ devoted wholly to that work, for $166 per annum, all told! Sir, I have sometimes thought that you might get tired of hearing about the West and of sending missionaries to the West; but my good friends be patient. It is just exactly what the Church has been doing ever since the Star of Bethlehem arose and moved westward until it stood over the place where Jesus lay. Not two years ago I think a missionary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, himself a native of the West, stood at the post of Troas and wrote these words: "When the apostle Paul stepped from these great stepping stones into his boat bound for Phillippi, the Kingdom of Heaven commenced its westward movement, and from that day to this it has kept upon the line of its early direction. Westward to Italy, to Spain, to England, westward across the Atlantic to America, westward still to the wide valley of the Mississippi, and over to the Pacific and to the beautiful islands that lie in her bosom." So wrote the missionary, and may we not add with the brother that has preceded me that you have not found the West yet. When you have laid your railroad across the Rocky Mountains, and when you have bridged the Pacific with your steamers, the course of the missionary will be westward still, until the light that was kindled on Calvary shall again illuminate the spot that gave it birth.

But, Sir, in connection with this fact there is another not to be forgotten, and that is this: just in proportion as the light of Christianity has moved westward it has left the East in darkness, as the light of the natural sun does. Now it becomes a question of interest to our minds, must it always be so? As it shall roll on and enlighten the shores of the Pacific, shall it leave our Atlantic coast in darkness? Will the light grow out in our beloved New England? Shall New York become another Rome? If not, why not? Sir, I cannot dwell on that topic, I must answer in a word. If not, it will be because it is prevented by the possession and exhibition of the spirit of missions. If you examine the history of the matter, which I have not time to present to you to-night, you will see that the light has grown dim and been extinguished in the eastern church, just as the spirit of missions, which is the spirit of Jesus Christ, has subsided and died away. If we would not have the light put out upon our own shores; if we would continue to send it eastward as well as westward, then must we come up to the spirit of the resolution which I have offered, and put forth greatly increased efforts for the great work of Home Missions.

[We regret that, owing to a misapprehension, Mr. Storrs' address was not fully reported. The following sketch is taken from the "Independent."]

Resolved, That the work of establishing throughout the country an evangelical ministry is now the grand work for the world's conversion, and should be prosecuted with an enthusiasm corresponding to its magnitude.

In support of this resolution he said—The world is to be converted to the Gospel. The light which shone upon Calvary is to encircle the earth, and return to gladden again the place where it first appeared. And this great work is to be done by human effort—not by a miracle, not by any special and overpowering dispensation of Divine Providence, but by the strenuous, protracted, faithful and prayerful efforts of those who love Jesus Christ.

And where are we to find a great christian instrumentality adequate to this result. Shall we look to Asia, the land where Christianity commenced its career? In Asia we behold society utterly exhausted and worn out; void of all vital energy, and held together only by the instinct of self-preservation and the arm of power. The winged lion dug from the site of ancient Nineveh is not more a symbol of the ancient civilization, than are the ruins from which it was taken emblematic of the present condition of the people. Asia can do nothing for this purpose.

Shall we look to Europe for this instrumentality? There we find the great and swollen power of Russia, its government centralized and held at the will of one man. How much that government could do for our object, for the kingdom of Christ, if there were the heart for it! But it seems to be absorbed in the one idea of extending the iron ring of its own boundaries, of grasping the Dardanelles, of realizing the old Mohammedan prophecy which predicted that in four hundred years from the time that the Cross bowed to the Crescent at Constantinople the Crescent should again yield to a power led on by the banner of the Cross. There is Germany—but the utmost that it has the power to do for the Gospel, in the midst of its own atheistic Pantheism, is to keep alive the smouldering embers on its own altars. It can do nothing for the conversion of the world. Shall we look to Italy? bound down by the combined despotisms of Austria and Rome? It lies like Enceladus under Sicily, whose writhings heave up the lava of revolution and bloodshed.

Spain and Portugal are but an incubus upon Europe. And France is as the blinded giant humbled to the earth, and ever and anon struggling to break away, but still so bound around with the fine net-work of diplomacy that he strives in vain, though tearing his own flesh in his agony, and wiping the bloody film from his sightless eyeball. Why, these are the very nations whom we have to work for—not the instrumentalities that are to do the work.

Blessed be God there is one people who can do this work. Praise be to him for the Christian enterprise and intelligence and faith of England. That Anglo Saxon race, with its Literature and its Religion and Christian energy, will make the Bible follow the drumbeat of British power round the globe. There are marks of English zeal in the monuments of her sons who have been martyrs for the truth on every shore, in every clime. But there are some things which she cannot do so well as we. A conquered people are not predisposed to embrace the religion of the conqueror. The associations with guns and bayonets are but little harmonious with the persuasives to piety. I have no doubt that God will overrule the triumphs of British power in China and in India to the promotion of his designs. That power has broken through the mighty archways, that under them the banner of the cross might pass unbent. But it will take time to obliterate the memories of conquest.

And England has a great work to do at home. There is the Union of Church and State to be dissolved. They have grown up together, and intertwined like vines, until the separation will seem like pulling the life out of both. But it must be done; not the work of one year, or of ten, but a prolonged struggle. And there is the great work of the renovation of English Society, which must take place before the full power of the English nation can be put forth for the conversion of the world. And if that power were all in use at this moment, the work is too vast to be accomplished by a single people. And where shall we look for the mighty auxiliary which is demanded, but to our own country?

All history and prophecy, and reason and experience, point to this nation as a primary agency, the grand leading Power in the conversion of the world. The vastness of our extent, from ocean to ocean, so diversified, and yet so wonderfully knit together as one physical structure, and bound with bands of iron and nerves of lightning—we stand here, day by day, as on the summit of the earth, to shed forth blessings on either hand, by the Atlantic and the Pacific, to Europe and to Asia.

Such a national life and energy can be found nowhere else, on earth or in history. The original stock is remarkable, and its development still more peculiar. The Puritan stock is not distinguished for grace and refinement, but, it has those qualities on which every grace and embellishment must be superinduced—that quality which never breaks down nor gives way, though you subject it to the trials of revolution. That stock is now consolidated and prepared for the addition of every other quality of every other race and nation. The vivacity of the French, the acuteness of the Italian, the plodding earnestness of the German, the generosity of the Irish, can here fuse and mingle into one amalgam which, like Corinthian brass, shall be more precious than any single metal of which it is composed. Our nation stands out before the world as the representative of one great Idea, that Man as man is the chief object of regard; that his rulers are for him, not he for them. The whole world is turning to this Idea, as the Parsees turn to the sun. This Idea is clattering against the battlements of royalty. It sways the tide of human hearts as the moon sways the ocean wave. This nation is undoubtedly to exert an influence upon the destiny of the world such as has been exerted by no other.

Suppose now that the vital energy of this nation shall be governed by Christian principle, and that this power shall all be wielded for the cause of Christ! We shall conquer mankind, not by the force of our arms, but by the power of our ideas. Our country stands as the granite hills on which to rest the hopes of the world. Or, rather, like Mount Atlas, to bear up the world into the light and glory of the Gospel.

Is it not our duty, then, to put forth all our energy to save this country? We can do it by God's blessing. God has placed us now in the position where we can shed a redeeming influence upon the land and save it. To doubt that our country can be saved is to abandon the Christian faith. If we will labor for it as we ought and as we may—if we will labor for it as the sailor labors for the salvation of his ship when she is drifting upon the rocks and he sees that by almost superhuman exertion he can bring her off into a smooth summer's sea—if we will work as Cromwell wrought at Naseby, when he saw the battle trembling in suspense, and rushed in with his stern Puritan troops and fought with such a spirit of enthusiasm as overwhelmed the forces of Prince Rupert—if we will put forth that enthusiasm which men should feel who labor for the world, and for the glory of God, and for the salvation of the human race—we can save our country.

We must plant everywhere our schools and our colleges. We must enlist every proper instrumentality, and put forth every effort. And above all, and first of all, we must do the work of Home Missions by planting everywhere an evangelical ministry. And by an evangelical ministry, I mean a ministry that is in sympathy with Christ, men who have communed with him, and have received the baptism of his Spirit, and hold his truth as the life within them. Such a ministry is to be employed and supported, all over our country, and all experience and argument, and history, and Scripture tell us what will be the result. Such a ministry has been enjoyed. And how the influences of such a ministry, shed down in former days from the high pulpits of New England, moulded and energized a people, let the world observe. For the extension of such a ministry we are here to-night.

We have had much to say and to hear about Romanism. Sir, I would not say one word to wound the feelings of any friend of Rome who may be here to-night. But there are three things to be noticed in regard to Romanism. One is, that its theology is irreconcilably opposed to the nature and spirit of Christianity. Another thing is, that its principles, and spirit, and ecclesiastical organization are against the spirit of the age and of the land. And the third thing is, the history of the Inquisition and of those arbitrary acts and binding policy which have so long held back the nations that were under its sway. And now, if we, with this ministry and this Bible, in this land of freedom, with these advantages, and working as we may and ought—if we cannot stay the progress of Romanism, let Romanism triumph. If it can live through all this, it will thereby prove that it has a right to live. But Romanism cannot live, if we do our duty. It was well said here yesterday, that nothing which is of God can be destroyed by that which is good.

Shall we fear the final triumph of Infidelity? Infidelity is under a disadvantage—it has no future, and therefore never satisfies the demand of the soul. Man must have a future, which Infidelity cannot give. And besides, Infidelity has its history, of guillotines, and blood, and crime, and misery. And the world is able to compare its history with the history of Christianity, and to judge them by their fruits. We can point to the history of the Gospel, in the prevalence of order, and peace, and domestic happiness, and social purity, and smiling plenty, and all the sweet charities of private life, and all that is heroic and self-sacrificing in public virtue. If with these advantages in our favor, we let Infidelity triumph in this country, the blame must be on our own heads.

You remember, sir, the old Bohemian belief, that wheresoever Ziska's drum went, there went victory! for by that terrible music were awaked the shades of the national heroes to fight again for their liberties and religion; and before that unseen chivalry, went down like chaff the boldest warrior. Oh let us remember that wheresoever there goes the Truth and the spirit of the Puritan, a mightier than this supernatural preserver goes with it as its ally—even the Spirit and power of God Almighty—and unto Him be all the praise.

Address of Rev. Joseph C. Stiles, of New-York.

Mr. President—In view of the resolution just passed by the Society, and especially of the noble, brilliant address of my brother who advocated it, you will be prepared for the sentiment to which I beg leave to call your attention.

Resolved, That the sublimity of the missionary work, especially at the present time, in our own land, should inspire the people of God with greater faith and self-devotion for its advancement.

MISSIONS—in AMERICA! Well may such a topic engage the attention of a christian assembly. If sublimier work is done in heaven, or out of it, than the work of missions, I know it not.—Survey—

The MISSION FIELD. What is it? MIND! immortal mind! and a world of it!

Mr. President, who can speak the capacities, the responsibilities, the destinies of mind? Mind, sir! With love or hate, it can fling a thought quite up to God, and across his works, and through eternity. It can exalt the Most High. It can endorse the government of the universe; it can embrace the brotherhood of creation; it can augment all that is valuable—knowledge, virtue, happiness. It can hold creation, and be hungry. It can take in the fulness of him that filleth all things. Yes, sir, and its power to do all this, and much more, shall grow forever.

The dependance of mind deepens the interest awakened by its power. For the just exercise of all these capacities, mind is constitutionally responsible to God. But no man reaches the august import of mind, until he learns its story. Man's mind has rebelled against God, and been redeemed by Jesus Christ. And what is the issue? Leave it, and it shall hold God, cursing through eternity—"a vessel of wrath." Save it, and it shall hold God, blessing while immortality endures—"a vessel of mercy." Mind! what a treasure; what a charge! The Mission Field!

what is it? Mind! Lost Mind; and a world full of ever following generations of it! what a field! Mr. President,—what a field!

The MISSION INSTRUMENT! what is this? The Gospel—The “glorious Gospel of the blessed God!” And what is the Gospel? Man is selfish, and every man knows that the Gospel is glad tidings to lost mind. But man is carnal; and it is not every man who knows that the grandeur of the Gospel is not surpassed by its mercy. If a man would know the Gospel, let him fix his eye upon the prodigious range of its influence. The Gospel works commensurately with all the great interests of the great community of the universe. Let him fix his eye upon the mighty benignity of its action. The Gospel promotes the highest weal of the Creator and of Creation. This exalted eulogium of the Gospel I hold to be sustained by this truth—the Gospel furnishes the mightiest sanction to the government of God, on the one hand; and sheds the happiest influence upon the subjects of his sceptre, on the other.

On its face, the Gospel presents Jesus Christ, a legal substitute for the sinner. Man rebelled against God. To sustain God's law, and befriend the transgressor, Jesus Christ assumed man's place under the law; performed man's duties enjoined in the law; and suffered man's death demanded by the law. The influence of this stupendous fact is two-fold.

It provides a powerful sanction to God's law by the demonstration of its rectitude. Jesus Christ's voluntary assumption of a nature subject to God's law; spending the strength of that nature in obedience of the law; and surrendering its life in honor of the law, is an irrefragable, most glorious, and final testimony to the rectitude of the law. Thus the Gospel puts up its first great pillar right under the throne of God.

In like manner this substitution flings a mighty influence all around the universe. To every rational creature it cries out “Jehovah is right, all should serve him! Jehovah is good, all should love him!”

In its bearing, the Gospel operates a new development of the divine character. Through the cross of Jesus Christ, every attribute of God, natural, as well as moral, is let out far beyond the mark of all prior revelation.

This, too, brings a mighty ratification to the government of God, by its clearer revelation of the character of the Governor. The new development of his moral perfections speaks anew to the heart and conscience of the subject and builds up allegiance. The new development of his natural perfections speaks anew to the hope and fear of the subject and disarms resistance. Thus the Gospel erects its second great pillar under the throne of God.

This fact, like the former, wields an immense moral influence also upon all God's subjects. For it lies in the very nature of things, that the unfolding of God's perfections must stimulate to the utmost every faculty of the rational constitution, employed in repentance for sin, on the one hand, or in the higher love and service of God on the other.

In its result, the Gospel affixes higher rewards and punishments to God's law. If the Gospel holds out God's Son, a saving substitute for God's offending creature, then here is a display of love never witnessed by creation before. If the Gospel works a new edition of God's attributes, then here is a development of light which never reached the mind of creature before. Consequently, Jesus Christ accepted, must conduct to a higher blessing; Jesus Christ rejected, must expose to a deeper curse, than pertains to any dispensation of inferior privilege. It is hardly necessary to say, that this augmentation of the sanctions of God's law, like the two preceding facts, must favorably affect both the government and the governed of the universe.

Mr. President, what shall we think of the Gospel of Jesus Christ? I rejoice in this opportunity of expressing my solemn conviction, that next to God and his law, there is not an element in existence comparable in majesty or mercy, with the Gospel of the Son of God. The Gospel goes over Creator and creation, and protects and blesses all. The Gospel sustains God's venerable law against all rebellion, past and future. The Gospel snatches a glorious multitude of perishing immortals from the very grasp of sin itself. The Gospel pours forth a flood of new light which shall act through eternity—for God, in the celebration of his praise—for creation, in the suppression of evil, and the promotion of good.

What an instrument is the Gospel! How vast! How glorious! Some men work with the plough, some with the sword; but he who works with the Gospel, O, how much broader, and higher, and holier, and happier his agency than that of the combined instrumentalities of the universe beside!

THE MISSIONARY, who is he? A man called of God, and charged by heaven and earth, to take this great instrument, and go out into this great field and under the pledge of divine co-operation, work for the universe.

In what estimation, sir, shall we hold the cause of Missions? Of old, when God laid down the corner stone of this world, it is reported, that "the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy." Were God employed at this moment, in putting down the foundations of another universe, in the unoccupied tracts of space beyond his throne, I do not believe that one solitary eye of heaven would be diverted by the operation. Why should it be? Here on the earth, in this cause of missions, we have the working of these very attributes, in a far, far sublimer style. God himself being Judge, when he builds his new heaven and new earth, all the natural creation shall be remembered no more for ever.

O! the cause of missions! 'Tis the noblest cause under heaven! Mr. President, dig my grave, and put me into it, ere I live to see the day when I hold a heart that beats, and yet beats not in sympathy with this most holy enterprise. Not a straw for the magnanimity of that man who sees nothing great, nothing good, nothing bright, in the cause of missions! That man bids adieu to all principle, abandons God and man, turns his back on the welfare of the universe, and shrinks himself into a poor, little worm, that loves to burrow into the bosom of the earth. The Lord have mercy upon him, and lift him from his deep interment, to the light and the air he was made to breathe, to work, and to rejoice in!

While the dignity of our great theme does not suffer by the limitation, how does thought after thought spring up to send an augmenting thrill through the soul, as we contemplate its application to OUR OWN COUNTRY.

The missions we review to-day, are HOME MISSIONS. No wonder home is so sweet; charity, the sweetest of all things, begins there. He who commanded—"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," has thus predicated our love to others upon the pre-existing, justified standard, love of self. Mr. President, they are ours for whom you labor—our countrymen, our neighbors, our kindred! O, let us love to send these sweet charities of the Gospel through all these destitute abodes!

How extended, too, are our domestic missions in this day! Time was, when the population of the United States were shut up within half the space which spreads between the Atlantic and Allegany. Doubtless the bold, adventurous hunter, who passed his way through undisturbed forests to the summit of the range, and looked far eastward to the abodes of civilization, oftentimes imagined, "Hitherto ye may come, but certainly no farther." How has the history of our country outlived the fancies of the long buried man! The great wave of the American population! It has swelled up to the summit of the Alleghanies, and swept over the great valley to the Mississippi, and onward pushed its way to the Rocky Mountains, and unarrested still, it now flows down the long land slope to the ocean, and begins to press the shores of the Pacific. Mr. President, how many Englands shall one day be embosomed within the limits of our national territory? Think, sir, seeds of nations are planted all over our extensive missionary field. O! let us spring to the thought; the harvest of intelligence, morality and salvation, which shall be gathered from this great heart of the earth, in all future generations, may—must depend, and not a little, on the missionary labor, with which these seeds of sprouting nations are cultivated in our day. Let us ponder this solemn truth. The destinies of unborn nations, yea! of families of nations, are in our hands. Let us look well to our Home Missions, that we may do all in our power to shape these mighty, forthcoming elements for the glory of God and the salvation of man.

But, Mr. President, pre-eminently, the animating thought of this day I have yet to state. The American Home Missionary Society, in its operations, has at length travelled out to the line, where Home and Foreign Missions work side by side on the same field.

That population which is crowding out in such an unexampled manner to the shores of the Pacific, will be sure to carry with them christian principles and christian institutions. Some of them are ministers, more of them Christians. Already they have begun to plant churches, to build temples, to settle ministers, to preach the Gospel, and to sanctify the Sabbath. Our christian brethren, the Methodists, the Baptists, the Episcopalians, the Presbyterians, are all there. The American Home Missionary Society is there; the American Bible Society; the American Tract Society; the American Sunday School Union, and every other great and good institution, will soon be there. Thus you perceive, if the bone and sinew of our people, are concentrating on the Pacific coast; there too, christian principle and influence are fixing deep their foundations. Is there a mind in this assembly so ignorant of American enterprise, or of christian principle, as to imagine that there is a power on earth, which can shut up American piety—like American law—on American soil? You have seen some great blue wave of ocean, in its even majesty rolling in obliquely upon the main. No sooner, does it strike the land, than it breaks, and foams all along the shore, just as far as the eye can reach. So with this great wave of christian influence, which is rolling westward. It has struck the Pacific, and now spreads along to the south, and, California's gold to the contrary notwithstanding, its progress shall never be arrested until it fringes the whole western coast of South America with the light of christian institutions. Nor is this all. If the wave of ocean, stops at its natural boundary, the land; the wave of moral influence does not stop at the natural boundary of population, the sea. Oh no, sir! Under every yard of canvass, with every stroke of the steamer, this benign influence shall sail away to the isles of the Pacific, and to the darker Pagan nations of the North. Nor shall it rest like the ship that floats it, upon the boundary line of these benighted kingdoms, but it shall insinuate itself into their very heart, by the life and language of the man of God; by the enterprise of men of all trades and occupations who shall push their way to the remotest corners of these tribes in search of business; by those Christian missiles—tracts, books, and bibles—which shall make a part of every American cargo; by native curiosity and conscience from the interior, which shall carry back from the sea-board these insignia of our new and stirring religion.

Mr. President, that christian truth, which is traveling westward with our emigrant people shall cross the Pacific, land upon the eastern shores of Asia, and by multiplied channels move on westward through these dark nations, until, passing mountain and valley, river and sea, the day—the glorious day—shall come when it shall encounter that established line of missionary light which has so long been bearing down eastward upon these countries from the heart of Christendom. What a cordial relief, unfelt by the militant church in any prior year of its history, starts up at this prospect! Mr. President, the moment that dates a man's entrance into the kingdom of Jesus, dates also his largest, brightest hope for man. I need not say that this is the conversion of the world. Hitherto there ever has been labor with this hope, trouble with this joy. The progress of the great work has been so slow and feeble, the hindrances looked so vast and impregnable, that while faith moves up promptly to the conversion of the world, sight cannot get around it comfortably. Stand at our missionary stations and look through the hundreds of millions of benighted Heathens who swarm through Siberia, China, Japan, Kamtskatka and Russian America. We shudder and seem to see no light beyond, and are tempted to cry out with the ancient unbeliever: "How can this great thing be?" "How shall all these dark countries be evangelized to God?" Now, this year's operation of the American Home Missionary Society stands connected with the turning over of a new leaf touching God's plan of converting the world. Do you see that great arm of Divine Truth, slowly but steadily moving down eastward upon the Pagan world? Do you not know that through every future year, that arm shall strengthen and brighten and move on eastward still, with an augmenting momentum? On the other side of the world, have you not marked that the great wall of darkness, whose base extended from the Rocky Mountains to the shore of Western Asia, has been thrown down this very year; and that, from the heart of Christian America, another great arm of divine truth begins to move westward over this immense space upon the central kingdoms of the Heathen? Who does not know that this body of Christian light is also destined to be enlarged and improved through all time to come? Now, what is the language of all this, Mr. President? Why, sir! It looks as though the God of Heaven had taken up the heart of the heathen world and placed it precisely between the two jaws of the great vice of truth, and was now beginning to SCREW IT UP, Sir—to SCREW IT UP, Sir. He seems to have been bearing down upon the bulwarks of the god of this world from the East, until every eye of the enemy is now directed to the West. And just now, it is, he comes upon his unguarded seat, with a formidable force, and thus, PUTS THE ENEMY BETWEEN TWO FIRES!—O, Mr. President! One additional ray of intelligence touching God's plan of operation to save the world. What a cheering relief, what a hearty thrill it sends through the most unbelieving soul of the Christian! God be praised! Such a joy denied to all past generations, is ours. Let us heartily welcome the providential revelation, and work with renewed vigor for its fulfilment. Let us earnestly supplicate God's blessing upon all agencies, foreign or domestic. Let us long for the day, when all our benighted perishing fellow men, scattered upon the face of the earth, shall be brought to Jesus. And that we may not come short of our full duty—while we give our prayers and contributions directly to the cause of Foreign Missions, let us bear in mind, that we co-operate in this cause—if indirectly, yet powerfully—by struggling to fill our beloved country with an ABLE CHRISTIAN MINISTRY.

Miscellaneous.

Areas of Territory.

Oregon,	341,463 square miles.
California,	448,691
New Mexico,	77,387
Texas,	325,520

Total, 1,193,061

The area of the remaining 29 states, and the territory not yet organized into states, east of the Rocky Mountains, contains 2,059,513 square miles, or 3,318,126,058 acres. This makes the whole territory of the United States, equal to 3,252,574 square miles—in round numbers, three and a quarter millions.

“These estimates show that the territories recently acquired, and over which our exclusive jurisdiction and dominion have been extended, constitute a country more than half as large as all that which was held by the United States before their acquisition. If Oregon be excluded from the estimate, there will still remain within the limits of Texas, New Mexico and California, 851,598 square miles, or 545,012,720 acres; being an addition equal to more than one-third of all the territory owned by the United States before their acquisition; and including Oregon, nearly as great an extent of territory as the whole of Europe, Russia only excepted. The Mississippi, so lately the frontier of our country, is only its centre. With the addition of the late acquisition, the United States are now estimated to be nearly as large as the whole of Europe.”

Length of our Sea Coast.

It is estimated by the superintendent of the coast survey, that the extent of the sea-coast of Texas on the Gulf of Mexico, is upwards of 400 miles; of the Coast of Upper California, on the Pacific, of 970 miles; the whole sea coast on the Pacific, including Oregon and the Straits of Fuca, 1,620 miles; and the whole extent, both on the Pacific and the Gulf of Mexico, 2,020 miles. The length of the coast on the Atlantic from the northern limits of the United States, around the Capes of Florida to the Sabine, on the eastern boundary of Texas, is estimated to be 3,100 miles; so that the addition of sea coast, including Oregon, is very nearly two-thirds as great as all we possessed before; and excluding Oregon, is an addition of 1,370 miles; being nearly equal to one-half of the extent of coast which we possessed before these acquisitions. We have now three great maritime fronts: on the Atlantic, the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific—making in the whole an extent of sea coast exceeding 5,000 miles. This is the extent of the sea coast of the United States, not including bays, sounds and small irregularities of the main shore and of the sea islands. If these be included, the length of the shore line of coast, as estimated by the Superintendent of the Coast Survey, in his report, would be 33,063 miles."

The West.

"THE GROWTH OF THE WEST" has now become a familiar topic. Indeed, it is beginning to be apprehended by some of our eastern people that "the West" represents a complex idea, that it is not a single locality, nor merely one whole state; but that it comprises eleven states, besides all the territories; and, without including an acre of Minnesota, of the Missouri, Nebraska and Indian territories, of Oregon or California, it covers more ground than England, Scotland, Ireland, Denmark, Belgium, France, Holland and Portugal united. "The West," including Texas, reaches from 3° 30' to 26° W. Long., and from 25° to 49° N. Lat. Embraced within these limits are six or eight millions of people, urging on the various forms of activity, ploughing, reaping, building, mining, forging, steaming, emigrating—vexing the earth and the water with incessant motion—under the most powerful stimulus, and with astonishing success. Every paper that comes to us tells of the mighty energies of the West. One speaks of a line of canal boats fifty-three miles in length; another tells us of a ship which has just left Chicago, and that it is to find no rest for its keel until its flag shall wave in the port of a foreign land. "A few years since," said a gentleman at a public meeting, "I was paddled in a birchen canoe all along the shores of Wisconsin, from Chicago to Green Bay, a distance of several hundred miles, seeing scarcely a white man." Now, overlooking those waters stand the goody towns of Sheboygan, Milwaukee, Southport and Racine—the market outlets for 150,000 people, lying at convenient distances behind them. On those upper lakes, the first steamboat was launched in 1818; now more than 100 of the largest class are fully occupied with a commerce estimated at 150 millions of dollars per annum. On those western lakes and rivers, where "the wing and the wheel of commerce" have already appeared, the number of steamboats—as reported to the "River and Harbor Convention," at Chicago, in 1847—was no less than 1200, employing 17,000 persons in their navigation—besides 4000 keel or flat boats and their crews. And it was stated on the same occasion that "the total value of the commerce afloat on our inland waters, was $439,000,000; being double the amount of the whole foreign commerce of the nation." That a prodigious trade is carried on, must be evident from the fact that St. Louis alone in 1846 was visited by 251 different steamers.

Immigration.

The events of the year which has just closed have wonderfully increased the duties and responsibilities of the American churches. The unsettled governments of the old world are undergoing more or less reconstruction, in which to some extent, our own institutions are imitated. The flying thousands who escape from French and German revolutions and from Irish penury and starvation, look to our land alone for refuge, never thinking of any other as promising them political liberty, intellectual elevation, or rewarded labor and sufficient food. Every one that comes furnishes a motive and a facility for two to follow. Though facts like these have long existed, they have thickened upon us of late to a degree that transcends all former experience. For example, look at the following table of foreign immigration into the port of New York for eleven years back.

1839,	"	48,152	1845,	"	82,960
1840,	"	62,797	1846,	"	115,230
1841,	"	57,337	1847,	"	166,110
1842,	"	74,949	1848,	"	191,909

[Jour. of Com.

Thus it appears that the immigration of the last year, (1848,) is 25,799 greater than that of 1847, and more than double that of any year preceding 1846. It is ascertained that the immigration of 1847 into the country at large, was at least 250,000; and in 1848, it must have approached 300,000. In 1849, it will probably exceed 1,000 a day throughout the year.

THE
AMERICAN
HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY, PRESENTED BY THE
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
AT THE
ANNIVERSARY MEETING, MAY 8, 1850;
APPENDIX.

NEW YORK:
PRINTED BY WILLIAM OSBORN,
Spruce street, corner of Nassau, (Tribune Buildings.)

1850.

TWENTY FOURTH ANNIVERSARY.

THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY held its Twenty Fourth Anniversary in the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, on Wednesday evening, May 8th, 1850.

HENRY DWIGHT, Esq., President of the Society, took the chair, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. WILLIAM WISNER, D. D., of Ithaca, N. Y.

In the absence of the Treasurer, an abstract of his Report was read by Rev. CHARLES HALL, D. D.

An abstract of the Annual Report of the Executive Committee was presented by Rev. MILTON BADGER, D. D.

On motion of JOHN W. CHICKERING, of Portland, Maine, seconded by Rev. DAVID B. COE, of New York,

Resolved, That the Reports now read, be adopted and published under the direction of the Executive Committee.

On motion of Rev. ANDREW L. STONE, of Boston, seconded by Rev. ANSEL D. EDDY, D. D., of Newark, N. J.,

Resolved, That the Gospel of Christ, brought in contact with the mind and heart of our entire population, is the only influence to which we can safely entrust the destiny of this country.

On motion of Rev. SAMUEL WASHBURN, of New York, seconded by Rev. JOAB BRACE, of Newington, Ct.,

Resolved, That in view of the enlargement of our national domain and the increasing emigration from abroad, the work of evangelizing our country becomes, in effect, a mission to all mankind.

Impressive remarks in support of these resolutions were made by the gentlemen by whom they were respectively introduced. These addresses dwelt upon the providential developments which in the last few years, have rendered the mission of the American churches so obvious and urgent; together with the instrumentality which is particularly employed by this Society, and on which, under God, our hopes for the success of our great enterprise depends.

The Benediction was pronounced by Rev. BENJAMIN TAPPAN, D. D., of Portland, Me.

The following officers were chosen:

ART. 1. This Society shall be denominated THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ART. 2. The object of this Society shall be, to assist congregations that are unable to support the Gospel ministry, and to send the Gospel to the destitute, within the United States; also to co-operate with evangelical Christians in the support of Home Missions in nominally christian countries, to such an extent as the funds of the Institution may justify.

ART. 3. The officers of the Society shall be a President, Vice Presidents, a Treasurer, an Auditor, one or more Secretaries for Correspondence, a Recording Secretary, and fifty Directors, who shall be annually appointed by the Society; and who, together with the Directors for life, shall constitute a Board, seven of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened.

ART. 4. The Officers and Directors shall appoint an Executive Committee of fourteen, (including the Treasurer, the Secretaries for Correspondence, and the Recording Secretary,) residing in the City of New-York and its vicinity; five of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened. This Committee shall have power to appoint its own meetings, form its own rules of business, and fill any vacancies in its own number which may occur during the year, and to convene special meetings of the Board or Society; shall appoint missionaries and instruct them as to the field and manner of their labors; shall have the disposal of the funds; shall create such agency or agencies for appointing missionaries, and for other purposes, as the interests of the Institution may require; and shall make an Annual Report of their proceedings to the Society.

ART. 5. The Treasurer shall give bonds, annually, to such amount as the Executive Committee shall think proper.

ART. 6. Any person may become a member of this Society, by contributing annually to its funds; thirty dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Member for life; and one hundred dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Director for life; and any person on the payment of a sum, which, in addition to any previous contribution to the funds, shall amount to one hundred dollars, shall be a Director for life. An executor, on paying a legacy of two hundred and fifty dollars to the funds of this Society, shall be a member for life; and the payment of a legacy of one thousand dollars shall constitute him a Director for life.

ART. 7. Any Missionary Society may become Auxiliary, by agreeing to pay into the Treasury of this Society the whole of its surplus funds, and sending to the Secretaries for Correspondence a copy of its Constitution and Annual Reports, mentioning the names of its Missionaries, and the fields of their operations.

ART. 8. Every Auxiliary Society, which shall agree to pay the whole of its funds to this Society, shall be entitled to a missionary or missionaries, to labor in such field as it may designate; at least to the amount of its contributions; provided such designation be made at the time of payment.

ART. 9. The officers of all Auxiliary Societies, shall be, ex officio, Directors; and annual contributors to their funds shall be members of the Society.

ART. 10. This Society shall meet annually in the city of New York, on the Wednesday next preceding the second Thursday in May.

ART. 11. No alteration shall be made in this Constitution without a vote of two thirds of the Members present at an annual meeting; nor unless the same shall have been proposed at a previous annual meeting, or recommended by the Executive Committee.

TWENTY FOURTH REPORT.

SELDOM have we been permitted to celebrate an Anniversary of this Society, without being reminded, by the decease of patrons and fellow-laborers, how short and uncertain is our time of service in the vineyard of our Master.

The lives of the Missionaries of this Institution a kind Providence has preserved, the past year, in a measure even greater than in years of less exposure and mortality. Though laboring, many of them, in the midst of the pestilence while it prevailed, remaining with the sick and ministering to them with their own hands, and, in some instances, burying the dead when others had forsaken them, but one, out of more than a thousand, fell a victim to its rage.

The Officers of the Society, who commenced the year with us, all come with us to its close ; while each of the seven previous years recorded the departure of one or more to their rest on high.

Would that we could stop here. But, no ! death has entered the circle of the Executive Committee, and one whose counsels we highly prized, whose spirit of devotion had often enkindled ours, whose life was a luminous pathway to a peaceful death and a glorious immortality—the Rev. WILLIAM B. LEWIS—is with us here no more. He was an intelligent, devoted, unwavering friend of this Institution. He loved its principles ; he rejoiced in its fruits ; he worked while his day lasted to send the Gospel, through its instrumentality, over the land and over the globe. Kindred institutions too—the kingdom of God in every form in which it cometh, was near his heart. He adorned his profession ; he has many souls as the seals of his ministry. May we be as conscientious, as kind, as steadfast, as humble, as laborious in the cause of Christ, as full of faith and the Holy Ghost as was he ; then may our death be that of the righteous and our last end like his.

The various operations of the Society are noticed in the body of the Report, under their appropriate heads, and in connection with their respective localities ; such details as can be presented in a compact form are embraced in the following

GENERAL TABLE,

Showing, in parallel columns,

1. An alphabetical list of Missionaries.
2. The names of congregations and missionary districts aided.
3. Dates of commissions, or time of commencing labor.
4. Length of commissions in months.
5. Amount of aid pledged, for the time named in the preceding column. Where $400 is pledged to those who go West to be located under the direction of the Society, the pledge includes what will be raised by their people, during the year, for their support. In other cases, the amount pledged is paid by the Society, on fulfilment of the stipulations of the commission.
6. Months of labor performed, since the last report.
7. Additions to the churches on examination.
8. Additions to the churches by letter.
9. Number of subscribers to Temperance pledges.
10. Number of Sabbath school and Bible class pupils.
11. Number of volumes in Sabbath school Libraries.
12. Number of hopeful conversions.
13. Amount of contributions to benevolent objects.
14. Other particulars.

EXPLANATION.

SUMMARY OF RESULTS.

THE number of ministers of the Gospel in the service of the Society, whose names are found in the preceding table—together with those engaged in superintending the missionary work, and who are mentioned in connection with the respective Auxiliary Boards and Agencies—has been, the last year, 1,032.

Of these, 827 were in commission at the date of the last Report, and 205 have been since appointed.

They have been distributed in 27 different States and Territories, as follows : in Maine, 92 ; New Hampshire, 40 ; Vermont, 58 ; Massachusetts, 60 ; Rhode Island, 6 ; Connecticut, 45 ; New York, 173 ; New Jersey, 6 ; Pennsylvania, 47 ; Delaware, 2 ; Maryland, 1 ; District of Columbia, 2 ; Virginia, 9 ; Georgia, 2 ; Texas, 1 ; Tennessee, 6 ; Kentucky, 7 ; Ohio, 97 ; Indiana, 50 ; Illinois, 114 ; Michigan, 74 ; Missouri, 33 ; Wisconsin, 63 ; Iowa, 37 ; Minnesota, 2 ; Oregon, 2 ; California, 3.

This distribution gives to the New England States, 301 ; the Middle States, 228 ; the Southern States, 15 ; and the Western States and Territories, 488.

Of the whole number in commission, 677 have been the pastors or stated supplies of single congregations ; 229 have ministered to two or three congregations each ; and 126 have extended their labors over still wider fields—the destitutions of a county, or of several contiguous counties, or those within the limits of an ecclesiastical body.

The aggregate of ministerial labor performed is equal to 812 years. The number of congregations and missionary districts supplied in whole or in part, at stated intervals, is 1,575 ; while many others have enjoyed the occasional preaching of the word.

Five missionaries have been in commission as pastors or stated supplies of churches of colored people ; ten have preached to Welsh, and 28 to German congregations ; one to a congregation of Norwegians ; and one to a congregation of Swedes.

Sabbath schools have been maintained in the congregations of the missionaries as in former years. In many cases, they have been organized among the destitute in a circuit around a missionary church—have been visited regularly by teachers from the church and by the missionary, who has made the locality of each an occasional preaching station. Not less than 75,000 children and youth have been connected with the Sabbath schools, under the care of the missionaries of this Society, the last year.

The number of subscribers to temperance pledges, in the communities where the missionaries labor, is not far from 93,000. But a pledge, in many places is not the test of temperance, as it once was; nor are all temperance organizations promoters of temperance, or good order, or sound morality; some of them are not the least hindrances the missionary finds to moral reformation. Intemperance is too strongly entrenched in the deceitful and desperately wicked heart of man to be driven out, otherwise than as every evil spirit is exorcised, by the power of truth and the Spirit of God. This is becoming better understood, year by year, by the missionaries and their churches; and a temperance reform based on moral principle, they are consequently seeking to promote, and with great encouragement to faith and perseverance.

In Wisconsin—a state blessed from its infancy in a degree not less than any other by the benevolent labors of this Institution—a law has been enacted by the legislature, making the seller of ardent spirits responsible for the injury which he does to individuals, families and the community—for the accidents, crime, desertion and distress that can be traced to his sales as the procuring cause. This law is in the second year of its operation. It was predicted that it would be repealed at the end of the first. But instead of that, the last legislature added an amendment, making it the duty of town supervisors to prosecute all cases of its violation. It has broken up gambling saloons, ball allies and groceries in great numbers, banished the sale of ardent spirits from many townships, and has a fair prospect of being sustained by the moral sense of the people.

The contributions to benevolent objects, reported from 512 congregations, amount to $21,756; which is more than one-third of the amount expended, during the year, to aid these congregations in sustaining the ministry.

The additions to the churches, during the year, have been not far from 6,682; viz., 3,815 on profession of their faith; and 2,867 by letters of recommendation from other churches. This is a larger number of additions than has been reported in any one year since 1844; and a number exceeded in but three years since the organization of the Society. This increase is to be ascribed to the influences of the Spirit of God, whose descent upon so many of the churches near the close of the preceding year, we were permitted to record in our last report; and to the still more remarkable manifestations of divine power, in the revivals with which many of the churches in the newer states have recently been visited and are now enjoying. Seventy one missionaries make mention, in their annual reports, of revivals of religion in their congregations; and less than one third of the whole number in commission during the year, report 3,108 cases of hopeful conversion. In recording these special tokens of divine favor, the Committee desire to unite with the friends of the Redeemer, whose benefactions have sustained the missionaries at their posts, whose sympathies have cheered their hearts and whose prayers have brought down upon them and their churches the richest blessings of Heaven, in giving thanks to God for the wonders of his grace, and in earnest supplication for the continued and still more abundant effusions of his Spirit.

In outward things also, we have the most gratifying evidence of the prosperity and advancement of many of the missionary churches. No less than forty of them become, henceforth, self-supporting churches. They are beneficiaries no longer; but our generous and hearty co-operators in giving the Gospel to those who are still in need. Sixty houses of worship have during the year been completed; the building of fifty eight others has been commenced, and forty four others have been enlarged, repaired, or rendered in other ways more convenient and inviting; and this has been done, in most cases, by the efforts and sacrifices of the congregations themselves, without aid from abroad. Other congregations have provided parsonages, liquidated debts, established libraries or high schools. In other instances, there has been a great increase in attendance on the means of grace, or a manifest improvement in public morals, or special efforts in the religious training of the young or in supplying the destitute in a township or a county with the word of life. Good, in the unnumbered forms in which it is wrought out by a preached Gospel and the lives of the pious, has been accomplished in every part of the missionary field, which numbers cannot compute nor language adequately describe, but which will be recognised by the benefactors of this Institution, in the day in which it shall be fully revealed, as a glorious recompense for all their labors.

OUR MISSIONARY BRETHREN.

It would be difficult to select a thousand men from the christian church or the christian ministry, any where, among whom there would not some be found unworthy of the confidence and trust reposed in them. So, in the missionary work, we must expect, here and there, disappointments, failures. But our Home Missionaries as a class, the Committee believe—and the evidences of their character and spirit are daily passing under our observation and with many of them we have had a long and intimate acquaintance—are pre-eminently deserving the confidence and affection of the christian community. They are of necessity, many of them, placed in circumstances of great privation and hardship. Their labors would tax severely any constitution; their comforts are few; their support is scanty; their trials are often such as those living in our older settlements are, and must be, utter strangers to. Yet, these privations and trials they bear with exemplary cheerfulness, counting them unworthy to be compared with the privilege given them of preaching Christ, where otherwise he would not be named. It is not sympathy with them in their outward condition that they ask; though this, we know full well, the generous patrons of this Institution cannot withhold. But their request is, “Give us, above all things, your prayers, that we may be humble, devoted men—workmen that need not to be ashamed.”

THE TREASURY.

Resources. The balance in the Treasury, April 1st, 1849, was $3,849 00. The receipts of the succeeding twelve months have been $157,160 78; making the resources of the year, $161,009 78

Liabilities. There was due to missionaries, at the date of the last report, $10,044 60. There has since become due, $147,347 26; making the total of liabilities, $157,391 86.

Payments. Of this sum, $145,456 09. have been paid. The remainder—$11,935 77—is still due to missionaries for labor performed. Towards liquidating these claims, and redeeming other pledges already made in commissions which have not yet expired—making in all $65,046 64—there is a balance in the Treasury of $15,553 69—the greater part of it received in payment of legacies near the close of the year, and more than all of it requisite to cancel the past dues of missionaries and meet the additional amount now pledged over that of any preceding year.

CONTINUED PROGRESS.

By comparing the results now enumerated with those of the preceding year, the following particulars are obtained, illustrating the progress of the Society. The receipts of the year exceed those last reported by $11,234 87; 13 more missionaries have been in commission; 65 more congregations have been blessed with a preached Gospel; and 1,109 more have been added to the churches, on profession of their faith.

Nor do these particulars but partially illustrate the progress that has been made. A large number of congregations each year—the present year forty—pass from a condition of dependence to that of self-support ; the names of their pastors no longer appear on our list. To keep our number good, therefore, as many more must be introduced to occupy—not their places, but new fields ; in addition to others called in to supply vacancies occasioned by death, sickness, removals and other changes. To retain the number of our laborers undiminished, therefore, is not a small matter—it has required 192 new appointments the last year ; to retain it undiminished is to make progress, at the rate of bringing forty or fifty new fields under missionary culture every year. This has been done the past year, and our number of missionaries also enlarged ; and such has been the distribution, by the transfer continually going on from the older states to the newer, that while the increase of the whole number has been but 13, the increase in our Western States and Territories has been 25.

The last year, also the Society has entered another new Territory—Minnesota—and erected at its capital and at another of its chief settlements, the banner of the cross. This Territory has been opened and organized under circumstances peculiarly auspicious to morality “education and religion,” as well as “liberty and law ;” and its soil, its climate, its water communication, its resources of every name, are inviting its thousands and tens of thousands of immigrants ; and they will soon be there. And missionaries in greater numbers should be there also, to point them to an inheritance incorruptible, undefiled and that fadeth not away. In Oregon and California, too, our work is but just begun ; while in New Mexico and Texas, we have now no man to preach repentance and remission of sins. In all the older sections of the West, likewise, the demands for missionary labor are still importunate, and the openings are most inviting and constantly increasing. Every where we are stretching out our arms to receive the world, and the world is rushing in to our embrace. We scarcely need say, that our work never appeared so vast, so far-reaching, so identified with the destiny of mankind, as now. This, the intelligent patrons of this Institution seem to understand. There is a growing interest in this work of home evangelization, this mission on our shores to all the earth—an interest based on true philanthropy, christian principle, promises of God, exceeding great and precious—which cheers our hearts and awakens hope full of immortality for unnumbered millions of our countrymen and our race. To this interest we confidently look, under God, for all the encouragement we need in our labors—for those enlarged resources the coming year, which shall enable us to go up and possess the land, and come back at its close, with such tidings as it has never yet been our blessedness to bear—tidings which shall gladden every pious heart on earth, and awaken joy unspeakable in the presence of the angels of God.

COMPARATIVE RESULTS.

The following Table gives a comparative view of the amount of receipts, expenditures, number of missionaries, new appointments, congregations and missionary districts, years of labor performed, additions to the churches and pupils in Sabbath schools, for each year since the organization of the Society. It also exhibits, in the tenth column, the average expenditure, each year, for a year of missionary labor, obtained by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of the year by the number of years of labor performed. And in the eleventh column, by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of each year by the number of missionaries employed, is shown what the average to a missionary would be if the expenditures were equally apportioned among them.

Remarks.—1. From the foregoing Table, it will be seen that the receipts have been more than doubled the last ten years; and more than quadrupled the last twenty.

2. The total of receipts for the twenty four years, is $2,054,417 91,—only equal to the amount which has been expended in time of war, in sustaining two regiments of soldiers a single year.

3. The total of years of labor is 12,243. These years are reckoned in each report, by adding together the months of labor which the missionaries have actually performed.

4. The average expenditure for a year of missionary labor, for the twenty four years, is $166. The average expenditure to a soldier, in a regiment of a thousand costing the government $1,000,000 a year for officers' and soldiers' pay, sustenance, arms, ammunition, &c., is $1,000. So much cheaper is it, as well as more merciful, to save life than to kill.

5. The average expenditure to a missionary, for the twenty four years, is $121. The difference between this amount and the average for a year's labor, is occasioned by the fact that a missionary is named and counted in a report, though in some cases he may have labored but a fraction of the year.

6. The whole number of additions to the churches is 101,103.

7. The fifth column—that of new appointments—shows how many have to be called in each year, to supply the places of those whose support is assumed by the people, the vacancies occasioned by death, sickness, removals and other changes, and to make the increase over the number of the preceding year.

DISTRIBUTION OF MISSIONARIES, No. 1.

The following Table gives the number of missionaries, employed each year of the Society's operations, in the Geographical Divisions of Eastern, Middle, Southern and Western States; and also in Canada.

* Of these, 24 labored in France and Switzerland, under the direction of the Evangelical Societies of Paris and Geneva.

REMARKS.—1. In explanation of the comparatively large number of missionaries in the Middle States and the increasing number in the New England States for several of the earlier years, it should be remarked that, at the organization of this Society in 1826, the missionaries of the United Domestic Missionary Society, whose responsibilities it assumed, were transferred to it, and that the greater portion of them were in commission in the State of New York. The New England State Societies, also, became integral parts of the National Society, in several successive years—the Maine Missionary Society and the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society in the third year of its operations; the New Hampshire Missionary Society, in the fourth year; the Connecticut Missionary Society, in the fifth year; and the Massachusetts Missionary Society, in the seventh year.

2. In the New England States, it will be observed, there has been but little increase of the number of missionaries, at any time, since the auxiliary relationship of the State Societies was completed. Since 1837, the number has diminished, and is, this year, 30 less than at that date. In the Middle States, also, the number the present year, is but one greater than in 1837.

3. The increase of the Society's labors, the last sixteen years, has been mainly in our Western States and Territories. The last ten years, the increase alone in that portion of our country, has given it 321 additional missionaries; which is more than nine tenths of the increase on the whole field during that period.

4. In 1845, the missions of this Society in Canada were, by an amicable arrangement with the British Colonial Missionary Society, transferred to the care of that Institution.

5. In the Table on the next page, will be seen the progress which has been made, year by year, in the newer states of the West, as they have severally come into being and presented fields of peculiar promise for missionary culture. When this Society was formed, Indiana and Illinois were in their infancy. Michigan was, at that time, and for ten years subsequent, a territory; in 1825, it had but one Presbyterian or Congregational minister, and he was a missionary. Wisconsin remained, eight years after the organization of this Society, the almost undisputed home of the Indian. Iowa was not organized as a territory till 1838.

6. It should be borne in mind, that the number of missionaries in these newer states and territories, as well as in those that have been longer cultivated, gives but an imperfect idea of the ground that has been occupied by missionary enterprise. Churches, every year, become independent, and others are taken up in their stead. Such churches adorn the land and bless its population, in our most flourishing villages, along all our great thoroughfares, and at the gate-ways into the distant interior.

DISTRIBUTION OF MISSIONARIES, No. 2.

PRINCIPAL AUXILIARIES, AGENCIES AND

MAINE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The REV. BENJAMIN TAPPAN, D. D., of Augusta, was elected the Secretary of this Society, at its last anniversary, to supply the vacancy occasioned by the decease of the venerable Dr. Gillett. Probably no appointment could have been more acceptable to the friends of the institution or given brighter promise of its continued and increased prosperity. Dr. Tappan has entered upon the duties of the office during the year, having been reluctantly released, by a large and affectionate people, from the ties which had so long and so happily bound them together, that he might search out the sheep upon the mountains and in the valleys, and lay broad and deep, over the wide spread destitutions of this new country, the foundations of many generations. That his days in this service may be many, and that through his instrumentality much people may be added unto the Lord, will be the prayer of many hearts.

The Society has had in its service, during the year, ninety-two ministers of the Gospel—two-thirds of whom have been the stated supplies of single congregations. There has been an increased attendance on public worship; the churches have been at peace among themselves, and several of them have been visited with the special influences of the Divine Spirit.

The receipts of the Society, for the year ending March 1, 1850, were $11,245 66, and its expenditures, $11,082 22,—leaving a balance in its treasury of $163 44; $584 94, were also received from this State into the treasury of the Parent Society.

Maine is doing nobly the work of evangelization within her own limits, and her sympathies and prayers as well as her benefactions, reach over the earth and over the globe. "The destiny of the American people," say the Trustees in their last report, "as we seem to catch a glimpse of it in the developments of Providence, overwhelms us by its magnificence, if we do but fulfil with any good measure of fidelity, the work for Him, for ourselves, for mankind, which God has given us to do. What a large and blessed Home is this country of ours; and how deep the interest we should take in all that may be conducive to its welfare. And what so conducive, as that it be pervaded by the light and the love which beam from the cross of Christ—that being thus pervaded, it may send forth light and love to bless the men of other nations—of other continents."

NEW HAMPSHIRE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Forty missionaries, in the employment of this Society since our last report, have rendered an aggregate of ministerial service equal to about thirty years. Five of the churches have enjoyed revivals of religion, and the spiritual condition of the whole field has become more encouraging.

The receipts of the year have been $5,778 29. Of this sum, $3,531 21 have been expended within the State; $602 79, by designation of the donors, have been paid to the American Home Missionary Society, and $1,000 by vote of the Trustees. $792 67 have also been paid directly into the treasury of the Parent Society from individuals and congregations in the State,—making the whole amount realized to the Home Missionary cause within the year, $6,571 08,—$2,395 46 of which have been expended in the destitute settlements of the West.

The Secretary of the Society, Rev. BENJAMIN P. STONE, says in his report, “There are only fifteen feeble churches in the State, containing on an average thirty-three members each, not at present included in our list, that are without the stated ministry of the Gospel. Six of these are so small and so beset with obstacles to their growth and prosperity, that they will probably always remain destitute. The remaining nine are looking to the providence of God for the re-establishment of the Gospel among them. Of the churches able to support the ministry themselves, there are only four at present destitute of pastors or stated supplies. Never were our churches so generally supplied with a sound and pious ministry as they are now.”

“But when we look over the whole State, and contemplate the fact that out of its two hundred and twenty-six chartered towns, there are thirty-six destitute of churches and the means of grace according to our platform of faith and practice, and that the population of these towns, for the most part, are under no established evangelical influence, the painful inquiry forces itself upon us, when will these numerous destitutions be repaired? When will this checkered landscape of so many strange and unnatural contrasts become one of universal beauty and loveliness? O, when will the work of Home Missions be accomplished in the ‘Old Granite State,’ and its sanctified sons and daughters—the only patriots worthy of the name—be gloriously compelled to seek far away towards the setting sun, even along the shores of the Pacific, the objects of their heaven-born benevolence.”

VERMONT DOMESTIC MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The receipts of this Society the past year, have been $5,109 19; and its expenditures within the State, $5,271 40; $842 07 have been received from the State into the treasury of the Parent Institution; $297 93 of it from the treasury of the Auxiliary, and $544 14 from congregations and individuals.

Fifty eight missionaries have been in the employment of the Society, and have performed an aggregate of forty four years of ministerial service, in sixty one churches and four communities where no churches have been organized. Five missionaries have been installed as pastors during the year, and fifteen new fields have been added to the missionary list, one of which embraces the entire destitutions of Essex county.

"The general aspect of this field," says the Secretary of the Society, Rev. JOHN F. STONE, "is the same as it was a year ago. Some progress has been made. The decline of the influence of those errors, which have long been prevalent among us, it is believed, is becoming still more marked and extensive. The providence of God seems to call loudly for a greater enlargement of the operations of the Society. Of the two hundred and forty six towns in the State, not less than sixty five are without Congregational churches, and not less than ninety five without Congregational ministers. And in many of these, there is no preaching of the Gospel by any denomination. Many of these towns are new and have but a small population; but not so small as to furnish any good reason why nothing should be done to secure the influence of the Gospel over them and to save their souls. Our churches seem to feel a growing interest in this cause. But as yet, our resources are far from being equal to our necessities. Could we command the means and obtain the men, very many additional fields might be at once occupied with good prospects of success."

MASSACHUSETTS HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

This Society, at its last anniversary, had completed the first half century of its existence; and the report of the Executive Committee, drawn up by the Secretary—Rev. JOSEPH S. CLARK—is one of great interest and value, as exhibiting the history, principles and results of Home Missionary action. It may well be studied by every friend of the cause, and made a manual by every executive board.

From this report it appears, that the total of receipts from Massachusetts for Home Missionary purposes, the last fifty years, is $591,699. Of this sum, $167,553 have been expended in the State; and $345,506 in other parts of the land,—$306,254 of it through the American Home Missionary Society, since 1828. More than half the receipts of the fifty years have been contributed the last ten. The Society has had in its employment directly, 486 missionaries, and under its cultivation in Massachusetts 183 missionary fields. "These fields in most instances when first entered, were moral wastes, overgrown with the thorns and thistles of religious error, or else new ground never before broken up. With the exception of twelve of these waste places, where a small amount of labor was bestowed merely as an experiment without any attempt to organize a church, or where the feeble organization was afterwards absorbed in some other of the same faith and order, more favorably situated,—living churches of Christ are there, comprising nearly two fifths of all the orthodox Congregational churches in Massachusetts; pastors are there feeding their flocks; sanctuaries are there, more than 100 of which arose during the period of missionary patronage, and in consequence of it; Sabbath school and Bible classes are there, training the young in the way of life; the moral and religious influence of 15,000 church members is there, accumulating new strength by fresh accessions every year; while fountains of Christian benevolence are flowing out in all directions to the ends of the earth." Of the 171 existing churches that have leaned on the arm of the Society, 116 have risen to the condition of self support, and more than half of them have come to that state within the last ten years. The rest, with a few exceptions, are every year rising towards the same condition. The average amount of assistance rendered to those which actually become independent, is $702; and the average time required to bring them into this state is six and a half years.

Sixty missionaries have been in the service of this Society during the year. At the time of their last report, nine new missionary fields had, within a year, been taken up; ten had disappeared from the list; and five others were reported for the last time, having assumed the entire support of their ministers; six pastors had been settled; five meeting houses built, and several others commenced.

The receipts of the Society, for the year ending March 1st, have been $33,322 49; which exceeds the amount of the preceding year, by $7,937 69. There have been expended, within the State, $8,306 11; and remitted to the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society $24,000. There have also been received into the treasury of the Parent Society from the Hampshire Missionary Society, $2,400; from individuals, congregations and auxiliaries, $2,970 50; in payment of legacies, $4,338 60—in all, $9,709 10, making the total realized from the State to the cause of Home Missions, during the year, $43,031 59; which is $6,919 73 greater than the amount of the previous year. Of the whole amount contributed from Massachusetts, $33,709 10 have been expended through the National Institution in extending the empire of Christianity over other portions of the land.

RHODE ISLAND HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Six missionaries have been in commission within the bounds of this Society during the year; for their support $437 50 have been contributed in the State, and $1,000 appropriated by the Connecticut Missionary Society; $444 38 have also been received from congregations and individuals into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society.

"The field of our missionary labor," say the Directors in their last report, "is indeed limited—our stations are few—some of the missionary churches are small—and yet the influence, what is exerted in Rhode Island by our missionaries and the churches and societies with which they are connected, is precious and compensates a thousand fold for the expenditure in sustaining them. This influence is felt on every social, civil, educational, moral and religious interest of our people. It is felt around the globe. It will be felt in eternity."

Rev. THOMAS T. WATERMAN, of Providence, is the Secretary of this Society.

CONNECTICUT MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The receipts of this Auxiliary, for the year ending March 1st, have been $7,654 19. The expenditures within the State, have been $4,554 13; $1,000 have been appropriated in aid of the Rhode Island Home Missionary Society; and $2,500 remitted to the Parent Institution. There have also been received into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society from auxiliaries, congregations and individuals, $11,660 59; and in payment of legacies, $11,455,—making the total for this cause, from the State, $30,759 78; which exceeds the amount of any previous year by $5,087 74. The whole amount from this State expended through the National Society during the year, in support of Western missions, is $25,605 89.

Forty-five missionaries have been in the service of this Society since our last report. A gradual external improvement is manifest in nearly all the churches to which they have ministered, and some of them have experienced a spiritual reviving and been strengthened by an ingathering of souls. About one third of the churches aided have been formed since the commencement of Home Missionary operations in the State and probably would never have existed but for the expectation of aid, or would not have survived to the present time without it. They are living witnesses for the value of Home Missions, advancing, as many of them are, to the condition of self-support and unquestioned permanency. Some twenty of these congregations have built houses of worship within a few years; five or six others have repaired their old ones, making them more convenient and attractive; to a considerable extent they have provided parsonages—the best kind of permanent funds for feeble societies—and in a degree no less than the more favored churches do they testify their regard for the pastoral relation.

It is sometimes asked, will not the Home Missionary work in the older states ere long be completed, so that all the resources of the churches may be expended in our new settlements. Pertinent to this inquiry, the Secretary of the Society—Rev. HORACE HOOKER—remarks, “I have no expectation that religious institutions will, for many years, be enjoyed in this or any other community, in due extent and vigor, without the intervention of Home Missions. Indeed, their agency will probably be requisite, long after the work of Foreign Missions has been completed. From gradual decay caused by ten thousand changes constantly taking place in society—and now and then by sudden shocks—there will, perhaps, even in millennial days, be members of the christian confederacy demanding the beneficence of their more favored associates. When there is no more room for the exercise of beneficence in extending the Gospel where Christ has not been preached, this relation of strength and weakness, of abundance and poverty, may be essential to the maintenance of healthy action in the churches. At any rate, employing a portion of their means in strengthening “the things that remain,” is shown by the fruits to be “well doing,”—and we should no more be weary in it, than in making new conquests.”

PHILADELPHIA HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

This Society—which comprises within its limits, the States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland—has had in commission the past year, fifty eight ministers of the Gospel, viz. : six in New Jersey, forty seven in Pennsylvania, two in Delaware, one in Maryland, and two in the District of Columbia. Eight new missionary fields have been occupied during the year, and six congregations heretofore aided have assumed the support of their own Gospel institutions. Five houses of worship have been finished, five others commenced and two others enlarged. In several of the churches there have been recent manifestations of the special presence of the Spirit: and in others the fixed and solemn attention to the preached word encourages the hope that the day of their redemption draweth nigh.

The receipts of this Society have been $8,424 65. The expenditures within its limits have been $7,889 42; and $125 have been remitted to the National Institution. There have also been received into the treasury of the Parent Society, from congregations, individuals and in payment of legacies—from New Jersey, $1,783 40; from Pennsylvania, $149; from Delaware, $7 77; and from the District of Columbia, $105—in all, $2,045 17; making the whole amount realized to the cause, $10,459 82; and the amount expended through the American Home Missionary Society, $2,045 17.

The Executive Committee in their last report, drawn up by the Secretary, Rev. ROBERT ADAIR, say, “we cannot close without expressing our deep conviction of the importance of Home Missions to the safety of our civil and religious institutions and the real prosperity of the nation. The Church is urged by the unequivocal indications of Providence, to go up at once and possess the land, to exert her energies in cultivating the moral wastes of our vast territory. A crisis seems to be rapidly approaching, which will prostrate all our hopes or realize our most sanguine expectations. The ship under full sail, moves safely before the propitious gale when a judicious pilot guides her course; but if an inexperienced hand is at the helm, her very speed, if she strikes a rock, is the seal of her fate. In like manner, the enterprise and energy that characterize the American people, unless these elements are regulated by religious principles, instead of being a blessing, will accelerate our ruin.”

CENTRAL AGENCY, N. Y.

The number of missionaries under appointment has been 43; congregations supplied in whole or in part, 46; ministerial labor performed equal to 41½ years, at an expense of $4,128 22, or an average of one hundred dollars for each complete year, inclusive of incidental expenses. The resources of the Agency for the year, with the balance of $475 84 on hand at its commencement, have been $4,734 54; and there is an amount of $606 32 in the treasury unexpended. From the same field, there has been remitted to the Parent Society the further sum of $2,243 35 making the aggregate for Home Missions derived from that section of the state, $6,505 06—about $300 more than in the year before.

The Central Agency—as its name imports—operates in the midland portions of the state, extending to twenty two of its counties, which comprise one third of its population and nearly half of all its territory. Within these limits there is much missionary ground, much broken country sparsely settled in which society must advance slowly, and be liable, for an indefinite period, to lose its most enterprising citizens by emigration to more attractive portions of the land. The Secretary, Rev. WASHINGTON THACHER, states, that “there are individual churches which almost every year have experienced the blessings of the Spirit and filled up their usual number of members, which immediately distribute the fruits of these harvests throughout the new territories, till they find themselves again reduced in strength and numbers. This process is repeated in some churches from year to year; and while it continues, who can object to the appropriation of missionary funds to enable these feeble churches to keep up the supply?"

The spiritual aspects of the year, in the bounds of this Agency, according to the Report, "have been marked with larger promise and richer experience than those which have preceded it. There have been greater indications of the favor of God upon the churches and the missionaries, more revivals of religion and, we have reason to believe, more souls converted, as there are more who have united with the churches by a profession of their faith."

WESTERN AGENCY, N. Y.

In the bounds of this, the earliest board organized by the Society as an auxiliary, 61 missionaries have been under commission, the last year. These have preached stately in 76 different congregations. With scarcely an exception, they have sustained Sabbath schools and Bible classes, and other auxiliary means of moral progress. Eight of these missionaries report seasons of revival. Five congregations cease to be dependent. Six new houses of worship are in progress; one, which had passed out of the hands of the congregation has been recovered; and several others have been improved or repaired.

Four of the missionaries within the bounds of this Agency, are sustained by a portion of the funds furnished by the churches of the Presbytery of Rochester, and labor under the direction of its Missionary Committee.

The income of the Agency for the year was $9,347 47, about half of which was applied to feeble churches within its bounds. From the same field there has been remitted to the Parent Society, directly, the further sum of $2,467 63; making the collections for this object from the twenty most western counties of New York, during the last twelve months, $11,815 10.

But the great contribution of that region to Home Missions is not to be estimated by the amount of money—some $200,000—gathered there in twenty four years. A richer and more enduring gift is found in the bands of well trained men—the religious families—who have gone thence to the new regions beyond. All over the West, these materials are found built, as living stones, into the rising walls of the temple of God. The Secretary of the Agency, Rev. JOHN A. MURRAY, estimates those who have thus gone forth from its churches, as more than there are now remaining in them. This constant migration, though trying to the feeble congregations, and protracting the period of their dependence on the Society, is doubtless one of the methods by which a wise Providence pushes forward the work of evangelization. These emigrants carry with them a taste for religious institutions, and to a considerable extent, the habit of supporting them. Such are the first to feel the want of a preached Gospel, and to make judicious efforts to obtain it. But for the leaven thus infused into the heterogeneous materials collected on the frontier, the process of reducing them to regularly organized christian congregations would be incalculably more difficult and protracted than it is.

To appreciate fully the causes of this migration, it should be borne in mind, that while the pecuniary inducements to emigration are as great as ever, and the social advantages are continually augmented, the obstacles are much reduced. In 1837, the fare from Albany to Chicago was $74; last year it was but $17. Twenty years ago, departing for the West was going into exile, with but tardy and uncertain means of intercourse, even by mail. Now, the electric telegraph so brings the extremes of the land within speaking distance of each other, as to beget in every part the feeling of unity with all the rest. Emigration, therefore, no longer costs the sacrifice, and involves the sundering of ties, that it once did. Hereafter, it will not be regarded as the peculiar event of any given year, but as a permanent feature in the history of our most exposed missionary churches, that when their growth has reached a certain point, they will be liable, by this cause, to be thrown back again upon the sympathy and aid of this Society. Nor should we grudge the assistance which is thus made needful, any more than the planter of an orchard regrets, that the trees which he has reared and grafted in his nursery, are removed to the fields where they are to bring forth fruit. The diminishing of these churches in the older states, is the riches of those who dwell in the remoter borders of the land.

WESTERN RESERVE AGENCY, O.

A gradual but manifest improvement is observed in the results of Home Missions on this field, from year to year. The receipts for twelve months ending March 1st, were $2,696 18; and the total income from that region, including direct remittances to the Parent Society, $2,927 12; which is an advance of $250 on the same items of the year before. Thirty three missionaries were commissioned on recommendation of the Agency; and 8 others, in the western counties adjacent, were appointed directly by the Society. An improved estimate of the ministry and of its claim to live of the Gospel which it heralds, is beginning to prevail;

while returning stability gives promise of rest and growth to some churches which had been convulsed and rent by various conspiring excitements. "In prosecuting the Home Missionary enterprise," says the Secretary, Rev. MYRON TRACY, "we are fast raising up efficient helpers in the great work of the world's salvation. The contributions of the churches, which owe a large part of their present strength—and many of them their very existence—to the Home Missionary Society, constitute no inconsiderable portion of the income of all the benevolent institutions of the present day."

But much missionary toil, alms-giving and prayer must yet be expended on the Western Reserve, before the object of the Agency will be fulfilled. The one hundred feeble churches—not one of which is able to raise $300 for a pastor's support; and a large number of townships in which no Presbyterian or Congregational church exists, and a portion of which are destitute of all evangelical preaching—form a body of population and an extent of territory, for whose effectual culture much wise devising and patient continuance in christian effort will be required.

MARIETTA AGENCY, O.

On the recommendation of the Marietta Agency, 16 missionaries have received appointments to labor during the past year, in from 25 to 30 different stations. To 7 of these the Agency has paid from its own treasury $820; and it has collected $568 13. Upwards of $1,040 have also been remitted by individual churches and donors directly to the Parent Treasury. No superintendence has been had of this section, except what has been exerted without charge by the ready zeal of the Secretary.

This field, like the one last mentioned, is so situated as to receive less impulse than would naturally be supposed from the general progress of the country. In both cases, a current of emigration sweeps the border, but does not as yet materially pervade the rural portions. The emigration to Southern Ohio is largely composed of foreigners, whose religious sympathies are not in harmony with the infant churches whose members they often displace. The day is at hand, however, in which the region embraced by this cluster of missionary counties, it is believed, will be cut through by new channels of intercourse between the Atlantic shores and the Mississippi, and when these secluded communities will feel the impulse of the causes which stimulate industry and promote intelligence. But while many of the congregations are small and feeble, from a want of homogeneousness among the people, newness of the farms and distance from profitable markets; honorable testimony is borne by the Agency to their spirit of benevolence and self-denying exertions to sustain Gospel institutions. Though scattered over the hills, small in numbers and poor in resources, they feel the claim of Home Missions when urged upon them ; and in two instances the last year, churches doubled their subscriptions in order to reduce the measure of their dependence on the Society. Still the standard of contribution needs to be greatly raised.

The Secretary of the Agency, REV. THOMAS WICKES, thus commends the missionary laborers on that field to the respect of the patrons, by whose bounty and prayers they are sustained. "They are a body of truly noble, self-denying men, whom nothing but a high sense of duty and love to Christ could sustain amid their hardships and discouragements."

CINCINNATI AGENCY, O.

The missionaries sustained by the resources of this Agency, the last year, number 44. The receipts were $3,170 78, falling some $70 short of the payments. From the report of the Secretary we learn, that there was reason to expect a considerable increase both of funds and of missionary work, when the severe visitation of the cholera, with which the principal towns and the vicinity of the rivers were afflicted, broke up the ordinary arrangements for collections. Similar interruption of ministerial labor occurred in some cases ; and one missionary was called away from his work, though not by the prevailing disease. "These brethren," says the report of the Secretary, REV. HENRY LITTLE, "have all toiled on with encouraging success, and several of them have been blessed with interesting revivals." These have been on some portions of the field the characteristic of the year. "The steady advancement of those churches and congregations, and their success in all that improves a community, add another to the thousand proofs, that we need only to extend these same evangelical means, and this 'wilderness shall be as Eden,' this whole 'desert as the garden of the Lord.'"

In illustration of the recovering power of the remedies associated with the Gospel ministry, it is stated, that one church in the southeast of Indiana, has been twice, in its past history, on the very eve of dissolution ; and though it enjoys but part of the labors of a good missionary, yet fifty-nine persons have been added to it in three years. "In the additions to these feeble churches, much is found to encourage Christians at the East to be faithful at home, as well as liberal in sending missionaries abroad. In the examination of persons for reception to the churches of the West, they are often found to be the children of the covenant, trained by pious mothers and in the Sabbath schools and sanctuaries of old Connecticut or Massachusetts ; but who have been hunted up in their wanderings, and converted under the labors of Home Missionaries in the West."

Innumerable proofs cluster around the work, attesting the blessings that have flowed from what has been done, and exciting the most painful regrets that no more was attempted. "In 1810," says the report, "the General Assembly appointed Rev. James Dickey to labor three months between the Sciota and the Wabash—the whole breadth of Indiana and half of Ohio. Now, on that part of our field, in both branches of the Presbyterian church, there are 460 churches, and some 30,000 members. What would have been the result, had a still more generous outlay of strength and means been invested by christian zeal? Had souls been felt to be worth as much as western lands, would not twenty rather than one have been appointed to abide on the same field, and proportioned efforts continued to the present time?

MISSOURI.

In Missouri, during the year now reported, 33 missionaries have been in commission. Eight of these have received their appropriation, in whole or in part, from the treasury of the Auxiliary in that state, whose receipts have been $1,193 10.

In accordance with the apprehension expressed in the last Annual Report, the work of missions in this state has been attended by many discouragements. Beyond any other state in the Union, it suffers from the influence of the emigration to California; not only from the actual loss of its own citizens, but from the disturbance of the regular pursuits and repose of the community, by the gathering and equipment of caravans within their borders. The excitement thus kept at a feverish degree, interferes with the interests of ordinary life, and especially with the claims of religion. Almost every town, large or small, furnishes its representation, composed of one or of several companies. They are generally of that class which sustains good institutions at home, many of them members of churches; and consequently their departure abstracts just so much from what the congregations had gained in numerical, moral or pecuniary strength. "In many cases," writes the Secretary of the Auxiliary, Rev. JAMES B. TOWNSEND, "it takes the third or the half of a young and feeble church. In one case, respecting which we were informed a few months since, that they would after this year assume the entire support of their pastor, we are now told that twenty of its members are preparing to leave in a mass this spring."

In addition to this comparatively new retarding cause, the missionary work in Missouri has to struggle with those which have long existed, some of which are the more disastrous as they hinder the accession of that most essential of all means of progress, the ministry of the Gospel. "Our state," says the report, "is divided into ninety-six counties, and at least one third of these are without any preaching by our denomination, and but poorly supplied with any evangelical instruction." Some advancement has been made, however, in this respect, during the year. The number of missionaries has been increased by eight. The German population is becoming, apparently, more accessible to that species of instruction which the patrons of this Society deem essential to a sound profession of the Gospel. The labors of several missionaries have been attended with more than ordinary spiritual success. Glasgow, Savannah, and other churches—and particularly Parkville—have been specially visited with revivals of religion. Several congregations have made marked progress. One community, which had long been divided and destitute of ministerial culture, now unites in the whole support of the missionary, after only a single year of aid.

No special agency for this cause has been employed the last year in Missouri, beyond that which is performed, without charge, by the Secretary, and by Rev. A. BULLARD, D. D., of St. Louis.

MICHIGAN.

The operations of the Society in this state—and the same is true of others hereafter mentioned—are carried on through an agent; and the several ecclesiastical bodies co-operating with the Institution, supply, through their respective missionary committees, the places of Boards of Agency.

The missionaries in Michigan, for the period now reported, number 74. The receipts from the field have been $1,904 24.

Our annual returns give, on the whole, a favorable view of the results of the year. A closer and more cordial co-operation is manifest between the denominations acting with this Society. A growing spirit of benevolence is exhibited, and comprehends in its regards not only Home but also Foreign Missions, the cause of the Bible, and other forms of charity. The friends of Sabbath schools would be delighted to visit some of the schools in this state whose condition and regulations are perhaps equal to any in older communities. Several of these are nurseries of a missionary spirit; where specific efforts are made to cherish and diffuse the knowledge and zeal appropriate to such a work, and liberal contributions are maintained weekly. Some of these schools have grown up where, sixteen years ago, the wild beast prowled and the red man had his hunting ground. To those who, in solitude and discouragement, then toiled in their missionary journeys through the paths of the wilderness, the change is such that they seem to themselves to be as those that dream.

But the feature of the year, most worthy of specific and grateful record, is the effusion of the Holy Spirit. The Agent, Rev. CALVIN CLARK, reports as follows: "God is now doing wonders for the churches in this state. Some of them had for a long time languished; death and removals had diminished their numbers and disheartened those who remained. But dews of righteousness have distilled; the languishing graces of the people of God have been revived; the Pentecost cry has been heard; the sinner, awakened from his death sleep, has trembled in view of his guilt and danger; and many have been brought into the kingdom of our blessed Lord. In some places, many heads of families have shared in the rich blessings of salvation; new altars of prayer have been erected, on which the incense of broken hearts ascends. I have never seen more marked manifestations of the presence and power of the Spirit." "Could the friends of Home Missions," he continues, "see what my eyes have seen since the autumn of 1835, they would not sit down in despondency. When I came to the state, in all its western half there were only two pastors and only eight or ten other laborers, and perhaps a dozen churches. Now, the great Head of the Church has multiplied the laborers ten fold, and the churches in about the same proportion. Glorious victories have been achieved; many enemies vanquished; much land possessed, and repeated and precious have been the harvests gathered from this field of the Lord."

ILLINOIS.

In the last twelve months, Illinois has enjoyed the labors of 114 missionaries under commission from this Society—the largest number ever under appointment in that state, in a single year. The receipts of the Society from the same field were $3,083 91.

As stated in former reports, twenty-three of the Northern counties are under the missionary care of Rev. ARATUS KENT. The central portion is assigned to the supervision of Rev. WILLIAM KIRBY. The Southern part of the state is for the most part under the superintendence of the Committee of Missions, connected with the Presbytery of Alton.

In speaking of Northern Illinois, the Agent—whose personal knowledge extends over the entire period of its christian history—is led to notice the rapidity of improvement, both physical and social. Ordinary roads, rail-roads and plank roads, are opened or projected; school houses are multiplying; edifices of brick and stone are fast succeeding to the rude shanties of the pioneers. Among the signs of moral progress are such facts as these. "Eleven new laborers have been introduced during the year; five churches have been organized; nine houses of worship have been built or are in progress; three academies have gone into successful operation, numbering, the first year of their existence, more than 200 pupils in the more advanced stages of education

Each of these occupies a site of surpassing beauty, on which, seventeen years ago, the tawny Indian fixed his filthy lodge, and by the side of a stream where he sought his food and trapped his furs. These are the legitimate results of an enlightened christian ministry, such as your Society aims to introduce and sustain; and indeed, almost every church in Northern Illinois shows the foot-prints of the Home Missionary in its early history."

"On this field, there are now fifty missionaries of your Society; and among them there are some excellent men, whose devotion to their work sustains them in the performance of great labor, and under the pressure of heavy trials. I know them, for I have shared in their straitened accommodations, and have seen their self-sacrificing spirit, and the courage they evince in urging forward moral reforms in advance of a timid public sentiment. I have admired, too, the fortitude of their companions in sympathizing with them, and even cheering them on, in their work of sacrifice and toil."

The churches in Central Illinois suffered, in common with the rest of the community around them, the invasion of the cholera; though, thanks to the guardianship of the King of Zion, their strength has not been materially affected by this cause. Four of the churches have relinquished their dependence on missionary aid, resolved, though at the cost of a severe struggle, to rely on none but God in sustaining his worship and ordinances. In this effort, one congregation has been already blessed. The Holy Spirit has been poured out so abundantly upon them that they will probably find the burden lighter this year without aid, than last year was with it.

This divine impulse is also experienced in a more than ordinary degree in other congregations. The Agent in this part of the state reports—"The past winter has been a favored season with many of our churches. The Spirit's work has been extensive and powerful. The number of congregations that have rejoiced in his presence, is such as to furnish great encouragement that the communities in this field will not only move forward to independence of foreign aid, but become efficient helpers of others."

In the Southern counties of Illinois, the Presbytery of Alton, by its missionary committee, has continued to co-operate with the Society, in selecting missionaries and arranging the distribution of their labors, and by pecuniary contributions. For the year ending in September last, the payments to the missionaries were $552 20.

Although many churches in this favored state which once received assistance, no longer require it; and ministers are emigrating thither every year in increasing numbers, the demand for intelligent, active heralds of the cross, appears to be undiminished. Not only the lower counties—whose population, having been derived mainly from the Southern states, seem to have few of those natural ties and associations which would draw to them a ministry from the East—but also the central and Northern sections, call more and more loudly for relief. Mr. Kirby writes, “Our necessities for an enlightened Gospel ministry are still urgent. The influx by emigration is, probably, as great now as at any former period of our history. There are ten fields now vacant in the central part of the state, and asking for speedy supplies of the bread of life. Two of them are county seats of considerable promise. But if these were all supplied to-morrow, new fields would open to us and demand more laborers.”

On the Eastern side of Illinois, there is a district extending from Lake Michigan to the Ohio River, two or three counties in breadth and three hundred miles in length, on which the churches associated with this Society, have scarcely made a visible impression.

Mr. Kent, on his field, enumerates positions of importance requiring the labors of seventeen men. These are not congregations ready made to the missionary’s hand, but scattered settlements requiring much preparatory work—preaching to small assemblies gathered in log cabins; exploring the ground to find the point where the largest number can be accommodated; and visiting from door to door, to constrain attendance by winning confidence and esteem, till a love for the truth shall be superadded to the other attractions that draw them to the sanctuary.

WISCONSIN.

Sixty three missionaries have been under appointment in this state since the last Annual Report.

In November, 1848, an extensive and valuable lumber district, lying between the Wisconsin, Wolf and Fox Rivers, was purchased from the aborigines by the United States, and is to be opened for occupancy by the whites in the coming autumn. But already, multitudes of pioneers are penetrating this wilderness and possessing its select localities. The presence of an enterprising class is further stimulated by the improvements, undertaken by the General Government to perfect the navigation of the Fox and Wisconsin, by which a continuous channel of commerce will be secured between the Lakes and the Gulf of Mexico. From such causes, multitudes from other states and emigrants from foreign countries have come in, and even large villages have sprung up, on lands yet unsurveyed. Nothing can more vividly illustrate the benefit of early missionary efforts, than the contrast between the settlements which are now starting without the Gospel, and those into which it was introduced at their commencement. The heaviest portion of the recent emigration is made up of people of a foreign tongue; and among them, we are grieved to hear, are large importations of infidelity, profaneness, intemperance, and other dissolute indulgences. Throughout the districts where these take up their abode, a great battle is yet to be fought with the Jesuits, and the open and secret propagators of infidelity. In the region adjacent to Lake Michigan, there is a lamentable destitution of ministerial labor, and consequent indifference to religious privileges, desecration of the Sabbath, contention and litigation. How different from this is the picture of those sections where the ministry and the church, with their attendant agencies, were introduced by this Society at the beginning, and have since been sustained! "An influence goes out from your missionary churches," says a correspondent, "which is in the highest degree salutary upon the surrounding community. Order, decorum, good society, the observance of the Sabbath, temperance, correct sentiments on moral subjects, are some of the incidental results of Home Missions, which impress every beholder." Another writes, concerning the western portion of the state, "To the American Home Missionary Society belongs the honor of doing all that has been done by Presbyterians or Congregationalists in this region. Every one of our churches has been organized by its missionaries and fostered by its care. Every church which has had a minister the last year has been prosperous; every such church has had additions by profession, and several have admitted a very large number. They are increasing in all that constitutes permanent churches on the right foundation. Could the Society see what has been accomplished, they would find abundant cause to thank God and press onward. No other agency has accomplished so much for the best interests of this region as that Society."

Notwithstanding the drain by emigration to California, the population of this state is augmenting at a rapid rate. Probably not less than 250,000 have settled there within the last ten years. The ministerial supply is wholly inadequate to the wants of such a population, diffused over such a space. The committee for the mining district inquire, "Who will come and help us lay the foundations? If they will cast in their lot with us, and their experience is like ours, they will bless God for allowing them to enter upon this self-denying work. Where are the men? We need them now." From the eastern side of the state a correspondent writes, "Our prospects are gloomy, unless we can procure additional laborers of the right kind." Eight districts are then specified, each requiring the services of a missionary; and the appeal closes with an emphatic statement that this help is "needed now." And it is scarcely possible to estimate the demand for the central and northern counties; for the borders of the Lake; for the settlements along the new line of commerce; for the interior, from the Portage at Fort Winnebago to the Mills in the Pinery with its 20,000 inhabitants; and down the Neenah and its tributaries, all bordered with farms, and abounding in sites for any desirable amount of machinery.

IOWA.

Thirty-seven missionaries have been sustained in Iowa during more or less of the year now reported. The whole number of Presbyterian and Congregational clergymen in the state, devoted to the ministry, is 41. Two others are laboring as agents, two are teaching, and three others are without specific charge. Eight of the whole number—four of them missionaries—are pastors. One has been installed during the year, and four have received calls to enter the pastoral relation.

The year has been marked by general prosperity in the missionary churches. The congregations have improved in size and regularity. The various machinery of well ordered churches—prayer meetings, Sabbath schools, collections for benevolent objects—are becoming common. At least one third of the churches aided have increased their pledges in support of the Gospel; one has paid a debt of $600; and six are engaged in building houses of worship. Twenty two of the fifty four congregations which have been organized, meet in sanctuaries which they have built for the service of the Most High. Precious revivals of religion, embracing in their influence the infant college at Davenport, have been enjoyed the last year. In one of these revivals, 30 conversions, in another 25, are reported; and in two cases, nearly all the youth connected with the congregations were subjects of the work. That the ministers of Iowa are training their people to correct views of their obligation to aid the progress of Christ's kingdom, will appear from the sums gathered into the treasury of the Lord, as the first fruits from those newly cultivated fields. Not far from $1,500 has been given by those churches to various religious objects during the year past.

Such details of the missionary history of Iowa are well adapted to assure the friends of Home Missions, that they have not mistaken the instrumentality best suited to evangelize the West. The Agent, Rev. JULIUS A. REED, in communicating his annual report, remarks, "Could the patrons of the American Home Missionary Society look over the state, and see the churches which have been gathered, the meeting houses which have been built, and the precious seasons of revival which have been enjoyed, they would feel well paid for all their sacrifices to this enterprise. Five churches have acquired strength under your fostering care to assume the support of their ministers. These have cost the Society $6,484 84; of which they have already returned to the treasury of the Lord $1,950. In June last they had, together, 495 members, about half of whom have been hopefully converted in the revivals which have been granted to these churches. Each of them has, or will have in a few weeks, a settled pastor; each has built an edifice for divine worship, one a conference room, and another an academy. Of the $19,300 which these structures have cost, only about $1,200 have been received from abroad. Soon, they will return to your treasury all they have received from it, multiplied many fold, and be your efficient co-workers in supplying our whole country with a preached Gospel."

Could anything be more animating than such results for so small an amount of means! What more can the friends of the Redeemer require, at once to awaken their thankfulness for past success, and to inspire new fervor in prosecuting the same blessed work.

But what a field still spreads out there before the eye of christian philanthropy! Iowa, the Mesopotamia of the West, has on its eastern and western borders the two largest rivers in the United States; and the Des Moines, with its slack-water navigation nearly completed, through its centre. These natural channels of intercourse are soon to be intersected by thoroughfares pointing westward across the continent; thus interlacing the arteries of social and commercial life. The 200,000 inhabitants are now spread over fifty counties, already defined, and over undivided tracts sufficient to make seven more. Twenty-three counties, comprising a larger territory than Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, contain all the ministerial force of the Presbyterian and Congregational denominations in the state. In view of such facts, is entirely within bounds to say, that an increase of at least fifteen well qualified missionaries, the coming year, is indispensable to sustain our present position relative to the increasing population and importance of the State.

MINNESOTA.

The territory of Minnesota extends from the parallel of 43° 30' to the northern boundary of the United States, and from Wisconsin on the east, to the Missouri River on the west. Within these limits, is an area of 166,000 square miles, being more than a square of 400 miles, and sufficient to form four large states. The first settlement was made in 1819, by a government expedition under the command of Col. Snelling, and in the following year, the fort bearing his name was erected at the mouth of the St. Peter's, or Minnesota River. The first steamboat is said to have made its appearance at that point in 1822. In 1831, Congress purchased the lands on the St. Croix River, and the principal settlements, until quite recently, have been in the vicinity of that stream. Early in 1849, a territorial government was established, which went into operation in September following. Few communities in their origin, have seemed to be blessed with a magistracy more auspicious. The first message of the Governor takes high ground in favor of good morals generally, and particularly against the traffic in ardent spirits with the Indians. The legislature also recommend a system of education, of which, "morality and religion are to be regarded as the most essential elements,"—a system based on the principle, that "man should be educated for eternity," and that no system of education should be regarded as complete or desirable," which does not view man in the light of his relations to the universe at large, and to an immortal state of existence.

The Society has two missionaries in Minnesota; Rev. E. D. Neill, at St. Paul, the capital, eight miles below the Falls of St. Anthony; and Rev. J. C. Whitney, at Stillwater, at Lake St. Croix. Churches have been regularly organized at the places above named; and at the former, a lecture room has been erected for the use of the congregation.

Other missionaries are under appointment, who are expected to occupy important posts in this territory during the coming summer.

The elements of prosperity with which this country is endowed, are of such a nature as to secure its rapid settlement, and the elevation of its people in wealth and virtue. Its northern climate will secure them from listlessness and disease, which so often attend a milder sky. Its treasures of lumber, the deposits of iron and copper, and the fisheries in Lake Superior, with the improvement of the soil and of the unsurpassed water-power, all require labor, and point out the inhabitants of this region as destined to be a working people. From the similarity of climate and pursuits, it is probable that a large emigration from the northern and eastern parts of New England will be found setting towards Minnesota, and will help, we trust, to establish there the principles and institutions of their fathers.

OREGON AND CALIFORNIA.

The Society has now two missionaries in Oregon. The arrival of one, Rev. George H. Atkinson, and his settlement at Oregon City, were announced in the last Report. In November last, Rev. Horace Lyman and Mrs. Lyman arrived, and were subsequently stationed at Portland, on the Willamette, 12 miles below Oregon City.

The correspondence of these brethren holds out the finest prospects for their adopted country, when it shall recover from the disturbing effect of the all pervading excitement now felt in that part of the world. They urge the Society to forestall the various agencies of evil, by the speedy introduction of more missionaries. The work of planting and rearing churches has been, and, for a time, must be retarded by the facility with which every occasion of fluctuation in California produces a corresponding effect in Oregon. The discovery of gold in the former caused an immediate and almost total suspension of farming and mechanical employments in the latter. Merchants, professional men, artisans and laborers of every class, left their respective spheres and their families, to try their fortunes in the mines. Society was greatly deranged, lay helpers left the ministers unsustained, meetings were nearly broken up, and women and children in the country sought the towns, from fear of the Indians. The success of the first adventurers stimulated those whose caution had at first restrained them. It is believed, however, that the superior advantages of Oregon as a residence, and for manufactures and agriculture, must soon secure to it a steady increase of population, and a prominent position in the Pacific trade. Already, many of its people are returning from the mines, to seek, amid their own rich valleys and wooded hills, the health and domestic quiet which they could not find in the diggings of the Sierra Nevada.

The public mind has been held in such a condition of wakefulness in regard to California, that every step in its social progress is well known, and this Report has occasion to state only what relates to the operations of the Society in that field.

Rev. Samuel H. Willey, who was designated by the Committee to Monterey, commenced his labors at that place, March 1st, 1849. He was cordially received, and his services immediately engaged by the American residents, at their own expense. Besides supplying the pulpit, Mr. Willey set on foot and for several months sustained a school, which, in the peculiar circumstances of the country, was deemed an important means of promoting the objects of his mission.

Rev. John W. Douglas, on his arrival at San Francisco, to which he was appointed, finding a minister already laboring there, went to San José, where the seat of government has since been established. Here also, the support of the missionary was assumed by the people. In connexion with his other labors, Mr. Douglas caused a school to be opened, which has been successfully sustained, and has proved a useful auxiliary. A church has been organized, and the various means of training the community in truth and righteousness are set in action, although, from their infancy, they are yet comparatively feeble. Considering that it is but about a year—a year, too, of great commotion and change—since these brethren first threw themselves into the whirlpool of Californian society, the lodgment they have made and the promise already afforded of future good, are matters of grateful surprise.

This great movement to the land of gold has been of such a character, that the Committee had no precedents from which they could safely derive rules for the guidance of their missionary operations there. They have, therefore, been obliged to wait for the results of specific inquiry and exploration, before sending out reinforcements. They were the more induced to this delay by the general opinion, that many clergymen would find their way across the mountains, whose presence there might meet—or at least modify—the demand. This result has not been realized to any considerable extent. The correspondence of the Committee has satisfied them, that the inhabitants of California will not be confined to a few principal localities; that they will not be exclusively a gold digging, fluctuating people; that the proportion of permanent settlers must rapidly increase, and the usual intellectual and spiritual wants of regular society must be felt, and those who are qualified to meet them will be welcomed and liberally sustained. The Committee also derive from the missionaries the conviction, that—although amid the various elements thus thrown together by one of the most remarkable movements the world ever saw, there must needs be a great development of human depravity—there is yet a large representation of the stability, intelligence and piety of the best portions of the Atlantic states; so that a well ordered community can hardly fail to arise, where by the favor of God, the great seminal principles of virtue and liberty will germinate and grow, to be transplanted abroad over all the coasts and islands of the Pacific.

With the matured persuasion, therefore, that the eastern churches have a great work to do for the world, through California, the Committee are arranging for a steady reinforcement of this mission, as the wants of the country may from time to time require. Two appointments have been made since the present year commenced. Rev. Isaac H. Brayton, from Watertown, N. Y., an alumnus of the New York Union Theological Seminary, sailed for California in the ship Houqua, on the 14th of March. Rev. William W. Brier, an alumnus of Lane Theological Seminary, and for two years past a missionary of this Society in Tippecanoe Co., Indiana, departed on the 2d of May, with Mrs. Brier, in the Crescent City, to go by way of Chagres. Arrangements are in progress for sending out other missionaries during the summer. For obvious reasons, it can hardly be expected, that the same generous support which the earliest missionaries received can be accorded to their successors. To continue these reinforcements will, therefore, draw heavily on the Treasury ; and a liberal scale of contribution must be adopted by the friends of Home Missions.

CONCLUSION.

From the foregoing survey of the field entrusted to their cultivation, the Committee feel warranted in deriving a high degree of encouragement. Taken in all its aspects, the last year has afforded more numerous indications of the divine favor than any which has preceded it. The plans and policy of the Society have met with no providential rebuke ; none of its enterprises has failed ; the blessing of Heaven has rested on its missionaries and their flocks ; the christian public have manifested their confidence by a more generous support than ever before ; and expanding fields of usefulness, that surpass in number and interest all former example, have opened before it. In the progress of our settlements over the continent, the Most High appropriates to the fulfilment of his own ends the utmost energies of the people and the ambition of their rulers. At his bidding, secular enterprise, like a hale and lusty giant, rushes forth into the wilderness, and striking right and left, clears a wide and goodly land, where families may dwell and herds abound ; where villages may rise and traffic display its wares ; and, over and controlling all, the religion of the cross may have a triumphant and glorious course.

In the progress of such a history, the Committee cannot but recognize more than the results of human plans and energy. A God is here ; the awe of his presence is upon them as they put their hands to this Home Missionary work. That his providence and Spirit have led them on thus far, is no more certain to their apprehension, than that the same providence and Spirit bid the Society to attempt and expect greater things than its faith has yet ventured to grasp. The time has fully come for its aims to take a wider compass, and its operations to assume a bolder tone. The tide of great events which, in these latter years, has broken in successive waves upon our shores, has borne on this Institution to a position of incalculable responsibility. We stand not where we once did. Foreign emigration—the enlargement of territory—the rapid formation of states—the birth of nations in a day on the Pacific coast—have placed us in new relations and demand new duties. Formerly, the mission of this Society was strictly domestic ; it followed rather than preceded the camp of Israel. Now its place is in the van. In connexion with other agencies for the same great end, it must advance—it must forecast the measures, by whose timely working the enduring welfare of so many rising and risen states may be made sure. To falter in such circumstances would not only prove us unworthy of the post assigned us ; it would be cruelty to souls, and treachery against HIM who died for them.

But we cannot admit the probability of such dereliction. We are persuaded of better things of our fellow Christians, and things that accompany salvation. They have too much intelligence in regard to their stand-point—too much philanthropy—too much love to the Savior—to throw away the advantages of such a day and such a position. Many signs assure us of the daily growth, in the great christian heart of this nation, of a purpose to make the American soil, the American people, and American enterprise and influence, wherever they may go, subject to Christ and the elevation of mankind. Thus regarding his country—not simply as his own, but as consecrated to the grandest and holiest uses in the renovation of the world—the Christian patriot may exclaim, “IF I FORGET THEE, O JERUSALEM, LET MY RIGHT HAND FORGET HER CUNNING ; IF I DO NOT REMEMBER THEE, LET MY TONGUE CLEAVE TO THE ROOF OF MY MOUTH ; IF I PREFER NOT JERUSALEM ABOVE MY CHIEF JOY !”

Relation of Auxiliary Societies, Agencies and Committees of Missions to the American Home Missionary Society; Applications, &c.

State and other large Auxiliaries.

Most of the State Missionary Societies were in existence before the formation of the National Society, and some of them—as the Missionary Societies of Connecticut and Massachusetts—were among the earliest organized efforts in our country for sending the Gospel to the destitute. They have voluntarily connected themselves as Auxiliaries with the American Home Missionary Society, from a conviction that greater unity of plan and efficiency in action would thereby be promoted.

The terms by which such Auxiliaries—acting on the principles of the Parent Society, undertaking the supply of the destitute within their own bounds, and paying over their surplus funds to the Parent Institution—are connected with the Parent Society, are such as to secure the following objects, viz :

First—The Auxiliary is not superseded or overshadowed by the National Institution, but on the contrary, is invigorated and sustained by connection with it.

This is secured by the provision that the Auxiliary is the sole agency for this cause that operates on its field. It controls all appointments in the state to which it belongs. From it alone, so far as its means will allow, the feeble churches receive assistance. Thus, a direct relation and strong attachment is cherished towards it, in the hearts of the ministers and churches.

Again—While the local operations of the Auxiliary are thus encouraged and sustained, its connection with the Parent Society is such as to awaken an interest in the destitute beyond its own limits, and afford facilities for reaching them. It is not only a Society for local purposes, but it is also a branch of the National Society, and as such, has the control of all agencies for the collection of funds within its own field, and can direct the manner in which its surplus resources shall be expended beyond its own limits. Thus, the state and other large Auxiliaries are not merely organizations to help the Parent Society; they are integral parts of it, bound together in one whole by a common interest in, and free access, through the Parent Society, to the great field to be occupied, and governed by the same general principles and rules in carrying on the work.

Agents and Agencies.

Besides preaching to the destitute and taking up contributions for Home Missions, the Agents of the American Home Missionary Society exercise a general superintendence of the operations of the Society within their respective fields. By correspondence and personal visitation, they ascertain the wants of the destitute; assist them to obtain the preaching of the Gospel; and instruct and encourage them to develop their own means for its support. They receive applications for aid, and make such preliminary examination as may be necessary before submitting them for the action of the Executive Committee; and in other ways labor to insure a judicious and economical application of the Society's funds. At present, the Society has in its employ no merely collecting Agents, nor any whose services are not required for other purposes in the regions where they labor. The Secretaries of several of the larger Auxiliaries, are also the Agents for this cause in their respective bounds.

In certain districts, where the duties of an Agent are likely to be peculiarly responsible, there is associated with him a board of counsellors selected from the region of his labors, called an Agency. These Boards of Agency differ from Auxiliary Societies, in that they have no independent existence, but are appointed by the Executive Committee from year to year, and are governed by rules which the Committee prescribe. Their office is to counsel and direct the Agent in carrying out the principles of the Society, and to give advice in relation to such local matters as may be submitted to them by the Executive Committee. The persons composing a Board of Agency, are selected for their intelligence and interest in this cause, and their influence in promoting it; and are so distributed over the field as to secure a personal acquaintance with its condition. The Agent of the Society is also the Secretary of the Agency with which he is associated.

These boards of counsel might not have been necessary, had the ecclesiastical bodies on the ground been able and disposed to pay sufficient attention to the missionary work, and to act as its directors in their respective bounds. But the ministers composing them are usually scattered over a wide extent of territory, and meet but seldom, and only at seasons when they are much occupied with other business; and accordingly it has been necessary in some cases to organize agencies for this specific work. But in other cases, Synods, Presbyteries and Associations have chosen to act as Auxiliaries to the Society, examining in the condition of the destitute within their bounds, and recommending the appropriate action for their relief. Ecclesiastical bodies thus related to the American Home Missionary Society act through

Committees of Missions.

The American Home Missionary Society has ever regarded the ecclesiastical bodies as the appropriate judges of the standing of their own ministers, and of the wants of the churches in their connection. Accordingly, the commission issued to every missionary requires that his credentials be acceptable to that ministerial body of his denomination, within whose bounds he is appointed to labor. And the various Presbyteries, Associations, &c., are invited to appoint, each, a Committee of Missions from its own members to receive applications from its churches, and suggest to the Society the action proper in each case. Such a Committee constitutes the official source to which reference can be had for information and advice, in all matters pertaining to missions in the connection to which it belongs. This mode of co-operation has been preferred by numerous ecclesiastical bodies, from the first formation of the Society. It guaranties to the churches of each denomination represented in the Society, that their respective claims shall be fairly considered, with all the advantage of having the endorsement of the body to which they belong. The advice of such a Committee, acting in the name and by the direction of the ecclesiastical body to which they belong, is regarded as the highest authority in matters pertaining to the standing of ministers and churches in their connection, and has the same influence with the Society, as that of a Board of Agency appointed by itself.

There is one limitation to this influence, however, which ought to be stated. Should any ecclesiastical body so far swerve from the principles of truth and Gospel order, as not to retain the fellowship and confidence of the great body of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches in our land, that fact would cause its recommendations not to be respected, as a basis of action, by the Executive Committee.

As cases may occur in which the feeble churches may not be aware of the existence of any Board of Agency, or Committee of Missions, through whom to apply for aid, a general provision is made, that applications may be vouched by any two ministers of known and approved standing, who can certify to the facts of the case. If the information thus given is not sufficient, other facts are sought by the Executive Committee with as little delay as practicable, from the most authentic sources from which they can be obtained.

Such, briefly, are the relations of the American Home Missionary Society to the various organs, through which the community seeks to act out its missionary feeling. It will be seen that this plan secures the united action, in the missionary work, of those whose views of doctrine and church order admit of co-operation, and whose interests in the great field are essentially the same. This combination insures a homogeneous policy as to the manner and amount of appropriations, and the qualifications of missionaries; it has discouraged sectional feelings, and diffused throughout each part an interest in all the rest ; and thus has formed ties between the West and East, along which has passed, from the latter to the former, a silent and invisible current of moral influences, more valuable, if possible, than all pecuniary grants. At the same time, the connection of the Parent Society with the various Associations that act with it, is such as to secure to them entire freedom in the missionary work, in their respective spheres, and an influence beyond them, in cultivating the waste places of our common country.

Applications for Aid.

Feeble congregations, applying for aid in supporting the Gospel, are requested to embody in their applications the following particulars, viz :

The name of the church or congregation ; the number of communicants, and the average number of attendants on public worship ; the denomination and size of congregations immediately contiguous, with the distance to their places of worship ; the total amount of salary which the applicants propose to make up ; the largest portion of that salary which they can raise for the given time, and the least amount that will suffice from the Society ; whether the minister for whom a commission is desired, is the pastor of the church, or if not, whether any arrangements are made or contemplated in the course of the year, with reference to his installment. These statements should be signed by the trustees and elders or deacons, or by a committee of the congregation, and confirmed by the certificate of two or more clergymen of good standing, acquainted with the facts. Also—

The name and post office address of the minister whose services they desire to secure ; his credentials ; and the certificate of two or more ministers of known standing, as to his general character for piety, zeal and acceptableness as a minister of the Gospel, and his adaptedness to this particular field of labor.

Where the ecclesiastical body with which a church is connected has a "Committee of Missions" to act in their behalf, this Committee are the proper persons to certify the statements of the church, the standing of the minister and his prospects of usefulness in the place where his services are desired ; and the application should, in all cases, be sent to them for their endorsement and recommendation.

As a general rule, the appropriations of the American Home Missionary Society are for twelve months from the date of the applications ; at the end of which, if further aid be needed, a new application must be made, containing all the particulars above stated, and endorsed and recommended in like manner. And each congregation applying for renewed aid, should furnish in addition to other testimonials, the certificate of the missionary, that they have fulfilled their previous pledges for his support.

It is desirable that applications should be addressed to the care of the Agent, Agency or Auxiliary Society of the American Home Missionary Society, for the region where the applicants reside ; but in case of doubt as to the name or residence of such Agent, or the existence of such Agency or Auxiliary, applications may be sent directly to the office of the Parent Society, addressed to one of the Secretaries.

On moving the Resolution for the acceptance of the Report :

What I say shall be not of the great West but of the great East—greater than is generally supposed; so great and so rapidly growing in population, if not by another annexation, in territory, that we have hard work to take care of our own Home Missions, and little power to help the general cause. Yet it is to be hoped we shall do enough for the West to enlist our prayers.

The single State of Maine is about as large as all New England beside, with a vast seacoast of 300 miles, or with its indentations, 2,000—inexhaustible materials of various kinds, including building materials enough to rebuild solidly all the cities in the world—half a million of people, three quarters of whom live in one quarter of the territory, leaving over the remainder a scattered population requiring extensive plans and efforts. Yet we love the West; we would help the West; we have not robbed the West, as may have been thought, in taking Professor Stowe thence; but have done it to save his life, and to enable him to do much in his unprecedented and most interesting field of college pastoral labor, both for the East and for the West. But our apologies must be offered, and we trust will be accepted, for giving little at present directly to your treasury.

But all this, said Mr. C., is somewhat local and almost personal. I turn gladly to a wider theme, HOME MISSIONS! It is a glorious phrase. Each word, how expressive! What is a mission but a sending?—and whence had the name and the thing their origin? “The Father sent his Son to be the Savior of the world.” Another mission the angels execute. “Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister to them that shall be heirs of salvation?” And then our mission; “As the Father sent me, even so send I you?” And for what? “Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.” Yes, to every creature.

But the apostles began at Jerusalem. HOME, what tender thoughts the word awakens! HOME MISSIONS, how touching their very name! Our country is our home—wide, ever expanding, heterogeneous—perplexing and almost endangering our home feeling. What was California or New Mexico to us? Welcomed not with “alacrity,” but with regret for the means and fear for the result. Yet we have soon learned to embrace it in our conceptions of our country, and to love it, perhaps, all the more readily for its golden treasures which had attracted—we will not say with a speaker at a previous meeting—the siftings of the North and South and West, unless he knew where the sieve was supposed to be emptied of much of its contained chaff.

But this whole land, from sea to sea, and from the river almost to the ends of the earth, is our home, our children's home; the home of other men and their children; of other races and their offspring. A glorious field! Let us till it well, and sow it wisely, and God will cover it with a wonderful harvest which the angels shall reap.

Shall I be out of order, asked the speaker, since so little opportunity is given at these meetings for practical exhortation and prayer, if I touch upon another branch of Home Missions? Every Christian has a commission still nearer home than his country. The city or village where he dwells; the church and congregation to which he belongs; the dear family he loves; these are his home fields. The last, and most of all, not so much a branch as a root of all right effort; not so much an auxiliary as the parent society—the parental Home Missionary Society—the society of sweet home.

Oh, then, said Mr. C., let us teach these things diligently to our children; both these Gospel principles and these momentous facts. Let us tell them that Jesus died for them, and that he died for a wicked and perishing world, which they may help to save. Then they may rise up and call us blessed; rise up, Oh how high! Even to the heights of Zion. And other men's children too,—the successive generations who shall take our places on this continent and on this globe, shall rise up on high and bless us, and the grace which made us useful.

More than all, CHRIST, whom we now essay with faltering lips to bless, shall bless us with the benediction that shall open to us, all unworthy as we are, the gates of Heaven.

Address of Rev. Andrew L. Stone, of Boston, Mass.

In support of the following resolution :

Resolved, That the Gospel of Christ, brought in contact with the mind and heart of our entire population, is the only influence to which we can safely entrust the destiny of this country.

It is a happy thing for a nation to have a history to which she can look back with pride—to which in every hour of her peril she can point her defenders for animation and cheer, from which she can draw ennobling appeals for her sons in times of degeneracy and disaster. Were we called upon again to breast the waves of foreign invasion, what words of power to send along the fainting lines in the battle's changing fortunes would be those heroic names from our early story, "Washington," "Bunker Hill," "Yorktown," "New Orleans?" Who did not feel the might of this influence a few years ago, when Greece made her struggle for independence? It was not only the pressure of her wrongs, but the memory of early Greece, the undying names of old heroes, that nerved her arm. Who did not feel from the same source a quickening of his sympathies when young Rome so lately struck for freedom?

But none can change a history past. Be it famous or infamous, it is unalterable. What is writ, is writ. Our history thus far is a record we cannot touch. There it will remain whether we prove worthy of it or recreant to it. We cannot blot it out. In respect to it we have no responsibility. But when we look forward and speak of our country's destiny, we enter a sphere where our personal responsibility is deeply concerned. We cannot re-write our history—we can make destiny. What our history is we know—the world knows. What our destiny shall be God only knows—the future will write it down.

It will be a destiny, we can say, that will tell controllingly on human progress, that will carry in it more of human weal or wo than any other ever written. We stand strong here in our continental home. Our tread shakes the hemisphere. God has planted us deep. Our topmost boughs touch the arch. If we fall, the ends of the earth will feel the shock.

We shall have no feeble destiny, whether it be disastrous or happy. Look at the extent of our country. Everything here is of colossal proportions. We have a territory equal in extent to the third continent of the Eastern hemisphere, with an indented seacoast, including our island dependencies of more than 30,000 miles; inland seas broad enough and deep enough to drown entire many a renowned kingdom of the old world; mighty reaches of navigable rivers; a wealth of virgin forests and unwrought mines no arithmetic can compute. From our Atlantic shore you go inland a thousand miles and you stand on the Alleghany; from these summits you descend a thousand miles and you reach the hither bank of the "Father of Waters;" crossing this broad rolling flood you ascend again a thousand miles to the ridges of the Rocky Mountains; and yet another thousand must you traverse ere you stand by the Pacific Sea. What must the destiny of such a country be?

Look again at our advancing population. The old world is emptying itself upon our shores, at the rate of a thousand a day all the year round. Our Eastern seaports are thronged with immigrants. In long, dense files they stretch away over the mountains toward the wilderness and prairies of the West. The wilderness receives them; in its capacious bosom they are lost; still the flood gates stand open; still the living tide pours in, and still there is room enough and to spare. Shall we have a feeble destiny?

Look at the development of individual manhood in this land. Numbers are not strength; the little Island of Great Britain wields a more effective power, and fills more the eye of the world than the Chinese Empire with its uncounted millions. And here on our soil every man acts, in whatever capacity, with his utmost energy—mind and heart, and soul and body are tasked. All the elements of a vigorous manliness are here in fullest volume and muscle.

I say, then, we shall have a destiny of power—a destiny the world must feel.

What ought now this destiny to be?

It ought to be in keeping with our origin. It must be such a destiny, that if it were now written down in the same chapter with that which describes our heroic beginning, the moral sense of all men should say it were a fitting consummation. It must suit that stirring history that drove our Fathers to Holland, thence to these stern and wintry shores for conscience sake and Christ.

It must lead in the world's disenthralment, by the spirit of all our institutions, by our happy solution of the great problem of self-government, by the picture we shall hold up to the nations of a free, enlightened, happy people, enjoying in peace every sacred right of man.

It must take hold of the Gospel's triumph. If ever a nation had it in charge to give the news of salvation to all lands, that nation is ours. If this principle be of eternal force, "freely ye have received, freely give," we must show our gratitude to God for our own priceless religious blessings, by being his almoners of the same treasure to all the destitute.

To what shall we trust to mould and shape this destiny? Shall we trust to the National Constitution? It is a noble, a sacred instrument—the production of happier days than these. Whatever may be said of it, it could not now be reproduced, if it were to be destroyed. We have heard talk of repudiating this highest organic law of the land. But we will not echo such a sentiment. Blasted be my lips before they utter one word of treason against this fundamental law, and wither my right arm, before it raise a traitor's sword against this maternal bosom. We will not speed the cry of "disunion" from whichever pole of the strife it come to our ears. We shall not despair of the Union and give over the Union, if the present struggle for freedom go against us. There is no heroism in deserting the ship just as it enters the foam of the breakers. In the Union and for the Union we will labor and pray for our common country. But who shall interpret for us this same National Constitution? Who shall tell us how far its provisions must carry our loyalty? Statesmen differ. Patriotism is arrayed against patriotism. It is under the provisions of this Constitution that these very discussions are now taking place which go rocking and heaving beneath all our deep foundations. We must have some other safeguard.

Shall we trust to political sagacity and integrity. We have statesmen, intelligent, far seeing, and eloquent as any that shape the destinies of any land. But what is this political sagacity doing? It is seeking its own self-advancement—it is truckling to mercenary fears—it is grinding like poor blind Sampson, in the prison of party. Let any great crisis come when we have a right to expect this political sagacity will speak out its earnest advocacy of freedom, humanity and right; and it is silent as the grave, or false to every sacred sentiment of justice and mercy. No, we will not trust the nation's destiny here.

Shall we trust to general intelligence. There is no country on earth where this is so widely diffused. We are on all our levels a reading people. But light is not enough. An enlightened nation may be an infidel nation. An enlightened nation may discard the Bible and the religion of Jesus. An enlightened nation may bring on itself all the horrors of a "reign of terror." With nations as of individuals, it is too often found "the tree of knowledge is not that of life." Science, however laurelled and renowned—accompanied with whatever social culture and refinement—walking on whatever level of place, may be found in the laboratories of its art hewing its way mercilessly through the bosom of its benefactor and friend.

No, we can trust to nothing but the Gospel of Christ. We need its resident and abiding influence in every part of our land, as furnishing the highest sanctity to civil law, to uplift from the dust the trampled Sabbath—to keep before the consciences of men an unfaltering standard of right—to enter and penetrate all our institutions, domestic, civil and social—and to renew the individual heart. We want this Gospel not as a transient visiter—like a flying tract or a trip of a colporteur. We cannot indeed spare one of these tributary influences; but we want something more—the Gospel, lodged behind the altar—entrenched within sanctuary walls—lifting its spires on every hill—swelling its Sabbath songs in every grove, till the wilderness and the solitary place are glad, and the desert blossoms as the rose.

Address of Rev. Samuel Washburn, of New York,

In support of the following Resolution:

Resolved, That in view of the enlargement of our national domain, and the increased emigration from abroad, the work of evangelizing our country becomes, in effect, a mission to all mankind.

Mr. President—In whatever aspect we regard the thorough evangelization of our country, it is scarcely possible to exaggerate its importance. As we contemplate the successive generations that shall arise and fill the land, each more numerous and potent than the last, and all receiving form, features and character from the present, as the man bears with him to his dying day the training and the lineaments of the child;—when we consider, that what we are doing in the present generation—nay, this very year,—to establish permanently the institutions of the Gospel in the destitute and yet plastic portions of our land; and, also, what we are neglecting to do,—shall be written with such distinctness on each succeeding generation, that the wide world shall read—the enterprise becomes inferior to none that ever filled the brain of man.

But turn now and see that mighty tide of human life, in which mingle the streams of emigration from every nation and tongue of Europe, ever flowing on, by day and by night, in storm and in calm, and ever widening and deepening as it flows—swelling above these Atlantic States, sweeping over the Alleghanies, filling the great Valley, dashing up against the Rocky Mountains, and scattering its spray down to the very Pacific Coast. Had Providence, in his successive overturnings among the nations, given us access to all these minds in their native lands, how wonderful should we have regarded his indications! and our hearts would have ached to answer his demands, while our hands would have been palsied with the might of the work. But when our arms are not long enough nor strong enough to reach and move these masses across the Atlantic, God brings them to our shores, scatters them over our land, mingles them with ourselves in every settlement and city, sets them at our hearths and binds them to our bosoms, thus forcing upon us, at once, the opportunity and the ability of furnishing them with all the rich provisions of his grace;—and, by interlacing their destiny with our own, impelling us to discharge our whole duty toward them, not only by the common motives of Christianity and philanthropy, but by all the urgencies of self-preservation. Here stretches out a field on which Foreign and Home Missions meet and commingle; and the day has already come, when our Home Missionary Society is employing forty missionaries to preach the Word of Life in four foreign languages on our native soil. We have, then, a work full of grandeur and promise,—a work that can be accomplished at the least possible sacrifice of human life and means.

But the influence of this glorious work will not terminate here. As our land shall become the garden of God, it will send forth its fragrance into distant lands. When we shall have accomplished the work of establishing the institutions of the gospel in every settlement of our wide domain, and vice and poverty and wretchedness shall disappear before the progress of God's light and life, we shall have but trimmed the lamp, which, when exalted to the high places of the land, shall cast its light over all the dark corners of the earth. As no man can live unto himself alone, so this nation cannot, if she would, confine her influences within her own limits. Distant as she is from the older nations, yet, on account of her moral institutions and her peculiar relations to the rest of the world,—and all these illuminated with the bright history of her past—she is now exerting an influence equalled by no other,—not on the governments and privileged orders, but on all the middle and inferior classes that are constantly rising in intelligence, importance and power throughout Europe.

Behold the wonderful Providence of God in planting a nation in these then ends of the earth, and throwing over it the protection of distance and obscurity till the experiment of free government had been tried and established, and Christianity allowed time and opportunity for vindicating her own right to freedom and her ability to gain her own conquests,—showing herself most powerful when unaided and most winning when unadorned,—and then, by each successive enterprise of bridging the ocean, the continents draw nearer and nearer together, until even the dwellers in the far East behold the light gleaming up all athwart the western horizon.

For a long time the enemies of civil and religious freedom throughout Europe, have spared neither opportunity nor pains to disparage our Institutions and nullify our social and religious state.

You remember when that consistent and unflinching friend of human freedom John Quincy Adams, in the House of Representatives, presented a petition from eleven obscure individuals for the dissolution of the Union, and what a storm of wrath beat all harmlessly upon his venerable head, for even presenting such a paper.

I happened to be in London when the papers which contained an account of the proceedings arrived, and so ample were the details that nothing but the rankest prejudice could misunderstand. A few days after, arriving in the city of Paris, I was at once surprised and indignant to find that the papers under the influence of the government had drawn up a formidable statement—or rather misstatement—of the affair, under the startling heading,—“PROBABLE DISSOLUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.” It went on to inform the people that Mr. Adams, former President of the United States, and the first statesman in the Union, had actually introduced into the American Congress a “proposition” for the dissolution of the Union,—that the days of the “Model Republic” were already numbered,—and closed with a warning to all the world to beware, for the future, of all such rash experiments. The statement, though bearing some appearance of truthfulness, sustained no other relations to the truth than alcohol to the wholesome grain from which it was distilled. It was immediately copied into all the government papers throughout the departments of France. It was soon scattered throughout the kingdom of Naples and the States of Rome. You are aware that under these last two governments, nothing can be printed and disseminated but by the agency of government, thus sending forth the lie stamped with the signet of Royalty and Papacy. Many, many were the people scattered through those countries, who, having been accustomed to look to this land as the hope of human liberty, heard the intelligence with saddened hearts, scarcely daring to doubt its truthfulness.

I mention this to show how real and potent is the influence exerted by this nation upon the mind of Europe, and how eager are the advocates of despotism to seize or to forge such events as shall be suited to neutralize its force. If the influence of our country were not moving the hearts of the nations, would rank and pride and power stoop to arts like these! But that influence is becoming each year more potent and pervading. We see it in the European events of the last three years, when old governments were wrecked in a day, and monarchs stood appalled before an uprisen people, and the whole continent was heaving and foaming like the ocean maddened by a tempest. The mighty monarch under whose reign the dissolution of our Union was announced, is now a pitiable exile;—the tyrant king of Naples has been scared from his palace by the same people whose education he so vigilantly guarded;—and the Pope has fled like a frightened hare from the emancipated voices of his own children, while our institutions are more and more embalmed in the confidence and affections of the people,—our Union still abides,—a territory broader than the three kingdoms has been added to our already wide domain; and the bonds which bind all together are strong enough, we trust, to withstand all distractions from without, and each made attempt from within.

But, sir, in the vigorous prosecution of the work of evangelizing our land, we are furnishing both encouragement and arguments to the advocates of civil and religious liberty throughout the world. How many straining eyes are fixed upon us!—how many fingers, trembling with hope, pointing to our success! Will you listen to a single voice from beyond the Atlantic,—a voice whose heavenly notes have become familiar to our American Zion—the voice of one qualified and authorized to speak to this question. It is the voice of John Angel James, of Birmingham, England, to a member of your own Executive Committee. He says, “I am deeply in earnest, about this subject. We tell the people in this country that their religious establishment is not necessary either to propagate or to support religion; that the voluntary principle contains an expansive energy,—that the cause of truth is more safe, more powerful, more artless and active, in the hands of Christian principle, than of state policy. We say to them, let religion alone—leave her to herself—encumber her not with royal armor, but permit her to go forth with her own sling, and wallet, and stones, and her own confidence in God. LOOK AT AMERICA! See what she is doing there, unfostered by state patronage—unaided by state power. But, my brother, if large tracts of your land are abandoned to Popery—if millions of your countrymen are left unsupplied by Protestant teachers—if your Christians have not zeal and liberality enough to send to them their fellow citizens, men after God's own heart, to teach them the right way, our argument is snatched from us, our forts are stormed, our guns are turned after us, and the advocates of establishments will tauntingly echo our appeal, and exclaim, ‘LOOK AT AMERICA; and for want of a Protestant establishment, see how fast she is becoming a Popish land!’

“The object of your zeal must be your own country,—to supply her rapidly increasing population with able, faithful ministers. Your religious policy must be a home policy. Compared with the claims of your own land, the claims of the heathen are but secondary. If you cannot attend to both, you must attend to your own destitute people. You must cultivate the waste places of your homestead. Think what your country is, and especially think what she must be; not only for the magnitude of her territory and the multitude of her people, the vastness of her wealth and the greatness of her power, but for the importance of her example. You are supplying a grand experiment both in sacred and secular government.—I mean, what is the best way to promote religion and human happiness. You are bringing all social institutions to the test of experience. On your land hang, in a great measure, the future interests of the globe!”

This is the testimony of a man of distinguished piety and judgment standing on the watch tower of the world,—one who is personally and earnestly engaged in the conflicts for religious freedom, and whose love for his own country, exonerates him from every suspicion of partiality to ours,—sending his voice across the ocean to remind us of our high responsibilities, and to urge us on with quickened devotion and unfaltering energy in the noble work.

But we are sustaining some relations to the older nations that are tenderer,—and, in some respects, more effective for good,—than any of these. Turn again to the sea and behold that mighty tide of life, swollen by contributions from every nation and tongue of Europe, and ever setting in upon these shores. Those mighty hosts! do they leave no ties, no affections, no kind remembrances behind them? Are there no vacant places around the firesides of their native land,—and no earnest eyes and kindly wishing hearts to follow them to their future home? Oh! they were not exiles,—they were not isolated “foreigners” in the land from which they came. Many are the hearts they have left behind that will warm towards the land that shall furnish a home of peace and plenty for the exiles, and many—many the sympathetic cords stretching across the ocean, along which shall flash sentiments of dear regard for the institutions that protect without oppressing them.

See those forty or fifty thousand missive that are borne every week across the Atlantic, and which fall like snowflakes upon every portion of Europe. Do they bear no kind and softening influences with them? Will the emigrant, as he sits down with his pen to commune with the friends that are far away, forget to speak of his new home, because his heart is filled with memories of the old? As soon will the wedded daughter forget to speak of the fireside of her husband and the babes of their love when she writes, with a swelling heart and moistened eye, to her silver-haired father and mother. Will there be no heart to speak exultingly of the land where plenty follows toil,—where there is no despotism save that of gold,—no Pope to shut the light of God from the mind, and no strong establishment to bind the conscience and compel obedience to its petrified forms? Oh! those winged messengers will be just as warm when they enter the cottage in the gorge of the Alps, on the banks of the Danube or the sunny plains of Italy, as when they were indited beyond the Alleghanies or the Rocky Mountains, within the circuit of one of your own missionaries. We have a mission to the emigrant, and through the emigrant to the old world, which we have scarcely begun to fulfil.

But the influence of this cause stops not here. God, in his providence, is bending the potency of gold to aid in the good work. Just as events were transpiring in Europe to swell the tide of emigration, the cry of “Gold” is heard.—The “philosopher’s stone” is found! The land that had been since creation well nigh worthless,—of no account to the seller and little to the buyer, except as it afforded a harbour to his distant fleet,—comes under the flag of freedom, and its grey rocks and arid sands are instantly transmuted into gold. That potent voice that meets an answer in every bosom goes forth on the wings of the wind, and is heard in every nation of Europe;—it rattles down the hills and valleys of Central and South America, starting their stupid tribes into signs of life and energy,—it booms across the wide Pacific, waking the islanders as it goes, and dies not away till it echoes back from the heart of the Celestial Empire. Already Chinese and Malays mingle with the representatives of every nation in the streets of San Francisco and Monterey. The channels of commerce are changing, Already our beautiful and fleet Indiaman, on their way to East, double the “Horn” freighted with merchandise for California; and where three years ago scarce a hovel stood, cities are springing to life that shall rival, in commercial importance, New York and London. Soon, lines of steamers will ply between San Francisco, Calcutta and Canton, and the Pacific be whitened with fleets of merchantmen. And with all this we know that light and influence must go forth. The icy walls that have girdled China for 4000 years will melt away, and her myriads of minds feel the impulse of a new life. It is for us to say whether they shall be enlightened by the cold gleams of science and their energies quickened by the selfish activities of commerce merely, or by the light of life, the love of God and the hope of immortality. Oh! it is a noble, a blessed work, to supply those higher wants and to kindle the light of salvation on beacons that shall enlighten the world. If we shrink from these responsibilities, we shall prove ourselves unworthy the trust providence hath reposed in us,—unworthy our noble ancestry and glorious heritage. The Providence of God hath commanded us, and we must possess the land. And for this great work, there is no single human agency so appropriate, so efficient, so indispensable to its accomplishment as the “Home Missionary Society,” which sends forth among the unformed masses of human mind, the well furnished man,—the living preacher with a heart to feel and a tongue to proclaim that truth which never returns without effect. Let the bible, the volume and the tract go forth over the land,—let their leaves of life be multiplied a hundred fold. But without a living and intelligent ministry, much of it will be like seed sown by the way-side. The springing blade must be protected and cultivated with kindest care, and the reaper be present to gather the golden harvest. When you have sent a preacher to every settlement and gathered a band of praying brethren around him, you have filled the land with fortresses, provisioned and manned with faithful soldiers, and those shall hold possession against every foe. Already your Society has aided in the erection of between 3 and 4000 of these fortresses. Of many you have laid the foundation stones. Demolish all these and what a ruin would spread over the land! Put out all the watch-lights that gleam from their towers, and how broad and black the cloud that would settle upon its beautiful plains! Let us go forth to the work, our hearts invigorated by a review of the past, our courage emboldened by the voice of God, and slacken not till the whole land shall be won and laid at the feet of Him whose it is, in the prophecies of God and by the purchase of his own blood; and whom shall be the praise of a renovated world.

MISCELLANEOUS SELECTIONS

FROM THE PUBLICATIONS AND CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SOCIETY.

The next Census.

THE results of an approaching census have never been anticipated with more interest than is now felt in reference to the enumerations of 1850. Politicians, friends of education, benevolent societies, and indeed all who are accustomed to take note of the progress and tendencies of our countrymen and their institutions, look to the next census for the confirmation or overthrow of theories, and expect to derive from its facts a reliable basis for future action.

The per cent. of increase of the population, in ten years, has declined in a small degree, with each decade. In the ten years ending with 1820, it was 33.35 per cent.; in 1830, 33.26 per cent.; in 1840, 32.67. In weighing the various sources of loss and of increase for the ten years ending with 1850, it seems fair to estimate the diminution of the rate of increase as no greater than that of the preceding ten years. This ratio would give, as the aggregate of population for 1850, twenty-two millions and a quarter, or more accurately, 22,227,527.

When we come to apply this ratio of increase to the several portions of the country, the bearing of the census becomes manifest.

1. Comparative Increase of the East and the West.

Atlantic states,	10,641,882	12,504,731	1,862,841
States west of the east line of O., Ky., Ten., and Al.,	6,376,972	9,722,796	3,345,824

That is, while the population of the eastern states has increased at the rate of 17½ per cent. in ten years; that of the western states has added $49\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. The absolute increase of the western population has been almost double that of the eastern. And if we reckon one-third of the population of Pennsylvania and of Virginia as belonging to the Great Western Valley, the East will have 11,311,470 and the West, 10,916,057.

2. Distribution of Political Power.

"The House of Representatives is at present formed by the election of one representative for every 70,680 persons in each State. The present number of representatives is 226. If the same basis should be retained after the next census, it will make the House consist of nearly 320 members. On the other hand, if the basis of representation after the next census is fixed at or near 100,000 persons, and adding a representative for every fraction of 50,000 persons, the House will comprise about the present number of members. For convenience in making the following estimates, we have supposed 100,000 to be the basis after the next census, with an additional representative for every fraction of 50,000. It will be found by any one who will make the estimate, that the general conclusions will not be materially affected by any uncertainty in the number of persons necessary to choose a representative."

The Atlantic States, (deducting the representation of two-fifths of the slave population,) will send, 117

Deduct also representatives of western Pa. and Va., 12

Total, from the East, 105

The Western States, (deducting the representation of two-fifths of the slaves,) will send, 93

Add representatives of western Va. and Pa., 12

Add for Oregon, California and Minnesota, 3

Total, from the West, 108

3. Moving Centre of Representative Population.

"A table calculated by Dr. Patterson, of the United States Mint, at Philadelphia, showing the centre of representative population of the United States, at each census, from 1790 to 1840 inclusive, gives the following results:

In 1790, the centre of representative population was in Baltimore co., Md., 46 miles N. and 22 E. from Washington.

In 1800, it was in Carroll co., Md., 52 miles N. and 9 E. from Washington.

In 1810, it was in Adams co., Pa., 64 miles N. and 30 W. from Washington.

In 1820, it was in Morgan co., Va., 47 miles N. and 71 W. from Washington.

In 1830, it was in Hampshire co., Va., 43 miles N. and 108 W. from Washington.

In 1840, it was in Marion co., Va., 36 miles N. and 160 W. from Washington."

[Cin. Chron.]

Thus, it appears that the centre of representative population has moved westward with accelerated velocity; the last ten years, between 50 and 60 miles. It is now in Washington or Monroe co., O.

Another interesting feature of this calculation is seen in the fact, that this moving centre of population has kept very nearly on the same parallel of latitude for fifty years, viz.: about $39^{\circ} 30'$. It now passes out of the slave states, and should it preserve the same direction, it must continue on free soil until it shall cross the Mississippi. Before it shall enter Missouri, that state also will probably have long been a free state.

Deductions.

1. These speculations indicate that the political supremacy of this republic is about to pass forever out of the hands of the inhabitants of the Eastern States. It is true, that questions may not often arise in our national affairs, where the East and the West will be formally arrayed against each other. But it must be a fact of the deepest interest to the whole Union, when more than half of its legislators come to be chosen by a people, who from their circumstances, are necessarily less under the enlightening influence of learning and religion—a people strong in impulses and feeble in principles. Whatever can be done, therefore, to fill the Great Basin of the West with intelligence and sound morality, is a matter of national interest. Every inhabitant of the land has reason to desire that the Home Missionary work beyond the Alleghanies should be prosecuted with accelerated speed and growing efficiency. And the deductions we have made from the coming census, abundantly show that what we do, must be done quickly; because a NATION is there growing up, which, in the fulness of its strength, may ere long scorn to receive at our hands the influences which we would gladly send to bless them. And we must remember, too, that there is a tremendous competition in this work of moulding the West. It is not mere passive and plastic matter that awaits the touch, which we may apply at our leisure; it is a molten mass stiffening into form, and many are the hands busied in fashioning its shape.

Extent of the Union.

The Cincinnati Atlas says, that from the easternmost town in the United States—Eastport, Maine, via the St. Lawrence, Buffalo, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and the South Pass of the Rocky Mountains, to Astoria, in Oregon, the distance by the travelled route is four thousand five hundred and seventeen miles. From the Madawaska in Maine, by the Atlantic route, via New York, Washington, New Orleans and Galveston, to the mouth of the Rio Grande, two thousand nine hundred and twenty-three miles. From New York to the head of Lake Superior, via Detroit and Mackinac, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six miles; thence down the Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico is one thousand eight hundred and twenty-four miles.

The Infant Giant.

This is a youthful, almost an infant nation. And yet this infant nation will in a century possess as large a territory, perhaps larger, than Russia, and embrace a population as numerous as that of China. The moral and religious education of this child is entrusted to the American church, and must be accomplished in a century; the most important part of it in half a century from this time. THERE IS NO OTHER TRUST LIKE IT, EVEN AS THERE IS NO OTHER SUCH CHILD TO BE EDUCATED. The time is short; the interest at stake is vast beyond calculation, not only to us, but to mankind. The child we are now educating will be a father to the man who will have his own way in the New World, yes, and in the Old too. Shall he be a tyrant slaveholder or a genius of universal emancipation? Shall he be a demon of war or a disciple of the Prince of Peace? Shall he be a lawless and a reckless Infidel; or a blinded and hoodwinked Papist; or a wild and crazy fanatic; or an enlightened and philanthropic Christian? These are the momentous questions that are now deciding, but will soon be decided forever, that are crowded into the compass of a few years, and that should press with all their weight—and Oh what a weight is that—upon the heart and conscience of every American Christian.

A New Era and New Duties.

Our country is expanding and becoming the home of all nations and all religions, of all errors and all vices. Were it holy it would be a paradise; but let it become as unclean as it must be, without extraordinary efforts on the part of Zion's friends, and nothing can save it from the terrors of a pandemonium! Shall those efforts be withheld? Shall the preaching of the everlasting Gospel be restrained? Shall willing and able missionaries be held back from entering the field, or be denied support while occupying it? Can any friend of Christ harden his heart, or deny his prayers, or withhold his contributions, when the land mourneth, and the vine languisheth, and the voice of the laborer crieth out for help? We trust not. All the clouds that gather in our moral horizon, and all the storms that burst from them, cannot harm us, if, obedient to the call of God's word and providence, we send forth the glorious Gospel, on every wave of emigration that flows westward.

And as surely as the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth, and maintains the established principles of his administration, there is no hope for our country apart from the influences that go abroad with the preaching of the cross. Let Him who sitteth between the cherubims shine forth, and accompany with the exceeding greatness of his power, the ministrations of his word and ordinances; and let the church arise and gird herself with strength, and go forth to the conflict, boldly and self-denyingly, with those powers of darkness that are aiming at the ascendant; let her multiply her missionaries, and strengthen their hands, and plant the Gospel in every opening made for it by God's providence—and then we are safe, and the world is safe, and joyous gratulations will ring through all the courts of heaven.

Emigration.

From Ireland—It is a growing expectation in Ireland that we are now about to witness one of the most momentous operations of society—the removal of a people en masse to a distant shore. The half million who have got off with no very great stir in the course of two years, are but an advanced guard to the main body that follows. It must, indeed, be the most furious impulse or the direst necessity, that can urge men at the approach of winter, to cast themselves on the deep, to brave the wide Atlantic, to be thrown on they know not what headland or shoal, in the storms and fogs which beset the wished-for shore, and, at the best, to land in a country still ribbed with ice and buried in snow. Yet we are told of ten emigrant vessels taking refuge the other day in the Cove of Cork, of crowds waiting at other ports for the chance of a passage, and of multitudes ejected from their holdings and now lodging in towns, with no other hope upon earth than once to put their feet on the shore of the New World. We believe it to be even as it is described. The failure of the staple crop, the burden of maintaining the victims of famine, the impossibility of paying rates upon small holdings, and the invincible objection to pay them upon holdings of any size, constitute an expellent force the like of which was never seen. Pauperism, in all its bearings, is depopulating the island. They who are paupers, they who expect to be paupers, and they who loathe the thought of contributing their hard earnings to be squandered upon paupers, are equally out of heart, and resolved to go elsewhere. When the mind is resolved, the means only are wanting. [London Times.]

From Germany.—European papers, principally from Germany, estimate the number of those, who in the course of the ensuing summer will leave for the United States, at from two hundred to two hundred and fifty thousand; comprising, for the most part, a class of emigrants very different from those whom we have heretofore been accustomed to see arrive in our seaports.

It is not generally known in the United States, that the German Parliament, some months ago, established a Central Emigration Committee, which has its branches in every German State, and that the agents of the Suabian branch have already arrived in this country to report on the soil, climate and capacity of those States of our Union best adapted to a colonization by Germans. Forty thousand florins have been appropriated for this exploring expedition alone.

The Agents will, no doubt, make an early report; and we may soon expect a sturdy and opulent population from Germany, filling up the gap left by our own emigrants to California. The civil wars of Europe have always furnished us with the best portion of our population from abroad. Those of England have been the means of settling our large Atlantic States; those of the Continent of Europe will largely contribute to the wealth and prosperity of the Valley of the Mississippi.

The Overruling Hand of Providence in reference to California.

In his address to a company of miners emigrating to California, Rev. E. N. KIRK, of Boston, thus strikingly illustrates the divine superintendence in reference to the disclosure of the gold on the Pacific coast.

"A British merchant discovered it more than a century ago, and was carrying, for a specimen, a box of gold dust to England by way of China. This box was lost in some affray with Chinamen. Had he carried it to England, the whole condition of the world might have been prematurely changed. Had Great Britain found a gold mine of such value on this continent, we may readily believe the whole current of political events would have been totally changed by it. But God, who works by small instruments as well as by great, did not suffer that box to reach England, and induce her to plant a strong colony on the great western outlet of North America. He reserved it for this age and this people."

Home Missionary Openings.

The fruitless search.—A venerable follower of our common Lord, one who has long been an elder of the church in an older state, rose to claim the attention of the Presbytery for a few moments. He had mounted his horse and ridden some forty miles to see the brethren face to face, that he might urge the claims of three churches already organized in his county. These churches had once bid fair to hold the controlling religious influence of about ten thousand souls that inhabit the county; but the missionary who once broke the bread of life unto them, was called to another field which he felt it his duty to occupy. Nearly four years have passed, and we have each year pleaded for help, but as yet, have pleaded in vain; "and now," said he, "I feel almost like selling my farm, and locating where I can have the privileges of a church and a pastor for my family;" and with a voice trembling with emotion he asked, "Is there no hope for us?" At the same meeting, a stranger arose to ask the attention of the brethren for a few moments. He had ridden two or three days to meet with them; he came from a large county and rapidly increasing. There was no church of our connexion; no religious instruction for his children, and others who felt like himself; he had once enjoyed these sacred privileges, and knew how precious they were; now, must his children grow up without them? Here his heart overflowed, and with the tears streaming down his cheeks, he exclaimed, "Can you render us no help?" Where is the heart that loves the Savior, that will not be pained as such appeals are made to it, and still can offer no relief?

The Pineries of Wisconsin.

This tract is situated in that large district of Wisconsin known as Portage County—its S. E. part having formerly included "the Portage" from the Wisconsin to the Fox Rivers. Ascending the former some forty miles, the traveller comes to "the Dells," a gorge with perpendicular banks, 300 feet high, and only allowing a passage of 40 feet wide for the stream, while the opening at the top is said to be so narrow, that a man may almost leap across it. Fifty or sixty miles higher, commences the pine region, through which run rapid tributaries of the principal river, affording most abundant facilities for lumbering, with the whole valley of the Mississippi and its confluent for a market. These pineries are at present worked in townships 21 to 30 North, in the ranges 5 to 8 East of the meridian which starts from the mouth of the Illinois.

Population, Soil, &c.—It is estimated that there are from 15 to 20 millions of feet of lumber rafted down the Wisconsin every year, which affords employment for fourteen or fifteen hundred men, and that there are besides, as many as 2,500 souls in the Pinery at the places mentioned and others; also, that there have been as many as 15,000 bushels of cranberries gathered this fall in the Pinery.

Prospects.—Intelligent men, well acquainted with the Pinery, informed me, that the lumber trade was settling down into a more regular business, that it was better understood than formerly, and was increasing every year. Furthermore, that in their opinion it would not fail in 50 years. Of the correctness of these statements I have no doubt. Families are constantly emigrating to the Pinery, and many are turning their attention to farming. Common schools are taught; school houses are being erected, and society is assuming a permanent form.

Destitutions in Missouri.

In all Missouri, an area thirteen times as large as the State of Connecticut, there are not sixty ministers of the Gospel connected with either of the two branches of the Presbyterian or with the Congregational churches, who are devoted to the appropriate work of the ministry as pastors or stated supplies. We are perishing for want of laborers, while New England and New-York are suffering from ministerial plethora. The churches east can never be made to feel the need of praying and laboring for an increase of ministers while 20 or 30 gather around an easy rich vacancy, like so many birds of prey around a carcass, even before the fallen pastor has been deposited in the tomb. In my opinion, it would give new vitality and energy to christian character in the older portions of our American Zion, if all the young men who can be brought into the ministry during the next five years would go to the heathen or come west. This would lengthen the min-sterial life and increase the usefulness of many faithful men now sustaining the responsibilities of the pastoral office, and be the means of saving millions among the heathen and the waste places of our own land. It would add to the character and happiness of those now entering upon the active duties of the holy office.

“We Want the Gospel.”

“Some time ago,” says a missionary, “we organized a Bible society for the county, and made arrangements for supplying it. We employed the assessor of the county to make this examination. I have by me his report, from which we learn the appalling fact, that out of 807 taxable inhabitants, only 257 have the Bible! and 550 or more than five eighths, have it not.

What can we say in answer to such appeals? Candidates for the sacred office leaving the Seminaries this fall, what will you say? Is there no attraction for you in such fields? For what end did you give yourselves to Jesus Christ? for what end do you daily repeat that consecrating vow? For your own comfort and ease here, and that you may be happy in heaven at last? Is this all? Is there no offering up your soul and body as a whole burnt offering to Christ and to his work, wherever it is to be done, and whatever toil and self-denial it involves? Let it be granted, that in respect to obscurity, hard labor, personal privation and poor support, this field were on a par with the most uninviting foreign missionary station; yet this would not exempt the missionary corps from the duty of entering it. On the other hand, is it not a fact that just in proportion as the spirit of devotion to the Savior becomes intense in the soul, it longs to be a partaker of his sufferings, by engaging in painful labors and in carrying out the great enterprise which he began, in the most revolting and neglected fields? In those best moments, when the approach of the soul to God is nearest, were he to offer his servants the choice of all the spheres of labor, would not each reply, in the spirit of their suffering Savior, “Not where I will, but where thou wilt?”

Then and Now.

“When we contrast our present situation with what it was twelve months since, we are well persuaded that God has given some increase to feeble efforts.

Early in the year now closed, we had no place of meeting at all comfortable or convenient, but were driven from house to house and from shop to shop, as the choice of a number of evils would, for the time being, induce us to act. We have now a large school-house in which to meet regularly for the worship of God.

Then, we considered twenty-five persons a good audience. Now, it is commonly twice that number—sometimes more, and seldom less than forty.

Then, we had no Sabbath school; and could an organization have been effected, still we were in no situation to sustain one. Now, we have a valuable library and a school of more than thirty pupils in operation. It is quite permanently established, and I think may be termed prosperous.

Then, and for a number of months since, we had not even an apology for a temperance society. The whiskey influence was strong and almost all-pervading. It was sustained by nearly all the wealth and respectability of the community here and in the vicinity around; and the vice of intemperance seemed progressing towards an alarming issue. There were some friends of the cause of temperance, but they knew not what to do. It seemed to all, that to make a public effort would only subject the cause to public ridicule and contempt, while the measure would result in no good. It was, therefore, thought advisable to delay, and watch a favorable occasion in which to strike a blow against the evil. That occasion came. It was a drunken street and bar-room fight. The public then saw that something should be done. A temperance society was formed, and we now have to the pledge some fifty names or more; among these names are a number of young men who were inveterate drunkards. We indulge the hope that by wise and vigilant exertions, the order thus brought suddenly out of confusion will be permanent, and the temperance reformation go forward from the time of its recent commencement.

Our weekly prayer meeting is tolerably well sustained, and there seems to be a good degree of vital and growing piety in the church. I think I can say with propriety, that religion is looked upon in a more favorable light than formerly; that the church has acquired a standing of respectability and influence which should encourage the friends of Zion. But, on the other hand, a dark picture might be drawn concerning Sabbath desecration, profanity, and many vices which abound. If God in his providence, and through the agency of the American Home Missionary Society, has begun a good work, we feel that He alone is able to perfect it."

Who can read this, and not feel that the placing of an able and energetic ministry in the place referred to, is already, in effect, the salvation of the community. Much hard work must yet be done; but a fortress has been stormed and carried, and what remains is only a vigorous occupation of the ground that has been won. Alas, how many other places there are, where nothing as yet has been attempted!

The First Sermon Compared with the Last.

Five years of my life in the ministry are now ended. Five years ago, last Sabbath, I preached my first sermon in the West. It was in the court house of this place. I cannot describe my emotions as experienced on that occasion. There were present only a little handful, all strangers to me and almost to each other, for they had come from three different countries of the old world, and from several different states of the Union. How to preach to a Western congregation I knew not. The elder said I must not use notes, and hence I kept my well written sermons in my pocket, and preached and "lined off" the hymns as well as I could. And as Providence would have it, the people were pleased, and by the grace of God, I continue to this day. Would that I could review all the precious Sabbaths of these years; but suffer me to contrast only the last with that cold day. We were called to our own comfortable house of worship by a Massachusetts Sabbath bell. Whole families came. Only four or five individuals who heard me preach my first sermon were present; but in their places there were a good congregation of both young and old. There was something to animate the preacher, and as I alluded to changes which God during these years had wrought, others seemed to feel as I felt, and blessed God, exclaiming, "Thus far, the Lord hath led us on."

At 2 o'clock, my Sabbath school assembled, which has been sustained both summer and winter, for nearly five years. Every one can mark the progress of these children. Amid all my personal and public trials, I have ever regarded this school a bright spot. With these dear youth I and my companion have spent many a happy hour. In the evening, called by the same Sabbath bell, we assembled again for public worship and thus ended the Sabbath.

In review of the past, I think that I can safely say, that we have made a successful beginning. The regular preaching of the Gospel has effected much. Besides acting as a restraint, it has a refining, elevating influence, and the community feel that we are a permanent society; and many who once had no respect for the institutions of religion, are seen in the sanctuary, and give to the support of the Gospel.

As Poor, yet Making many Rich.

Society in these new settlements, like the troubled waters, cannot be quickly quieted, and harmoniously arranged unless they hear the voice of God. Oh! that the Holy Spirit would brood over the chaotic mass, and bring forth harmony, love, holiness.

By laboring night and day, and depriving myself and family of many of the necessary comforts of life, I have succeeded in getting a small house so far along, that my family will be rather comfortably situated this winter; so that I hope my bread taken warm from the oven in the evening will not be frozen to the center in the morning, as it was last winter. Thanks to our heavenly Father, that now after we retire to rest, we can remain quietly, without rising to see that every member, and each limb of every member is perfectly covered, that it might not be frozen before morning. Such has not always been our happy lot. But we are less than the least of God's mercies, and his hand has always been over us for good. O that we may be enabled to glorify him in our bodies and our spirits which are his! We feel that, above all things, we need more of the mind, the spirit of Christ. In all your giving, dear brethren, give us your prayers, that we may be humble, fervent, and do all things for the glory of God—that we may live and labor for this, and for no other purpose.

AMERICAN
PRESENTED BY THE
AT THE
ANNIVERSARY MEETING, MAY 7, 1851.
APPENDIX.

NEW YORK:
J. F. TROW, PRINTER, 49 ANN-STREET.

TWENTY FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY held its Twenty Fifth Anniversary in the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, on Wednesday evening, May 7th, 1851.

HENRY DWIGHT, Esq., President of the Society, took the chair, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. ABSALOM PETERS, D. D., of Williamstown, Mass.

An Abstract of the Treasurer's Report was read by JASPER CORNING, Treasurer.

An Abstract of the Annual Report of the Executive Committee was presented by Rev. MILTON BADGER, D. D., one of the Secretaries.

On motion of Rev. I. P. LANGWORTHY, of Chelsea, Mass., seconded by Gen. WILLIAM WILLIAMS, of Norwich, Ct.,

Resolved, That the Reports now presented, be adopted and published under the direction of the Executive Committee.

On motion of Rev. J. B. SHAW, of Rochester, N. Y., seconded by Rev. ASA D. SMITH, D. D., of New York,

Resolved, That our Home Missionaries, possessing as they do the true martyr spirit, are doing a great work for the church and the country, and on that account are entitled to the sympathy and gratitude, the prayers and the co-operation of every patriot and Christian.

On motion of Hon. JAMES MEACHAM, of Middlebury, Vermont, seconded by Rev. BENJAMIN W. CHIDLAW, of Cincinnati, O.,

Resolved, That the friends of Home Missions should see that the Gospel ministry keep pace with the settlements in our new Territories.

Able and eloquent addresses were made by the gentlemen who severally moved the foregoing resolutions, which were listened to with fixed and unwearied attention by a deeply interested auditory. The exercises were diversified and the impression of the occasion rendered the more delightful, by the singing of two Home Missionary Hymns by the whole congregation, led by LUCIUS HART, Esq., of New York.

The Benediction was pronounced by Rev. SAMUEL H. COX, D. D., of Brooklyn, N. Y.

CONSTITUTION
AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ART. 1. This Society shall be denominated THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ART. 2. The object of this Society shall be, to assist congregations that are unable to support the Gospel ministry, and to send the Gospel to the destitute, within the United States; also to co-operate with evangelical Christians in the support of Home Missions in nominally christian countries, to such an extent as the funds of the Institution may justify.

ART. 3. The officers of the Society shall be a President, Vice Presidents, a Treasurer, an Auditor, one or more Secretaries for Correspondence, a Recording Secretary, and fifty Directors, who shall be annually appointed by the Society; and who, together with the Directors for life, shall constitute a Board, seven of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened.

ART. 4. The Officers and Directors shall appoint an Executive Committee of fourteen, (including the Treasurer, the Secretaries for Correspondence, and the Recording Secretary,) residing in the City of New York and its vicinity; five of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened. The Committee shall have power to appoint its own meetings, form its own rules of business, and fill any vacancies in its own number which may occur during the year, and to convene special meetings of the Board or Society; shall appoint missionaries and instruct them as to the field and manner of their labors; shall have the disposal of the funds; shall create such agency or agencies for appointing missionaries, and for other purposes, as the interests of the Institution may require ; and shall make an Annual Report of their proceedings to the Society.

ART. 5. The Treasurer shall give bonds, annually, to such amount as the Executive Committee shall think proper.

ART. 6. Any person may become a member of this Society, by contributing annually to its funds ; thirty dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Member for life ; and one hundred dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Director for life ; and any person on the payment of a sum, which, in addition to any previous contribution to the funds, shall amount to one hundred dollars, shall be a Director for life. An executor, on paying a legacy of two hundred and fifty dollars to the funds of this Society, shall be a Member for life ; and the payment of a legacy of one thousand dollars shall constitute a Director for life.

ART. 7. ART. 11. No alteration shall be made in this Constitution without a vote of two thirds of the members present at an annual meeting ; nor unless the same shall have been proposed at a previous annual meeting, or recommended by the Executive Committee.

TWENTY FIFTH REPORT.

THE changes which death makes in a quarter of a century, or even in a single year, in the ranks of those associated in benevolent action, are fitted to impress us with the deepest solemnity, as we come together to celebrate the TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY of the American Home Missionary Society, and to inspire us with a holier purpose to do with our might whatsoever our hands find to do.

More than one-third of those who participated in the organization of this Society have, since that date, ceased from their labors, and entered upon their recompense of reward. Among them, are the names of RICHARDS, and HILLYER, and PORTER, and WISNER, and BRUEN, and BALDWIN, and KEESE, and NITCHIE, and many others, venerable, philanthropic and devoted men; they were burning and shining lights; they scattered blessings around them; and their example shall long inspire others with zeal and self-consecration in the missionary work.

The last year has taken from us, also, the Rev. CALVIN CHAPIN, D. D., and the Rev. DAVID PORTER, D. D., both of them the early and efficient counsellors, advocates and patrons of Home Missions, and Vice Presidents of the Society from its organization; the Rev. HENRY WHITE, D. D., one of its Directors, and for four years a member of its Executive Committee; KNOWLES TAYLOR, Esq., for thirteen years its Treasurer, sustaining it in times of need and peril with a most praiseworthy liberality; and Rev. WASHINGTON THACHER, the faithful and self-sacrificing Agent of the Society in Central New-York.

Ten missionaries of the Society have also been called, during the year, from bearing the burden and heat of the day to receive, we trust, the recompense of those who turn many unto righteousness.

We would humbly and devoutly recognize the goodness and mercy of God in sparing our lives, and blessing the labors of our hands, and permitting us to record so much that is grateful and encouraging to the Christian heart, in the progress of the missionary work another year.

The various operations of the Society are noticed in the body of the report, under their appropriate heads and in connection with their respective localities; such details as can be presented in a compact form, are embraced in the following

GENERAL TABLE,

Showing, in parallel columns,

1. An alphabetical list of Missionaries.
2. The names of congregations and missionary districts aided.
3. Dates of commissions, or time of commencing labor.
4. Length of commissions in months.
5. Amount of aid pledged, for the time named in the preceding column. Where $400 is pledged to those who go West to be located under the direction of the Society, the pledge includes what will be raised by their people, during the year, for their support. In other cases, the amount pledged is paid by the Society, on fulfilment of the stipulations of the commission.
6. Months of labor performed, since the last report.
7. Number of hopeful conversions.
8. Additions to the churches on examination.
9. Additions to the churches by letter.
10. Number of Sabbath-school and Bible-class pupils.
11. Amount of contributions to benevolent objects.
12. Other particulars.

SUMMARY OF RESULTS.

The number of ministers of the Gospel, whose names are found in the preceding table—together with those engaged in superintending the missionary work, and who are mentioned in connection with the respective Auxiliaries and Agencies of the Society—is 1,065.

Of these, 854 were in commission at the date of the last Report; and 211 have been since appointed.

They have been distributed in 26 different States and Territories, as follows: in Maine, 91; New Hampshire, 46; Vermont, 61; Massachusetts, 61; Rhode Island, 7; Connecticut, 45; New York, 170; New Jersey, 11; Pennsylvania, 42; Delaware, 1; Maryland, 2; District of Columbia, 1; Virginia, 11; Georgia, 1; Tennessee, 6; Kentucky, 6; Ohio, 93; Indiana, 59; Illinois, 119; Michigan, 80; Missouri, 29; Wisconsin, 72; Iowa, 41; Minnesota, 4; Oregon, 2; California, 4.

This distribution gives to the New England States, 311; the Middle States, 224; the Southern States, 15; and the Western States and Territories, 515.

Of the whole number in commission, 640 have been the pastors or stated supplies of single congregations; 285 have ministered to two or three congregations each; and 140 have extended their labors over still wider fields—the destitutions of a county, or of several contiguous counties, or those within the limits of an ecclesiastical body.

The aggregate of ministerial labor performed is equal to 853 years.

The number of congregations and missionary districts supplied, in whole or in part, at stated intervals, is 1,820; while many others have enjoyed the occasional labors of the missionaries.

Four missionaries have been the pastors or stated supplies of churches of colored people; and 41 have preached in foreign languages—ten to Welsh, and 29 to German congregations, and two to congregations of Norwegians and Swedes.

The number of pupils in the Sabbath schools and Bible classes connected with the missionary churches is not far from 70,000. Many missionaries in the new settlements organize Sabbath schools at various points in their neighborhoods, supply them with teachers from their congregations, procure for them libraries, make the places of their meeting occasional preaching stations, and have the happiness to see one and another of them becoming the nucleus of an interesting and permanent congregation.

The contributions to benevolent objects reported by 577 missionaries, amount to $21,513 04.

The additions to the churches, as nearly as can be ascertained, amount to 6,678; viz.: 3,855 on profession of their faith; and 2,823 by letters from other churches.

The churches have not been visited with the special influences of the Holy Spirit so generally as in some former years; yet on portions of the field—in Iowa, Northern Illinois, Wisconsin, and some parts of Ohio, especially—there have been revivals of marked interest and power, resulting, in individual instances, in 50, 70 and 100 hopeful conversions. Seventy seven missionaries make mention in their reports of revivals of religion in their congregations; and the number of hopeful conversions reported by 336 missionaries, is 3,096.

Forty three churches have, during the year, passed from a state of dependence to that of self-support. Sixty houses of worship have been completed; fifty five others repaired; and forty others are in the process of erection. Church debts have been paid; parsonages have been built; schools and academies have been established; and 80 young men in connection with the missionary churches, are reported as in preparation for the Gospel ministry. Such evidences of general improvement, of extensive and permanent good, resulting from these outlays of christian charity, have never been more numerous or striking than we find them in the history of the past-year.

During the quarter of a century, since the organization of this Society, the Gospel has been preached by its missionaries at not less than three thousand five hundred stations; and not far from 800 churches, which had been gathered or nurtured through its instrumentality, have passed from the list of beneficiaries and are now supporting their own Gospel institutions; and not a few of these are among the strongest and most influential churches in the land. They are to be found in the chief places of social and commercial power—on the line of our canals and lakes and rivers—along all our great thoroughfares of commerce and trade—at almost every gateway into the distant interior.

There these churches stand—on which a few hundreds of dollars only of missionary funds have ever been expended—and there they will stand, many of them, we may hope, till the end of time, scattering far and wide around them the blessings of the Gospel. The planting of one such church—God's own institution—is a great event; the covering of a territory with them diffuses over it an influence which will educate and evangelize and save. Intelligence, good morals, order and social enjoyment will be there; and there too will be the Sabbath school, and the distribution of the Bible and the religious Tract, and the Temperance association, and the Common school and the High school and the College, and the charitable and the humane institution, the sanctification of the Sabbath, the spirit of missions, the visitations of the Holy Ghost—all that refines and ennobles man and fits him for the varied duties of his earthly relations, and for a higher life above.

What a work, then, is that which this Society has accomplished, within the last twenty five years, in planting CHURCHES in this land at so many points of commanding influence, and in giving them the ministry of reconciliation !

APPOINTMENT OF AN ADDITIONAL SECRETARY.

The necessity for additional service in the Secretary's department has been deeply felt by the Committee for several years, as the operations of the Society have been extended, and the cares and labors devolved upon its principal officers proportionally increased. From 1840 to 1850, the receipts of the Society were more than doubled, and the number of missionaries in the Western States and Territories alone, who corresponded individually and directly with the office of the Society, was increased more than threefold. Within the last few years, too, the Home Missionary field has been greatly expanded, its frontiers removed to the Pacific, and a missionary work is there to be prosecuted, of no less interest and importance than that in the Mississippi Valley, and attended with much greater difficulties.

To meet this increase of labor—these urgent demands upon the efficiency of the Society, to exercise the needed watchfulness over a field so extended, and to communicate, by correspondence, through the press, and by personal visitation and address with the churches and the patrons of the cause as its interests demanded, the Society, at its last annual meeting, judged it to be indispensable that another Secretary for Correspondence should be added to the number then chosen, and referred the subject to the Executive Committee with power to make the appointment.

In executing their trust, the Committee appointed to the office, in December last, Rev. DAVID B. COE, of this city, who entered upon his duties as Secretary, January 1, 1851; as the patrons of the Society have already been informed through its monthly periodical.

THE TREASURY.

Resources.—The balance in the treasury, April 1st, 1850, was $15,553 69. The receipts of the succeeding twelve months have been, $150,940 25; making the resources of the year, $166,493 94.

Liabilities.—There was due to missionaries, at the date of the last report, $11,935 77. There has since become due, $151,515 41, making the total of liabilities, $163,451 18.

Payments.—Of this sum, $153,817 90 have been paid. The remainder—$9,633 38—is still due to missionaries for labor performed. Towards liquidating these claims and redeeming the additional pledges on commissions which have not yet expired, making in all, $64,906 49, there is a balance in the treasury of $12,676 04—the greater part of which was received near the close of the year, and is available only as a means of cancelling the present indebtedness of the Society to its missionaries.

PROGRESS.

A comparison of the foregoing summary with those of preceding years, exhibits grateful evidence of the progress of this Institution in the work which God has given us to do. Thirty three more missionaries have been in commission than ever before in a single year, and this increase has been mainly on our frontier line—in our Western States and Territories; forty one more years of ministerial labor have been performed; and two hundred and forty five more congregations have been blessed with the preaching of the Gospel. In comparison with the preceeding year, the expenditures have been $8,361 81 greater; the receipts from legacies have been $7,629 71 less—making the total of receipts less by $6,220 53; while the receipts from the churches—the regular channels of contribution—exceed those of the year previous by $1,409 08; and the total of receipts exceeds those of any former year—with the exception of that immediately preceding, when the amount of legacies was unusually large—by $5,014 34.

The progress of the Society during the twenty five years of its history, in its resources, in the expansion of its field, and in the results which it has been permitted to record, is exhibited in a statistical form in the tables which are subjoined.

COMPARATIVE RESULTS.

The following table gives a comparative view of the amount of receipts, expenditures, number of missionaries, new appointments, congregations and missionary districts, years of labor performed, additions to the churches and pupils in Sabbath schools, for each year since the organization of the Society.

It also exhibits, in the tenth column, the average expenditure, each year, for a year of missionary labor, obtained by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of the year by the number of years of labor performed. And in the eleventh column, by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of each year by the number of missionaries employed, is shown what the average to a missionary would be if the expenditures were equally apportioned among them.

Remarks.—1. From the foregoing table it will be seen that in in each of the ten years, from 1830 to 1840, and from 1840 to 1850, the receipts have been more than doubled.

2. The total of receipts, for the twenty five years, is $2,205,358 16.

3. The total of years of labor is 13,096. These years are reckoned in each report, by adding together the months of labor which the missionaries have actually performed.

4. The average expenditure for a year of missionary labor, for the twenty five years, is $167. This includes the entire cost to the Society of obtaining the missionary, defraying his expenses to his field and sustaining him on it, as well as all the expenses of conducting the Institution. In what other way can christian charity be rendered more productive? The missionary preaches the gospel, and souls are gathered into the kingdom; the sanctuary is erected, the Sabbath school is formed; and when the year is past and the days of the years of the missionary all are ended, the church remains, throwing open its portals to the fathers and the children and the children's children; its restraining, harmonizing influence blesses the community that dwell around it, and its plans of beneficence, its heavenly charities reach the needy and the perishing over the land, and in the ends of the earth. How widespread the influence, how lasting the results!

5. The average expenditure to a missionary, for the twenty five years is $122. The difference between this amount and the average for a year's labor, is occasioned by the fact that a missionary is named and counted in a report, though in some cases he may have labored but a fraction of the year.

6. The whole number of additions to the churches is 107,781.

7. The fifth column—that of new appointments—shows how many have to be called in, each year, to supply the places of those whose support is assumed by the people, the vacancies occasioned by death, sickness, removals and other changes, and to make the increase over the number of the preceding year.

DISTRIBUTION OF MISSIONARIES, No. 1.

The following table gives the number of missionaries employed, each year of the Society's operations, in the Geographical Divisions of Eastern, Middle, Southern, and Western States; and also in Canada.

* Of these, 24 labored in France and Switzerland, under the direction of the Evangelical Societies of Paris and Geneva.

REMARKS.—1. In explanation of the comparatively large number of missionaries in the Middle States and the increasing number in the New England States for several of the earlier years, it should be remarked that, at the organization of this Society in 1826, the missionaries of the United Domestic Missionary Society, whose responsibilities it assumed, were transferred to it, and that the greater portion of them were in commission in the State of New York. The New England State Societies, also, became integral parts of the National Society, in several successive years—the Maine Missionary Society and the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society, in the third year of its operations; the New Hampshire Missionary Society, in the fourth year; the Connecticut Missionary Society, in the fifth year; and the Massachusetts Missionary Society, in the seventh year.

2. In the New England States, it will be observed, there has been but little increase of the number of missionaries, at any time, since the auxiliary relationship of the State Societies was completed. Since 1837, the number has diminished, and is, this year, 20 less than at that date. In the Middle States, also, the number the present year is three less than in 1837.

3. The increase of the Society's labors, the last seventeen years, has been mainly in our Western States and Territories. The last ten years, the increase alone in that portion of our country has given it 346 additional missionaries.

4. In 1845, the missions of this Society in Canada were, by an amicable arrangement with the British Colonial Missionary Society, transferred to the care of that Institution.

5. In the table on the next page, will be seen the progress which has been made, year by year, in the newer States of the West, as they have severally come into being, and presented fields of peculiar promise for missionary culture. In 1824, there was but one Presbyterian minister permanently located in Illinois, and he had recently been sent out by the Connecticut Missionary Society. Michigan, in 1825, had but one Presbyterian or Congregational minister, and he was a missionary. Wisconsin, when our first missionary sailed up lake Michigan, was one vast garden of nature, over which roamed the wild red man and the scarce wilder prey that he followed in the chase; at the mines and the military posts, there were a few white inhabitants; at Milwaukie, where is now a population of more than 20,000, there was but a single white man. Iowa was not organized as a territory till 1838; the points of the compass were here, at that time, the missionary's chief guides in travel, and his encampment at night, not unfrequently, in the unbroken forest. The bark houses of the Indians were then standing, as if left only for the summer's hunt, and the stalks from which they gathered their roasting ears and made their samp were still to be seen around their lonely habitations. Oregon was reached by our first missionary there in the summer of 1848, after a voyage of many months by the way of the Sandwich Islands. Our first missionaries to California sailed from New York, in December 1848. Our first missionary to Minnesota commenced his labors at St. Paul in July, 1849.

6. It should be borne in mind, that the number of missionaries in these newer States and Territories, as well as those that have been longer cultivated, gives but an imperfect idea of the ground that has been occupied by missionary enterprise. Churches, every year, become independent, and others are taken up in their stead. Such churches adorn the land and bless its population, in our most flourishing villages, from the remotest settlements on the Atlantic to the shores of the Pacific.

PRINCIPAL AUXILIARIES, AGENCIES AND

MAINE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The receipts of this Society, for the year ending March 1st, were $11,116 57, which, with a balance of $163 44 in its treasury at the beginning of the year, makes a total of $11,280 01, which has been at the disposal of the Society. Of this sum, $11,247 23 have been expended in supplying destitute churches and missionary districts within the State. There have been received into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society, from individuals and congregations, $80, making the total contributions to the cause from the State, during the year, $11,327 23.

Ninety one missionaries have been in commission in the State, of whom forty five were pastors, and twenty three stated supplies. Their labor—amounting in all to neary 67 years—has been bestowed upon 84 missionary fields, comprising 105 churches and more than 25 towns and plantations where no Congregational churches exist. Several of the missionaries have been engaged in itinerant service in the destitute and sparsely populated portions of the State.

The aggregate membership of missionary churches, at the date of the last annual report of the Trustees, was 4,413, of whom 318 had been added during the year. The whole number of hopeful conversions reported was 239, a larger number than in any former year since 1843. In addition to these trophies of renewing grace, many incidental results of missionary labor are manifest. The cause of Temperance has advanced, Sabbath schools are generally in a prosperous condition, the Sabbath is better observed, order, decorum and correct sentiments on moral subjects are gaining ground.

This Society has been in operation forty four years, and has accomplished a great work in the destitute portions of the State. Forty three churches, once aided by its funds, have within 25 years—three of them within the last year—assumed the entire support of the ministry, and are now contributing to send the Gospel to “the regions beyond.” But a great work remains to be done. The Secretary, Rev. BENJAMIN TAPPAN, D. D., says, “of our 225 Congregational churches, not one half can be relied upon to support, unaided, the institutions of religion. Add to the 365 incorporated towns of the State, those plantations in which a sufficient number of families reside to demand stated preaching, and in more than one half of the whole number no Congregational churches have been organized. And thus destitute will they continue to be, until the Gospel is sent to them by those who know its value and can sympathize with him who, beholding the multitudes in his native land that were scattered abroad as sheep having no shepherd, had compassion on them, and directed his disciples to pray the Lord of the harvest that he would send forth laborers into his harvest—a harvest to be gathered for Him. Upon the Congregationalists of Maine devolves the duty, the privilege of doing their part towards gathering the harvest within their own commonwealth. Here he has much people to be instructed, converted, sanctified, saved. Let not the good work linger."

NEW HAMPSHIRE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Forty six missionaries have been in the service of this Society during the year, and have performed nearly thirty seven years of labor, in forty eight churches and congregations. Since the organization of this Society, fifty years ago, forty churches have become independent of missionary aid, thirty seven of them within twenty five years, and two of them within the last year.

The receipts for the year have been, $6,558 10, of which $883 91, by direction of the donors, and $1,000 by vote of the Trustees, have been paid into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society; leaving for the use of the Auxiliary $4,674 19. The expenditures on the field have been $4,338 53. There have been received into the treasury of the Parent Society, from congregations and individuals and in payment of legacies, $1,888 43, making the total receipts into the treasury of the National Society $3,772 34, and the whole amount of contributions to the cause of Home Missions, $8,446 53. This is an advance upon the contributions of the previous year of $1,875 45.

The past year has not been signalized by powerful revivals, yet upon several of the churches the dews of the Spirit have fallen, and some precious fruits have been gathered. A commendable spirit of liberality has been exhibited in the missionary churches, the average of their contributions to charitable purposes being equal to the general average for the whole State.

The Secretary of the Society, REV. BENJAMIN P. STONE, after presenting the "lights and shades" of the missionary work in this State, concludes as follows: "In view of the spiritual benefit conferred on both saints and sinners by the everlasting Gospel, we learn what has been and still is the glorious mission of this Society. It has been one of holy commiseration to the needy. Every joyful subject of its favors will be an eternal witness before God of its necessity and profitableness as the instrument of enlarging his kingdom on earth.

"Standing as we do this day in the midst of the monuments of Home Missionary agency, within sight of the desolations of many generations, and hearing even the voice of supplication for the bread of life from thronging millions of our land, to what other conclusion can we come than that we are called to a still greater measure of devotion to the salvation of our State and country? With the conviction always abiding, that the light of our good works cannot be ephemeral, but will continue to shine, though upon other standards, long after we have ceased from the living, we cannot but rejoice in the glorious opportunity now afforded us of contributing something to render the destiny of our country a blessing to all mankind."

VERMONT DOMESTIC MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The receipts of this Society for the year have been $7,004 80, of which $6,155 45 have been expended within the limits of the State. There have also been received into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society from individuals and congregations $358 20, and in payment of legacies $850, making the whole amount of contributions from the State $8,213, which exceeds the contributions of any previous year by more than $2,000.

The number of missionaries commissioned on this field is sixty one, the aggregate of whose ministerial labors is forty nine years. They have ministered in sixty five churches, and four missionary districts where churches have not been organized. Several of the congregations have been visited by the special influences of the Spirit of God, and from many fields in which there has been no revival, facts are reported indicative of a steady and general progress. The morals of the community have improved; the Sabbath is better observed; there is an increasing attendance upon public worship, and more serious attention is given to the preached word; and much seed has been sown, the harvest of which is yet to be gathered.

Thirty churches in this State that have been aided during the last twenty five years, have assumed the entire support of the ministry. A few of these are still feeble, and may, in consequence of emigration and other changes, become again beneficiaries of the Society. But most of them are stable and efficient churches, the precious fruit of missionary toil in other days, and liberal contributions to the cause to which they owe their existence. And in the case of the few which have become, or which may become dependent a second time, the missionary culture bestowed upon them has not been in vain. Not only has God gathered from them much fruit for his heavenly garner, but, says the Secretary, REV. JOHN F. STONE, "they are nurseries in which trees of righteousness are being reared to be transferred to other ground where their fruits shall abound to the glory of God, and the salvation of many. From some churches a number greater than the present number of resident members have gone to the West, and to other parts, where they are helping to build up the church and sustain the Gospel. The fountains must be purified in order that the streams may be pure. How then can the friends of Christ in Vermont so effectually subserve his cause at large, as by bringing the Gospel to bear upon her own population?"

MASSACHUSETTS HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

This Society has had in commission, during the year, sixty one missionaries, who have performed forty nine years of ministerial service. The number of churches assisted is fifty two, of which five have, within the year, taken their leave of the Society as beneficiaries, and will be found henceforth only in the list of donors. Four others have been received, so that the number of churches aided is one less than was reported the last year,

The receipts of the Society for the year have been $27,880 74, of which $7,421 75 have been expended within the State, and $19,000 remitted to the Parent Society. There have also been paid into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society the following sums, viz.: from the Hampshire Missionary Society, $1,963 06; from individuals, congregations and auxiliaries, $2,735 47; and in payment of legacies, $2,542 75; making a total of contributions to the cause of Home Missions from the State, of $34,122 02, of which $26,241 28 were appropriated to the supply of spiritual destitutions in the West.

Of the 175 existing churches which have shared the fostering care of this Society, 121 have risen to the stature of self-support—117 of them within the last 25 years. Many of these churches are now among the most liberal and efficient supporters of the Society. Of the churches now receiving aid, six are reported as having made their last application.

The last report of the Executive Committee, prepared by the Secretary, Rev. JOSEPH S. CLARK, states that, "in addition to the five discharged churches already named, whose last appropriations amounted to $450, eleven others have assumed an increased proportion of their ministers' support, and by so doing have manifestly increased their power of self-reliance. A still more hopeful indication is seen in the fact that, while nine new churches of our faith and order have sprung into life the past year within the bounds of Massachusetts, and are all supplied with the means of grace, only one of the nine is dependent on missionary aid.

"The Executive Committee have long looked forward to the time when the old Puritan State of Massachusetts will have so far regained her primitive character, as to prevent no moral waste within her borders—no house or village unsupplied with the institutions of evangelical religion; a time when God shall 'restore her judges as at the first, and her counsellors as at the beginning,' and all her population 'shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig-tree,' in the quiet enjoyment of religious ordinances upheld without missionary aid. The patrons of this Society have been encouraged to expect such a time as the result of their prayers and alms. Nor can we deem it an idle expectation, when we survey the wide wastes that have been already reclaimed. The places now occupied by two fifths of the Evangelical Congregational churches in Massachusetts—many of them among the largest and most influential—have been so many fields of hard, but successful missionary toil. The 'templed hills' which, in these several places, are trodden by the feet of devout worshippers every Lord's day, testify that this is not an idle expectation."

RHODE ISLAND HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

This Society has had in its service, during the year, seven missionaries, who have labored in connection with six churches. For their support $625 have been contributed within the State, and an appropriation of $1,000 has been received from the Connecticut Missionary Society. Contributions to the amount of $591, from individuals and congregations in the State, have been received into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society.

The Secretary, REV. THOMAS T. WATERMAN, states that "a debt of nearly $400, incurred two years ago, has been extinguished, and that the missionaries have been laboring under various discouragements, but with great self-denial and with the ordinary measure of success. The manufacturing districts of the State suffer by the depression of business, and the removal of individuals and families; still the field of labor and usefulness is important, and must not be relinquished at a single point. We cannot afford to have our population without an evangelical ministry."

CONNECTICUT MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The receipts of this auxiliary for the year ending March 1st, were $7,664 43, of which $4,518 08 have been expended within the limits of the State. An appropriation of $1,000 has been made to the Rhode Island Home Missionary Society, and $1,200 have been transmitted to the Parent Institution. The receipts into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society from individuals, congregations and auxiliaries, have been $12,253 93, and in payment of legacies $2,680 26, making the total amount of contributions to Home Missions in the State, $22,598 62. Of this sum, $16,134 19 have been applied through the Parent Society to supply the destitutions on the Western field.

Forty five missionaries have been in commission in the State during the year. One church has assumed the entire support of its pastor, and two others are understood to have made their last application for aid. Since the organization of this Society in 1816, seventy of the existing churches of Connecticut have been aided by its funds—twenty seven of which have within twenty five years become independent of foreign aid. Twenty three of these churches, the statistics of which have been furnished, received from the Society \$14,419. The average period during which these churches received aid, is nearly $7\frac{1}{2}$ years, and the average annual appropriation to a church \$84 32, or \$627 for rearing up an infant church of Christ to the stature of self-support.

Most of the churches now aided are in a condition of healthful growth, and will ere long become more than able to sustain themselves. But causes are in operation which must not only perpetuate the feebleness of others, but may bring some that are now vigorous upon the list of beneficiaries. While, therefore, this auxiliary is contributing liberally to supply the destitutions of the new settlements, it has still a great work to do on its own field. Says the Secretary, Rev. HORACE HOOKER, "The two main obstacles we have now to meet are, the fluctuations in manufacturing interests, and the drain on old worn-out towns, to build up new villages in this State, and to people the great West." These are serious difficulties, and they will long continue. To say nothing of fluctuations in manufactures—which deeply affect no inconsiderable portion of the feeble churches on our list—there will be new centres of business constantly springing up, both for manufacturing purposes, and along the line of railroads. These are now checkering over our little State in every direction, and gathering the population around centres often far distant from the rising ground so commonly chosen in former times for the erection of churches. Taste may choose the well-rounded hills, but Expediency, who now rules the day, chooses the valleys. Says a missionary of our Society: "It is not more certain that our living springs, gushing from our mountain sides, will send their contributions to drive the machinery in the lower towns, than it is that our youth will be in attendance to aid in the manufacture of the fabrics which are the staples of their wealth.

"But emigration is not the sole discouragement; immigration is often little better in its influence. The places of the youthful, energetic emigrants are often supplied, if supplied at all, by others of less industry and moral worth, who are drawn thither by the low rents and cheap lands, which are the necessary result of the removal of the former owners. These new-comers, too, are often of different religious sentiments from the old inhabitants, or indifferent to all religion. Our State is gradually becoming more heterogeneous, and in this respect more like the West. Unless the soil, which the rain and tempest thus sweep down into the valleys, and bear away into the Ocean, is replaced by Home Missionary operations, a few years would suffice to prostrate such congregations in hopeless ruin."

PHILADELPHIA HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The field occupied by this Society comprises the States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Maryland, and the District of Columbia. Within these limits there have been in commission the past year fifty seven missionaries; viz.: eleven in New Jersey; forty two in Pennsylvania; one in Delaware; two in Maryland; and one in the District of Columbia. Seven new missionary fields have been entered during the year, and six churches have undertaken the entire support of the ministry. More than forty churches, once aided by the Society, have risen to the condition of independence, and many of them have become liberal contributors to the cause of Home Missions.

The receipts of the Society for the year, have been $8,185 40; of which $7,747 08 have been expended within its own limits, and $100 paid into the treasury of the Parent Society. In addition to this there have been paid into the treasury of the American Home Missionary Society, from individuals and congregations, and in payment of legacies, $3,016 22, viz. : from New Jersey, $2,236 72; from Pennsylvania, $699; from Maryland, $0 50; from the District of Columbia, $80; making the whole amount expended through the American Home Missionary Society, $3,116 22, and the whole amount of contributions from this field $11,101 62, which is an advance upon the contributions reported the previous year of $631 80.

To the churches under the care of this Society, the past year appears to have been one of more than ordinary prosperity. The last report of the Executive Committee, prepared by the Secretary, Rev. ROBERT ADAIR, states, that "The special influences of the Holy Spirit have been enjoyed by several churches, and the members of the Sabbath schools have shared largely in this blessing. In places where these special visits of mercy have not been enjoyed, there are other decisive indications of progress. The means of divine appointment are better attended than formerly, and larger numbers wait upon God in the sanctuary. The inebriate has been reformed; the profane swearer has been brought to reverence the name of his Maker; the Sabbath breaker has been led to visit the place of prayer and religious instruction, and a great moral change has been effected. But much remains to be done in occupying new and important fields of missionary effort. The public improvements, the Central Railroad, and the New York and Erie Railroad, will give existence to many villages in the centre and north of the State, where, in a short time, there will be a thriving, enterprising population. To these points our eyes must now be directed. We must not wait till the population is gathered. We must act with promptness and energy in taking possession of these places, and lay the corner-stone of christian institutions there, before infidelity or superstition gains the ascendancy."

CENTRAL AGENCY, NEW YORK.

This division of our field has been again bereaved, and our work retarded, by the hand of death. The Secretary and Agent, Rev. WASHINGTON THACHER, rested from his service on earth on the 29th July last. His health had been declining for many months; but his fervent desire to be employed in promoting the kingdom of his Lord and Master led him to continue his personal efforts, after it became apparent to others that he must speedily exchange this scene of toil for one of heavenly triumph. His associates in the Agency testify of him, that "he enjoyed not only the love of his brethren, as an humble and devoted laborer in the spiritual vineyard, but also their confidence in his ability to guide and direct in the progress of the cause of Christ." He filled his last post of responsibility and labor for three years, having been appointed to it in July, 1847. His piety, prudence and zeal were displayed in this position in labors which were limited only by his strength. "He descended to the grave with his armor on, and his last anxiety and prayers were for the progress of Home Missions."

In August, the Rev. RICHARD F. CLEVELAND, of Fayetteville, N. Y., was, at the suggestion of the Central Agency, called to this work; and for the remainder of the missionary year, has labored with great diligence and success in re-arranging and prosecuting the plans which had been broken off by the death of his predecessor.

Notwithstanding this interruption, the total receipts of the Agency amounted to $3,918 32, being only $340 less than the income of the year preceding. In addition, $2,044 32 were remitted from this field directly to the office in New York; making an aggregate of $5,962 64 from the territory of the Agency.

Forty five ministers of the Gospel have been commissioned through this Board, and have labored in more than fifty feeble churches and vacant districts. The average cost of this labor, including the incidental expenses of the Agency, has been about eighty eight dollars for each missionary; an amount scarcely worthy to be named in comparison with the results secured. Six of the churches assisted have, during the past year, ceased to be beneficiaries, and others have made advances toward the point of self-support. Houses of worship built or repaired, churches organized or resuscitated, divisions healed, debts paid, and numerous other solid benefits acquired, and—more and better than all—the reviving influences of the Holy Spirit, bear testimony to the continued approbation of Heaven, and abundantly compensate for the money and labors expended."

Of the 200 feeble churches on this field, which in former years have received missionary help, 42 are no longer dependent.

Some persons, not apprised of the peculiar relations of this section of the State, have found it difficult to understand why a region so rich in physical resources should furnish so many examples of protracted dependence. This is well accounted for by the Secretary in his Report. "The ground occupied by this Agency has been for years past, and may be for years to come, a half-way house for emigrants from the East—a seed plot, a recruiting post—furnishing the constituents of future society in the West." In support of this statement, one example, from many of a similar bearing, is presented. One church, since its organization, has furnished not far from a hundred members for churches at the West; and from the community a still greater number, whose characters had been formed under its influence. Six young men from that church have entered the ministry, four of whom are now laboring at the West. A church, in another part of the same town, has dismissed since its organization about thirty members on their removal to the West. Probably more than twice that number have gone in the same direction from the community associated with that church. Five young men converted under its influence have entered the ministry ; and three of these also are fulfilling their mission in the Great Valley. Within two years, a single family of that church has contributed four of its members, hopefully pious and educated, as teachers at the West. It is in this way that this church repays to the cause of christian evangelization the eight hundred dollars assistance which it has in time past received ; and it is in this way, also, that the protracted debility of congregations on this field is explained.

Besides these considerations, a new feature of this field is revealing itself, and accounts for the continued need of missionary aid. A large portion of the territory of this Agency, comprising most of St. Lawrence, Franklin, Hamilton, Clinton, and Warren counties, "has remained in nearly primitive seclusion, while emigration from the East has passed by and around it. It exhibits few of the attractions which draw agricultural adventurers towards the fertile prairies of the West. Yet its rocks and streams, its forests and minerals, furnish the material and the productive agencies of a commerce without which no branch of industry can permanently prosper. Attention has of late been drawn to this tract from various quarters and for various reasons ; and already have important and promising stations for missionary effort been suggested for the consideration of the Board. Civilization is urging its way into the wild and picturesque regions from which issue the St. Regis, the Racket, the Grass, and the Oswegatchie." Immense resources in lumber and iron, which have been but partially developed, and water-power in inexhaustible abundance, are attracting the energies of a large population. Schools and academies, rising at the same time with forges and manufactories, give promise that intelligence and order will advance by the side of enterprise, economy, and thrift. Here, then, where the missionary call has hitherto been scarcely heard, a field of effort and promise is opening, whose claims are likely to be as interesting as they are urgent.

WESTERN AGENCY, NEW YORK.

Seventy two missionaries and eighty three churches, on the field of this Board, have sustained the relation of beneficiaries the past year. Five of these ministers have been sustained by funds furnished by the churches in the Presbytery of Rochester, and applied under its direction. Four new fields and ten missionaries not before in commission have received assistance. Two houses of worship have been finished and consecrated to the service of God ; three have been repaired or enlarged ; and measures are in progress for the erection of six others. Parsonages are now, for the first time, secured in four parishes. Six ministers, heretofore dependent on the Society for a part of their support, will from this time be sustained by their people. In all the missionary churches, it is believed without exception, Sabbath schools or Bible classes are organized ; and all the ordinary efforts for the instruction and salvation of the people may be said to be enjoyed. The influences of the Divine Spirit have not been withheld; conversions have been frequent, and on eight of the congregations special revival effusions have been granted.

The receipts of the Agency for the past year have been $8,764 75, besides $3,554 36 which were paid directly into the treasury of the Parent Society, making an aggregate from this portion of the State of $12,319 11. Of this sum the churches aided have refunded $1,017 41—a pleasing illustration of the training in benevolent habits which grows out of the manner in which aid is ministered to those churches, and which has produced such a generous revenue from those congregations which in times past were dependent on the Society. No less than 36 of the churches aided on this field during the four years' operations of the United Domestic Missionary Society, (from 1822 to 1826,) are now among the efficient helpers of this cause; and in the twenty five years which have succeeded the formation of the National Society, 122 such examples of the transfer from the list of dependents to that of helpers, have been recorded, within these limits. During the same quarter of a century, this field has yielded for the purposes of this Society, $204,500; of which, after supplying the current demands of the region, a surplus of $85,000 has been left for the general purposes of the Society in other sections of the vineyard.

The multiplication of churches in Western New York has been remarkable. In 1800, there was scarcely a Presbyterian or Congregational church in this whole section. The Secretary of the Agency, Rev. JOHN A. MURRAY, states that "in 1826, there were 191 Presbyterian churches, and 10,000 communicants. In 1836, there were 280 Presbyterian churches, and 25,000 communicants. In 1841, the Presbyterian and Congregational churches had increased to 380, and the communicants to 30,000. Now, there are 400 such churches, 336 of which have been aided by this Agency. There have been, it is thought, 60,000 different persons connected with Presbyterian and Congregational churches in this part of the State; half of the survivors, it is supposed, being now in the West, or in other parts of the land, doing much for the evangelization of our country. Thus, the kingdom of God has come and spread over this region. Thus has Western New York been saved to the cause of Christ, and will send forth, in coming time, streams that will make glad the city of God, and bless a dying world."

WESTERN RESERVE AGENCY, O.

The number of missionaries sustained by the funds of this Agency, during the year ending March 1st, was thirty. Eleven others were commissioned by the Society to labor within the same limits. These labors were distributed among 57 congregations.

The income of the Agency for the same period was $3,177 34. Add to this, various remittances of individual churches and donors from within the Reserve, to the office in New York, and the aggregate of contributions from that part of Ohio, is $3,740 12—more than $800 above the same items of the year before.

How great a share Home Missions have had, and must still have, in introducing and establishing the Gospel in new settlements, is manifested by the following facts which are contained in the report of this Agency. Of seventy eight churches, lying East of a certain line in Northern Ohio, which assume the support of their ministers, sixty have been aided by the American Home Missionary Society. And of the remaining eighteen, six are known to have received assistance from the Connecticut Missionary Society; and all (with two or three exceptions) were planted and nurtured in their infancy by the missionaries of that Society, while pursuing on this field, during its early history, their system of itinerant labors. West of the line referred to, there are 98 townships in which are 19 churches of the denominations co-operating with this Society; and in all these, so far as we are informed, there is no minister laboring but those employed by this Committee. It would seem, therefore, that, except in the aggressive action of Home Missions, there is little prospect of supplying with the Gospel the 140 townships in which no churches sympathizing with this Institution are found.

In addition to the motives thus furnished for evangelization, we have the encouragement which a review of the past affords. It is eight years since the Agency on this field was committed to Rev. MYRON TRACY. "Although," he remarks in his report, "these have been years of spiritual dearth, and it has seemed, much of the time, as if religion were making almost no progress in any of our churches; yet I find on review, that seventeen of the churches which at the commencement of this period were dependent on the Home Missionary Society, have now assumed the entire support of their own ministers. Two or three of this number, however, may be compelled again to seek our aid. Four of these churches have undertaken to sustain their ministers within the past year, with fair prospects of being able to support their own Gospel institutions for all coming time." "That, under the circumstances of discouragement which have attended these eight years, the American Home Missionary Society has been able to accomplish so much for the good of those churches, I cannot but regard as greatly to its praise; showing it to be an institution of unmeasured value. It has exerted, and is still exerting in all this region, an influence for good, which none can fully know."

MARIETTA AGENCY, O.

Thirteen missionaries have been on the list of this Agency during the year; and towards their support $522 33 have been contributed on the field. The past year, God has visited the churches in a larger measure than usual, with revivals of religion. Of the twenty churches to which those brethren have ministered, six have enjoyed seasons of special interest. "The Lord has put his seal upon them as his own churches, giving them the same testimony that convinced the Apostle Peter, that God had granted repentance also to the Gentiles."

The ten counties now embraced in this Agency are assuming new relations to the rest of the State and the country at large, which add greatly to their interest as fields of evangelical effort. Although this is the portion of Ohio which was first settled, its comparatively broken surface did not allow it to compete in agricultural attractions with more favored districts; so that emigration for the most part passed it by, and created in other sections its lines of transit and marts of commerce. The rugged soil of these counties, however, contains immense resources of coal, iron, and salt; and these mineral treasures are but just beginning to be developed. Rev. THOMAS WICKES, the Secretary of the Agency, estimates "that the coal fields of Ohio, underlying the surface of twenty eight counties, has an area of 12,000 square miles, of which the portion that can be wrought is four times as great as the workable coal fields of England. Ohio has coal enough to supply all the fires and machinery of the United States and Great Britain for ages to come. The iron region is much narrower, but still is of great magnitude." Four of the counties of the Agency are peculiarly rich in this mineral. The valleys of the Hocking and the Muskingum are also the chief deposits of salt.

From these physical causes it is reasonable to expect great manufacturing activity and a dense population, when capital and the increasing facilities of commerce shall have developed the capabilities of the country. How this process is likely to go on may be inferred from these facts: "In 1840, the population of those ten counties was 131,380; in 1850, it was 191,156—an increase of 46 per cent., while the increase of the four mineral counties was 50 per cent., and that, without any large towns, without railroads, and with very little capital and commerce." In view of the future which awaits such a region when those advantages shall be supplied, does it not seem a gracious arrangement of Providence, that the early settlers on this rugged soil should have been of the Pilgrim stock, whose projected institutions involved the ideas of religion, intelligence and order; who thought deeply and looked afar, to the best interests of generations yet to come?

The churches planted amid those hills, though feeble in wealth and numbers, already exert a power as the conservators of christian truth, and in exemplifying the morality of the Gospel. "Their influence," adds the report of the Secretary, "is not confined to their own immediate communities; nor is it to be estimated alone by the number of converts added to them. They exert a powerful influence on other denominations, in restraining them from fanaticism and error, and elevating among them the standard of doctrine and practice; while they take the lead in those great and comprehensive moral enterprises which can alone secure the permanent welfare of society."

CINCINNATI AGENCY, O.

Forty four missionaries received assistance through this Board, during the past year. The receipts into its treasury in the same period were $3,769 38. This, with a previous balance of $1,541 19, made the resources of the year $5,310 57, which has all been expended on the field, except a remaining balance of $786 87.

A large proportion of the beneficiary churches within this agency have been richly blessed with revivals; and nearly all have made important progress in other respects. That this progress is not more marked arises from the fluctuation of the people, and the repeated migrations towards the States and Territories successively opened beyond them. Hence, even with a laborious and productive ministry, those churches have not made so much advance towards self-support as the yearly additions would have led us to expect. Still, some churches are every year arriving at independence of foreign aid; and a still larger number annually require a diminished amount of help. In remarking on the results attained in a series of years, our Agent, Rev. HENRY LITTLE, reports as follows: "In the infancy of Ohio and Indiana, this Society and its present auxiliaries assisted nearly all the churches which received aid from any source; so that I should hardly speak too strongly if I should say, that all the Congregational churches and all the Presbyterian churches of both schools, have been directly or indirectly aided by it. Very few of the old churches were not thus aided; and even of those in the Old School connection which have been formed since the division of 1837, the most were organized out of such as had been previously brought into existence or materially assisted by the American Home Missionary Society. Your records will show, that such churches as those of Granville, Circleville, Athens, Belpre, Warren, Newark, Jersey, Piqua, Hamilton, Mount Pleasant, New Richmond, Georgetown, Portsmouth, and many others in Ohio; and Madison, New Albany, Evansville, Delphi, Dayton, Lafayette, Rockville, Peru, Danville, Greenwood, and many others in Indiana, which now sustain the Gospel without extraneous aid, have been indebted to the timely and continued kindness of the Home Missionary Society."

The Committee are constrained to refer, as in former reports, to the extensive settlements going forward in the more retired portions of Ohio and Indiana, and which will soon cease from their comparative seclusion by means of the progress of internal improvements. There seems to be no alternative but a speedy increase of Home Missionary labor, or great disaster to the cause of evangelical religion and to every social interest, in those fertile and populous regions.

MISSOURI.

Twenty nine missionaries in this State have borne the commission of the Parent Society since our last report; two of them receiving a portion of their support from the Missouri Home Missionary Society. The income of this Auxiliary was $766 15.

These missionaries report pleasing evidence that they have not labored in vain. Not only in temporal prosperity, but also in the presence of the Holy Spirit, a number of churches have occasion for thanksgiving and encouragement. Several houses of worship are in the process of erection or repair. There is an apparent reaction on the subject of emigration beyond the mountains, many persons having returned from California with no disposition to repeat the adventure. It is probable, therefore, that the public mind will be less distracted by this and other causes, than in previous years. It would appear to be a peculiarly auspicious time for ministers of the Gospel to commence laboring in this State; and surely a more urgent call for evangelical labor can hardly be presented by any portion of the Home Missionary field than is heard from this. The Secretary of the Missouri Home Missionary Society, Rev. EDMUND WRIGHT, testifies as follows: "The prospects as to internal improvements and the development of our agricultural and mineral resources, have brightened within the past year. Our position in relation to the two oceans and the surrounding States, is as central as ever; and the conviction is forced upon us, that, at no distant day, our more than 600,000 people will swell to a million twice told. They will spread over our vast territory, levelling our forests, and converting our prairies into fruitful fields. But will these fields become as the garden of God? It still holds true, with an emphasis, that 'more than one third of the 96 counties in our State are without any preaching by our denomination, and but poorly supplied with any evangelical instruction.'"

We repeat this testimony, and would hold it up before the eyes and the consciences of the ministry, hoping that the Lord will qualify many to labor in that field, and dispose them to consecrate themselves to its cultivation.

MICHIGAN.

Eighty missionaries have received aid in proclaiming the Gospel in this state, since the last report. Their labors were greatly embarrassed in the former part of the year, by desolating sickness, which for some time almost broke up the public services of religion. The pestilence that walketh in darkness, and the destruction that wasteth at noonday, raged with violence and swept multitudes into eternity. "For fifteen years," says our Agent, "I have but once witnessed a time of such prevailing affliction." The claims of the sick and dying, the burial of the dead, and comforting the bereaved, imposed upon the missionaries an unusual amount of exhausting labor; and many of them were themselves for weeks prostrated by sickness. Four ministers, three of whom have been in connection with this Society, have during the year finished their work and ascended to their reward.

Notwithstanding these unfavorable circumstances, the movement of the churches has been, as in former years, steadily onward. In several congregations, precious seasons of revival have been enjoyed; particularly at the close of the year. An increased attention is observable to the erection or improvement of houses of worship. Some noble examples have been presented of sacrifice to attain this object without seeking foreign assistance. Sabbath schools have received an impulse, and are more systematic and efficient, in consequence of the presence of an Agent laboring for this specific object. Habits of benevolent contributions have been inculcated on the pupils; many of them have become the hopeful subjects of renewing grace; and in general, the churches are more justly appreciating the value and duty of religious efforts for the young. Many churches which once received the aid of this Society, now sustain themselves, and contribute not only to spread the knowledge of God throughout our own waste places, but also to send it to foreign lands. The last report of the American Board of Foreign Missions, showed about $2,300 received from this State; while $2,400 have been raised for Home Missions; besides liberal donations to the Bible, Tract and Sunday School Societies.

Among the churches which were formerly dependent on missionary assistance, but now sustain their own institutions, are those of Pontiac, Flint, Romeo, Mt. Clemens, Monroe, Tecumseh, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Adrian, Hillsdale, Jonesville, Coldwater, Albion, Marshall, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, &c. These churches have become what they are through Home Missionary aid. "Some of them," we are assured, "give yearly $100 or more for the same object; and they can never forget their obligations to the institution by which they were raised and nurtured as with a mother's care." "Indeed," says our Agent, Rev. CALVIN CLARK, "it might be a matter of interest to know how many of all the churches in Michigan have not received missionary aid." He then enumerates eight or ten existing churches that were never thus dependent, leaving some 200 other places that have been aided, a large majority of which are living witnesses of the value of this natural and efficient mode of church extension.

The blessings thus conferred on Michigan are illustrated by the following report of a single case: "On the banks of a beautiful stream, stands one of the pleasantest villages in the State. Many of the early settlers were destitute of piety, and some of them drank deep of the spirit of infidelity. One of our early missionaries had an interview of four hours with two prominent infidels of that place, who boasted that more than twenty of their neighbors embraced substantially their views. When the servant of Christ proposed to fix his abode there, no house could be obtained for his family, and scarcely a place for the sole of his foot. In that field he toiled on for years; and his labors were not in vain. A blessing attended him; the Holy Spirit came down, souls were converted, and accessions made to the visible church. Now, in that village, there are two churches congenial with those who sustain this Society, averaging nearly 150 members each. One of these churches has, during the past year, contributed $160 to the American Board, $90 to this Society, and liberally to other benevolent objects; while its flourishing Sabbath school pours some $60 or $70 into the treasury of benevolence."

It is painful to repeat the statement of former years, that the unsupplied portions of the State are wide and numerous. In St. Clair county there are three vacant churches; in Saginaw county, our churches have no minister, the county is rapidly settling, plank roads are in progress, a house of worship will soon be completed at the county seat, and other churches might be immediately formed if they could be supplied with ministers. The same is true of Livingston and Shiwassee counties. The churches of Clinton county have been vacant for two years; one or two are destitute in Ionia; the emigration to Montcalm ought to be accompanied by missionaries. In the older sections of the State, also, several important points are unsupplied. These growing wants are arousing the churches to the duty of providing a ministry for their waste places; and candidates are now in training in connection with most of the ecclesiastical bodies of the State.

ILLINOIS.

One hundred and nineteen missionaries have, in the last twelve months, preached the Gospel in Illinois, under commission from this Society—a larger number than was ever before reported in a Western State. The receipts from this field, during the year, were $3,479 15.

Rev. ARATUS KENT has in this period visited all the 23 counties composing his Agency in Northern Illinois; superintending the application of missionary aid, and stimulating the feeble and destitute churches to the use of their own resources for obtaining the means of grace. The spiritual mercies of the year have been unusually precious. On all parts of this field revival blessings have descended. In the Northwestern portion, 12 Presbyterian and Congregational churches have been thus visited; and five of them have received large accessions to their numbers and strength.

In Central Illinois, Rev. WILLIAM KIRBY reports, that the great work, which the Society has been so long prosecuting, has this year made encouraging advancement. "Nine churches have experienced interesting revivals. Wherever the Gospel has been preached, decisive results have followed; the truths of Christianity have entered deeply into the very organization of Society; and a distinctive christian civilization has been developed. It is my privilege, for the first time in more than five years, to report that the more important fields within my Agency are now supplied with the ministrations of the Gospel."

In Southern Illinois, the Society has had sixteen missionaries; and another, formerly under its commission, has been sustained wholly by the funds of the Presbytery of Alton. This Auxiliary has raised for missionary purposes $436 44. Arrangements are made to secure the entire services of another missionary among the destitute in the extreme southern part of the State.

In glancing at the missionary condition and prospects of Illinois, as a whole, we see a continuation of the same divine favor through the past year, that has rested on our operations from the beginning. The rapid progress of that State in population—now more than 800,000—is even outstripped by the proportional additions to its missionary laborers. The late census shows an increase of the people, in ten years, equal to 78 per cent., while the missionaries have received an addition of 183 per cent. Of the more than forty New School Presbyterians and Congregational churches which now enjoy their privileges independent of aid from abroad, only some half dozen are recalled as having achieved this distinction without direct assistance from this Society. And this account of the past plainly indicates what the future will be. If seven-eighths of the churches which are yet to belong to our branch of the great Calvinistic family, must owe their existence, instrumentally, to the planting and training of our missions, what a vast work remains still undone in this single State? For, as yet, there is but an aggregate of about 200 ministers of Congregationalists and Presbyterians of both schools, while twice that number are needed to give only four to each county. But this is not all. The recent movement for building a great central trunk of Railroads, from Cairo in the South to Galena and Dubuque in the North, with its East and West connections, will bring the hitherto neglected interior into the enjoyment of both a Southern and an Eastern market, and will give an immediate importance to vast tracts which are now but partially available. This must introduce a large population along these lines of transit. Mr. KIRBY says, that no less than 57 counties will be crossed or nearly approached by these highways of commerce; and some of them traversed twice in different directions. The scarcity of timber and remoteness from the natural channels of trade, have been the great obstacles to the temporal and religious interests of the interior counties which will be reached by this vast chain of iron roads. These obstacles will now be removed. The timber and coal of the Southern counties will supply the deficiency of the Middle and Northern; and the ease of finding the best markets will allure emigrants of every description from the older States. This quickening of the stagnant mind on so large a portion of the State, cannot but operate favorably upon the spread of religion. “Christianity never engrafts itself upon dead and lifeless stocks; its principles demand life and vigor. The stupor of slumbering hearts is more hostile to its progress than the vices which it subsudes. Enterprise is both the result and the harbinger of its triumphs.”

In these views of the importance and promise of the field thus laid more open to the public view, Mr. KENT concurs. “The prospect is that, in my Agency, every acre of our fertile prairies will be within six hours of a good market, and every person within fifty hours of the Atlantic, and less than that of travelling time from the Gulf of Mexico. How rapidly will this region be peopled; and what numbers of villages and cities will start up, almost as suddenly as the landscape is transformed into an ocean of flowers and verdure at the voice of Spring! I allude to this to show the Church's responsibility to lay broad, deep, and quickly the foundations of civil, literary and religious institutions." And Rev. A. T. Norton, Secretary of the Missionary Committee of the Presbytery of Alton, assures us, that "within two years, we shall need a minister at least every 20 miles, for 150 miles on that road, beginning with Cairo. Never before has there been laid upon us such a necessity to make haste in our work."

WISCONSIN.

Since the last anniversary, it has been deemed important to the efficient and economical administration of missionary affairs in this State, that an Agent should be employed to represent this Society in communicating with the needy churches, and to be its organ in dispensing relief. The services of Rev. DEXTER CLARY, for several years pastor of the church in Beloit, have been secured for this object, to the evident gratification of the friends of the Society in that region; and greatly, we trust, to the advantage of the Home Missionary cause. Mr. Clary entered on the duties of his appointment, August 1st, and has, thus far, been principally occupied in becoming acquainted with the details of the field, and the work intrusted to his superintendence.

Seventy two missionaries have borne the commission of this Society in Wisconsin, within the past year. Revivals of religion, of great interest, have been enjoyed by some 12 of the churches, in which, it is supposed, about 400 were added to the number of those hoping in Christ. Besides these, about 200 have already been admitted to a profession of their faith, since the year began.

In Wisconsin, the progress of settlements, towns, roads, public and private edifices, institutions for education, and similar improvements of a secular nature, have been attended, with equal pace, by an increase of churches, ministers, and the various subsidiary means of grace, to a degree unequalled in any other Western State. Although, so lately as 1839, there were but about 30,000 inhabitants, and not more than ten ministers in our connection, there are, now, some 320,000 people, with 85 ministers and 112 churches of the denominations co-operating with this Society. Comprised in these churches, are about 4,000 members; one eighth of them having joined during the year. In the same time, five houses of worship have been dedicated. The whole number is now 38; and seven new ones are in progress. Since the accomplishment of almost the whole of this good has turned on the timely and judicious application of Home Missionary aid, it is not strange that christian men, in Wisconsin, should feel a filial attachment to the institution which has thus blessed the home of their adoption. "Your missionaries," says one, "were among the first to explore this field, and mark it as a land of great promise for Messiah's kingdom. Through their early and energetic efforts, the cords of our beloved Zion were extended, and her stakes firmly set in every town, village, prairie and grove. By them, churches have been planted and watered, in which a pure evangelical Christianity has had able and fearless advocates." To gain these results, the cost to the Society has been about $65,000; a part of which is already returning in donations from the assisted churches.

Meanwhile, over all parts of the 54,000 square miles of this noble State, there is a simultaneous incoming of people. The 14 additional ministers who have gone in during the year, are not enough; 20 more, at least, ought to be added without delay. For, while the older counties are forming more compact settlements and subdividing the larger missionary fields; while the mining region is calling still for additional helpers; while the crowds of emigrants are outrunning the government surveys, and preoccupying the tracts which skirt the chain of waters from the Wisconsin to Green Bay,—there is still a vast region in the Northwest, where the scattered lumbermen are rapidly condensing into settlements amid the forests of the Pinery, and adjacent to the region of the St. Croix. Towards these, and similar openings of urgency and promise, we turn with deep concern, and exclaim, "Whom shall we send, and who will go for us?"

IOWA.

During the past year six additional missionaries have been commissioned in this State, making the number under appointment forty one. Six fields of labor, formerly aided by this Society, now sustain the ministry from their own resources. The pastoral relation has been established in eleven cases. Within the year two church edifices have been completed; and one congregation has erected a house to serve both for public worship and for a school. The whole number of church buildings belonging to those acting with this Society is 25; and five others are in the process of construction.

The amount pledged by the beneficiary churches towards sustaining the preaching of the Gospel exhibits a steady increase, notwithstanding their losses by emigration to California; and they have also during the year given some $1,500 to various purposes of benevolence.

But the crowning mercy which it is our grateful duty to record, is the bestowment of converting grace in unwonted measures. About one fourth of the churches have been thus cheered and strengthened, and the number of souls gathered to the people of God will about equal a tenth of all the previous members of the churches. New life has been infused into the feeble ; ministers who were ready to faint under their burdens, and whose hearts were sick with hope deferred, now thank God and take courage to press on.

During the year, the Society's Agent, Rev. JULIUS A. REED, has made extensive explorations of the remoter counties of his field, including the portions lying on the Missouri River, in the vicinity of Council Bluffs. The leading particulars of this tour have already been laid before the public. It is needful to recur to them here, only as disclosing the vast amount of yet unattempted work, which the Society has yet to perform. Of the fifty or fifty five counties which are settled, so far at least as to demand spiritual culture, only twenty five have resident missionaries, and but four or five others are touched even at a single point by the regular services of one of our laborers. Sixteen counties are rarely, if at all, visited by them ; eight are now in exceeding need of ministers ; and in five, already partially occupied, additional supplies are demanded by the increase of the people. An adequate scope of effort for four or five evangelical German missionaries would be afforded among the settlements in those new counties. Indeed, when we see the sweeping current of emigration moving on with equal steadiness and strength, whether the Church wakes to her duty or slumbers at her post ; when the sickening apprehension comes upon us, that possibly we may fail, after all, to meet the moral exigencies of those wide and beautiful frontiers—remembering, too, that if we do not occupy them at once the enemy will—we feel that the word of one of England's master spirits was scarcely too strong, "One half of your male members should become ministers, while it should be the chief business of the other half to support them !"

OREGON.

No additional laborers have been commissioned for this field during the year. The two already there have prosecuted their work with encouraging success.

Rev. Horace Lyman is stationed at Portland, which is situated at the head of ship navigation on the Willamette. This village, which contained, one year ago, but a few scattered houses, has now a population of about 1,000, and promises to become one of the most important business locations in the Territory. A house of worship is nearly completed, the expense of which has been chiefly met by the citizens of the place. At the time of Mr. Lyman's arrival, Oregon was nearly depopulated by emigration to the mines of California. In consequence of the scarcity and high price of labor, he was compelled to work with his own hands, till his health became impaired, and his labors were interrupted. In February, another severe attack brought him to the brink of the grave. At the last advices he was slowly recovering.

Rev. George H. Atkinson continues his labors at Oregon City. A church edifice has been erected at an expense of $3,550, and the truth has produced a manifest effect in checking prevalent vices, and elevating the tone of public sentiment in regard to all the interests of education, morals and religion.

These brethren apply in the most earnest terms for a reinforcement of missionary laborers. The Committee fully accord with their views, and hope soon to be enabled to respond to their appeal.

A new era in the history of this Territory is at hand. The reflux of the tide which was set in motion by the discovery of gold in California, has commenced. Multitudes, too, who were attracted to the mines from the Eastern States, but failed to realize their golden visions, are seeking to repair their health and fortunes in Oregon. There will also be a rapid increase of population by direct immigration from the East. A recent act of Congress provides for the removal of the Indians from the country west of the Cascade Mountains; and another makes liberal grants of land to actual settlers. The missionaries confirm the accounts received from other sources, that the country presents a rare combination of natural advantages, which must attract attention and immigration. These ancient solitudes are at length to be peopled. Already an industrious and thriving population is overspreading the beautiful prairies. Along the river courses, and around the waterfalls, bustling villages are springing up, and will rapidly expand into populous cities. The importance of supplying them early with the means of grace can hardly be overstated. If the institutions planted two centuries ago on our shores, are to be transplanted on the shores of the Pacific, the seed must be scattered there, as it was here, before the enemy shall sow tares. To this work Providence now calls us.

CALIFORNIA.

The Society has four missionaries now laboring in this State. Rev. John W. Douglas, who, at the date of the last report, was stationed at San Jose, resigned his charge in August and performed an extensive tour of exploration in the southern mines. He has since been laboring at Los Angeles, but has received no aid during the year from the treasury of the Society.

Rev. Samuel H. Willey commenced his labors two years ago at Monterey, then the capital of the Territory. In consequence of the removal of the seat of government, and the emigration of a large part of the American population, the place lost its relative importance as a field of missionary labor. In accordance with the views of his brethren, Mr. Willey transferred his residence to Happy Valley, the southern portion of San Francisco. During the autumn, his labors were suspended for three months, in consequence of sickness. Since that time they have been prosecuted with much success. A house of worship has been erected, and a church and Sabbath school organized. Mr. Willey expects that before the close of the present year, the congregation will assume his entire support.

Rev. Isaac H. Brayton arrived in California in July, and took charge of the congregation gathered by Mr. Douglas at San Jose. A house of worship has since been erected which was dedicated in February last. In consequence of the depression of business and the removal of the seat of government to Vallejo, the outward prosperity of the congregation has suffered a temporary check, and Mr. Brayton has drawn upon the treasury of the Society for a portion of his support. He expects to be sustained hereafter by the people to whom he ministers.

Rev. William W. Brier, whose departure for California was announced in the last report, arrived at San Francisco August 8th, and in the following month commenced his labors at Marysville. This city is situated at the junction of the Yuba and Feather Rivers, forty five miles north of Sacramento City; and, though but about one year old, contains 2,000 inhabitants. A church and Sabbath school have been organized, and measures are in progress for the erection of a house of worship. Large and attentive congregations listen to the preaching of the word, and already a very striking change has been effected in the moral aspect of the community. Mr. Brier now derives his entire support from his people.

Rev. James H. Warren, from Dubuque, Iowa, an alumnus of the Union Theological Seminary, N. Y., with Mrs. Warren, arrived in California in October. He has since been engaged in ministering to the first Congregational church in San Francisco, in the absence of the Pastor, Rev. T. D. Hunt. He was expected, on the return of Mr. Hunt—which has already taken place—to turn his attention to Sonoma and Napa Valleys on the northern side of the Bay of San Francisco, where there are several growing settlements composed chiefly of American families.

The changes which the past year has wrought in the condition of Californian society, have been mostly favorable to missionary operations. The tide of population, hitherto borne as by a whirlwind to the ravines of the Sierra, is now returning and spreading itself in natural channels over the country; and the various branches of industry are beginning to receive their appropriate attention and reward. Multitudes, finding in the rich mould of the valleys the treasures which the river beds of the mountains denied them, are gathering their families, establishing schools, and arranging all the elements of well ordered society. The friends of religion, thus brought into permanent relations to each other, are enabled to co-operate more and more in evangelical effort; and the missionaries are exerting no inconsiderable influence in determining the forms which these chaotic elements shall assume. But the laborers are few. In earnest tones they ask for men to occupy the destitute and inviting fields that are multiplying around them. The Committee will gladly respond to these appeals according to the means placed at their disposal. They regard the responsibility of the churches in reference to California, as one of no ordinary character. Overleaping the period of her minority, and starting in her career, Minerva-like, a full-grown State, she cannot wait to be supplied with the Gospel by, tardy movements. The seed time is now ; and rarely has the church of Christ scattered the seed of the kingdom on a soil promising so speedy and abundant harvests. Such various, yet active and forceful elements were, perhaps, never combined in any other community. Let them be assimilated and controlled by the power of christian institutions ; let all this talent and energy and enterprise become tributary to the cause of Christ, and from that Golden Gate shall go forth influences which shall bless not only the nations that line that coast, but the thousand Islands of the Pacific, and the dark continent beyond.

CONCLUSION.

In closing this record of the labors of another year, the Committee would erect their memorial of gratitude to God, who has crowned the year with his goodness. In the spared lives of the officers of the Society, and of so many of its missionaries—in the continued interest manifested by the churches in its plans and objects—and in the plenteous effusions of the Spirit upon a large number of missionary fields, we recognize the tokens of divine favor which call for our grateful acknowledgment, and which are earnest of future good. These impressions are deepened when we extend this review over the quarter of a century which has elapsed since this Society was organized. It has been a brief but eventful period. How great and manifold the changes it has wrought. How has the field of our operations widened, and our work increased. Seven new States, covering a vast territory then scarcely reached by the adventurous pioneer, have been added to our confederacy. Our frontier has retreated from the banks of the Ohio to the shores of the Pacific. Our population has increased from 11,000,000 to 23,000,000. In wealth, in power, in all the elements of national importance, our progress has been such as has no parallel in history ; and the work appropriate to this Society has increased in like proportion. To diffuse the light and blessings of the Gospel over this expanding domain—to bring these multiplying millions of our population under the influence of christian institutions, and thus train them to be a generation for God's praise—this has been the work intrusted to our hands. That it has been performed to the full measure of the means afforded, is more perhaps than we ought to claim. Yet when we survey the wide fields where it has bestowed its culture and gathered its abundant harvests—when we reflect to what famishing multitudes in the forests and on the prairies of the West it has distributed the bread of life—when we call to mind the 3,000 feeble churches nurtured under its care, and the 107,000 members gathered into them—when we trace the fountains of holy influence it has opened, expanding in their course into streams which make glad the city of our God, we rejoice, yea, and we will rejoice, that with means so feeble he has achieved results so vast.

We enter upon another quarter of a century under cheering auspices, yet under accumulating responsibilities. Unless God shall blight this nation with his judgments, and thus arrest its career, its history for the next twenty five years must be fraught with an interest pertaining to the progress of no other nation. The wars and revolutions which shall convulse the kingdoms of the old world will be matters of trivial moment, compared with the peaceful but majestic march of a free christian empire over a vast continent. But commensurate with the progress of the country in extent and importance, is the responsibility of the church in regard to its evangelization. While in the older states she must "be watchful, and strengthen the things that remain, that are ready to die," she must also go forth "bearing precious seed," with the advancing tide of emigration as it rolls towards the setting sun. In the vast central valley, which is henceforth to hold the sceptre of this continent, and on the shores of the Pacific, where a nation has been born in a day, a work is to be done for Christ—and done by the present generation—such as God has intrusted to no other people. To this work let us gird ourselves anew in the strength and with the spirit of our glorious Leader. Let the past tokens of his favor encourage us, his promises inspire us, his love constrain us to prosecute this enterprise with increasing ardor, and on a more extended scale. As we survey the present spiritual destitutions, and anticipate the future advancement and glory of our country, let the Prophet's spirit of mingled piety and patriotism impel us to adopt his noble purpose, "FOR ZION'S SAKE WILL I NOT HOLD MY PEACE, AND FOR JERUSALEM'S SAKE I WILL NOT REST, UNTIL THE RIGHTEOUSNESS THEREOF GO FORTH AS BRIGHTNESS, AND THE SALVATION THEREOF AS A LAMP THAT BURNETH."

Relation of Auxiliary Societies, Agencies and Committees of Missions to the American Home Missionary Society; Applications, &c.

State and other large Auxiliaries.

Most of the State Missionary Societies were in existence before the formation of the National Society, and some of them—as the Missionary Societies of Connecticut and Massachusetts—were among the earliest organized efforts in our country for sending the Gospel to the destitute. They have voluntarily connected themselves as Auxiliaries with the American Home Missionary Society, from a conviction that greater unity of plan and efficiency in action would thereby be promoted.

The terms by which such Auxiliaries—acting on the principles of the Parent Society, undertaking the supply of the destitute within their own bounds, and paying over their surplus funds to the Parent Institution—are connected with the Parent Society, are such as to secure the following objects, viz.:

First—The Auxiliary is not superseded or overshadowed by the National Institution, but on the contrary, is invigorated and sustained by connection with it.

This is secured by the provision that the Auxiliary is the sole agency for this cause that operates on its field. It controls all appointments in the State to which it belongs. From it alone, so far as its means will allow, the feeble churches receive assistance. Thus a direct relation and strong attachment is cherished towards it, in the hearts of the ministers and churches.

Again—While the local operations of the Auxiliary are thus encouraged and sustained, its connection with the Parent Society is such as to awaken an interest in the destitute beyond its own limits, and afford facilities for reaching them. It is not only a Society for local purposes, but it is also a branch of the National Society, and as such, has the control of all agencies for the collection of funds within its own field, and can direct the manner in which its surplus resources shall be expended beyond its own limits. Thus, the State and other large Auxiliaries are not merely organizations to help the Parent Society; they are integral parts of it, bound together in one whole by a common interest in and free access through the Parent Society, to the great field to be occupied, and governed by the same general principles and rules in carrying on the work.

Agents and Agencies.

Besides preaching to the destitute and taking up contributions for Home Missions, the Agents of the American Home Missionary Society exercise a general superintendence of the operations of the Society within their respective fields. By correspondence and personal visitation, they ascertain the wants of the destitute; assist them to obtain the preaching of the Gospel; and instruct and encourage them to develop their own means for its support. They receive applications for aid, and make such preliminary examination as may be necessary before submitting them for the action of the Executive Committee; and in other ways labor to insure a judicious and economical application of the Society's funds. At present, the Society has in its employ no merely collecting Agents, nor any whose services are not required for other purposes in the regions where they labor. The Secretaries of several of the larger Auxiliaries, are also the Agents for this cause in their respective bounds.

In certain districts, where the duties of an Agent are likely to be peculiarly responsible, there is associated with him a board of counsellors selected from the region of his labors, called an Agency. These Boards of Agency differ from Auxiliary Societies, in that they have no independent existence, but are appointed by the Executive Committee from year to year, and are governed by rules which the Committee prescribe. Their office is to counsel and direct the Agent in carrying out the principles of the Society, and to give advice in relation to such local matters as may be submitted to them by the Executive Committee. The persons composing a Board of Agency, are selected for their intelligence and interest in this cause, and their influence in promoting it; and are so distributed over the field as to secure a personal acquaintance with its condition. The Agent of the Society is also the Secretary of the Agency with which he is associated.

These boards of counsel might not have been necessary, had the ecclesiastical bodies on the ground been able and disposed to pay sufficient attention to the missionary work, and to act as its directors in their respective bounds. But the ministers composing them are usually scattered over a wide extent of territory, and meet but seldom, and only at seasons when they are much occupied with other business; and accordingly it has been necessary in some cases to organize agencies for this specific work. But in other cases, Synods, Presbyteries, and Associations, have chosen to act as Auxiliaries to the Society, examining into the condition of the destitute within their bounds, and recommending the appropriate action for their relief. Ecclesiastical bodies thus related to the American Home Missionary Society act through

Committees of Missions.

The American Home Missionary Society has ever regarded the ecclesiastical bodies as the appropriate judges of the standing of their own ministers, and of the wants of the churches in their connection. Accordingly, the commission issued to every missionary requires that his credentials be acceptable to that ministerial body of his denomination, within whose bounds he is appointed to labor. And the various Presbyteries, Associations, &c., are invited to appoint, each, a Committee of Missions from its own members to receive applications from its churches, and suggest to the Society the action proper in each case. Such a Committee constitutes the official source to which reference can be had for information and advice, in all matters pertaining to missions in the connection to which it belongs. This mode of co-operation has been preferred by numerous ecclesiastical bodies, from the first formation of the Society. It guaranties to the churches of each denomination represented in the Society, that their respective claims shall be fairly considered, with all the advantage of having the endorsement of the body to which they belong. The advice of such a Committee, acting in the name and by the direction of the ecclesiastical body to which they belong, is regarded as the highest authority in matters pertaining to the standing of ministers and churches in their connection, and has the same influence with the Society, as that of a Board of Agency appointed by itself.

There is one limitation to this influence, however, which ought to be stated. Should any ecclesiastical body so far swerve from the principles of truth and Gospel order, as not to retain the fellowship and confidence of the great body of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches in our land, that fact would cause its recommendations not to be respected, as a basis of action, by the Executive Committee.

As cases may occur in which the feeble churches may not be aware of the existence of any Board of Agency, or Committee of Missions, through whom to apply for aid, a general provision is made, that applications may be vouched by any two ministers of known and approved standing, who can certify to the facts of the case. If the information thus given is not sufficient, other facts are sought by the Executive Committee with as little delay as practicable, from the most authentic sources from which they can be obtained.

Such, briefly, are the relations of the American Home Missionary Society to the various organs, through which the community seeks to act out its missionary feeling. It will be seen that this plan secures the united action, in the missionary work, of those whose views of doctrine and church order admit of co-operation, and whose interests in the great field are essentially the same. This combination insures a homogeneous policy as to the manner and amount of appropriations, and the qualifications of missionaries; it has discouraged sectional feelings, and diffused throughout each part an interest in all the rest; and thus has formed ties between the West and East, along which has passed, from the latter to the former, a silent and invisible current of moral influences, more valuable, if possible, than all pecuniary grants. At the same time, the connection of the Parent Society with the various Associations that act with it, is such as to secure to them entire freedom in the missionary work, in their respective spheres, and an influence beyond them, in cultivating the waste places of our common country.

Applications for Aid.

Feeble congregations, applying for aid in supporting the Gospel, are requested to embody in their applications the following particulars, viz.:

The name of the church or congregation; the number of communicants, and the average number of attendants on public worship; the denomination and size of congregations immediately contiguous, with the distance to their places of worship; the total amount of salary which the applicants propose to make up; the largest portion of that salary which they can raise for the given time, and the least amount that will suffice from the Society; whether the minister for whom a commission is desired, is the pastor of the church, or if not, whether any arrangements are made or contemplated in the course of the year, with reference to his installment. These statements should be signed by the trustees and elders or deacons, or by a committee of the congregation, and confirmed by the certificate of two or more clergymen of good standing, acquainted with the facts. Also,

The name and post-office address of the minister whose services they desire to secure; his credentials; and the certificate of two or more ministers of known standing, as to his general character for piety, zeal, and acceptableness, as a minister of the Gospel, and his adaptedness to this particular field of labor.

Where the ecclesiastical body with which a church is connected has a "Committee of Missions" to act in their behalf, this Committee are the proper persons to certify the statements of the church, the standing of the minister, and his prospects of usefulness in the place where his services are desired; and the applications should, in all cases, be sent to them for their endorsement and recommendation, and then forwarded to the Agent of the Society, for the region where the applicants reside. The address of the Society's Agents will be found on the cover of its Reports and of the Home Missionary.

As a general rule, the appropriations of the American Home Missionary Society are for twelve months from the date of the applications; at the end of which, if further aid be needed, a new application must be made, containing all the particulars above stated, and endorsed and recommended in like manner. And each congregation applying for renewed aid, should furnish, in addition to other testimonials, the certificate of the missionary, that they have fulfilled their previous pledges for his support.

Applications, after being properly endorsed and recommended, should, in all cases, be addressed to the care of the Agent (or Secretary of the agency, or auxiliary), for the region where the applicants reside. Where no such medium of communication with the Society exists, applications may be sent directly to the Society's Office in New York.

AGENCIES.

Addresses at the Twenty fifth Anniversary.

Address of Rev. I. P. Langworthy, of Chelsea, Mass.,

ON MOVING THE RESOLUTION FOR THE ACCEPTANCE OF THE REPORT.

MR. PRESIDENT:—I wish, in the few remarks that I now make, to allude to several points of interest to which the report now before us refers.

It speaks of our present destitution, of our increasing population, and of the importance of furnishing ministers of the Gospel in sufficient numbers to meet the wants of our growing population.

When it was stated, sir, that this Society has now in its employ more than one thousand missionaries, engaged in different fields of labor, I apprehend that not a few in this audience felt that the great work of giving the gospel to our country was all but consummated. And in one aspect of the case, there is much to awaken such a feeling. A thousand faithful ministers can and do accomplish a great work. But what are these among so many? And add to them all the ministers of Christ of all denominations who are pastors, and we shall still find in all directions the most painful destitution. Not a large city in our land is more than half supplied with the means of grace. It has been stated upon this platform, within a few days, that more than 50,000 children of your highly favored city, are not to be found in any Sabbath school. But if the children are in no Sabbath school, where are the parents? Indeed, we are assured, after careful research, that to quite one half your own population the gospel is not preached. The same is true of Boston, and of many, very many other places all over New England, and yet New England is probably better supplied with an evangelical ministry than any other place in the world of an equal population. But go West, through your own State, sir, through Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin—the new territories, and it is—“all place”—vacancy, destitution. Hundreds upon hundreds of able and faithful men are now wanted to supply existing destitution.

But we have a prospective destitution still more appalling. Of unemployed ministers, whose services can be commanded, we have but a few. Of pious young men in a course of education for the ministry, we have but a few. And of the increase of our population, it never was so rapid; and the past increase, especially by immigration, instead of being the measure, seems only to be the earnest of what is to come. Some thousands a day are being poured upon our shores, of the ignorant, vicious and degraded of Europe, who, scattered among our population, will exert an influence for weal or woe. It would require one additional missionary every day, or three hundred and sixty-five a year to meet the demand from this source alone.

And it is only by the ministry that this destitution can be met. The Sunday School Union, the Bible and Tract Societies are doing a great and good work; all honor to them; but their greatest usefulness and efficiency depends on an established ministry. No other agency can take the place of that, which is more especially appointed of God to do the great work of evangelizing the world. These coöperating influences are important and highly useful, and with all my heart I would sustain them; but they can never be made, nor are they designed or adapted to take the place of that instrumentality which it is the province of this Society to employ, and which is every where sought in our country and depended on for the accomplishment of many of the useful purposes of life. If the common school is to be opened; the college founded, funded and cared for; a christian press to be set up; a christian literature to be published and spread abroad, you want the minister. If the poor are to be aided, the sick visited, the dying comforted, the dead buried, and the afflicted consoled, you depend on the minister. If the progress of vice is to be checked, the rising, rolling current of iniquity to be arrested, the public mind to be enlightened, the public conscience to be quickened, and civil and religious liberty to be established upon a solid foundation, to no class of men under heaven do all turn with so much confidence as to an established, intelligent, pious ministry. If houses of public worship are to be erected, and churches planted, and the gospel preached, and the kingdom of Christ extended, pray, sir, to whom shall we go, to whom do we go but to the minister? When the great king besieges the little city, with few in it, the affrighted inhabitants turn to this "poor wise man"—the minister, who has, many a time, and will yet again many times more, by his wisdom, under God, save the city, though that same poor man may be, as he often is, forgotten. (Eccl. ix. 15.) There is no substituting any other for this heaven-appointed agency.

Here then, on the one hand, is our great and increasing destitution; and on the other, our only reliable, permanent, but now insufficient instrumentality. What shall be done? But our course is open to us. We are to learn a lesson from commerce. In the affairs of the world, when the demand is not met by the supply, the latter is increased. To this Board the cry comes up from the West and the East, from the North and the South, saying, "Come over and help us!"—but the men are not who respond, "Here we are, send us." This Missionary Board has at its command neither the men nor the means of meeting this imperious demand. The supply must be increased, and this for many reasons.

The safety of our country demands it. Human governments are sustained either by physical or moral force. The imperial, monarchical, and sometimes the republican, so called, depend mostly, if not entirely, on the former. We profess to depend on the latter, and hitherto that resort, so honorable and propitious, has been effectual. We have needed no large standing army, nor strong police, to preserve order and maintain the authority of the powers that be. That honest love of country, proper self-respect and control, and becoming regard each for every other's rights, which have generally obtained, have so far restrained the wayward and lawless from outrages, that we have all lived in the peaceful enjoyments of our liberty, and have become hence a terror to evil doers, as we are a help and a praise to them that do well. But these things have obtained, in a great measure, through the influence of an established ministry; and only as its influence shall be made to co-exist with the increase of our population can these saving, restraining, perpetuating elements of good government, be made prevalent and controlling. Our civil and religious institutions are stable, only as virtue and religion shall have power over the masses of the people. To maintain them firmly on their present foundation, and perpetuate their invaluable blessings, we must have a people who believe and read the Bible, who acknowledge God, who keep the sabbath; who have a religious sentiment to respect, and who respect it, not suffering it to be outraged; a people who hold the divine law as supreme, and enact and enforce and keep the human according to the dictates of the divine; a people who shall insist on good laws and then keep them, who will elect good rulers and then respect them. Since the source of all power is with the people, it must be reached by those means and influences which shall make it what our necessities require. But there are no means which can be made effectual, or ever have been, save those alone which are employed and exerted by a pious, intelligent, established ministry. The salt must be taken to the spring of the waters, and cast in there. This done, and you will not need to chain up our court-houses, nor fill our cradles of liberty with an armed soldiery. We shall have a stronger defence, even a munition of rocks, in the principles, piety and patriotism of the people.

Say what we will, and hope what we may, we are bringing a dangerous element into our country, by the multitudes of foreign, ignorant and degraded men who are filling the land. They will come. Perhaps we ought to welcome them. But they will come whether or no, and we must meet the consequences. What but the restraining, redeeming, and saving influences of the preached Gospel, a free Gospel, can ever make them good citizens of a free country? And, at the present moment, there are other elements of discord and disunion at work threatening the most serious mischief, which can be allayed and hereafter controlled by no other agency, as by that which it is the province of this Society to employ. In any and every aspect of our country's necessities and dangers, nothing presents itself as so hopeful, as so essential to our safety and future prosperity, as that influence which comes from the established means of grace. But to meet these demands the number of ministers, who shall become settled pastors and missionaries, must be greatly increased.

The salvation of the souls of our fellow men, demands the same thing. It is through the foolishness of preaching that God saves the lost and perishing. Thus he has ordained. There are many, and other highly useful instrumentalities, but all subordinate to this. Hence the precept, to "Go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." "How shall they hear without a preacher? and how can they believe on him of whom they have not heard?" But the soul is precious, has been redeemed at infinite cost, and we who have known the power of renewing and sanctifying grace, are called upon by every christian and humane consideration to give the Gospel to those who hear not its sacred and saving truths. What we do for them, must be done quickly also. The present generation of God's enemies, are going up to a fearful judgment with his professed friends, and they will confront us there. They cannot tarry here until another and a more faithful company of Christians shall be raised up to occupy our places. Their spiritual wants must be met by us, or they will be for ever unmet; and happy will it be for us if we shall be delivered from our brother's blood in the last day. We are his keeper, and God holds us responsible for giving him the Gospel. But to do this, we must see to it that the number of faithful ministers is greatly increased.

The salvation of the world depends on this to a degree little understood and felt in this country. Christians of papal Europe are looking to us for sympathy and help, in carrying on their moral warfare against a most wily, dangerous and masterly foe. The odds are fearfully against them to all human view. They want all the men and means that we can place at their command to occupy open and important fields, with an agency so approved of heaven, that neither the powers of darkness nor the gates of hell shall be able to countervail its influence. Pagan and Mohammedan countries must have their missionaries chiefly from this country. But I cannot extend this particular, and will only add, that from every high and commanding consideration, which ought to influence enlightened Christians, we are called upon to pray the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into his harvest: not four months, and then doth it come; let us lift up our heads and look abroad over these wide and open and inviting fields, and see that they are already ripe unto the harvest.

And this remark leads to the inquiry, how these means of grace shall be multiplied so as to meet the wants of the world, or how the supply of faithful ministers shall meet our existing and prospective demands? This is an important inquiry, and is becoming more and more so. We have neither the time, nor has your speaker the ability, to give it due consideration. But one thing is certain, viz. that unless Christians more generally shall assume the responsibility which God has laid upon them in this work of evangelizing our own country, and thus the world, this fearful necessity never can be met. Generally, I apprehend, the impression obtains that this business of giving the Gospel to our destitute and perishing population, belongs to this Missionary Board, and not to the members of our churches at large. They "deliver their souls" by giving a few shillings or dollars, and thus dismiss all care or anxiety about it. Parents do not consecrate their sons to the work, and pious young men in great numbers give the claims of their fellow-men for the gospel at their hands no consideration, turning aside one to his farm and another to his merchandise—thus compelling this Board to a harder service than to make bricks without straw. You must raise funds, and multiply and send forth ministers, and become responsible for their success, and in this way you are bearing burdens which God has laid on other shoulders. Ministers will be multiplied at the call of the church, and of the church alone, under her Great Head, and we who are pastors, and we who are members of the christian church, have each a responsibility in this matter, from which no missionary board or any other organization can absolve us.

And this realized would lead us to work in the vineyard of our Lord as most do not. There is a resting, “waiting out” our salvation, which is no working it out. God works in his children to work. Religion says not to the business man, lay aside thy business. The requirement is, “diligent in business, fervent in spirit, serving the Lord.” But service is work—and for this end were we regenerated and placed in circumstances where much is to be done, and where we have the facilities for doing much. The church wants money-making, if only they are money-giving members. She wants men of talents, but men who will improve their talents. She wants strong men, but men who will expend their strength in extending her borders, and in strengthening her stakes. The spirit of the Gospel is a missionary spirit—and every Christian hence must have a missionary spirit, which is expansive, effective, productive. Oh, let the members of our churches assume only the responsibility that God has laid upon them, and act under its pressure as the present exigency of our country and the world demands, and a great army of devoted ministers would speedily be raised up and would “go up” in the name of the Lord and possess the land!

And I close by saying, that we have great encouragement thus to labor in this work. “Hitherto the Lord hath helped us.” The work already done and the good accomplished—the thousands gathered into churches, and millions of hearts made glad by the sound of the gospel—these, and other great and good results, are designed to cheer us in our future course. Their language to you, sir, and to us, is, onward. But the promises of the word of God encourage us abundantly, and leave no room for hesitation. What though there be difficulties; what though error has forestalled truth in many a heart; and depravity is predicable of all our race; it is, nevertheless, the province of grace to triumph over these. The instrumentality we are to wield is mighty through God even to the pulling down of the strong holds. Of ourselves we can do nothing indeed, but we are not left to ourselves: “Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world,” is the precious promise of the divine Redeemer. God has made bare his arm, and says, “Command ye me,”—and this may we do, if we have the faith to plead the promises. Paul says, “I can do all things through Christ strengthening me.” This he said, not as an apostle, I apprehend, but as a Christian. We can do as much as he, helped by the same divine power. Let us, then, each to the work of the world’s salvation, praying the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into his harvest. Let this report, sir, to the abstract of which we have just listened, be published and circulated. Let its cheering facts, its thrilling appeals, and its startling developments of destitution and want be read, pondered, and prayed over, until the churches shall be aroused to duty—and while we shall all feel that it is “not by might nor by power” that this great work is to be done, yet, trusting in the Lord, whose Spirit is all sufficient, we may be able to say to these mighty barriers to the truth, and to the forms of evil, “Who art thou, Oh mountain! before Zerubbabel thou shalt become a plain, and he shall bring forth the head stone thereof with shoutings, crying grace, grace unto it.”

Address of Rev. James B. Shaw, of Rochester, N. Y.

IN SUPPORT OF THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION :

Resolved, That our Home Missionaries, possessing as they do the true martyr-spirit, are doing a great work for the church and the country, and on that account are entitled to the sympathy and gratitude, the prayers and co-operation of every patriot and Christian.

MR. PRESIDENT :—The phrase martyr-spirit, possesses, in a modified sense, the power of the resurrection. The words cannot be spoken but a thousand fires start from their ashes—a thousand graves give up their dead. They bear us back over the intervening ages ; we stand where our fathers stood, and see what our fathers saw. We are in St. Andrew's, gathering with the multitude around the spot where Patrick Hamilton is to die. We are in London, following John Rogers, as he goes up in his chariot of fire. We are in Smyrna, listening to the last words of Polycarp, the disciple of John. We are in Jerusalem, looking on the face of Stephen, which shone like an angel's. Nay, we have left the precincts of time—we have crossed the azure fields—we have passed the celestial gate. We are standing on the sea of glass, and our eyes are fixed on the great wonder of heaven, a Lamb, as it had been slain—the martyr-Lamb. The martyr-spirit has always been in the church ; is now in the church. It is the life of the church ; there can be no church without it. No man at the present day, we acknowledge, can die, except indirectly, for Christ. He might covet a martyr's death, and determine to secure whatever glory it can confer. He might select his tree and fell it—might hew out his cross and stretch himself upon it, and call on every one who passed by to take the hammer and drive home the nails. But who would regard the call ? Put a Christian to death ! why, it would not pay. Time and strength could be turned to better account. A poor speculation to crucify a man who, like Elijah and like Christ, had nothing but his mantle to leave behind.

But if a man cannot, except indirectly, die for Christ, he can suffer for him. He can endure hunger, and thirst, and cold and nakedness. He can forego every comfort, and encounter every evil. Voluntary suffering is the essential element of the martyr-spirit. Every man who for Christ's sake bears a pain or endures a privation which might have been avoided, is a martyr, and shall receive a martyr's peerless crown. Now no men in the land, as we think—no men in the world possess so much of the martyr-spirit—no men any where are, to-day, giving up so much, and suffering so much for the Master, as our Home Missionaries. There is indeed nothing which these devoted men would not do—nothing they would not bear, if the Lord Jesus might only get glory thereby.

The celebrated Samuel Johnson, when servitor in college, was exceedingly poor. One winter, a severe winter, his shoes were in such a dilapidated condition that every body pitied the man ; and a gentleman-commoner one night delicately placed a new pair at his door. Johnson arose in the morning, took up the shoes ; but instead of putting them on, walked to the banks of the river Cam and threw them in. Johnson valued an education beyond all the gold above the ground or under the ground, and he was willing to do every thing but one to secure it. He could work, he could put himself on an allowance, he could go in rags, but he could not depend on another. He could not wear a gift garment, or eat charity bread. His shoes, it is true, were old and past repair ; the water had free ingress, but not so free egress ; they excoriated the feet, and were but a beggarly protection against the cold. But they never upbraided him with his dependence—never told him that he was a pensioner on another's bounty, or worried him with the remembrance of an uncanceled obligation. So he stuck to the old shoes, and discarded the new. But these Home Missionaries can do what Samuel Johnson could not do. For Christ's sake, they can wear a gift garment ; for Christ's sake they can eat charity bread ; and wear the one and eat the other without envying man or reviling God. Oh ! as we have already said, there is nothing which these men are not willing to do or to bear, if Christ may only get glory thereby. There is a minister of Jesus toiling in an obscure place.

He has a bare living, and no provision—no patrimony, but a promise for which the worldling would scarcely give the parings of his pen. That man might have had a high place—that man might have gathered a large fortune—that man might have left his children a name that would have been a passport to any position. But possessing the true martyr-spirit, he gave up all for Christ. Nor has he been deceived, nor is he disappointed, nor in any way dissatisfied. He has received all that he expected to receive. He has Christ. Continual toil, continual privation, continual anxiety, the prospect of a premature death, or a forsaken old age, cannot drive him from his post. Nor does he call himself an object of pity. He asks no man to drop a tear or utter a sigh for him. For his daily work he gets his daily compensation—not fortune or fame—not a place or a name, but Christ. Old Philip Henry said that he would beg all the week to preach on the Sabbath; and blessed be God, the Philip Henrys are not all dead yet. There are men now in the American church who would preach the Gospel, if they had to go from the poor-house to the pulpit, and the pulpit to the poor-house. And if any man is curious to know where these men are, we point him to the West. You cannot starve these men out of the ministry. There is but one way to silence them, and that is the way which the Scribes and Pharisees took. You must revive the old order of things—must make preaching once more a capital offence, and put every man to death who tries to turn a sinner from the error of his ways.

Another thing which adds value to the voluntary suffering of our Home Missionaries, is the fact that they have perhaps less outward encouragement and support than any other class of men. The Foreign Missionary is an honored man among us, and most worthily so. His name is one of our household words, and his labors part of the common glory which constitutes the patrimony of the church. Come when he may, there are always warm hands and warm hearts ready to give him a reception.

But when a Home Missionary comes back to his native region, if he attracts any attention at all, it is not the attention which a wise man desires, or a good man deserves. A gentleman told me of a scene which he witnessed in one of our most wealthy, influential, Eastern churches, and when I mention it you will perceive that it is an illustration in point. A Western man entered the pulpit—he was a Western man, there could be no misapprehension on that point. There was a something about his gait, a something about his dress, a something about his manner, a something about the whole man, which showed clear enough to which side of the mountains he belonged. Yes, he hailed from the West, and there had endured hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. He had gone whole days without food. He had slept all night on the ground. He had entered the pulpit with an ague fit upon him, and swam rivers and preached with dripping clothes. He had passed over plains where nations might have gathered their food. He had wandered through forests where armies might have lost their way. He had sailed down rivers, each one of which might have supplied a continent with water, and been a river still. And he himself had been made on the same grand scale as the plains and forests and rivers of his native West. His own great heart could have supplied a whole community of ordinary men, with noble impulses and benevolent purposes, and been a heart still. But I am to speak to-night of the congregation, and not of the man. Some of the audience came to the door, and seeing who was in the pulpit, made a precipitate wheel—some arose and left the house—some turned scornfully away—some settled down to sleep; while all seemed to say, this is a hard infliction, who can bear it? But the Western man made them all heartily ashamed before he got through. When he finished his powerful, if not polished discourse, every head was up, every eye fixed, every ear open. When the never to be forgotten, the ever to be lamented Dr. Nelson, preached in my pulpit, the congregation thought that some miller of the city, not wonted to the sanctuary, had made a mistake and got into the wrong place. But that gifted man preached a sermon remembered to this day, as no other sermon preached in that house, has been remembered.

Oh! we none of us know how much we are indebted to these self-denying men. We none of us know how much they are doing for the church, how much for the country. Elijah was worth more to Israel than all the other inhabitants of the land, and worth more because he possessed the martyr-spirit and had power with God. All the priests of Baal, all the false prophets of Jezebel, all the sycophants of Ahab's court, could not have put a cloud in the sky big as a man's hand. But Elijah prayed, and every window in heaven was opened. The only green thing then in Judea was the mountain moss, which had hid away from the sun under some sheltering stone, and all the prayers of all the ungodly in the land could not have secured for that the little moisture it might need. But Elijah prayed, and the answering clouds came thick and fast, and the rain fell as if for another flood. Now these Home Missionaries are all Elijahs. They all have power with God, not that they could replenish the emptied cruse, or reproduce the consumed bread. No, they can do something better; they can avert God's anger; they can secure God's blessing. What keeps this city from destruction? The avenging elements are on every side of you, above, beneath, around; and what stays their wrath? Your municipal laws, your city authorities, your day and night police? Nay, but what kept the commissioned fire so long from Sodom? The prayers and intercessions of the righteous.

Let us then, Mr. President, sustain our Home Missionaries, for they are the men who watch over the republic—they are the men who tend the national watch-fires—they are the men who infuse into the masses those virtuous principles, without which we must drift among the breakers and dash upon the rocks!

Address of Hon. James Meacham, of Middlebury, Vt.,

IN SUPPORT OF THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION:

Resolved, That the friends of Home Missions should see that the Gospel Ministry keep pace with the Settlements in our new Territories.

MR. PRESIDENT—I appear with you this evening as a representative of Vermont, the earliest field occupied by domestic missionaries in the United States. I had the honor of a personal and familiar acquaintance with the first of that number. Returning late to heaven, he had done a great work for his Master. As a travelling missionary, he preached the Gospel in the scattered settlements of New York and Vermont, and gathered into new churches the flocks that were roaming without a fold, and without a shepherd. He became stationary in the western portion of our State; and his congregation furnished, proportionately, more college-graduates and ministers, than any other in the Union. At home, I need not say, that I refer to Rev. Jedediah Bushnell. If from one I may learn the character of all, a nobler band of uninspired apostles were never sent out than that detailed by the churches of Connecticut for the service of Vermont. Their names and deeds have a grateful remembrance. We shall honor, and, I trust shall imitate the spirit that planted many of our flourishing churches. Perhaps for this cause, we regard your Society as one of the most important of our benevolent organizations. Without disparagement of others, all highly esteemed, we profess a warm affection for the one remaining at home, and attending to her own domestic affairs. If Vermont were not already supplied, what hope of help could she have at the present time? What chance that her cries would be heeded, while there are actual or impending calls from a territory sufficient to make two hundred States as large as herself; calls that come up like the rushing of many waters, from every quarter of the land?

The pillars on the old Spanish coin current with us, indicated that the dominions of Castile and Leon extended to the Pillars of Hercules, or the end of the world. After the discovery by Columbus there was a change of the device; a broad fillet encircled the pillars, and on that fillet was inscribed "plus ultra," there is "more beyond." For the last twenty years we have heard often, and heard much of the great Valley of the Mississippi; that the dwellers in that fertile and magnificent basin, stretching from mountain range to mountain range, would mould and hold the destinies of this great nation. On the rocky ramparts of the west were our Pillars of Hercules—that was the end of our world. Since bold adventurers have reached the mouth of the Columbia, since California and New Mexico have been added to our territory, the hum of human voices has reached us round the Cape, and across the Isthmus. And anon, as the noise of a great army, the voice of the Saxon, the voice of the American, and the voice of every nation under the whole heaven, come roaring and thundering through the passes and gorges of the Rocky Mountains, bidding the government and bidding the church remember there is "more beyond!"

We have so long called ourselves a great nation that when we have made additions large enough to swallow the strongest European powers, we have left no unchartered terms by which to indicate the extent of our augmented whole. But, much as we have talked, I doubt whether, as friends of Home Missions, we fully realize how wide a field is now before us; that, after two centuries of progressive settlement, one half of our territory is not yet organized into States. Since your last meeting, California has joined the Union. She has come into that Union with a dowry of gold, such as none but the hand of her Creator could give. Long—yea, forever—may she hold her place as a bright star gilding the firmament of the West; but so far as regards the action of your Society she is in the condition of a territory, and, in many respects, has stronger claims than any other. Since your last meeting, Congress has framed State and territorial governments covering an area eleven times as large as New York, who has so long and so gracefully borne the name and banner of the Empire State. For generations to come, new additions will be discussed, and new States will present themselves at the national altar for baptism into the name of our glorious Union. Into those extended territories, now so rapidly settling, the pending resolution urges you to enter early, and work earnestly for the salvation of men. I know the field is large, and the work as important as any ever laid at the door of Missions since the foundation of the church. I trust that we have reached our limits, and pray God to give no more additions by the conquest of arms. But, if it be true, as predicted, that our republic is destined to cover the whole North American Continent, then the church, who gave the world the first idea of a representative government, should be prepared to lengthen her cords, and strengthen her stakes, over the same extended empire. If the work be great, there has been great and long preparation for it. God saved this land from the power of the Northmen, and turned the foot of the Spanish adventurer to more fertile and tempting fields, on which to try his disastrous experiment. He held back the Saxon, struggling like a chained eagle for freedom, till at the bidding of a tyrant's pedant, forty seven men had expended a hundred and forty one years of labor in translating the Bible. When that was printed and put into the hands of our fathers, he brought them slowly to their work, as the chosen seed was sifted from the masses of the old world. He bid the savage hold them in check till they should coalesce in forming societies and churches. He gave them a free constitution, and threescore years of unexampled prosperity under it. More to our purpose, he gave them fifty years of experience in planting churches by the agency of Domestic Missions, till there is not a doubt or doubter left, as to the power or safety of that agent. All this done, the gates are again lifted, and a new tide is heaving onward over river, and prairie, and mountain; and he calls the American churches to take it at its ebb, and follow westward the star of empire. If the work be begun in season and prosecuted with the spirit and energy it demands, there will probably be as few obstacles as in any field yet occupied; in the old territory comparatively none. In the new acquisitions we must expect that what has occurred in similar cases, in all human history, will occur again, the original inhabitants will very reluctantly give up the religion of their fathers, for the religion of their conquerors. The Mormons are mistaken in character, when reckoned as a religious body. Such an impression is not derived from their origin, or their creed or conduct. Candid men among them represent but few as sincere, while the great mass wear the mask loosely and carelessly. If that system ever rises above the rank of a cheat, it will not, by any devotion it inspires, or any morality it inculcates, attain the dignity of a religion. I can look on it only as the larva laid in our richest soil, from which is hereafter to spring a race of infidels.

We should send the Gospel ministry to those territories for the same purpose it was planted on earth, that men may be reconciled to God, and constantly reminded that they must be born again in order to see the kingdom of heaven. For this purpose, let the minister follow the merchant to the mart of commerce, and hold before him the pearl of great price, as the first object of his search and purchase. Let him go with the laborer tilling the farm, or digging the placer, and press him to buy the field that has buried wealth of immortal value. We should give the Gospel ministry for the moral influence exerted by the christian sanctuary. There can be no sound morality that does not spring from a pure religion, and nowhere else is it needed more than in laying the foundations of a State. They may have laws, good laws, but the sanctuary can accomplish what the law cannot do, in that it is weak through the flesh. In the memory of living men, two examples have been seen in contrast. In our revolution, all law was lifted up from off the American people, because all authority to enforce it was suspended. Every chord of power was snapt asunder. What did the people do? did they rush back to a state of disbanded nature? Three millions moved on so steadily, with so little riot, and so little social misrule, that not one man of a thousand now knows that such a state of things has ever existed. In the same age, the same experience was tried by another nation. When they had crushed their government; when they had trod the crown and crosier down, they rushed upon each other to rend and devour, like a menagerie of wild beasts when the bars of their cages are lifted. The morality which held our fathers, is needed to control their sons. It may not be needed in a despotism, whose convincing and coercive logic is lead and steel. But if we are to retain this fair land of freedom, which the Lord our God hath given us, we must have a christian morality. Without it, the present government of this nation, on the neck of the stubborn and headlong Saxon race, will be lighter than the down of a linnet's wing; and the laws now so mild and so safe, will become like the dry leaves of autumn before the wrath of a whirlwind. We should send the ministry to lay and execute the plans for a system of education. There are others who are qualified to do it; but, busy with their farms and merchandise, they will neglect it. The common school is the child of the Gospel, and they will keep company together through the settlements of the west. Generous men, in and out of the church, have contributed to lay the foundations of one hundred and eighteen colleges, and thousands of academies in the United States. But ministers of the Gospel have mainly led in the enterprise; and now mainly control and instruct in those institutions. The same thing will occur again if the proper agents are in the field. If those territories are not supplied with colleges and academies, and dotted all over with the school-house, they will come up a land of ignorance, and a land of guilt.

It will be a shame to Christianity if the Pacific shore shall give up all her treasure and get nothing in return. Cortes was thought to have gained amazing wealth when he carried six million and three hundred thousand dollars from the halls of Montezuma, a sum scarce equal to the income of a single month of the present time. In a year the world has sent out a hundred thousand men, with an outfit of thirty millions of dollars, for the sake of gain. Cannot the church contribute a hundredth part of as many men, and a three-hundredth part of as much money to send the word of life to all the territories? Our own brethren and kindred are there. Scarce a church or a neighborhood but has sent on a representative. Part will return; some rich, some poor. Part will remain; some as a matter of choice, and thousands as a matter of compulsion; they are too destitute ever to get home unless led back by the hand of charity. There is another new class on those shores. Formerly, Asiatics have not emigrated, as Europeans have done, to settle on our land. Occasionally, one has been brought home for exhibition, to give Americans additional proof that life may linger and flicker in the system, after the clamp and pulley have done their worst to torture the work of God. The attraction of gold has loosened more men than any other cause, for a century. They are now on your western coast. Christianity has sent out missionaries to convert the heathen;—and heathenism, following the example of Scipio, has come to our land and bids the church to make new enlistments, or check the career of her Hannibals, and bring them to the defence of her own firesides and altars.

An eminent Briton has lately given us the friendly admonition—long since uttered by a venerated and still living leader in the churches of Vermont—to save our country for the sake of the world! Christians abroad seem to regard us as peculiarly qualified to lead in the conversion of the world to Christ, and hence the exhortation to save our own republic. There have been republics before. We have heard of that in Greece, with twenty helots to a single freeman; and of the extended power and dominion of military Rome, that at the tread of her cohorts, and at the scream of her eagle, men trembled as at the premonition of a coming earthquake. There have been republics in modern Europe. There was one on this continent, two hundred years before its discovery. That brave band of mountaineers maintained their independence against the sweeping armies of Montezuma. But no republic, before ours, knowing Christianity, has been able to extend it. Cabined, cribbed, and confined, they have had no power or room to expand; while the danger with us is that we cannot stop the expansion. The vine brought out of Egypt, not clambering the walls of a narrow home, but covering the hills with its shadow and stretching its way to the river and sea, leads us to fear it may not carry in its extended branches the virtue and vigor of the parent stock.

Another source of confidence reposed in us, is that in this nation men command themselves and their resources. In Scotland, the land is in the hands of three thousand proprietors; in England, in the hands of thirty thousand. Thirty five millions of serfs labor to uphold the extended despotism of Russia. In Egypt, serfs toiled to build mausoleums for dead kings; in Mexico and Peru, to build hanging bridges and highways for the march of Incas and armies.

In this nation, men own the soil they till, and garner the products for themselves; they erect the government, and make the laws, and choose the rulers for themselves; they ply the commerce, and rear the factories, and build the railroads for themselves. There is one railroad they will yet build; it will reach to the going down of the sun, and form a continuous and unbroken line from ocean to ocean. It will be a great work for civilization, for agriculture, for commerce, and Christianity. Your Society has a deep interest in it. Men of our age will live to see it done; and the telegraph following in its footsteps; and intelligence crossing the continent in advance of the sun; and the morning news of New York transmitted, and printed, and read, as the morning news in San Francisco. Then truly, deep will call unto deep; the Atlantic and Pacific may join in the morning matin, and evening vesper.

Let the people, having the resources of this great nation in their own hands, be called on to save their own territory for freedom and Christianity, and that call will be answered. Let all Christians, in all parts of this land, each in their own order, act in concert for the same great end. Laying aside all sectarian rivalry and every other weight, let them imitate the brothers of our revolution, agreeing that one should take care of farms and families at home, while the other went forth to perils abroad for the salvation of the country. Let it be seen that patriots and Christians pray and act alike for the welfare of the land, by a union of all patriotic and christian hearts for the sake of the Union.

I will not renew the discussion as to the qualifications of ministers to be sent. From all I know of their situation and character, and especially from those whom they have selected to do their business abroad—like the late honored and now lamented Thurston—I judge the people in the territories to be eminently practical.

By a change of atmosphere—rarer or denser—they seem to acquire an accelerated motion. They will readily strip the mask from the hypocrite, and as quickly learn to honor the honest ambassador of Christ. This being true, send ministers of piety, of common sense, of learning, of versatility of talent, to meet new men in new situations, and under new impulses, and move them in the right direction. Send on one quack to prescribe a regimen of health, and a hundred physicians should follow to cure the diseases it will generate. There should be young men with the ardor and energy and hope of youth; and mature men, with the judicious confidence and the judicious diffidence that springs from experience. Some good may be done by those who can create commotion only on the surface, but along with them send other men who will go down to the foundations of the great deep, and work patiently and noiselessly till the coral reef shall lift its head above the wave and invite the extension of a continent—men who can work for the salvation of the soul, and the salvation of the state, and trust to God and posterity for a reward.

The Old Thirteen.

[From Stryker's American Register.]

The thirteen original States that formed and confirmed the Union, came together first, under the Articles of Confederation, adopted during the revolutionary war, and next under the Constitution of the United States, which went into operation in 1789. Before this union, they were deemed and termed Colonies of Great Britain, and their governments were established under grants and charters from the crown. The following are brief notes of their history.

Massachusetts.—Settled in 1620 by English; under the compacts of the emigrants of Nov. 3, 1620; chartered, March 4, 1629; also, January 13, 1630; explanatory charter, August 20, 1726; more completely chartered, Oct. 7, 1731; formed a Constitution, March 2, 1780; which was altered and amended, November 3, 1820.

New Hampshire.—Settled in 1623 by English; embraced under the charters of Massachusetts, and continued under the same jurisdiction until September 18, 1679, when a separate charter and government were granted. Formed a Constitution January 5, 1776; which was altered in 1784; and altered and amended, Feb. 13, 1792.

Rhode Island.—Settled in 1631 by English from Massachusetts; embraced under Massachusetts until July 8, 1762, when a separate charter was granted, which continued in force until a Constitution was formed in 1842.

Connecticut.—Settled in 1633 by emigrants from Massachusetts; embraced under Massachusetts until April 23, 1662; when a separate charter was granted, which continued in force until a Constitution was formed, Sept. 15, 1818.

New York.—Settled in 1613 by the Dutch; transferred to England in 1664; granted to the Duke of York by grants of March 20, 1664; April 26, 1664; June 24, 1664; newly patented, February 9, 1674; formed a Constitution, April 20, 1777, which was amended October 27, 1801, and November 10, 1821. New Constitution formed in 1846.

New Jersey.—Settled by Swedes in 1627; conquered by the Dutch in 1655; transferred to England in 1664; held under the same grants as New York; separated into East and West Jersey, March 3, 1667; its government surrendered to the crown 1702, and so continued until a Constitution was formed, July 2, 1776.

Pennsylvania.—Settled by the English; chartered Feb. 28, 1681; formed a Constitution, September 28, 1776; amended September 2, 1790.

Delaware.—Settled by Swedes in 1627; embraced in the charter and continued under the government of Pennsylvania until the formation of a Constitution, September 20, 1776; new Constitution, June 12, 1792.

Maryland.—Settled by English in 1634; chartered, June 20, 1632; formed a Constitution, August 14, 1776; amended in 1795, 1799, and in 1812.

Virginia.—Settled in 1607 by English; chartered April 10, 1606, May 23, 1609, and March 12, 1612; formed a Constitution, July 5, 1776; amended, Jan. 15, 1830.

North Carolina.—Settled in 1650 by English; chartered, March 20, 1663, and June 30, 1665; formed a Constitution, December 18, 1776; amended in 1835.

South Carolina.—Settled in 1689 by the English; embraced in the charters of Carolina and North Carolina, from which it was separated in 1729; formed a Constitution, March 26, 1776; amended, March 19, 1778, and June 3, 1790.

Georgia.—Settled in 1733 by English; chartered, June 9, 1732; formed a Constitution, Feb. 5, 1777; a second in 1785; and a third, May 30, 1798.

The New States

admitted into the Union since the adoption of the Constitution by the "Old Thirteen" were received as follows:

Vermont, March 4, 1791.
Kentucky, June 1, 1792.
Tennessee, June 1, 1796.
Ohio, November, 29, 1802.
Louisiana, April 8, 1812.
Indiana, December 11, 1816.
Mississippi, December 10, 1817.
Illinois, December 3, 1818.
Alabama, December 14, 1819.

Maine, March 15, 1820.
Missouri, August 10, 1821.
Arkansas, June 15, 1836.
Michigan, January 27, 1837.
Florida, March 3, 1845.
Texas, December 29, 1845.
Iowa, December 28, 1846.
Wisconsin, March 3, 1847.
California, September 9, 1850.

Prospective Population of the United States.

From the tables calculated by William Darby, Esq., the following estimates of the prospective population of the United States are derived. By reference to the actual increase since 1790, it is seen that the ratio equals 3 per cent. per annum, and these estimates are made at that rate.

Year.	Census.	Estimation.	Year.	Estimation.
1800	5,305,926	5,281,468	1860	31,095,535
1810	7,239,814	7,095,964	1870	40,617,708
1820	9,638,131	9,535,182	1880	54,586,795
1830	12,866,920	12,811,118	1890	73,382,185
1840	17,062,566	17,217,706	1900	98,595,512

Expansion of the Home Missionary Work.

To collect our whole population into christian congregations and supply each with a competent religious teacher, is the great and glorious aim of Home Missions. The accomplishment of this stands connected with more good than any other single work which American Christians can attempt. It will sanctify the influence which our country exerts on the political affairs of the world, and pours abroad through the thousand channels of commerce; and will thus directly aid in the evangelization of all heathen lands. Especially, will it provide a christian parentage, and a training in christian institutions, for the myriads who are soon to overspread our three and a quarter millions of square miles of territory.

This enterprise was, in its very first conception, one of overwhelming magnitude. To evangelize even the Home Missionary field which was spread out in the "Old thirteen States,"* was an attempt that required a daring faith. How much grander in design and more difficult to achieve has it now become, when the field of our labors has expanded nearly tenfold, and spreads across the continent, from Ocean to Ocean!

Among the agencies engaged on this vast theatre of christian effort, the American Home Missionary Society has, for a quarter of a century, held a prominent place. Though small in its origin, it was great in the scope of its plan, and derived a constitutional vigor from the philanthropy and wisdom of its founders. Beginning with 169 missionaries, in ten years it increased the number to 755; and in twenty-four years to 1,032. It has sought to lead out the enterprise of the churches in pursuit of our emigrant population; and has kept pace, in a good degree, with the crowds of pioneers who have pressed on, year by year, further towards the setting sun. For some twenty years, the progress of the line of settlements was at the average rate of seventeen miles annually; but during the last four years, they have extended over a region sixteen hundred miles from North to South, and two thousand from East to West. Throughout these vast limits, at points where a few years since such a demand was not even dreamed of, the intelligent and faithful missionary is not only needed, but is earnestly desired by waiting multitudes. From the mining region that skirts the shores of Lake Superior, westward towards Pembina and the sources of the Mississippi; southward to Texas, and up the valley of the Rio del Norte to New Mexico; even in Utah; and still more urgently in the gorges and plains of California, and along the grassy slopes and water-courses of Oregon, there is a call which cannot be unheard or misunderstood; a call for a living ministry—for men bearing the divine message and imbued with the divine spirit—as the essential requisites for laying the foundations of free states.

To meet these necessities, the churches acting through the American Home Missionary Society have attempted to do something. They have increased the number of their laborers on our nearer frontier; they have caused a large amount of exploration, preparatory to further advances; they have, with cautious promptitude, moved among the first to occupy the openings on the Pacific slope, whither they have already sent seven missionaries. But what is all that has been yet attempted in the regions enumerated, compared to the necessities of such widely-extended fields? Those new territories are now the points of attraction for the IMMIGRATION OF THE WORLD; and into them the flower of our own elder communities is rapidly passing! Each year is an epoch of the foundation of a State. The undertakings of christian enterprise, to keep pace with such a progress of things, must be pushed on a scale and with an energy altogether beyond former precedent. The old wastes must be repaired, that they spread not over the heritage of our fathers; ministers of the Gospel—the living agents who can best appreciate the wants of the people, and originate and execute plans for their relief—must be sought and sent out by hundreds to the newer territories. And to this end, the public mind must be continually informed and aroused, by such facts and appeals as shall elicit the interest, the prayer and the pecuniary support, which so great a work requires.

Illustration of the Missionary Era.

The following contrast of a settlement made now—when Home Missions are in operation in the new States—with similar settlements begun before the era of effort to supply the destitute, affords a striking illustration of the blessedness of that work in which we are engaged.

When I remember the four drinking houses in full operation, the profanity, Sabbath-breaking, open and boasted wickedness, and low vice, which when I came to this place met me at every corner of the street; and when I now look out on the moral aspect of affairs and see all these houses closed by the voice of the citizens, and nothing intoxicating sold unless by stealth; when I reflect that an oath is rarely heard, the Sabbath seldom broken by our citizens; that religion is respected and good order every where prevails, I think I may thank God and take courage.

Such is the influx of emigrants, that we have strangers here constantly from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and other newly settled States. Daily we hear the exclamation, "How moral this country is! I never saw a new country like this before! Such an interest in Sabbath schools, religious meetings and churches! and every one seems anxious to get a comfortable house and garden, to set out shrubbery, shade and fruit trees, and surround himself with comforts!" To be sensible of how much all this is in contrast with the state of things in the States whence these people come, you need to have seen those new settlements when they were of the same age—the log cabin of one room, around which the cattle, horses, and hogs, made their bed and shade, and stamped flies at will; and in which were the pots, kettles, &c., of the kitchen, the entire furniture of the rest of the house; the barrels of grain and meal-bags, &c., of the barn; the milk, butter, pork, grease, potatoes, &c., of the cellar, and the whole family of eight or ten persons. One field was the only inclosure; there the corn was raised in summer, and the cattle ranged in winter. Shrubby and garden fruits and those of the orchard were unknown. With this naked and unambitious state of things the ideas of the inmates of this "Castle of Indolence" were in perfect keeping. A journal of news or intelligence was rarely if ever seen within. A Bible and other books were not deemed needful in the household arrangements. The inside of a rough, unhewn, log school-house—with a fireplace of mud, occupying nearly the entire of one side; a log cut out of each of the other two sides and the door opened for the admission of light—was sometimes occupied for a month or two in the winter, and often not occupied at all—if indeed it existed. The only thing these rude settlers had in abundance were whiskey, broils and fighting, profanity, Sabbath violation, and other vices. This account will not apply to all, but to a large portion of those settlers. From the Alleghanies to the Rocky Mountains, from the Gulf to the Lakes, twenty years ago, I do not suppose there was one town to be found settled as this was by people from every section of the country, that would bear the least comparison with this in the spirit of moral, intellectual, and religious improvement. I do not know that there can be more than one way of accounting for all this. When those States were being settled, the christian world was asleep. If ever a professor of that religion whose divine author commanded "Seek first the kingdom of heaven" crossed them, it was generally in pursuit of some scheme of selfish and worldly aggrandizement, and rarely to look after their moral and spiritual wants. Thus, the favorable time to secure the future elevation of the country was lost, and the work has now to be done under great disadvantages. A new country attracts to it the ambitious and enterprising young men, eager to make better their own condition, and open to conviction that society may be also improved. The very act of emigrating arouses their faculties and renders them susceptible to new impressions and ready for new enterprises. While they are in this mood and while that generation are the youthful and chief actors on the stage of life, is the time to lead them in the most noble of all enterprises, that of laying broad and deep the foundations of an intelligent and religious community. If that occasion be suffered to pass unimproved, the sons of that generation will be an ignorant, indolent and vicious race. It has come to be an established maxim that in a new country the second generation is inferior to the first.

This summary has been so arranged, as to exhibit at one glance the statistics of each diocese and also of each ecclesiastical province. From the figures in this table and from preceding statements, it follows that there are, in the United States, 6 archbishops, 26 bishops, 1271 priests, and 1245 churches distributed among 34 dioceses and 2 apostolic vicariates. One bishop and twenty-six priests have died; whence it appears, that during the past year there has been an accession of 3 archbishops, 3 bishops, and 132 priests. The figures in the above table under the head of Catholic population, were obtained from official, and consequently the most reliable sources. If we suppose the Catholic population in the dioceses of St. Louis, Boston, Little Rock, Galveston, Oregon Territory, Monterey, and the Apostolic Vicariates of New Mexico and the Indian Territory, to be 280,000, the total number of Catholics in the United States will be 1,614,500.

Since the compilation of the above, Archbishop ECCLESTON, of Baltimore, has also died.

What Shall Our National Life Be?

There is a feature in the times, too marked to escape notice, which must affect and modify our national life. I refer to the accessions to our numbers on a portion of the soil. It has fringed the Atlantic with living men, it has poured some sparse millions into the valley of the Mississippi, it has pushed its vanguard beyond the Rocky Mountains and the Sierra Nevada, until they stand the precursors of millions on the shores of the Pacific, the children of the youngest and of the oldest-born of Noah, after girdling the globe, meeting and confronting each other, where the West and East are commingled and lost, awaiting the fulfilment of prophecy, when "the sons of Japhet shall dwell in the tents of Shem." Yes, something has been done. We have built hamlets, and towns and cities; we have organized schools and colleges; we have reared shops and workhouses; we have bared the soil of forests, and opened it to the blessings of the sun; and we have turned the woods into ships for the sea, and houses and churches for the land; we have evoked from the soil the wealth of teeming garners: we have dammed up the strength of rivers, and made these Samsons spin and weave for us. Our science has extorted confessions from nature, and added something to the stores of human knowledge; while it has made the air, the earth, and the sea, and the things that are under them, from the filament of the cotton plant, to the hot breath of the steam engine, tributary to the use, the comfort, the ornament and happiness of human life. The national life in its infancy and weakness has done something; but how little compared with the possibilities, the certainties of the future. We must go on. Development—progress—is the law of heaven and of earth; and under it we live, or die, giving place to a vitality, more energetic than our own. What then shall that national life be, when the myriads of our children existing in the purpose of God now, and awaiting but his call to spring into being, shall hear his voice; when the three millions of the Revolution,—the twenty two millions of the present,—shall become the two hundred millions of the future, and fill the land with all the activities which enter into the heart of man; when iron yet in the stone shall be moulded to the plough, and the share shall turn up the first time since the creation the prairie furrow to the sun, leaving no acres to waste and barrenness, but clothing the broad land with the varied harvest, from the finest of the wheat to the clusters of the vine; when forests now in the acorn, and stone now in the unbroken quarry, shall rise into the homes of generations in the farm-house, the hamlet, the cities of our future millions; when the Father of Waters, grasping at once with his long arms the Alleghanies and the Rocky Mountains, shall see a Mississippi of iron bridging his channels, overleaping his barrier mountains, and linking together the waters of either ocean, a highway for man; then, when man has asserted his right of sovereignty derived from God, over the earth, and the earth has yielded itself obedient to his will, what shall our national life be? God only knows. Man may well shrink from measuring the cubits of that stature.

We have looked on the gross and material body of our national life. What shall be the living soul which shall quicken it, and use its capabilities? What shall be the intellect, the conscience and the will of the nation, which shall make up our life, shape our character, chronicle our history, determine our doom, and write our epitaph?—Rev. W. M. Rogers.

Home Missions—What is the aim, and what the Result?

The aim of this, how grand it is!—to subdue this country to the blessed reign of Truth and of Christ; to fill this land, especially at the West, with the life and the power of Christian belief; to make it a Mountain of Holiness, and of divine knowledge. Its method, too, is a noble one. It aims to do this by establishing the ministers of the Gospel, able and diligent men, prepared to preach in the love and the power of him whom they serve, at every destitute and prominent point; that they may organize churches there, may gather Sunday schools, may sustain the institutions of public worship, may be active in every good work of philanthropy, and may distribute and accompany by their personal ministrations the Bibles and the tracts that shall be furnished from the East. It plants institutions, and does not merely scatter publications—however valuable in its place that may be. It fixes the nucleus around which may be gathered, and to which may be united, all elements of good. It drives down the piles, upon which may be built the institutions of christian society, and by which may be stayed the rushing streams of immorality and error. It puts Men—live ones, too, the most of them are, who know what the Gospel is, and what the world wants of them—at a thousand different points throughout the land; to speak for Christ, and the welfare of the soul. If Romanism is to be subdued and transformed, or to be effectually resisted in this country, as it certainly is to be, it must be by this agency. If Religion, and Freedom, and social and civil Happiness, are to be preserved and established here, it must be by this agency. It is just the work of Christ, when he sent out his seventy, done over and over with every year, on the broadest scale, and on the noblest and most important theatre the world as yet has ever seen. These missionaries build churches; build school-houses; build, finally, colleges and theological schools. They are covering the West with a christian civilization. They will redeem it—as surely as time to do it is given them—to God and to his truth, and to his work of evangelizing and saving the world. And on the accomplishment of that work, rest, humanly speaking, the hopes of the world.

The first Puritan Meeting-House in Oregon.

In itself considered, the rearing of a house of worship is no great fact; but contemplated as a seminal event, as the first in a series which shall end only with time itself, and which involves the most momentous results to individuals and to communities, the erection and dedication of this first house of worship, consecrated to the exhibition of those doctrines which distinguish the sons of the Pilgrims, forms an era in the moral progress of our nation.

The exercises of the dedication were conducted in part, by ministers of other denominations. The house was full, and many were there who had never before witnessed such services; yet, from the attention and apparent interest in all that passed, we felt that no series of discourses upon the subject of divine worship, could so deeply impress the mind, as the simple act of dedicating this house to God. It was felt that this was God's house, and that he would here meet spiritual worshippers as truly as he did in the temple on Mount Moriah, by a visible Shekinah.

A Mother of Churches.

By the blessing of God, I think there is yet to be a prosperous church here. The process, thus far, has been gradual; but this, under the circumstances, is no strange thing. On the whole, since I have been laboring in this place, I have been disappointed, happily rather than adversely, in the results which have followed my efforts. Should this church ever become independent of the A. H. M. S., being placed upon a permanent foundation for prosperity, she will owe a debt of gratitude to your Society, which she will never repay. Her being and success, under God, will all be owing to the benevolence of Home Missions.

The same means as were employed to plant this church, may be made available to plant scores of others in the state, in places where they are already demanded, and where soon error will otherwise gain a rank ascendancy.

Testimony for the A. H. M. S.

I trust you feel encouraged to devote anew your lives and energies to the great and good work to which you have been called. If it would not be looked upon as the testimony of an interested witness, I would say that the importance of the labors of your Society has so deepened upon my own mind that I regard the Home Missionary Society second to no other which the church has devised for the extension of the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Nor would this testimony be altered one iota should this be the last report I should ever make under your patronage.

More Pastors Wanted.

Itinerant ministers do not generally succeed in keeping up Sabbath schools. They preach to the people and then leave them for two weeks or a month. The habit of having meetings, only monthly or semi-monthly, is itself a great check upon the Sabbath school enterprise. We must have stated preaching and stated observance of the Lord's day, as well as a regular attendance at the place of preaching. The second and third, are secured gradually by the first, and these all prepare the way for the highest usefulness and efficiency of the Sabbath school. To accomplish the whole, we must have more Home Missionaries.

What is to be done?

Every thing that has been employed, for the promotion of Home Missions, must be used with augmented energy. Christians must know more of their country and its wants; they must pray more for its salvation; they must give more liberally for home objects; they must throw more earnestness into the various forms of coöperation with this enterprise. Young men ought to devote themselves to the ministry; their parents should give them up freely and educate them for this object; clergymen should solemnly canvass the claims of the destitute portions of the land on their personal labors. Laymen are wanted who have public spirit and experience to lay the foundations of society, to impart consistency and firmness to the infant institutions of new settlements; and those whom God's providence excuses from going in person, ought to go by proxy—should induce others to go—should go by their advice, by their money, by their frequent messages of sympathy and encouragement. They can help to pay the Western pastor's salary, through the Home Missionary Society; they can send books to the Sabbath school; they can assist to build his church; they can replenish his scanty wardrobe, or his still more scanty library. Indeed, there is almost no end to the modes of helping on the Home Missionary cause, some of which are accessible to every person. Whoever has a will, cannot fail to find a way.

"Foreign and Home Missions Mingling."

Speaking of missionary stations, I am led to remark, that I was struck with the fact that our Home Missionary operations are becoming intermingled with, and are overlapping those of the Foreign Board. In my recent trip to Minnesota, I passed Redwing and Kaposia, villages of Sioux Indians, where are missionaries of the American Board, one of which is 55 and the other 4 miles below St. Paul, the station of Rev. Mr. Niell of the American Home Missionary Society; so rapidly are our settlements extending, and so immensely is the Home field expanding.

Another fact will illustrate the self-multiplying power of the Home Missionary work. When I first commenced my labors here, I found in the little church a young man of devoted piety, who had been converted under the labors of my predecessor, a missionary of the A. H. M. Society. His attention was soon called to the question of studying for the ministry, and on his consulting with me, I urged him to cherish the desire for "the good work" of a bishop, and assured him that, though destitute of pecuniary means, the Lord would provide if he needed his services. Soon after, an offer was made to him by a church in Illinois to give him an education; the circumstances connected with which offer are exceedingly interesting, as showing the interposition of Providence in answer to prayer, but which I cannot now specify. He accepted the offer, and commenced his studies, and subsequently graduated at Knox College in Illinois, then entered Union Seminary in New York city, and closed his course the present season, distinguished as one of the best scholars, I believe, in his class. He has just been married, and with his wife has set off to enter upon the missionary work in California. Here, then, is a little feeble missionary church in Iowa (as was this church then), furnishing a missionary for the still newer fields of the farthest West, whose labor will doubtless tell on the moral destiny of that important region.

Mormon Statistics.

There are not more than 5,000 Mormons in western Iowa, and less than 12,000 at Salt Lake, and possibly 8,000 scattered through other parts of the United States; besides those who adhere to Strang and Brewster. In a late article in the Eclectic Magazine, it is stated that there are 30,000 Mormons in Great Britain, making in all,

55,000 Mormons. Large numbers arrive annually from Great Britain; their recent converts are chiefly foreigners. They are intending to leave Iowa and concentrate in Utah. This is their avowed purpose. They are selling their improvements cheap, and are erecting only temporary buildings. At Salt Lake, they are erecting costly structures, the smith-shop is said to be 600 feet long. About 3,000 emigrated to "The Valley," as they call it, last spring, and five years hence few will be left in Iowa.—[Oct. 1850.]

Duty of Laymen.

What are the inquiries which they make concerning the place of residence to be chosen? Will my worldly business be more successful? Is there a flourishing church and a good state of society? Should they not inquire, Am I needed there as a Christian?—Where is the place in which I can do the most good? If I can do more good in a destitute region, in a church of few members and of feeble strength, is it not my duty to leave this flourishing church and go to their rescue, sacrificing worldly interest and comfort? When to do good, to endure hardness, instead of enjoying even good religious privileges, shall enter more fully into the hearts of the people of God, their dross will be purged away, a dead faith exploded, deceived souls undeceived, and sin mortally wounded. A small addition of such emigrant Christians to scores of feeble churches scattered over the land, would raise them to prosperity and permanency.

It is men that we want, the laity as well as ministers. Heaven directs, and the destitute join in the cry, "Pray ye the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into the harvest?" Send them from the churches; scatter the churches over the world.

One Needy Field.

Lexington Presbytery, in Missouri, has a very large geographical territory. It is not less than one hundred and seventy or eighty miles square, containing thirty one counties, many of which are large and populous. In this Presbytery is included that most fertile of all lands, the Platte Purchase, comprised within the limits of Platte, Buchanan, Andrew, Holt, Noddaway, and Atchison counties. Yet, notwithstanding all this, this Presbytery has upon its roll only twelve ministers, and two of these, from causes not necessary to mention, are not doing much. Ten ministers, then, are all there are to do up the great work of preaching the Gospel in thirty one counties, comprising a territory almost four times as large as the whole State of Massachusetts. All over this wide region are scattered Presbyterian families, who have never heard the Gospel by one of their own order since they came to Missouri. The whole region is rapidly becoming densely populated. In fifteen or twenty years, it will teem with a population as dense as Massachusetts now does. In two years time, it is expected, a railroad will connect St. Joseph and Hannibal—a city directly east, on the Mississippi—and thence directly with New York city. What a field of labor—most inviting, and replete with glorious expectations to any good, active, faithful minister of Christ!

Influence of Doctrinal Systems.

There is one most remarkable fact apparent in the operations of all denominations in Southern Indiana, those only excepted, to which your Missionaries belong, viz: beyond a certain point there is no increase of knowledge on divine subjects. A new convert perhaps acquires some new ideas the first three or four weeks of his connection with the church; but after that, as an ordinary fact, he remains stationary and grows in knowledge no more. It is true that some ministers in these denominations are lamentably deficient in education and qualifications for the work; but it seems to me we ought to attribute this effect to the systems, as the cause, rather than to the present generation of ministers. Romanism positively forbids growth in divine knowledge. Universalism and Antinomianism do not require it, because not essential to salvation, according to either. Arminianism does not permit it, because contracted—without expansion—an apt thinker may know all that can be known about it in two weeks. Calvinism expands to infinity; and while it preserves individual responsibility, it makes growth in knowledge as well as in grace essential to salvation and fitness for heaven, and thereby secures the necessary advancement. I am satisfied that all other systems will fail. God must be brought into the world and into the individual mind in all the vastness of his attributes and purposes and governmental operations over us, or this world cannot be evangelized.

Catechism Committed.

Our Sabbath school has continued to be well attended. A number of the children have been committing to memory the Shorter Catechism, expecting, as a reward, a small Bible, which was promised through the benevolence of some gentleman at the East, to as many of them as would learn it. About twenty children have completed it, and I expect to have the pleasure of presenting them their Bibles week after next. One family of children have been so anxious to attend the Sabbath school that they have walked four miles. They have been laboring with their father, who never attends meeting, to induce him to go to church. Sabbath before last they succeeded. Their father came with his ox-team, and brought them all. I have seldom seen children more delighted than they seemed to be. Two of the other three Sabbath schools, which I organized in the spring, have been kept up until recently. The third was suspended, on account of there being no place to hold it.

Dependence on Missionary Aid.

It would be impracticable for a minister to stay in this field at present without the aid of your Society. Although I have been here three-fourths of the year, I have not yet received a single dollar in money for my services from the people; you may suppose that your drafts coming so promptly are very acceptable.

Frontier Labor.

I am trying to preach three sermons each Sabbath to three different neighborhoods; but whether I shall be able thus to labor through the year time will determine. My congregations are good and attentive.

I make it a point to visit all the schools in the bounds of my work, and converse with the children and distribute tracts, books and papers, of which I have now but a limited supply.

The visiting of the sick forms an important item in my labors of the quarter now closed. The seeking out those who formerly enjoyed christian fellowship at the East, but are now without the pale of the church, and hitherto unvisited by the servants of God, is no small item in the catalogue of my services. The amount of these services will be more readily appreciated when I inform you that I am extending my labors over a territory of 144 square miles, dotted over with log cabins, filled with our fellow travellers to eternity.

I have established six Sabbath schools; but have only begun that part of my work.

There is a great lack of ministerial labor in this section of the country. The ministers of the Gospel here are contending with poverty and struggling amid privations; and were it not for the timely, yet limited aid from the Home Missionary Society, the whole field would of necessity be abandoned.

Help from Abroad Indispensable.

As God's agency, my chief support has come from you. I consider my present field of labor one that it is important to occupy, but one from which a minister cannot at present expect a very large part of his support. During the last year, I have received nothing at all in money from the people with whom I labor, and but very little in provisions. The most that they have done, has been done in drawing the materials for my house. But in stating this, I do not complain of any unwillingness on their part. Those who made the most of the subscription, though farmers, have been obliged to buy grain for their own families. Eighty or eighty five dollars, besides your commission of $200, is probably as much as I shall realize for the past year.

It is thus the nation's benefactors live—the men who are doing more for the peace and order of the country than they do who make and execute the laws; more for its wealth than they who carry on trade. Their teaching and example—the leaven of their influence, through the various institutions that cluster around the churches where they labor—supplies the healthful life-blood which gives tone and strength to the social body. And yet they are very imperfectly appreciated and supported.

Injustice to Ministers.

Were it not for the punctual, ever timely, quarterly drafts from the Society, our sufferings must have been greatly increased. But among the people who enjoy the fruits of our labor, how small the compensation that we receive, and how reluctantly it is paid us. Frequently, month after month, quarter after quarter, and even year after year, pass by, and we are unpaid. Our just dues are kept back, while the debts and necessities of our families are fast increasing. Our minds are often greatly depressed and clouded by anxiety about the wants of our families. And this has been my lot for years. In such circumstances, not only are the contributions of your Institution a great convenience and assistance, but they are indispensable. Indeed, if any cause should suspend your appropriations, it is doubtful whether our congregations would survive the shock.

Dependence Recognized.

When your missionaries are for any reason disappointed in receiving their regular dues, they realize what would be their condition and the condition of the churches without the Society's aid. Without this aid two-thirds of your missionaries would be obliged to resort to some other calling for a bare subsistence; and thus render their work almost wholly inefficient. When every power of the body and soul is nerved up to this work, the advances upon the kingdom of darkness is so slow, that we can hardly see that any thing is accomplished. And if the energies of the minister were to be crippled by turning his attention to other callings for a subsistence, what more could be expected of him than of any other intelligent member of the church? It is true, that ministers of extraordinary piety and zeal will subsist by other callings, and still accomplish much in the cause of Christ; but nothing, in comparison with what they might accomplish, if wholly devoted to the one great work of laboring for the salvation of souls.

Something Done.

No one has been confined in our county jail for between two and three years. For three successive sessions the Grand Jury have found no bill of indictment. Our county court has but little business. The last fall session continued but two or three hours. We have four lawyers in this place. Not many, if any, depend on their profession for a support. Two or three are farmers, and one is acting as a clerk. There are five evangelical ministers who have the care of churches, whose labors extend into some of the adjoining counties. Last winter and spring there was considerable interest on the subject of religion. Some of the members of the Methodist and Congregational Churches were considerably revived, and there were a number of hopeful conversions. Among the number was one infidel of influence, who remains steadfast in the faith.

Infidelity has been very popular in this place. We think it is giving way before the power of truth.

We have an interesting Sabbath school, and also a Bible class. Our meetings on the Sabbath are well attended.

A county Bible Society has just been formed, and $74 subscribed for the distribution of the Bible.

A Privilege Improved.

I esteem it a great privilege to preach the Gospel here, not because I can enter every Sabbath, or any Sabbath, a well-arranged, carpeted and pulpited house of worship; not because I can always preach to a well-arranged, neatly-attired, and devout assembly; or can listen to the sweet melodies of the organ or other instruments of music, or even of the human voice; but because of the great need there is of the preaching of the Gospel in the midst of a people that are greatly drawn away by that which is not the Gospel; and because I would that these should be persuaded to come to the overflowing fountain that is opened for the washing away of sin.

Accordingly, this missionary is diligently engaged in breaking up the fallow ground at five or six different points, from 9 to 15 miles apart; establishing Sabbath schools, searching out the scattered sheep, and preparing the way for the formation of churches. His wife, meanwhile, conducts a school of young ladies; and in these ways this missionary family becomes a light and a blessing of incalculable value to a whole county.

This Society sent a missionary to N. E. Tennessee, two years ago. His labors have been so welcomed by the people, that they now undertake his whole support. The following is from his last report:

I have preached more to the destitute within the last three months, than formerly. I go into neighborhoods where people have been living over six years, who never heard a Presbyterian minister before. They are always very attentive, and anxious to have me return. There are about ten preaching places which I try to visit nearly every month, and in each place good congregations assemble.

In reviewing the field, I think Presbyterianism is rapidly on the increase, and other influences as rapidly waning.

I have preached in sixteen places in Hawkins county, and in one place in Hancock, in most of which a Presbyterian minister had never been before, and in nearly all of which a faithful laborer could build up a church. I hope you will be able to send us some workmen shortly, by whom the Lord will do great things.

Growth of Intelligence and Order.

What has God wrought by your missionary in this place? If wholly guided by sight, some would say, "Not enough to pay the expense." But several things we may see. Our little flock has remained harmonious in action, they have been one and undivided. Three additions only have been made to it during the year; one by profession and two by letter. Yet from the increased attendance upon our meetings, we have reason to believe that, as a society, we are gaining popular favor. The cause of temperance is greatly in advance of what it was a year ago; there is no licensed establishment for the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage in our county at this time. And I am happy to say, that much is doing in our state, at this time, by way of temperance conventions and petitions to the legislature, to repeal all laws legalizing the traffic in intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

The cause of education has advanced in our place. One year ago, we had no school-house; we have now a comfortable school-house, twenty-two by forty feet in size, and a good school in two departments in successful operation. We have also been able to raise a subscription to build a meeting-house for the society of Congregationalists during next spring and summer, and shall, during the winter, get out materials to raise the house in the spring.

A Place not Six Years old.

Our house of worship has ordinarily been full, the members in attendance being generally from two hundred to two hundred and fifty; the attention good and oftentimes solemn. I preach twice upon the Sabbath in the church, and occasionally a third sermon in the school-houses out of town, where I have found interesting audiences. A Bible class of interest is attended one evening in the week; the Sabbath school full, with an average attendance in the summer of probably between 80 and 90 members. Monthly concerts of prayer for missions and for Sunday schools, are sustained—the latter with marked interest. One evening of the week is devoted to social prayer, a female prayer meeting is sustained, and also a "girls' prayer-meeting." There is a flourishing sewing society, the avails of which are devoted to the support of a colporteur, and a children's society, which casts its mite into the treasury of the A. B. C. F. M. It will be remembered that this place is not yet six years old.

We now have three churches—Presbyterian, Baptist, and Methodist. The tone of public sentiment in relation to education may be estimated, when I say that last evening the school district voted to build a school-house worth "not to exceed $3,000."

I am earnestly for that I am permitted to labor in the West; I should be glad to greet other laborers.

Unseen Good.

The Lord only knows what would be the state of things in the West, if the A. H. M. S. should withdraw their influence and their aid from this wide field of error, discord, and strife. Our friends will never know the importance of the work they are accomplishing, until they see it in the light of eternity. To form any correct idea of things here, one must mingle with the people, talk with them in their cabins, and hear them tell their ideas of moral and religious subjects.

Many fly through the West, on railroads or in steamboats, and then report many flattering things; but to know the truth, and the amount of labor to be done, and what your Society is doing, one must go into the highways and by-ways, and search out the spirits that are working among the people. I would not speak lightly of other means that are being used for the West—far from it; they are doing much; but the A. H. M. S. is doing more. It is an indispensable engine, in carrying on the work of the Lord through these vast regions. There is no doubt but the patrons of this Society are laying up treasures in heaven.

I feel that the aid I receive from this Society increases my obligations to diligence in duty.

The first, "Church-going bell," in Minnesota.

I have commenced preaching in the new brick church edifice, which has been erected in the place of the building that was destroyed by fire. About noon, on the Saturday before we began to worship there, a bell for the use of the church arrived in a steamboat. By dint of labor, and pressing blacksmiths and ropes into the service it was, after a few hours, swung in the unfinished belfry, and at nine o'clock that night its "great iron heart began to throb." Its solemn pulsations, heard at times at Fort Snelling, five or six miles up the Mississippi, were joyous to every man, woman, and child in St. Paul; but productive of trembling astonishment to the painted Dacotas, encamped on the opposite bank of the river.

Eighteen months ago there was not a member of my church here, and scarcely one of my congregation. Had it not been for the fostering care of your Society, most of those who now listen to the preaching of your missionary would not have entered a house of worship, but have passed the Sabbath in lounging, or visiting, or in dissipation.

Systematic Benevolence.

"Trust in the Lord and do good, and verily thou shalt be fed."

I have been interested in the subject of systematic beneficence, and some time ago preached on it. Poor as I am, and receiving hardly enough to pay my expenses, I have made it my rule for some time to lay in store one-tenth of all my income. It is blessed to give—and thanks be to God for the privilege. Our church are remarkable for promptness in paying what they promise. I can rely upon the quarterly due as if it were in a bank. This is worthy of notice among so many examples of an opposite character. Sometimes I get almost or quite run ashore, but Providence is always present to help. A case of it occurred this last quarter. Several weeks before it expired, I was out of money to buy our necessities and expected to borrow, as my credit is good. But unexpectedly I was called on to attend two weddings within a few days of each other, and these brought in two five-dollar fees, making ten dollars, one dollar of which was cast into the Lord's treasury, and the nine dollars supplied our wants. I should be glad to spend more for books, as my library is small, and I am desirous of having resources to make my sermons instructive to my intelligent hearers.

Abiding Effects of a Revival.

So suddenly was our church erected and finished, and so rapidly did we pass through the changes from death to life, from no church to a church of fifty and more, with four godly and competent elders, that I seem to myself in a dream, as now from Sabbath to Sabbath I find myself in the well-adorned pulpit of a good and ample church, with a respectably numerous audience comfortably seated before me. The revival of last spring has proved a permanent and growing blessing. Christians then gained a higher point of prayerfulness, activity and faith; they have not receded. As a general thing, they have grown in grace ever since.

TWENTY SIXTH ANNIVERSARY.

The AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY held its Twenty Sixth Anniversary in the Broadway Tabernacle, New York, on Wednesday evening, May 12th, 1852.

HENRY DWIGHT, Esq., President of the Society, took the chair, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. SWAN L. POMROY, D.D., of Boston, Mass.

In the absence of the Treasurer, an abstract of his Report was read by Mr. CHRISTOPHER R. ROBERT, the Recording Secretary.

An abstract of the Annual Report of the Executive Committee was presented by Rev. DAVID B. COE, one of the Secretaries.

On motion of Rev. CYRUS BYINGTON, Missionary to the Choctaw Indians, seconded by Rev. THERON BALDWIN, of New York,

Resolved, That the Reports now presented, be adopted and published under the Direction of the Executive Committee.

On motion of Rev. JOSEPH F. TUTTLE, of Rockaway, N. J., seconded by Rev. MYRON TRACY, of Hudson, O.,

Resolved, That the preaching of Jesus Christ and him crucified, by the living ministry, is an essential instrumentality in the salvation of the West; and, that the unprecedented growth of that part of our country, calls loudly on the American Church to furnish this instrumentality until the West is saved.

On motion of Rev. JOHN P. GULLIVER, of Norwich, Ct., seconded by Rev. JOHN R. ADAMS, of Gorham, Me.,

Resolved, That the cause of civil and religious liberty throughout the world can be most effectually promoted by the thorough evangelization of our own country.

On motion of Rev. ASA D. SMITH, D.D., of New York, seconded by Rev. CHRISTOPHER M. NICKELS, of Barre, Mass.,

Resolved, That by many voices of prayer, and many converging lines of Providence, we are urged and encouraged to cordial and earnest coöperation in the work of home evangelization.

In support of these resolutions the Society was addressed by Rev. Messrs. TUTTLE, GULLIVER, and Dr. SMITH, setting forth, in eloquent and impressive terms, the great extent of the field entrusted to the American Churches ; the essential agency of the Ministry in cultivating it ; the bearings of our country's evangelization on religion and freedom in other lands ; and the motives to increased zeal, and the grounds of hope, in prosecuting our work at home.

The exercises were enlivened and rendered more impressive by the intermingling of sacred song, the whole congregation uniting, under the leadership of Mr. L. HART.

The Benediction was pronounced by Rev. WILLIAM ADAMS, D.D., of New York.

The Society then proceeded to the election of officers for the ensuing year.

The following officers were chosen :

CONSTITUTION
AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ART. 1. This Society shall be denominated THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ART. 2. The object of this Society shall be, to assist congregations that are unable to support the Gospel ministry, and to send the Gospel to the destitute, within the United States ; also to co-operate with evangelical Christians in the support of Home Missions in nominally christian countries, to such an extent as the funds of the Institution may justify.

ART. 3. The officers of the Society shall be a President, Vice President, a Treasurer, an Auditor, one or more Secretaries for Correspondence, a Recording Secretary, and fifty Directors, who shall be annually appointed by the Society ; and who, together with the Directors for life, shall constitute a Board, seven of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened.

ART. 4. The officers and Directors shall appoint an Executive Committee of fourteen, (including the Treasurer, the Secretaries for Correspondence, and the Recording Secretary,) residing in the City of New York and its vicinity ; five of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened. The Committee shall have power to appoint its own meetings, form its own rules of business, and fill any vacancies in its own number which may occur during the year, and to convene special meetings of the Board or Society ; shall appoint missionaries and instruct them as to the field and manner of their labors ; shall have the disposal of the funds ; shall create such agency or agencies for appointing missionaries, and for other purposes, as the interests of the Institution may require ; and shall make an Annual Report of their proceedings to the Society.

ART. 5. The Treasurer shall give bonds, annually, to such amount as the Executive Committee shall think proper.

ART. 6. Any person may become a member of this Society, by contributing annually to its funds; thirty dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Member for life; and one hundred dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Director for life; and any person on the payment of a sum which, in addition to any previous contribution to the funds, shall amount to one hundred dollars, shall be a Director for life. An executor, on paying a legacy of two hundred and fifty dollars to the funds of this Society, shall be a Member for life; and the payment of a legacy of one thousand dollars shall constitute a Director for life.

ART. 7. Any Missionary Society may become Auxiliary, by agreeing to pay into the Treasury of this Society the whole of its surplus funds, and sending to the Secretaries for Correspondence a copy of its Constitution and Annual Reports, mentioning the names of its Missionaries, and the fields of their operations.

ART. 8. Every Auxiliary Society, which shall agree to pay the whole of its funds to this Society, shall be entitled to a missionary or missionaries to labor in such field as it may designate; at least to the amount of its contributions; provided such designation be made at the time of payment.

ART. 9. The officers of all Auxiliary Societies shall be, ex officio, Directors; and annual contributors to their funds shall be members of the Society.

ART. 10. This Society shall meet annually in the city of New York, on the Wednesday next preceding the second Thursday in May.

ART. 11. No alteration shall be made in this Constitution without a vote of two-thirds of the members present at an annual meeting; nor unless the same shall have been proposed at a previous annual meeting, or recommended by the Executive Committee.

TWENTY SIXTH REPORT.

IN taking a brief survey of the operations of the American Home Missionary Society for another year, we desire, first of all, to unite with its many patrons and friends in a devout recognition of the kind hand of God in guiding and sustaining the Institution under all its responsibilities, and in giving thanks to his holy name for the success with which its labors have been crowned.

We would be admonished also, by the record we are called to make of the departure of valued patrons, counselors and associates in the missionary work.

Since the last Anniversary, two of the Vice Presidents of the Society—the Hon. NATHANIEL W. HOWELL, LL. D., and the Rev. HENRY DAVIS, D. D.—have been removed by death. They had sustained official relations to the Institution from its infancy; they highly appreciated its principles of action and the fruits of its labors, and gave it the benefit of their advocacy, their benefactions and their prayers. The Rev. ERSKINE MASON, D. D.—one of the Directors of the Society, and for three years a member of the Executive Committee—the eloquent preacher, the wise counselor, the steadfast friend of every philanthropic and Christian enterprise, has been taken from us in the vigor of his manhood, and this Society, in common with kindred institutions and the Church of God, deplore their loss. The Rev. WILLIAM KIRBY, after more than six years of laborious and faithful service as the Agent of the Society in Central Illinois, has likewise entered into his rest.

Five of the Missionaries of the Society have also died during the year—Rev. Daniel B. Butts, in New York; Rev. Horace A. Taylor, in Pennsylvania; Rev. Isaiah N. Ford, in Ohio; and Rev. James Hildreth, and Rev. William T. Wheeler, in Illinois.

“Help, Lord, for the godly man ceaseth, for the faithful fail from among the children of men.”

The operations of the Society, in connection with its auxiliaries, agencies, and principal missionary fields, are noticed in the body of the Report, under their appropriate heads ; such details as can be presented in a compact form, are embraced in the following—

GENERAL TABLE,

Showing, in parallel columns,

1. An alphabetical list of Missionaries.
2. The names of congregations and missionary districts aided.
3. Dates of commissions, or time of commencing labor.
4. Length of commissions in months.
5. Amount of aid pledged, for the time named in the preceding column, and on condition that the labor contemplated is performed. Where $400 is pledged to those who go West to be located under the direction of the Society, the pledge includes what will be raised by their people, during the year, for their support.
6. Months of labor performed, since the last report.
7. Number of hopeful conversions.
8. Additions to the churches on examination.
9. Additions to the churches by letter.
10. Number of Sabbath-school and Bible-class pupils.
11. Amount of contributions to benevolent objects.
12. Other particulars.

SUMMARY OF RESULTS.

The number of ministers of the Gospel in the service of the Society the last year, whose names are found in the General Table—together with those engaged in superintending the missionary work, and who are mentioned in connection with the respective Auxiliaries and Agencies—is 1,065.

Of these, 861 were in commission at the date of the last Report, and 204 have been since appointed.

They have been distributed in 28 different States and Territories, as follows: in Maine, 96; New Hampshire, 44; Vermont, 60; Massachusetts, 54; Rhode Island, 7; Connecticut, 44; New York, 157; New Jersey, 10; Pennsylvania, 44; Delaware, 2; Maryland, 1; District of Columbia, 1; Virginia, 8; North Carolina, 2; Georgia, 1; Arkansas, 1; Tennessee, 5; Kentucky, 6; Ohio, 93; Indiana, 63; Illinois, 117; Michigan, 77; Missouri, 29; Wisconsin, 84; Iowa, 50; Minnesota, 4; California, 2; Oregon, 3.

This distribution gives to the New England States, 305; the Middle States, 213; the Southern States, 14; and the Western States and Territories, 533.

Of the whole number in commission, 619 have been the pastors or stated supplies of single congregations; 260 have ministered to two or three congregations each; and 186 have been located in wider fields of definite limits—such as the destitutions of a section of a county, or of an entire county, or of several contiguous counties, or those within the limits of an ecclesiastical body, as the circumstances seemed to require.

The itinerant system is thus combined, in the policy of the Society, with efforts for the permanent establishment of the pastoral relation. To give to every church the undivided labors of a pastor as soon as practicable, is the great object which the Society seeks to attain. As preparatory to this, however, the destitutions must be explored; where churches consist of but few members, or no churches are yet organized, and the country is sparsely settled, there must be occasional preaching—the feeble must be encouraged, the scattered elements combined, and the way opened for more frequent and regular ministrations. And where settlements do not increase in population and strength, so that each can hope to sustain a minister within itself, they must be united in a circuit, and visited at stated periods. Itinerant labor, therefore, if employed only where it is specially called for, and not relied on as an adequate supply where a more permanent one could be sustained, is regarded as a necessary and important part of a well-ordered system of missions in our new settlements. This Society has employed it from the commencement of its operations, and the proportion of itinerant service to that of the settled ministry, has been stated in the annual reports.

The aggregate of ministerial labor performed, is equal to 862 years.

The number of congregations and missionary districts supplied in whole or in part, at stated intervals, is 1,948; while many others have enjoyed the occasional labors of the missionaries.

Nine missionaries have been in commission as pastors, or stated supplies, of churches of colored people; and 60 have preached in foreign languages—13 to Welsh, and 39 to German congregations; and others to congregations of Norwegians, Swedes, Swiss, Hollanders, and Frenchmen.

Many of those who have preached in foreign languages, have preached a portion of the time also in the English; and the children in their Sabbath schools have likewise received more or less instruction in the English. The process has thus been going on of Americanizing these congregations, and opening to them all the advantages of the evangelical literature of our own tongue. While the number of missionaries to our foreign population has been enlarged, special care has been taken to employ those only who are well known, and approved for their doctrinal views and their experimental piety, and to have their churches built up on the scriptural basis of our Presbyterian and Congregational churches—that of evidence of regeneration by the Spirit of God as a qualification for membership.

The number of Sabbath school scholars connected with the missionary churches, is not far from 66,500.

The contributions to benevolent objects, reported by 609 missionaries, amount to $23,544 56.

The additions to the churches, as nearly as can be ascertained, have been 6,820, viz.: 3,810 on profession of their faith, and 3,010 by letters from other churches. Sixty one missionaries make mention in their reports of revivals of religion in the congregations to which they have ministered; in connection with some of which there have been 40, 50, and 80 hopeful conversions. The number of hopeful conversions reported by 349 missionaries, is 2,643.

Forty five churches have been organized by the missionaries of the Society during the year. Forty two that had been dependent, have assumed the support of their own ministers, and will be, henceforth, we trust, not only monuments of what has been accomplished in the missionary enterprise, but efficient helpers in giving the institutions of the Gospel to those who are still destitute. Sixty five houses of worship have been completed since our last Report; 55 others repaired; and the building of 60 others commenced. More than 90 young men, in connection with the missionary churches, are in preparation for the gospel ministry.

These are a few of the statistics by which the progress of the missionary work is indicated. But how powerless are figures to set forth the influence of a single minister of the Gospel, a single church of Christ, the light that radiates from a single sanctuary! The mind of the Infinite alone can comprehend it; and eternity alone can disclose to us the privilege, the blessedness of being permitted to put forth our humble instrumentality in such a cause.

THE TREASURY.

Resources. The balance in the Treasury, April 1st, 1851, was $12,676 04. The receipts of the succeeding twelve months have been, $160,062 25; making the resources of the year, $172,738 29.

Liabilities. There was due to missionaries, at the date of the last Report, $9,633 38. There have since become due, $164,630 39, making the total of liabilities, $174,263 77.

Payments. Of this sum, $162,831 14 have been paid—leaving $11,432 63 still due to missionaries for labor performed. Towards canceling these claims and redeeming the additional pledges on commissions not yet expired, making in all, $80,170 25, there is a balance in the Treasury of $9,907 15.

PROGRESS.

With the same number of laborers as were employed the preceding year, there have been performed nine more years of missionary service; one hundred and twenty eight more congregations have been blessed with the preaching of the Gospel; and one hundred and twenty four more individuals have been added to the churches. The passing off the list of those churches that have become independent of charitable aid makes a gradual transfer, year by year, of the missionary work from the older to the newer States; so that, with a given number of men, we should be making constant advances upon the wilderness. The past year, the number of missionaries, in the Eastern and Middle States, has been diminished by 17, while in the Western States and Territories, there has been an increase of 18. The receipts of the year exceed those of the preceding, by $9,122—the greater part of the increase being from the regular contributions of the churches.

The following tables, with the remarks appended, will exhibit the progress of the Society during the twenty six years of its existence.

COMPARATIVE RESULTS.

The following Table gives a comparative view of the amount of receipts, expenditures, number of missionaries, new appointments, congregations and missionary districts, years of labor performed, additions to the churches and pupils in Sabbath schools, for each year since the organization of the Society.

It also exhibits, in the tenth column, the average expenditure, each year, for a year of missionary labor, obtained by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of the year by the number of years of labor performed. And in the eleventh column, by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of each year by the number of missionaries employed, is shown what the average to a missionary would be, if the expenditures were equally apportioned among them.

Remarks.—1. From the foregoing table it will be seen, that in each of the ten years, from 1830 to 1840, and from 1840 to 1850, the receipts were more than doubled.

2. The total of receipts for the twenty six years, is $2,365,420 40.

3. The total of years of labor is 13,958. These years are reckoned in each Report, by adding together the months of labor which the missionaries have actually performed.

4. The average expenditure for a year of missionary labor, for the first twenty five years, is $167. This includes the entire cost to the Society of obtaining the missionary, defraying his expenses to his field, and sustaining him on it, as well as all the expenses of conducting the Institution. In what other way can christian charity be rendered more productive?

5. The average annual expenditure to a missionary, for the first twenty five years, is $122. The difference between this amount and the average for a year's labor, is occasioned by the fact that a missionary is named and counted in a report, though in some cases he may have labored but a fraction of the year.

6. The whole number of additions to the churches is 114,601.

7. The fifth column—that of new appointments—shows how many have to be called in, each year, to supply the places of those whose support is assumed by the people, the vacancies occasioned by death, sickness, removals, and other changes, and to make the increase, if there be any, over the number of the preceding year.

DISTRIBUTION OF MISSIONARIES, No. 1.

The following Table gives the number of missionaries employed each year of the Society's operations, in the Geographical Divisions of Eastern, Middle, Southern and Western States; and also in Canada.

* Of these, 24 labored in France and Switzerland, under the direction of the Evangelical Societies of Paris and Geneva.

Remarks.—1. In explanation of the comparatively large number of Missionaries in the Middle States, and the increasing number in the New England States for several of the earlier years, it should be remarked that, at the organization of this Society in 1826, the missionaries of the United Domestic Missionary Society, whose responsibilities it assumed, were transferred to it, and that the greater portion of them were in commission in the State of New York. The New England State Societies, also, became integral parts of the National Society, in several successive years—the Maine Missionary Society and the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society, in the third year of its operations; the New Hampshire Missionary Society, in the fourth year; the Connecticut Missionary Society, in the fifth year; and the Massachusetts Missionary Society, in the seventh year.

2. In the New England States, it will be observed, there has been but little increase of the number of missionaries, at any time since the auxiliary relationship of the State Societies was completed. Since 1837, the number has diminished, and is, this year, twenty six less than at that date. In the Middle States, also, the number the present year is fourteen less than in 1837.

3. The increase of the Society's labors, for many years, has been mainly in our Western States and Territories. The last twelve years, the increase alone in that portion of our country, has given it 366 additional missionaries.

4. In 1845, the missions of this Society in Canada were, by an amicable arrangement with the British Colonial Missionary Society, transferred to the care of that Institution.

5. In the Table on the next page, will be seen the progress which has been made, year by year, in the newer States of the West, as they have severally come into being, and presented fields of peculiar promise for missionary culture. When this Society was formed, Indiana and Illinois were in their infancy. Michigan was, at that time, and for ten years subsequent, a Territory; in 1825, it had but one Presbyterian or Congregational minister, and he was a missionary. Wisconsin remained, eight years after the organization of this Society, the almost undisputed home of the Indian. Iowa was not organized as a Territory till 1838. Oregon was reached by our first missionary there in the summer of 1848, after a voyage of many months by the way of the Sandwich Islands. Our first missionaries to California sailed from New York, in December, 1848. Our first missionary to Minnesota commenced his labors at St. Paul, in July, 1849.

6. It should be borne in mind, that the number of missionaries in these newer States and Territories, as well as those that have been longer cultivated, gives but an imperfect idea of the ground that has been occupied by missionary enterprise. Churches, every year, become independent, and others are taken up in their stead. Such churches adorn the land and bless its population, in our most flourishing villages, from the remotest settlements on the Atlantic to the shores of the Pacific.

DISTRIBUTION OF MISSIONARIES, No. 2.

The following Table shows the number of Missionaries in the several States and Territories, and in Canada, for each year of the Society's labors. Each of the four Geographical Divisions of Eastern, Middle, Southern, and Western States, and Western States is included within double rules.

PRINCIPAL AUXILIARIES, AGENCIES, AND MISSIONARY FIELDS.

MAINE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

WILLIAM T. DWIGHT, D. D., President; JOHN HOW, Esq., Treasurer; BENJAMIN TAPPAN, D. D., Secretary. Office at Portland.

This Society has had in its service, during this year, ninety six missionaries; and their labors have been distributed to one hundred and forty different communities—the greater portion officiating as pastors, or stated supplies. The number in actual attendance on these ministrations has averaged more than 12,000. The churches assisted report four thousand four hundred and two members in communion.

The receipts for the year ending March 1st, were $11,706 92. The expenditures in the same time were $12,364 82. Various contributions, amounting to $308, were received from this State by the Parent Society. The aggregate of Home Missionary collections, this year, from Maine, has been $12,014 92—a larger sum than the State has previously furnished for this cause in any single year. Still, the Trustees have been obliged to resort to a loan of $800, to meet the current demands on the treasury.

This auxiliary has been the foster parent to which, under God, between forty and fifty churches ascribe their present independence of foreign aid. To it one hundred feeble churches still look for the indispensable means of existence. It is the only visible agency for furnishing scores and even hundreds of other towns and settlements with ministerial culture. In all of these a great work—a work of hardship and self-denial, is to be done; and now is the time to do it. The Maine Missionary Society, therefore, ably as it is managed, and blessed as have been its fruits, needs greatly to enlarge its operations. But how can this be done, when its resources are so restricted as to cripple its energies? Instead of advancing boldly to occupy the various fields, as they open to the enterprise of the Church, the Trustees are compelled to proceed under the embarrassment of repeated loans, and consequently with more regard to economy than to the expansion of their work. This is not meet; it is unjust to the institution which has done so much for the best interests of the State; it is unworthy of the magnitude of the work yet to be done, and which involves more of the present and eternal interest of the population than any other. The lessons of the past should be an effectual warning against such an inadequate support of so vital an interest. One of the missionaries of the Maine Missionary Society, says of his field: "If the leading minds here had been faithfully trained in their childhood under religious influences, and had then enjoyed the permanent ministrations of some judicious, earnest missionary, this place would long since have budded and blossomed as the rose. But now I fear that most of these people will perish in their sins, and that it will cost the life of at least one missionary, and your Society I know not how much money, to do successful battle with the adversary, and recover back this place from his terrible power. Could the fathers, who are now sleeping in their graves, have seen the consequences of no religious institutions to their posterity, as they must see it in the light of eternity, every dollar in their possession, if necessary, would have been expended for the support of the Gospel." Those consequences, many of the fathers did not foresee; the Gospel, which would have averted them, they did not provide. And shall the same fatal neglect be continued by their successors? Is there any way but by planting religious institutions—any time like the present, in which to do it—to secure to the next generation the blessings which our fathers failed to provide for this? In the language of the Secretary, "This work MUST BE DONE. The cry of thousands destroyed for lack of knowledge—of God's dear children asking bread, and no man breaking it unto them—is constantly waxing louder and louder. The people must have some kind of religion. In the absence of sound christian instruction, they will even heap to themselves teachers after their own lusts, and will blindly follow blind guides, who need themselves to be taught the first principles of the oracles of God."

NEW HAMPSHIRE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ABRAHAM BURNHAM, D. D., President; SAMUEL FARRINGTON, Treasurer; REV. BENJAMIN P. STONE, Secretary. Office at Concord.

Forty four missionaries have borne the commission of the Society since the last Report, within the bounds of this Auxiliary. Their labors amount, in the aggregate, to thirty six years; and have been distributed among fifty different congregations. Only three or four instances of unusual religious interest have occurred during the year. The cause of temperance has recently occupied the attention of the churches, and of philanthropists generally, in an uncommon degree, and is regarded as ominous of increased spiritual prosperity.

There have been received into the treasury, during the year, $7,745 01, of which $1,121 97, were paid to the Parent Society by the direction of the donors, and $1,500 by the vote of the Trustees of the Auxiliary; leaving for the use of the latter within the State $5,123 04. The National Society has also received from various individuals and congregations in the State, $781 66, making a total of $3,403 63 for the West, and the whole sum raised in the State for the cause of Home Missions, $8,526 67—exceeding the amount raised in the preceding year by $313 67. The expenditures within the State were $4,738 59.

Since our last Annual Report was published, this Auxiliary has celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. The review of the last half century, drawn up by the Secretary, is replete with reminiscences of great interest and value, illustrating the several steps by which Home Missions have advanced from less to greater degrees of system, economy, and efficiency. Some of the statistics contained in this document will illustrate, in a small degree, the value of the Society to the people of New Hampshire; though the full influence of the preaching of the Gospel, and its institutions, in improving society throughout all its relations, cannot be told in figures or language. In 50 years, 1,523 ministers have been employed. The aggregate of missionary labor performed equals 986 years. Fifty churches have been gathered, and 80 houses of worship erected or remodeled, on fields cultivated by the Society. Of the 114 feeble churches who have received assistance, 98 still exist, and 41 have attained to independence of foreign help. The cost of the good thus accomplished in the State has been $135,518. At so inconsiderable an expense has the benefit connected with the existence of more than half of the churches in the State been secured. From these results, the New Hampshire Missionary Society may well derive an impulse to more vigorous endeavor to occupy the waste places which remain. "With one half of the churches in the State," says the Report, "unable to give the ministry the small average of $400 a year, and consequently either dependent on charity for a portion of their support, or liable to such dependence; and with at least one quarter of all the towns in the State having no reasonable prospect of enjoying such institutions of religion as they need, unless furnished by the Society; with these affecting facts before us, we cannot but be impressed with the importance of its labors, both present and future, to the highest welfare of our domestic Zion. We venture the prediction that the time is not far distant when an intelligent ministry and the establishment of religious order, will be earnestly sought at our hands by a certain class of towns who have hitherto disregarded them. The advancing light of the age, by means of the press and the common school, will soon so elevate the popular mind in intelligence, if not in morals, that an untaught and ignorant ministry will no longer be tolerated by those portions of the masses that have regard for their own respectability and improvement."

VERMONT DOMESTIC MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Hon. ERASTUS FAIRBANKS, President; Hon. C. W. STORRS, Treasurer; Rev. JOHN F. STONE, Secretary. Office at Montpelier.

The receipts of this Society for the year past were $5,536 58. This is less by $1,468 22 than the income of the year preceding, and less also than the expenditures by $1,350 87. This deficiency is to be ascribed partly to the smaller amount of legacies, and partly to heavier demands on the Society arising from emigration. Besides the $6,430 70 paid out for missionary purposes within the State, various contributions of churches and individuals, amounting to $564 10, have been made directly to the American Home Missionary Society.

Sixty missionaries have been in commission on this field during the whole or a part of the past year, whose aggregate of labor equals 49 years. This has been bestowed on 67 fields, nearly all of which have organized churches. Among the missions commenced during the year, one of peculiar interest is reported among the French at Burlington and vicinity, where a body of that people have permanently settled. More than thirty families cordially receive the labors of a Protestant missionary, notwithstanding the strenuous opposition of the Romish priest.

While several of the missionary fields in Vermont have made important advances, and some of them have been blessed with revivals of religion, an equal number have been reduced in members and in external prosperity by emigration. Seven churches on the missionary list have parted with more than five hundred and fifty members since their organization, and have only three hundred and twenty three remaining. It is estimated that the churches now depending on the Society for aid, have thus lost more than twenty-two hundred in twenty-five years. This will explain the return to a state of dependence, of several congregations which, in former years, were supposed to have reached the point of self-support; and also will account for the continued feebleness of others, to which frequent accessions have been made. They are blessed with a laborious and productive ministry; but the drain of emigration carries off so great an amount of their numbers and efficiency, that were it not for Home Missionary intervention, they would dwindle and probably, in many cases, become extinct. That, in these circumstances, the feeble churches are no more feeble, and that their number is so few, speaks well for the pastors, and for the energy and wisdom of the State Auxiliary. Instead of being discouraged by this apparent adversity, they are led, by an enlarged and comprehensive view of the whole field, to consider their own loss as a gain to the general cause. "Who can doubt," says the Report, "that the churches of Vermont are doing more to establish and sustain the institutions of religion throughout the land, by means of christian families and individuals that have been trained up in those churches for the service of God, and are now scattered throughout the land, than they could have done by any other means? And do we not see the hand of God in this? Is it not his way, in part, for spreading the Gospel and extending the Church, till the land shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord? Soon another generation will appear on the stage of active life. Many of these will have acquired a liberal education, and entered the learned professions—all will sustain important relations, and all have their influence. And the character of that influence will be decided by the instrumentalities by which their principles shall have been formed. Many of these, instead of settling down in their native town, or State, will go to the West. They will be dispersed throughout the land; and some of them, doubtless, in other lands. Let them but have the Gospel in their minds and in their hearts, and they will be so many living, active agents for carrying forward the work of evangelization, wherever their lot shall be cast. But let them go forth without these principles, and they will only add to the work to be done, and enhance the obstacles to the doing of it."

MASSACHUSETTS HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

LEONARD WOODS, D. D., President; BENJAMIN PERKINS, Treasurer; JOSEPH S. CLARK, D. D., Secretary. Office in Boston.

The income of this Society for the year ending March 1st, was $34,768 63—nearly $1,500 more than in any previous year. Of this revenue, $6,132 69 were applied to missionary purposes within the State, and $27,000 remitted to the Parent Society. Besides this generous donation—the largest ever received from any auxiliary in a single year—other contributions have been made by various churches and individuals, amounting to $7,035 95; of which $1,683 78 was from the Hampshire Missionary Society, and $2,864 96 from the payment of legacies. There has thus been consecrated to the Home Missionary cause by the Christians of Massachusetts, during the last year, an aggregate of $41,804 58—more than one quarter of the total income of the Parent Society for that period.

Fifty four missionaries have been in commission for more or less of the year—a diminution of eight from the year before. Seven churches previously aided do not appear on the present Report; 47 are still dependent; and nine have, during the year, reached the point of self-support; and all give promise of permanent continuance in that state. The reduction in the number of missionaries and missionary churches, and also of the amount expended for their support, shows the progress which is made from year to year, in repairing the waste places of Zion in this State, and transferring her benevolent energies to the wider and still needier desolations of the West. That such is the purpose of this most efficient Auxiliary, its invaluable pecuniary aid, and the cordial and cheering co-operation of its Board of Trust, abundantly testify. In no quarter, not even in the most prominent of our Western fields, is the magnitude of the Home Missionary claim more justly appreciated or more eloquently urged;—and urged, too, in the spirit of devout recognition of dependence on the power and grace of the Most High. "The history of the Home Missions in this country," says the last Report, "has, from the first, been the history of great effects from little causes. Every movement has been like the silent and hidden, but restless action of heaven—bringing out results which we can trace to no adequate cause, without supposing the unseen hand of God in their production. The fact that a new church can be planted in an old waste, or an infant settlement, during the brief period of seven years, and at an annual cost to the Missionary Society of only $167 per annum; the fact that eight hundred evangelical churches in our land, have actually been brought up to a self-supporting condition at this trifling expense, and by this short process, since the Home Missionary enterprise commenced—these facts proclaim the existence of an energy more than human. They indicate the presence of an all-powerful, though an invisible agency.”

RHODE ISLAND HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

J. P. CLEVELAND, D. D., President; B. WHITE, Treasurer; Rev. WILLIAM J. BREED, Secretary. Office at Providence.

Seven missionaries have been under commission, the last year, on the field of this Auxiliary; and two of them have been installed Pastors of the flocks which they serve.

The receipts of the Society, including a remittance of $1,000 from the Connecticut Missionary Society, have amounted to $1,868 77. Of this sum, $1,720 have been applied to missionary purposes in the State. Remittances directly to the Parent Society, from various individuals and churches, $497 40. The collections of the year, show a gratifying increase beyond those of any former year, and encourage the hope that soon the Society may be able to dispense with the generous aid annually furnished by the friends of missions in Connecticut.

From the Report of this Auxiliary, we are led to infer, that the missionary churches under its care were never in a more vigorous and hopeful condition, though they have suffered from the great depression of the manufacturing interests of the State. Two houses of worship have been redeemed from the embarrassment of debt, since the last Report. “None of the churches have enjoyed a powerful revival; yet the Holy Spirit has not withdrawn wholly from them. Precious souls have given evidence of having passed from death unto life. The children of God have been edified, and wide and powerful influences have been exerted in favor of temperance, morality, and experimental religion.”

CONNECTICUT MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Rev. HORACE HOOKER, Secretary; E. W. PARSONS, Treasurer. Office at Hartford.

The receipts of this Society for the twelve months past, have been $7,839 19. The expenditures have been for missions within the State, $3,742 42; donation to the Rhode Island Home Missionary Society, $1,000; remittance to the Parent Society, $1,000.

The latter has also received, from various sources in Connecticut, $16,925 39, including bequests amounting to $3,574 26—making the total realized to this cause from the State, the past year, $24,746 58—of which nearly three fourths have been applied through the Parent Society to its great work in the remoter sections of our land.

Forty four missionaries have been under commission within the year. Two churches previously aided have voluntarily withdrawn from this relation, and three others have not renewed their applications, and, it is hoped, may require no further assistance.

Although the cost of missions within the State has been somewhat reduced, there is no prospect that it can soon, if ever, be wholly dispensed with. Changes in the centers of business, the emigration of multitudes of the sons of Connecticut in pursuit of the great enterprises of the day, and the coming in of foreign elements to occupy their places—all tend to enfeeble many churches, and to raise up new ones, and thus furnish fresh occasions for missionary culture from year to year. The Secretary remarks, "Though few of the churches, I trust, would die at once, if thrown upon their own resources, they would drag out only a feeble, sickly existence. However this may be, but for Home Missions, the record of the living would become, in part, an obituary of churches that have ceased to be, and in part, the names of churches that never have been. Some seem to regard Home Missions as designed almost entirely for the new settlements. This, doubtless, is their main design. But their necessity in the Atlantic States, especially in some parts of New England, must be more and more felt with the progress of time. Such multitudes migrate to California and other regions of the West, that churches hitherto deemed far above the need of external aid, will require the fostering care of Home Missions. The places they make vacant will, for the most part, be occupied, if at all, by immigrants from foreign countries, who are not accustomed to treat the Sabbath and the sanctuary after the manner of New England. The example of these will infect the minds of others who have been trained to respect both. The churches have begun to take alarm at the desecration of holy time, and the neglect of public worship. They are looking around anxiously for a remedy. Whatever other means are employed, the labors of a stated, permanent ministry, are indispensable in checking the evil. Without them, all else will be unavailing. Light troops may answer to overrun a country, but possession can be kept only by substantial, permanent fortifications. And when we begin to count the cost of their erection and maintenance, we may well begin to compute the value not only 'of the Union,' but of liberty itself. With one quarter, or one third, and in some cases even more, of the population of country towns in New England, habitually neglecting the house of God, it is no time to think Home Missions are only for the far off regions towards the setting sun."

PHILADELPHIA HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

THOMAS FLEMING, President; HENRY PERKINS, Treasurer; Rev. ROBERT ADAIR, Secretary. Office at Philadelphia.

The States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Maryland, and the District of Columbia, constitute the field of this Society. During the year past, its receipts from the usual sources have been $7,588 27, and bonds to the amount of $3,000, from the estate of John Porter, Esq., late of Northumberland, Pa. The Parent Society has received from the same field direct contributions equal to $2,834 14; of which $1,659 14 was from bequests. The Auxiliary expended for missionary purposes on its own field, $7,963 10, and made a donation of $185 to the American Home Missionary Society. The total sum realized to this cause from these sources, in addition to the bonds above named, for the year past, was $10,422 41.

The number of missionaries under appointment from this Auxiliary has been 58. They have labored statedly in 70 organized congregations, besides, in two instances, supplying as far as practicable the destitutions of an entire county.

From the last published Report of this Society, there is just reason to infer the increasing usefulness and popularity of its operations. Not only are its resources and the number of its occupied fields enlarging; but the work accomplished, as seen in congregations raised to a state of independence of charitable aid, commends it to the confidence of its patrons as a most appropriate and energetic agent in the work of church extension. "Two thirds of the churches, during their partial dependence upon our Society," says the Report, "erected their present houses of worship. Every year, some of the congregations aided by us, tell us they have commenced the erection of a sanctuary, and others inform us that they have completed such buildings; and generally, these buildings are unincumbered with debt, or nearly so, when they are dedicated to the worship of God."

CENTRAL AGENCY, NEW YORK.

Rev. RICHARD F. CLEVELAND, Clinton, Secretary; SAMUEL STOCKING, Utica, Treasurer.

Forty two missionaries have been under commission during the year, within the bounds of this Agency, and have performed thirty one years of ministerial service. Their labors have been extended to more than fifty churches and missionary districts, and not less than five thousand souls have enjoyed their stated ministrations.

The receipts of the Agency, from the ordinary sources, have been $4,297 72; and $1,828 31 have been transmitted directly to the treasury of the Society at New York, making the whole amount of contributions for the year, $6,126 03. The sum of $5,000, the avails of a legacy, has also been received during the year, increasing the amount realized to the cause from this field to $11,126 03. Of this sum, $3,611 89 have been expended for missionary labor within the Agency; leaving a balance of $685 83 in its treasury.

The past year has not been signalized, like some which have preceded it, by the effusions of the Holy Spirit; yet it is stated that "the earliest, and, comparatively, the most numerous instances of revival that have come under our notice during the past season, have occurred under the labors of missionaries." Though several of the churches have suffered serious losses, by removals and death, and the diminution of pecuniary support, yet, on the whole, there has been an advance in contributions for the support of their own institutions, and, compared with other churches, they have exhibited their full share of liberality in sustaining the various objects of christian benevolence.

Much of the territory embraced by this Agency, is more sparsely populated than any other portion of the Middle States, and its destitutions must, for a long time to come, furnish a wide and important field of missionary effort. The northern counties, particularly, containing extensive tracts of almost unbroken wilderness, are beginning to attract attention and immigration, and a work is to be accomplished there like that which we are performing in the newly settled portions of the West. This region is traversed, too, by the great highways of western emigration, and naturally furnishes its full proportion to swell the tide that is flowing into the great western valley. In consequence of these contributions, and as a compensation for them, the impoverished churches will continue to claim, for a season, missionary support. Yet, most of the new applications for aid have been accompanied by evidences of a growing appreciation of religious privileges, and a willingness to make corresponding efforts to secure them; and the encouragement and impulse which this aid will impart to these feeble churches will, it is hoped, secure their independence at no distant day. "To some of them," says the Secretary, "the day of enhanced strength and influence is not far distant. The restless spirit of secular improvement is opening the highways of commerce through regions where, hitherto, labor and the products of the soil, have scarcely maintained their minimum value. As the result, feeble congregations will become large, able and independent, and new congregations will be formed, requiring, at the outset, Home Missionary aid. On the whole, the field comprised in this Agency never presented such a prospect, as at present, of development, growth and improvement."

WESTERN AGENCY, NEW YORK.

REV. JOHN A. MURRAY, Secretary; W. T. SCOTT, Treasurer. Office at Geneva.

Sixty four missionaries have been employed within the bounds of this Agency during the year, including four who have labored in the feeble churches and been sustained by a portion of the funds of the Rochester Presbytery. It is gratifying to notice, that while new churches are formed, and new fields of missionary labor are opened every year in Western New York, the whole number of churches dependent upon the Society is rapidly diminishing; the number of applicants the last year being nearly one third less than it was ten years ago.

The receipts of the Agency, for the year ending March 1st, were $8,084 50. An additional sum of $1,535 02 was transmitted by the donors directly to New York, making the entire contributions from this field, $9,620 52.

A manifest improvement is reported in the pecuniary and spiritual condition of most of the churches receiving missionary aid. Nine congregations have been enabled to dispense with foreign assistance, and are now sustaining their own ministry, while but one, a congregation of colored people, has been added to the list of beneficiaries. Five congregations have erected, during the year, or are now erecting, houses of worship, and as many more have made extensive repairs in edifices already built. Revivals of religion are reported in fifteen churches, some of which have received large ingatherings of souls, the precious fruit and reward of missionary toil and self-denial. Aside from the maintenance of gospel ordinances, and the ordinary routine of ministerial labor, Temperance societies have been formed, several churches and Sabbath schools have been organized in destitute neighborhoods, congregations have been established, and measures taken to erect houses of worship where churches have not yet been gathered. Such facts testify that now, as ever, and in the old as well as in the new settlements, the ministry and the church are eminently aggressive.

The Secretary, in his Report, alludes to the fact that during the past year several of the most liberal supporters of this Institution, in that part of the State, have been removed by death. Among them is the Hon. Nathaniel W. Howell, LL. D., of Canandaigua, one of the Vice Presidents of the Society, and, for more than half a century, a constant friend and efficient helper of the missionary work. His departure brings before us the material changes that have taken place, and the moral triumphs that have been achieved in Western New York during the active lifetime of an individual. In the language of the Report, "He remembered, with gratitude and affection, the missionaries sent out hither by the Connecticut Missionary Society, before the close of the last century. Where there lived but a few hundred men, 'scattered abroad as sheep having no shepherd,' with rude settlements few and far between, is now a populous, cultivated, highly privileged and religious community; where there was scarcely an organized town, or village of any size, or a school house of any description, are now 302 organized towns, 350 villages, some of them of rare beauty, and three cities containing an aggregate population of more than 100,000; where was scarcely a church of any denomination, or a church edifice of any sort, or a minister of the Gospel, there are now, by the blessing of God upon the voluntary efforts of his people, at least 1,400 Protestant churches, 1,200 temples for public worship, and 1,400 evangelical clergymen; where, in 1790, there was a population of but 1,047, in 1850 the population had increased to 834,700, supplied with an evangelical church, and a minister of the Gospel to every 600 souls." In glancing at these results, we get new impressions of the importance of that agency through which, mainly, they have been produced, and are impelled to increased diligence in employing it to extend the same blessings to other and wider fields.

WESTERN RESERVE AGENCY, OHIO.

Rev. MYRON TRACY, Hudson, Secretary; T. P. HANDY, Cleveland, Treasurer.

Forty six missionaries have been commissioned on this field, during the year, of whom thirty six have been sustained by the funds of the Agency, and have supplied forty four congregations with the stated ministrations of the Gospel, besides extending occasional labors to several others.

The resources of the Agency have amounted to $3,021 11, of which $2,631 69 have been expended within its own bounds. Contributions to the amount of $463 20 have been paid directly into the treasury of the Society, making the entire receipts from the field covered by this Agency, $3,484 31.

Notwithstanding the various causes which have operated to distract and weaken the churches of this region, most of those aided by this Society are gradually, though some of them slowly, gaining strength and influence. Among the signs of progress observable, it may be noted that two of the Congregations aided have, during the year, erected houses of worship, several others have made extensive repairs, and four have provided their ministers with parsonages. Two missionaries have been installed as pastors, and no instance has occurred of the dissolution of that relation. Several congregations have applied for a smaller amount of aid than they have heretofore received, and one is understood to have made its last application. Even where no visible progress has been reported in pecuniary resources, the missionary has been cheered with manifest tokens that his labor has not been in vain in the Lord.

Fifty years have now elapsed since the work of Home Missions was commenced on the Western Reserve, the first church having been organized by a missionary of the Connecticut Missionary Society, at Austinburg, October 24, 1801. The religious history of this territory, since that period, strikingly illustrates the productiveness of the Home Missionary enterprise. Of the 184 Presbyterian and Congregational churches now in existence, more than two fifths are in a condition of pecuniary independence, but all of them, with perhaps two or three exceptions, are the fruits and monuments of missionary effort. The institutions of learning and benevolence, the general intelligence and thrift of the people, all the influences and blessings of a high christian civilization, which distinguish those communities, are to be traced, in no small degree, to the same agency.

On this subject, the Secretary of the Agency testifies as follows :—"The money thus expended, is not among the things that perish with the using. It is still doing good in the places where it was first expended ; it is doing good, and will do good wherever the influence of these churches is or will be felt throughout the world, and to the end of time ; and heaven itself will feel its influence, in louder songs, from more numerous voices, throughout eternal ages."

But these efforts, long continued and successful as they have been, have not overtaken the increasing necessities of the field. The Report of the Agency states that "many fields on the Reserve are still in an affectingly destitute condition. One church to which aid has been extended for the first time during the last year, is situated in a township of about 1,400 inhabitants, in which there had been no regular preaching for years, except a service by a circuit preacher once in two weeks. From its first settlement it has been a moral desolation. Another township, containing more than 900 inhabitants, has no church organization within its bounds, nor has it had, for years, any stated preaching. Another township, of more than six hundred inhabitants, recently visited by one of our missionaries, is equally destitute." It is evident from these statements, that even in this region, where the first missionary churches beyond the mountains were planted half a century ago, "there remaineth yet very much land to be possessed."

MARIETTA AGENCY, OHIO.

Rev. THOMAS WICKES, Secretary ; A. T. NYE, Treasurer. Office at Marietta.

Eleven missionaries have been in commission during the year on the field covered by this Agency, and have supplied sixteen congregations with the stated ministrations of the Gospel.

The receipts into the treasury have been $440 65, in addition to which contributions to the cause have been made by congregations and individuals, to the amount of $1,305 39, making the whole receipts from this field $1,746 04. Of this sum, $1,000 were contributed by a single friend of the Society.

It does not appear that the fields of labor occupied by these missionaries, have been visited to any considerable extent by the special effusions of the Spirit; yet facts are stated which show that the churches are generally becoming more stable and efficient, and that religious institutions through God's appointed means, are gradually gaining in estimation and influence with the mass of the community. Two of the churches have, within the year, undertaken to maintain, unaided, the institutions of religion; and three have provided for themselves houses of worship. Districts hitherto neglected, and which had become the strongholds of infidelity and vice, have been reached by the influences of the truth and Spirit, the ranks of the enemy have been broken, and many trophies gathered to the praise of divine grace.

The portion of the State embraced within the limits of this Agency, is assuming new importance as a theater of secular enterprise, and of missionary effort. The ruggedness of its surface, and the comparative poverty of its soil, have turned the tide of emigration into other channels; but the recent development of its vast subterraneous treasures is attracting thither an enterprising and industrious population. But a deplorable destitution of religious privileges still continues. In seven contiguous counties, containing a population of about 150,000, it is stated that there are but sixteen or seventeen ministers of the Calvinistic order. "In one Presbytery (Athens), there are nine vacant churches—vacant, because there is no one to supply them with the ministrations of the Gospel." And there appears no prospect of providing adequately for the spiritual necessities of this increasing population, except by the vigorous prosecution of Home Missions. The views of the Agency are thus expressed in their Report. "In looking over the fields of desolation spread around us, we have been at a loss to know what to do. We have a few feeble lights, scattered over these counties, a few spots where a band of faithful ministers are striving to build up the walls of Zion; but the wastes are far more numerous than the cultivated fields,—whole counties in some cases, where but little is being done by any body of Christians to build up Gospel institutions and save the souls of men. The enemy has them. Ignorance, and error, and sin have them. There are no churches, or none which have any perceptible influence upon the mass of surrounding ignorance—none which have any effect to elevate the moral tone of society.

The problem now to be solved is, how can we reach them? There is no nucleus existing around which spiritual crystallization may commence in the organization of churches; and we see no means of reaching this population, but that by which the heathen are brought under the power of the Gospel. Missionaries must be sent from abroad and sustained until they gather materials for churches upon the hard soil, which is a long and laborious process. We must sit down before the fortress, and prepare for a regular siege, throwing up ramparts, and planting heavy artillery. It is an expensive mode of conducting the war, but it is the cheapest in the end, and it is the only effectual way."

CINCINNATI AGENCY, OHIO.

Rev. HENRY LITTLE, Madison, Indiana, Secretary; E. M. GREGORY, Cincinnati, Secretary.

Forty six missionaries have been under appointment the past year, within the bounds of this Agency. The amount paid from its treasury for their support is $4,887 80. The receipts of the Agency for the same period, including a small balance in the treasury at the beginning of the year, have been $4,445 91.

In reviewing the labors of the missionaries on this field for another year, we find occasion for a grateful recognition of God's goodness, in the fact that their ranks have not been broken by death, and that they have been permitted to pursue their labors with comparatively little interruption by sickness. Amid many discouragements and privations, they have borne cheerfully the burden and heat of the day, that they might sow the good seed of the kingdom over that wide and important field; and God has given the increase. Many feeble churches have been confirmed and strengthened, and five which have been hitherto sustained by the fostering care of this Society, have within the year assumed the support of their own pastors, and are transferred from the list of its beneficiaries to that of its supporters. In reference to the spiritual condition of the missionary churches and districts, the Agent speaks in his Report as follows: "Some of the missionaries have been blessed with precious revivals, though not, perhaps, so large a portion of them as in some former years. Yet, in a country so new and changing, who can compute the usefulness of some forty missionaries constantly employed in elevating and renovating this increasing population. 'The kingdom of God cometh not with observation;' and the great work accomplished by Home Missionaries is brought about in so noiseless a manner, that the careless multitude amongst whom, and upon whom this work is wrought, are often almost unconscious that any considerable good has been achieved. Yet the foundations of many generations have been laid."

If the direct results of missionary labor on this field are less striking than in some other portions of the West, yet, when we consider the peculiar obstacles in the face of which they have been achieved, we find evidence that they are the fruits of a wise and efficient husbandry. A large proportion of the earlier settlers were from the States across the Ohio river, and were not distinguished either for secular or religious enterprise. The central portion of Indiana, and the western counties of Ohio, were thought too remote from the great thoroughfares of trade to invite a settlement; and their forests remained undisturbed, while the tide of emigration from the East flowed around them to the regions beyond. Till the organization of this Society, in 1826, but little was done to supply this region with an evangelical ministry. In 1825, when the population of Indiana was more than 250,000, there were in the State but thirteen Presbyterian and Congregational ministers. Most of these were missionaries whose support was soon afterward assumed by this Society. Nearly every church then in existence, or which has been organized since that time, in connection with these denominations, has been gathered and nursed up from infancy under the labors of these self-denying men; and will stand, we trust, as monuments of this enterprise, till the light which they are shedding upon the surrounding darkness, shall mingle with the light of the millennial day. By what other agency can we hope, that the wide wilderness which remains will be brought under moral and religious culture?

MISSOURI.

Rev. EDMUND WRIGHT, Secretary; GEORGE K. BUDD, Treasurer. Office at St. Louis.

Twenty nine missionaries have been employed in this State, since our last Report, two of whom have received assistance from the funds of the Missouri Home Missionary Society. The receipts of this Auxiliary, for the year ending March 1st, have been $709 45.

Several of the churches have, during the year, enjoyed the special visitations of the Spirit, and have received large accessions to their numbers and strength; but the progress of evangelical truth throughout the State, has been painfully disproportionate to the growing necessities of its population. The Committee have not been inattentive to the claims of this great and important field, and have responded, as they were able, to the earnest appeals for additional laborers; and a few recruits have been furnished. But what are these among so many? The changes of the past year have left several important posts unoccupied, while vast regions to which the labors of this Society have never extended, remain and seem destined still to remain, in deplorable destitution of spiritual privileges. Of the 101 counties into which the State is divided, 88, it is stated, contain no house of worship, and 75, no minister of the Gospel of the denominations acting through this Society.

The Secretary of this Auxiliary makes the following striking statements in reference to the present and prospective wants of Missouri. "Of the 24 counties, lying upon the noble river that divides our State, and containing about one sixth of its territory, and one half of its population, sixteen have no minister of the Gospel of our order. These counties, now comparatively populous, have but one third as many inhabitants to the square mile as Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island; but the time hastens when, as in these States, the population will be 100 to a square mile. In 1832, we had a population of 176,000 distributed through 33 counties. Compare this with the census of 1850, giving us a population of 682,000 divided into 100,000 families, and distributed into 101 counties. If our population has doubled itself twice during the last eighteen years, what may we expect during the next eighteen years, with our more than 500 miles of railroad begun or projected, with our plank roads and turnpikes now vigorously carried forward, and with the certainty that in less than five years, we shall be in railroad communication with the Atlantic cities? Immigration, the past year, has been unusually rapid, and multitudes, for many years to come, will continue to rush along our projected thoroughfares—villages will rapidly expand into cities, a score of which, before another census, will become centers of influence to corrupt or bless the swelling multitudes who are to throng our mineral and agricultural districts. At the rate of our increase for the last eighteen years, our population in 1870 will be about 2,000,000. But in what ratio may we expect an increase of our ministers to break to them the bread of life?

MICHIGAN.

REV. CALVIN CLARK, Marshall, Agent.

Seventy seven missionaries have been commissioned during the year to labor in this State. They have prosecuted their work amid peculiar difficulties and discouragements, but with the ordinary measure of success. The partial failure, for several successive years, of the great staple of the West, and the drain by emigration to California, have seriously impaired the strength of many congregations, and will postpone the day of their pecuniary independence. In others encouraging progress has been made, and some fifteen or twenty, it is hoped, will soon be able to dispense with foreign aid. While in many of the churches aided, spiritual apathy reigns, upon several others, the gentle dews of heaven have distilled, and in a few there have been precious ingatherings of souls. At the close of the year covered by this Report, several revivals of religion of great interest and power were still in progress.

The history of the Society's operations in this State are instructive. In 1830, the population of the Territory was about 30,000. Six or seven Presbyterian churches had been organized, but all of them except one were without houses of worship, and were dependent upon this Society for support. Reckless speculation, and legislative extravagance and corruption, had brought the Territory to the verge of bankruptcy; and all the moral and religious interests of society shared in the disaster. Since that time, and in the face of these mighty obstacles, a surprising change has been effected. "In many portions of this State," says the Agent, "the providence of God has been peculiar. High-handed wickedness and crime, systems of infidelity and combinations of wicked men to oppose the Gospel, have all been overcome and flourishing churches have been organized, and powerful revivals experienced. According to the last reports, the Synod of Michigan contains 110 churches, 91 ministers, and 6,807 communicants; and the General Association contains 82 churches, 72 ministers, and 3,519 communicants; and since these reports were made, several new churches have been organized. A great and good work has been accomplished, and it has been accomplished mainly by means of this Society as an instrumental agent. All these churches, with six or seven exceptions, have been brought into existence by her aid, nourished from her bounty, and watched over by her with a maternal solicitude. Forty of these have already risen to the condition of self support.

It is no unimportant thing, to lay the foundation of intelligence and religion in a State that is soon to contain a million souls. Two hundred evangelical churches established and sustained in the most important centers of influence in this great and growing State,—two hundred churches that now contribute $9,000 annually to benevolent purposes, and will soon contribute four times that amount,—two hundred churches, the greater portion of which sustain their Sabbath schools, and concerts of prayer, and benevolent societies of various kinds to enlighten and bless the world;—most assuredly, these churches must be centers of moral and christian influence, which will go on widening and multiplying down the track of time till the closing scene."

ILLINOIS.

Rev. ARATUS KENT, Galena, } Agents.
Rev. WILLIAM KIRBY, Jacksonville, }

One hundred and seventeen laborers have been sustained the past year in this State by the funds of the Society, and $3,081 61 have been received into its treasury from the churches on the same field.

In Northern Illinois, the Agent reports that, amid many reverses and hindrances, the cause of truth is making slow but steady advances. "Our churches," he says, "are increasing in numbers and strength; a good spirit is prevalent among very many of them; and in quite a goodly number, God is pouring out his Spirit for the conversion of sinners. Two of the missionaries have, within a year, been installed as pastors; six houses of worship have been erected; the cause of Sabbath schools is visibly advancing; increased interest is felt in the work of Education; new zeal is awakened on the subject of Temperance; the circulation of the Bible and religious books is diligently promoted; and all collateral good influences are receiving the steady and efficient co-operation of the missionaries of the Society.

In place of our usual Report from Central Illinois, we have to record the removal, by death, of the Agent for that field, Rev. WILLIAM KIRBY. In the midst of his useful labors, he was suddenly stricken down by disease, and on the 20th of December last he left the scenes of his earthly toil to enter upon his heavenly rest and reward.

Mr. Kirby devoted nearly his entire professional life to the promotion of the cause of Home Missions. While pursuing his theological studies at New Haven, he united with several of his classmates in an association for this purpose, and in the spring of 1831, entered upon his work. First as an instructor in Illinois College, of which he was one of the founders; afterward as a missionary to several feeble churches; and finally as the Agent, for more than six years, of this Society, he labored with great zeal, fidelity and self-denial. With what success he fulfilled his mission in these several relations,—the many churches he encouraged and strengthened; the congregations to which he broke the bread of life; the institutions of learning which he nurtured; the brethren whom he counseled in their difficulties, cheered in their trials, and stimulated in every good work; the spirit of missions awakened by his teachings; the souls saved by his labors, and yet to be saved through instrumentalities which he set in motion, will testify when we stand with him before the Son of Man. While engaged in a benevolent mission in behalf of a feeble church, away from home, the messenger of death overtook him, and he laid aside his armor to put on his crown. He rests from his labors, and his works do follow him.

In Southern Illinois, where no Agent has been regularly employed, the Society has enjoyed the cordial co-operation of the Presbytery of Alton, which, in addition to the valuable services of its Missionary Committee, has contributed $644 50 towards the support of the missionaries laboring within its bounds. The Secretary of the Committee, Rev. A. T. NORTON, states, as evidences of progress and grounds of encouragement, that during the past year four congregations have commenced the erection of houses of worship, and three have become independent of foreign aid. A decided increase of interest is manifested in the cause of Education, in the Temperance reformation, and in the various plans of christian benevolence.

Since the present plan of co-operation was adopted, in 1840, the outlay of missionary funds in this neglected portion of the State has yielded a rich return. The number of ministers connected with this Presbytery, which covers the 39 southern counties, has increased from 7 to 23; its churches from 10 to 32; and the members connected with them from 399 to more than 1,500. At that time, the churches were confined to five contiguous counties in the neighborhood of Alton. In eight others, churches have since been organized, and foundations have been laid, by the occasional labors of the missionaries, in four or five counties more. There still remain, however, some 25 counties in this section of the State "to be possessed" through the instrumentality of this Society.

Many causes have combined, during the year, to augment the labors and burdens, and to try the faith of our missionary brethren. The continued emigration to the land of gold has removed the very pillars of many feeble churches. Others were greatly impoverished by the desolating floods of the last summer; and others still by the failure of the wheat harvest which followed. Infidelity, too, in new and ensnaring forms; fanaticism in manifold shapes; popular excitements on questions of no profit, have greatly hindered the progress of the truth. Yet, in the face of all these obstacles, visible progress has been made, and encouragements abound to prosecute our work with redoubled diligence. Those portions of the State to which our missionaries have not yet extended their labors, are assuming a position of new interest and promise. In the eastern section, there is a region of country nearly 100 miles in width, and extending from the Kankakee to the Ohio river, nearly 300 miles, in which the work of the Society has hardly been commenced. In eight contiguous counties, containing a population of more than 30,000, no missionary, it is believed, has ever been stationed. A system of railroads has been commenced, by which this region, hitherto comparatively secluded, will be traversed, and brought into connection with the great channels of travel and commerce. The population, which has doubled within ten years, will increase at an accelerated rate; and industry, enterprise, improvement will receive a new impulse. But foremost among the agencies that are set in operation to determine the character of these infant communities, should be the Church of Christ hastening to take possession in the name of her King. To delay or falter in such a work, at such a juncture, would be a base betrayal of her trust.

WISCONSIN.

REV. DEXTER CLARY, Beloit, Agent.

Eighty four missionaries have preached the Gospel in this State, under the direction of this Society, since our last Report, and their labors have been attended by encouraging tokens of the divine approbation. Fourteen churches, enjoying their ministrations, have received special visitations of the Spirit, and several more have been favored in different degrees with seasons of spiritual refreshing. A few churches, also, have received large and important accessions, the fruit of revivals which occurred during the preceding year. It is gratifying to discover, from a review of the year, that, although the churches have suffered much embarrassment, in common with those of other Western States, from causes already alluded to in this Report; yet, through the blessing of God attending the faithful labors of his servants, no inconsiderable progress has been made in rearing christian institutions in that infant State. Fifteen churches have been organized in connection with the denominations which sustain this Society; seven houses of worship have been completed, and eleven others are in process of erection; three congregations have assumed the entire support of their pastors, and nearly 900 members have been added to the churches—more than half of them on profession of their faith.

The religious statistics of this State bear witness to the efficiency of the agencies by which its institutions have been reared. When the first missionary commenced his labors there, in 1836, only one church organization among the white population existed in the Territory. At the present time there are 159 connected with the Presbyterian and Congregational bodies, containing about 5,400 members. This number includes the few Welsh and German churches that are aided by the funds of this Society. More than 100 of these churches were organized through the agency, and nearly all have been assisted from the treasury of this Institution. Fifteen of these have already passed through the period of their minority, and are now independent.

The Agent of the Society has, during the year, made extensive tours in the northern counties, and has gathered much information in regard to the condition of this important portion of the missionary field. His report bears testimony to the efficiency and zeal with which the few laborers there are prosecuting their work; but they are inadequate to supply the widespread and growing destitutions around them. They ask for a large and speedy reinforcement. New schemes of internal improvement are opening new fields for evangelical effort. A connection is about to be formed, by canal, between the Wisconsin and Fox rivers, thus uniting the navigable waters which flow into the Gulf of Mexico with those which flow into the St. Lawrence, and opening an important thoroughfare diagonally through the center of the State. Over this whole region the tide of population is rapidly flowing. Several counties, which five years ago had scarcely been reached by white settlers, now contain each a population of more than 10,000. But the work of supplying them with the means of religious instruction and training, has hardly been commenced. The Agent states that "Washington county, with a population of more than 20,000, has but one minister of our connection; Manitowoc, Brown, Outagamie, La Crosse, and Richland counties have each but one; Waupaca, Waushara, and Portage share the labors of another; while Adams, Bad Axe, and Crawford are entirely destitute. Yet in these counties are many settlements of New England people; villages are springing up, farms are under cultivation, and an extensive lumber business is carried on. The people there need the Gospel; and such men are wanted as will break up the fallow ground, and, like John the Baptist in the wilderness, say to the people, 'Prepare ye the way of the Lord.' Great numbers of professors of religion are located in these regions, and ministers are wanted to go after and enfold these lost sheep of the house of Israel. Abundance of work can be found here for all who will come. But who will supply the more than 30 destitute churches in other portions of the State?"

IOWA.

Rev. JULIUS A. REED, Davenport, Agent.

Fifty missionaries have held commissions from this Society in this State since our last Report, which exceeds by nine the number commissioned in any previous year. The churches under their ministrations have been favored with revivals of religion only to a limited extent, though many of them, including several German churches, have been encouraged and strengthened by valuable accessions to their numbers. In consequence of the losses and failures of the harvest, caused by the excessive rains of the last season, the congregations aided have not greatly increased their pledges for the support of the ministry. None, however, have diminished the amount of their subscriptions, while some, in face of the obstacles referred to, have made a considerable advance. Two missionaries have been installed as pastors during the year; six churches have been organized; four houses of worship have been completed, and ten others are now in process of erection—making the whole number of edifices already dedicated to the worship of God, twenty nine.

It is gratifying to notice how large a share of the work of planting christian institutions in this State has been borne by this Society. It is stated that there are now laboring, in the various departments of ministerial service, sixty one Congregational and N. S. Presbyterian ministers, all but four of whom are, or have been, aided by this Institution; and of the seventy one existing churches of the same denominations, all except two have been planted or nurtured by the same agency. But while we testify our gratitude to God for the success with which our past efforts have been crowned, we look with painful apprehension upon the wide harvest still perishing for want of reapers. Of the 100 organized counties in the State, about one half are so far settled as to furnish a field for ministerial effort; yet the labors of our missionaries have thus far been confined almost wholly to 28 counties, leaving 17 others, with a population of from 500 to 5,000 each, and five or six with a somewhat smaller population, entirely unsupplied. Not less than eight missionaries are needed at once to occupy posts where churches have already been gathered, and as many more to enter new and promising fields.

Since our last Report, a new station has been occupied on the western frontier of the State, in the vicinity of Council Bluffs. Scattered along the eastern banks of the Missouri river, is a population of about 14,000—more than half of them Mormons—living without the Sabbath and the restraints of religious institutions, addicted to all the vices of a wild border life. The Mormons have determined to abandon their homes and emigrate to Utah in the course of the present year, and their places will be occupied by a population more accessible to the truth, and presenting an urgent claim to the sympathy and aid of the eastern churches.

“The destitutions of this State,” says the Agent, “are destined, we fear, to increase faster than they can be supplied. The emigration to Iowa in 1851, according to a statement recently made on the floor of Congress, was 60,000; and we believe it will be as great annually till 1860. The soil of three fourths of the State is superior to that of the best river lands in New England. Lead abounds in some parts of the State, and coal throughout nearly half its extent. According to the returns of the last census, the ratio of mortality is a little more than half what it is in Massachusetts, showing that it ranks as the third State in the Union in point of healthfulness. It is bounded on the east and west by the two largest rivers in the Union, and is intersected by the Des Moines, which will soon afford slack water navigation to the heart of the State. It is confidently expected that in a few years a railroad will be built across the State, connecting these three rivers, and uniting them, by a continuous line of railroads, with the Atlantic cities. The attention of emigrants is turned, by these circumstances, to Iowa; and the population of the State must increase more rapidly than ever. If its annual increase continues to be as great till 1860, as it is estimated to have been the last year, it will then amount to 750,000. To keep pace with the population, an annual increase of eighteen ministers, besides providing for losses by removals and deaths, will be needed for years to come; which is about four times the net annual increase of our ministry for the last four years. Thus is this work growing upon our hands; and we should despair of final success were we not permitted to pray Him, to send forth laborers to the harvest, to whom the gold and the silver belong, and in whose hands are the hearts of all men.”

OREGON.

The embarrassments adverted to in the last Report, as arising from the unsettled condition of society in Oregon, have continued to operate disastrously on the missions in that Territory. The absence of a large part of the male population for months together, not only left the missionaries without coadjutors in matters pertaining to the churches, but also devolved on them the responsibility and labor of educational and other social interests. When, at length, the crowd of adventurers began to return from the gold region, it was only to be dispersed again from the towns and villages by the operation of the "Land Law." This enactment makes liberal allotments of land to all who will actually settle on them previous to December 1st, 1853. Stimulated by this offer, great numbers of people have left the towns to take up farms in the country. The desire to "make claims," spread among all ranks, and for a time amounted almost to a mania. Families were scattered far from each other; beginnings which had been made in collecting congregations were arrested; and nearly every form of social improvement experienced a check. It is hoped, however, that this effect will be but temporary; and that the necessities of the increasing population, and the general desire manifested for schools and for the preaching of the Gospel, will triumph over the present embarrassment.

During the year past, the Society has sent out no additional missionaries to Oregon. The stations already occupied have been gradually strengthened, so far as the circumstances of the country would allow. In respect to the interests of education, especially, it is believed that the counsels and efforts of the missionaries have been of great value.

The station at Portland, under the care of Rev. Horace Lyman, since the last Report has assumed the character of a permanent congregation, with the fixtures of regularly organized society, that promise to make it a rallying point of good agencies for all time to come. A church edifice, 48 by 32 feet, with a spire and belfry, has been completed, after a severe and self-denying struggle; and on the 15th of July last, was dedicated to the worship of the Most High. On the same day, a Congregational church was organized, with ten members.

Rev. George H. Atkinson has continued his labors at Oregon City, and the various stations in the neighborhood where he had previously planted Sabbath schools, and collected the people for preaching.

Arrangements have also been made, by which it is expected that Kalapooya, in Linn county, will be supplied at the expense of this Society.

The Committee have looked on the condition of the settlements in Oregon with deep concern. While these have not increased with a rapidity to be compared with that which characterizes the neighboring State of California, they are nevertheless outstripping the efforts of the Church to supply them with the bread of life. It is said that 10,000 emigrants entered Oregon in the year 1851. From the Umpqua Valley on the south, and the region around Puget's Sound on the north, the request of the pioneer is heard, asking for the teachings of the minister of God. Thus far, it is believed, no Protestant missionary has planted himself among the white settlers north of the Columbia. Immediate efforts are contemplated to meet these demands, and especially to furnish ministers to some points which have lately become important on account of their commercial or political relations.

CALIFORNIA.

The churches planted in California by the Society's missionaries, have continued to make steady advancement during the year. The Howard street church in San Francisco, which had been gathered by the labors of Rev. S. H. Willey, has increased in numbers and strength, in the face of severe external embarrassments. The congregation had but just completed their church building, when, in May, 1851, the city was visited by a disastrous conflagration; and though their "holy and beautiful house" was spared, the private fortunes of the people were almost wholly swept away by the flames; and the expense of this mission, which the congregation were about to assume, was thrown again, for a few months, upon the Society. A Presbyterian church was organized June 15th, 1851, on the same day that the house of worship was dedicated to the service of God.

Rev. James H. Warren commenced laboring at Nevada City early in April, 1851. His first efforts were directed to secure a church edifice. On the 28th of September following, the building—complete within and without, including a fine bell—was dedicated to Jehovah; and on the same day, a goodly number of professors united in covenant obligations as a church of Christ.

The church organized at Marysville, by Rev. W. W. Brier, has nearly doubled its numbers, and raised the means of building a house of worship, and furnishing it with a bell. Recently, in consequence of the failure of his health, Mr. Brier has been obliged to relinquish his labors.

At San José, Rev. Isaac H. Brayton, reports a good measure of prosperity in the general affairs of his church, and the addition of several members, both by letter and by profession. Mr. B. has made extensive tours in the northern and southern mines, preaching the Gospel, and surveying the ground with reference to the establishment of new missions.

The above-named missionaries have been supported by the contributions of their people, except Rev. Messrs. Warren and Willey. The dependence of the latter on the Society terminated on the 1st of January last.

Only about three years have passed since the first Protestant missionaries began their labors in California. In that rush of people—that hazard of health and fortune, that excitement of new circumstances, and absence of social bonds—the attempt to establish the institutions of religion was like laying the foundations of a temple amid the breakers of the ocean. But what will not perseverance effect when working with self-denial, directed by intelligence, and upheld by faith! Already, in most of the important towns of California, one or more evangelical churches exist, sanctuaries rear their spires towards heaven, and living preachers proclaim the messages of mercy. The same wonderful rapidity that has marked this whole development of society in that new State, is seen also in the rise and progress of its religious institutions. Indeed, no limit has thus far been reached in the success of founding churches, and gathering about them the healthful institutions of settled society, but such as are imposed by the want of more laborers suited and willing to do the work. It is established beyond all doubt, that the demand for missionaries, such as this Society seeks to send forth, is not the mere creation of a heated zeal, but an actual and urgent necessity of the country. A hundred thousand men, now in the mines, require some more reliable provision for giving them the Gospel, than the irregular and uncertain visits of the itinerant. Their numbers and condition are becoming such as to admit of the stated ministry, and the social fixtures connected with permanent churches. If these can be supplied to them now, ere the vigor of their new life is absorbed by worldliness—while their ardor and generosity are not yet perverted to purposes of sin—the Gospel may achieve triumphs there, such as can hardly be expected in an unexcited community. Every consideration of the greatest usefulness and economy, calls for an immediate reinforcement of this mission with the ablest men that can be obtained for the service. Such a reinforcement the Committee are attempting the present season, with good prospects of success.

CONCLUSION.

Such is a brief summary of our last Missionary year. Although it has not been wanting in trials, but has furnished occasions for faith and patience, its passing months have yet been crowned with loving kindness and tender mercy. The members of the Society have this joy—a joy which no man taketh from them—that they have not labored in vain, nor spent their strength for nought. They rejoice in the confirmation furnished by another year, that the smile of Heaven rests upon their association. Its object is the noblest possible to men; its means, chosen and ordained by the Lord Jesus Christ; its results priceless in their value and eternal in their duration. No powers of computation can measure the present, and still less the future effects of the missionary labors of a single year. What may we not hope from the ceaseless activity, the whole year round, of a thousand enlightened, devoted minds, all pressed on by one impelling purpose, all fraught with the same message, all teaching the same great system of doctrines—doctrines, which, as has been well said, “have done more work, have rolled off more woes, have originated more good influences and good institutions, than all other doctrines ever preached, than all the philosophy ever written.” The yearly summing up of these results of Home Missionary labor, revives the courage of the christian heart. It confirms our faith in the adaptation and adequacy of the Gospel, as the means of national regeneration. The patrons and conductors of the Society, and their co-laborers in the field, may go forth afresh to the duties of another year, exulting in the belief of that coming hour, when the tribes of the people gathering upon our shores, shall say one to another, “Come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord.”

But animating as it is to contemplate the work accomplished, and that which is still in progress, we may not forget that there is a class of facts less hopeful in their aspect; facts, discouraging for their magnitude rather than their kind. Though we have in this country some formidable shapes of error to encounter, we have, also, some uncommon facilities for meeting them with success. It is not Romanism, nor Infidelity, nor any one of the indigenous forms of fanaticism, that we have chiefly to dread; but it is the whole of them together—the collective impenitence of the land—the aggregate error, worldliness and sin, in all forms and under every denomination. It is the quantity rather than the nature of the work to be done, which looks disheartening. As lands that are made desolate by the visitations of clouds of locusts, we are in danger of being overwhelmed by the multitude rather than the power of our foes. Every where, the fallow ground exceeds the means of culture. Even around our homesteads and amid our altars, new wastes expand. The people are breaking forth on the right hand and on the left, extending the bounds of their habitation. Further and further on, beyond all previous limits, the great column of emigration is pressing, but never recedes. Social changes are so frequent, business enterprise and political excitement are so vehement, that an intenser action of the Gospel is needful to keep the community at all under its power. And this is required simultaneously, at a thousand points, thousands of miles asunder. There is, indeed, nothing in all this to make us despair of filling this land with the Gospel, provided the christian heart can but be awakened, and kept awake, to the magnitude of the interests in jeopardy ;—can be brought to feel how much more rapidly the Church must move now than formerly, to avoid falling entirely behind the age. A rate of progress that once was prosperity, would now be little better than defeat. Fifty years ago, there were few openings and few facilities for the diffusion of the Gospel. The Church could then advance by slow degrees, and yet be ahead of the world. A large portion of the earth was inaccessible to the light. The Mahomedan world was the abode of bigotry and cruelty, and could not be entered. China was environed by impregnable barriers of prejudice. Maritime discovery and trade had not brought the remotest nations into familiar nearness, as at present. The extent and capabilities of our Great Central Valley, where now dwell eleven millions of freemen, were unexplored, and almost unsuspected. No Schoolcraft had found the sources of the Mississippi ; Oregon and California were names belonging to romance rather than to geography. Fifty years ago, Fulton had not given the steamboat to the world ; railways had not girded the earth with bands of iron, nor the electric telegraph pervaded it as with nerves of sensation ; there were no power presses, no locomotives. These, and a thousand wonders of art besides, have but lately come into being to expedite human enterprise and abridge human labor. The quickening effect is felt not only in the external world but the very soul of man itself seems changed. It works on a larger scale ; it plans and expects what it never dreamed of before. It cannot be controlled by such application of christian truth as sufficed to guide it when the century began. And if the last few years have given such an impulse to human life, what may we expect in years to come ? Must not our moral machinery be greatly increased, and be worked with far more momentum than it is now ? Though it is the same Gospel that must be preached, it must yet be preached with more diligence and power. The excited minds of men must be made to see the truth more clearly, to believe it more firmly, to feel it more intensely, or vast multitudes will break away entirely, from its influence.

But the danger is, that the Christians of America will not appreciate this emergency as they should. There is danger that they will fail to know, in this their day, the things that belong to their peace ; that they will not understand how valuable is the price put into their hands to secure the welfare of Zion ; that they will withhold their best counsels, their personal efforts, and their earnest prayers ; that their wealth will be locked up in worldly enterprises, instead of being consecrated to the immediate and pressing wants of evangelization ;—danger that their sons will be devoted to trade, to art, to ambition, rather than to the ministry of reconciliation. It involves no ordinary responsibility, because it is no ordinary privilege, to be a citizen of this country in such a day as this. It is a greater thing to be an American editor, to fill an American pulpit, to stand in the halls of American legislation, to mingle with and mold the popular feeling of American society, than to hold the same relations any where else. They who possess this privilege, seem to stand just now nearer to the throne of power, to the great center of motion of God's enginery for saving the world than others. He, then, thus privileged, that can act, let him act here and now. He that can give, let him give with simplicity, for God loveth a cheerful giver. He that can pray, let him pray, for God is a hearer of prayer; and all the promises of his word, and all the signs of his providence, assure us that he waiteth to be gracious. While, then, his sounding chariot wheels are shaking the nations, let all who have named the name of Christ, come forth in the fullness of an honest and entire devotement, and gird themselves to the glorious work of rendering this whole land IMMANUEL'S.

Relation of Auxiliary Societies, Agencies and Committees of Missions to the American Home Missionary Society; Applications, &c.

State and other large Auxiliaries.

Most of the State Missionary Societies were in existence before the formation of the National Society, and some of them—as the Missionary Societies of Connecticut and Massachusetts—were among the earliest organized efforts in our country for sending the Gospel to the destitute. They have voluntarily connected themselves as Auxiliaries with the American Home Missionary Society, from a conviction that greater unity of plan and efficiency in action would thereby be promoted.

The terms by which such Auxiliaries—acting on the principles of the Parent Society, undertaking the supply of the destitute within their own bounds, and paying over their surplus funds to the Parent Institution—are connected with the Parent Society, are such as to secure the following objects, viz.:

First—The Auxiliary is not superseded or overshadowed by the National Institution, but on the contrary, is invigorated and sustained by connection with it.

This is secured by the provision that the Auxiliary is the sole agency for this cause that operates on its field. It controls all appointments in the State to which it belongs. From it alone, so far as its means will allow, the feeble churches receive assistance. Thus a direct relation and strong attachment is cherished towards it, in the hearts of the ministers and churches.

Again—While the local operations of the Auxiliary are thus encouraged and sustained, its connection with the Parent Society is such as to awaken an interest in the destitute beyond its own limits, and afford facilities for reaching them. It is not only a Society for local purposes, but it is also a branch of the National Society, and as such, has the control of all agencies for the collection of funds within its own field, and can direct the manner in which its surplus resources shall be expended beyond its own limits. Thus, the State and other large Auxiliaries are not merely organizations to help the Parent Society; they are integral parts of it, bound together in one whole by a common interest in and free access through the Parent Society, to the great field to be occupied, and governed by the same general principles and rules in carrying on the work.

Agents and Agencies.

Besides preaching to the destitute and taking up contributions for Home Missions, the Agents of the American Home Missionary Society exercise a general superintendence of the operations of the Society within their respective fields. By correspondence and personal visitation, they ascertain the wants of the destitute; assist them to obtain the preaching of the Gospel; and instruct and encourage them to develop their own means for its support. They receive applications for aid, and make such preliminary examination as may be necessary before submitting them for the action of the Executive Committee; and in other ways labor to insure a judicious and economical application of the Society's funds. At present, the Society has in its employ no merely collecting Agents, nor any whose services are not required for other purposes in the regions where they labor. The Secretaries of several of the larger Auxiliaries, are also the Agents for this cause in their respective bounds.

In certain districts, where the duties of an Agent are likely to be peculiarly responsible, there is associated with him a board of counselors selected from the region of his labors, called an Agency. These Boards of Agency differ from Auxiliary Societies, in that they have no independent existence, but are appointed by the Executive Committee from year to year, and are governed by rules which the Committee prescribe. Their office is to counsel and direct the Agent in carrying out the principles of the Society, and to give advice in relation to such local matters as may be submitted to them by the Executive Committee. The persons composing a Board of Agency, are selected for their intelligence and interest in this cause, and their influence in promoting it; and are so distributed over the field as to secure a personal acquaintance with its condition. The Agent of the Society is also the Secretary of the Agency with which he is associated.

These boards of counsel might not have been necessary, had the ecclesiastical bodies on the ground been able and disposed to pay sufficient attention to the missionary work, and to act as its directors in their respective bounds. But the ministers composing them are usually scattered over a wide extent of territory, and meet but seldom, and only at seasons when they are much occupied with other business; and accordingly it has been necessary in some cases to organize agencies for this specific work. But in other cases, Synods, Presbyteries, and Associations, have chosen to act as Auxiliaries to the Society, examining into the condition of the destitute within their bounds, and recommending the appropriate action for their relief. Ecclesiastical bodies thus related to the American Home Missionary Society, act through

Committees of Missions.

The American Home Missionary Society has ever regarded the ecclesiastical bodies as the appropriate judges of the standing of their own ministers, and of the wants of the churches in their connection. Accordingly, the commission issued to every missionary requires that his credentials be acceptable to that ministerial body of his denomination, within whose bounds he is appointed to labor. And the various Presbyteries, Associations, &c., are invited to appoint, each, a Committee of Missions from its own members to receive applications from its churches, and suggest to the Society the action proper in each case. Such a Committee constitutes the official source to which reference can be had for information and advice, in all matters pertaining to missions in the connection to which it belongs. This mode of coöperation has been preferred by numerous ecclesiastical bodies, from the first formation of the Society. It guaranties to the churches of each denomination represented in the Society, that their respective claims shall be fairly considered, with all the advantage of having the endorsement of the body to which they belong. The advice of such a Committee, acting in the name and by the direction of the ecclesiastical body to which they belong, is regarded as the highest authority in matters pertaining to the standing of ministers and churches in their connection, and has the same influence with the Society, as that of a Board of Agency appointed by itself.

There is one limitation to this influence, however, which ought to be stated. Should any ecclesiastical body so far swerve from the principles of truth and Gospel order, as not to retain the fellowship and confidence of the great body of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches in our land, that fact would cause its recommendations not to be respected, as a basis of action, by the Executive Committee.

As cases may occur in which the feeble churches may not be aware of the existence of any Board of Agency, or Committee of Missions, through whom to apply for aid, a general provision is made, that applications may be vouched by any two ministers of known and approved standing, who can certify to the facts of the case. If the information thus given is not sufficient, other facts are sought by the Executive Committee with as little delay as practicable, from the most authentic sources from which they can be obtained.

Such, briefly, are the relations of the American Home Missionary Society to the various organs, through which the community seeks to act out its missionary feeling. It will be seen that this plan secures the united action, in the missionary work, of those whose views of doctrine and church order admit of coöperation, and whose interests in the great field are essentially the same. This combination insures a homogeneous policy as to the manner and amount of appropriations, and the qualifications of missionaries; it has discouraged sectional feelings, and diffused throughout each part an interest in all the rest; and thus has formed ties between the West and East, along which has passed, from the latter to the former, a silent and invisible current of moral influences, more valuable, if possible, than all pecuniary grants. At the same time, the connection of the Parent Society with the various Associations that act with it, is such as to secure to them entire freedom in the missionary work, in their respective spheres, and an influence beyond them, in cultivating the waste places of our common country.

Applications for Aid.

Feeble congregations, applying for aid in supporting the Gospel, are requested to embody in their application the following particulars, viz.:

The name of the church or congregation; the number of communicants, and the average number of attendants on public worship; the denomination and size of congregations immediately contiguous, with the distance to their places of worship; the total amount of salary which the applicants propose to make up; the largest portion of that salary which they can raise for the given time, and the least amount that will suffice from the Society; whether the minister for whom a commission is desired, is the pastor of the church, or if not, whether any arrangements are made or contemplated in the course of the year, with reference to his installment. These statements should be signed by the trustees and elders or deacons, or by a committee of the congregation, and confirmed by the certificate of two or more clergymen of good standing, acquainted with the facts. Also,

The name and post-office address of the minister whose services they desire to secure; his credentials; and the certificate of two or more ministers of known standing, as to his general character for piety, zeal, and acceptableness, as a minister of the Gospel, and his adaptedness to this particular field of labor.

When the ecclesiastical body with which a church is connected has a "Committee of Missions" to act in its behalf, this Committee are the proper persons to certify the statements of the church, the standing of the minister, and his prospects of usefulness in the place where his services are desired; and the applications should be sent to them for their endorsement and recommendation.

Applications, after being properly endorsed and recommended, should, in all cases, be addressed to the care of the Agent (or Secretary of the Agency, or Auxiliary) for the region where the applicants reside.

As a general rule, the appropriations of the American Home Missionary Society are for twelve months from the date of the application; at the end of which, if further aid be needed, a new application must be made, containing all the particulars above stated, and endorsed and recommended in like manner. And each congregation applying for renewed aid, should furnish, in addition to other testimonials, the certificate of the missionary, that they have fulfilled their previous pledges for his support.

The address of the Society's Agents and the Secretaries of its Auxiliaries will be found on the cover of its Reports and of the Home Missionary. Where no such medium of communication with the Society exists, applications may be sent directly to the Society's Office in New York.

Addresses at the Twenty Sixth Anniversary.

Address of Rev. Joseph F. Tuttle, of Rockaway, N. J.

ON MOVING THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION:

RESOLVED, That the Preaching of Jesus Christ, and him crucified, by the living ministry, is an essential instrumentality in the salvation of the West; and, that the unprecedented growth of that part of our country, calls loudly on the American Church to furnish this instrumentality until the West is saved.

MR. PRESIDENT:—The question is often asked, What is the West? In general terms it may be answered, the West is a vast Empire, three thousand miles long by one thousand broad, containing two and a quarter millions of square miles, and equal to Great Britain, Ireland, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Poland and Russia in Europe. It embraces fifteen hundred millions of acres, which would allow forty acres each to nearly forty million families, or two hundred millions of individuals. Once, its frontier was at Geneva; now it is the Pacific.

The West is constructed on Nature's vastest scale. It has forests yet undisturbed, covering as much territory as some of the kingdoms of Europe, every foot of which is available for the plough. It has rich, glorious prairies, which stretch out like trackless oceans. Its rivers, fringed with fat, alluvial plains, sink the Thames, the Rhine, the Seine and the Hudson, into mere rivulets. To know the majestic outlines of the West, you must sail down the Ohio a thousand miles, up the Mississippi to St. Paul's, up the Missouri to the Rocky Mountains, up the Yellow Stone, a thousand miles, to the place where its head waters are only a stone's throw distant from the sources of the Columbia, up the numerous tributaries of the turbid Missouri, spreading their mighty network over five hundred thousand square miles of territory, or up the almost countless streams pouring into the Mississippi, on the one side reaching the Alleghanies, and on the other the Rocky Mountains. You must have some definite conception of the fact, that the West is coursed by rivers, whose aggregate length is thirty thousand miles, and whose valleys are as rich as the valley of the Nile.

Growth of the West.

The political progress of the West is also on a vast scale. I can name to you the man—he yet lives—who was the first white child born in the State of Ohio. Scarcely sixty four years have passed away, and now behold ten States, four Territories, and eleven millions of inhabitants. In January, 1799, the delegates to the first Legislature west of the Ohio river, traveled through almost unbroken forests from two to four hundred miles, swimming the rivers on horseback, and camping by night in the woods; but now the representatives of eleven millions assemble in their capital cities, in circumstances as pleasant as in Boston or Harrisburgh. In 1794, the mail communication between Ohio and the East, was through Kentucky and North Carolina; but now Cincinnati by railroad is forty hours distant from New York, and by telegraph, distance is absolutely annihilated. Progress at the West is at railroad rates. Yesterday it was a wilderness; to-day an inhabited place. Yesterday the wolf, the bear, the deer and the savage were there; to-day the West resounds with the potential voices of millions of citizens. Yesterday the traveler on horseback was picking his difficult way through vast forests by the dim trail of the hunter, or the blazed trees of the pioneer or savage; to-day he is following the screaming locomotives along iron highways, with the speed of the wind. Yesterday the West was a dependent nurseling, in the swaddling clothes of infancy; to-day its eldest State, the young giant of the Ohio, is crying out "Excelsior," and is reaching out for the boasted banner and motto of the "Empire State." Yesterday the West was distinguished only by her insignificance, scarcely exciting the contempt of her peers; to-day she plants one foot on the Ohio, and the other on the Columbia, waving one giant hand over the Yellow Stone, and the other over the American, and in the calm sublimity of conscious power, awaits the day as near when she shall concentrate in herself the civil and political power of the nation. Nor will she hold the reins of dominion with a slack hand. Like her great rivers, gathering strength from a thousand far off streams, the West will move with the majesty of an inexorable fate to accomplish her sovereign will. I have sometimes sailed along her rivers, or have been wheeled over her iron roads—on, on, on—yet not reaching her pillars of Hercules. As I have looked upon her boundless, and imperfectly developed resources, and have allowed my thoughts to sweep on to the day when one, two, or even three hundred millions shall think, act, and energize in the West, I have said with trembling exultation, the West is the world!

Let not a thrillingly tremendous fact lose its power by repetition, that principally, the political and religious salvation of this nation is in peril, and is to be secured or lost at the West. Blazon it upon the skies for American Christians and patriots to read; proclaim it in tones like the voice of many waters, so that all may hear, that the West, great in its territorial empire, great in its resources, great in its energies and enterprise, great in its progress, and great in its prospective salvation or ruin, is the grandest and the most important acquisition to which they can direct their wisdom, their strength and their zeal. Convert the West to Christ, and she will make her power felt in Russia, and in the heart of China; but let Jesuitism and infidelity attain the mastery of the West, and she will roll back the dark ages over the world, and reërect the despotism of Hildebrand, or she will rock the nations with another French revolution on a vaster scale. Convert the West to Christ, and her sons will be the foremost warriors in the great battle which is now waging in the world, and when at last the victory shall be won, her myriad voices shall blend in majestic harmony with the redeemed in earth and heaven, as they shall unite in the thunder-voiced ascription, "Alleluia, for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth!"

Dangers of the West.

As for the dangers which beset the West, their "name is Legion;" but among them all, the most active and dangerous are two: the first being Universalism, with its siren song of universal and indiscriminate salvation, blending into one the polite Unitarian infidelity of New England, and the refined transcendentalism of Germany; the second being the system which declares that there is no road to heaven except through Rome, and seeks to reduce this republic, founded on and shaped by the vernacular Bible, beneath the iron rule which is crushing the patriots of Italy and Hungary. Oh, had Rome awoke when the Mayflower was carrying its precious burden to these shores, or even when Lord Baltimore landed in Maryland—had she then inundated this continent with her subjects as she is now doing, the history of this nation would have been very different. But now she is seeking to retrieve the error in her policy, by the most gigantic efforts to gain the West. I well remember the remark made by a Western archbishop, who in Cincinnati publicly eulogised the common schools of that city, but in Europe denounced the same schools as hungry wolves, which met the poor, defenseless children of emigrants as they landed on the wharves, and devoured them! Said he on one occasion, privately, but with unctuous complacency, "Nothing would give me greater pleasure than to plant the cross upon the steeple of Dr. Beecher's church!" For once the Jesuit spoke out his mind honestly. In justice to the man whose church was to be distinguished with such a peculiar honor, it ought to be stated that the Doctor was once passing by the great cathedral erected in Cincinnati by the aforesaid Bishop, and after looking for some time at the building, so poorly calculated for preaching the gospel, he exclaimed, in a tone half mirthful and half prophetic, "I don't know what use we can put that thing to, by and by, when the Catholics are converted to Christ!"

Should any one think slightly of the Jesuitism of Rome, as a most fearful danger pressing upon the West, let me ask him to visit the wharves of this and other cities, crowded with emigrants, or the boats upon our canals, loaded down with foreign Papists, or those huge trains of what are known at the West as "hyena cars," crammed full of such emigrants, and his unbelief will vanish. Foreign population is rolling into the West like the tide of Fundy, to become integrated into the destined ruin or salvation of our nation. Divine Providence has hoisted, and now holds open, the floodgates. Ireland and Germany are pouring in their children by the hundred thousand; and with them we must sink or rise. The responsibility is on us, and woe to us as a nation, if when Delilah cries out, "the Philistines be upon thee, Samson," we shall find that while sleeping we have been shorn of the lock of our strength!

Advancement of Evangelical Religion.

I have spoken of progress at the West, but the occasion which convenes us requires that another view should be presented, lest our enemies claim more than belongs to them.

The progress of evangelical religion at the West has been of itself a prodigy. The first sermon preached to the white people in the North-Western Territory was by a Mr. Breck, on the 20th of July, 1788, in the block house at Marietta. His text was a conditional prophecy, peculiarly fitted to pioneer the great work of evangelical preaching at the West. "Now therefore if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people, and ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation." (Ex. xix: 5, 6.) But now in 1852, not less than 600 Presbyterian and Congregational ministers hold forth the word of life to 700 congregations in Ohio alone. In 1820 there were probably not a half dozen ministers in Indiana; now there are more than 200 ministers and 300 churches of these denominations, the most of which are the nurselings of Home Missions. In 1814, so far as I can ascertain, there was not a Presbyterian or Congregational church or minister in Illinois. In 1829, the first presbytery was formed of seven members, and on the Mississippi, above St. Louis, there was not a single minister or church, nor one within 200 miles, in any direction, of Galena, where Kent, the veteran pioneer of the A. H. M. S., had just been stationed. But now there are more than 350 churches on the same field, and the gospel is preached to listening thousands. In 1829, Mr. Kent visited Wisconsin, and tells us that losing his way, he was led to the cabin of a backsliding Englishman, who had been converted in Calcutta. There was not to his knowledge a man within twenty miles who could pray with him, nor an evangelical christian church within 200 miles. In 1835, the work of Home Missions began in earnest in Wisconsin, and now it has some 200 churches and 150 ministers.

These are fair illustrations of the religious progress of the West. The history of the church since the primitive ages of Christianity might be challenged for a parallel to this increase of ministers, churches and communicants. Where the savage roamed and the wild beast prowled, as it were but yesterday, to-day we see not only a people rapidly claiming the preëminence of political power, but an abundant harvest in colleges, seminaries, churches and ministers, which is like the luxuriant increase of their own alluvial prairies.

The instrumentality in these changes is Home Missions, and in this work no society has been more signally blessed than the one whose anniversary we celebrate to-night. Look at its condensed history in figures. In western New York it has nurtured 300 churches, in Ohio 300, in Indiana some 150, and over the whole field of its operations, over 3,000 churches. It has stationed men on Lake Michigan, and at St. Paul; it has scattered holy influences from the Ohio to the mouth of the Columbia. It has become identified with the march of civilization, and the rush of influences which are shaping the West. The American Home Missionary Society has sent the gospel into thousands of school-houses and waste places; nay, more, it has been the parent stock from which have sprung colleges, seminaries and schools, which are now nobly striving to save the West by educating its sons in home institutions. It has been the handmaid of every moral reformation in the Great Valley. Its sons have been foremost in the fight with intemperance in Ohio, Wisconsin and Iowa, and in the divine might it has poured such holy and powerful influences over the West that even now, in spite of the thousand leagued errors which are at work to ruin it, I can see the enemy giving way, and I hope to see the day when this Society shall have aided the good, in laying the foundations of this young empire so firmly on the everlasting rock, that the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.

Mr. President, history, conjointly with the holy scriptures, teaches that the preaching of Jesus Christ and him crucified is the grand instrumentality for bringing about a consummation so much to be desired. It was the living preacher who shook the world in the days of primitive Christianity, and planted the gospel even in Cæsar's household. It was the living, authorized, and divinely appointed preacher who shook Europe in the days of Luther, Zwingle and Calvin, and heralded in what is like to prove the latter-day glory. It was the living preacher who caused the dens, and caves, and heaths of Scotland to echo with christian songs, and wrestling prayers, and mighty revivals, whilst tyranny was hounding on its miscreant minions in the vain attempt to quench the divine flame with the blood of holy martyrs. A learned, pious, and if you please, an enthusiastic ministry, is a vital instrumentality in the gospel system. You may send Baxter's Call, and Alleine's Alarm, and Doddridge's Rise and Progress, and even Bunyan's inimitable and priceless allegories, by the boat load, and place them in every family in the Great Valley; nay, you may send the bible itself in all its divine simplicity and uncontradicted authority without the living preacher, and the results will be comparatively barren. If you look over the West for those centers from which light is streaming over that goodly land, you will find that the living preacher began the work as Kent did in Illinois, as Bishop and Stuart are doing in Indiana, and as your Home missionaries are doing throughout the entire field. "How, then, shall they call on him in whom they have not believed, and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard, and how shall they hear without a preacher, and how shall they preach except they be sent?"

I am acquainted with many of your missionaries, and I feel that I venture nothing in the assertion that the heroic and self-sacrificing spirit of the gospel has no better illustrations than are to be found in them. Many of them are men of strong and cultivated intellects, who would have excelled in any station or pursuit in life. They are men whose whole souls are swayed and controlled by one idea, and that not the ambition of the politician, or the narrow bigotry of the jesuit, but the constraining love of Christ. I seem to see them looking over the sublime heritage of the West, and in unmoved confidence of faith in God, I seem to hear them exclaiming in trumpet tones to American Christians, "The land through which we passed to search, it is an exceeding good land. If the Lord delight in us, then he will bring us into this land and give it us; a land which floweth with milk and honey. Only rebel not ye against the Lord, neither fear ye the people of the land; for they are bread for us; their defense is departed from them, and the Lord is with us." They shrink at no self-denial, are appalled by no danger, are discouraged by no labor, but laying themselves a living sacrifice on the altar of Christ, they are bending their energies with an enthusiasm which might shock Festus, and a wisdom higher than human, and a love which is divine, to the mighty work of securing this glorious field for their Master.

We have seen that their labor is not in vain. The churches they have erected are numbered by the thousand, and the subjects of revivals under their preaching by hundreds of thousands. In the labors of these noble men, I see one of the cheering evidences of hope that the Lord will not suffer false religion to take possession of the West.

And will you pardon me, Mr. President, for one word in behalf of that nation born in a day, to which your Society is beginning to throw most anxious and longing looks? In the congregation where I minister, there is scarcely a family which has not some tender tie binding them to California; and if those who have gone from us are a fair representation of that unparalleled community, then it is a community for which I beseech you to employ your wisdom, and exercise your utmost care. The most vigorous, enterprising, and hopeful young men of my parish are there, not to beg, but to dig; not to pine away with heartaching homesickness, but to hope on for the day when their toil shall give them independence. They are a noble body of men. Some of them are no doubt citizens of California for life, but the most of them expect to return; but alas, as some bleeding hearts among us testify, some, who went out in all the joyousness of hope, have gone from thence to that undiscovered country whence none return. Is this young prodigy of the Pacific, all throbbing with the irrepressible energies of young, ardent, powerful men—is it like an ocean stirred with conflicting tempests? Oh, then, let us take care to meet the responsibility, in order that when the California of the future shall emerge from the chaos of the present, it may be such a commonwealth as God himself may pronounce "very good." But I have already detained you long enough, and there are others who can do better justice to the land of gold than myself. A word more, and I shall have finished.

I once stood on the summit of the highest range of the Alleghanies, and I longed for some power to look at a glance over the eastern part of this country; to take in every thronged city, and busy town, and thriving village, and quiet home, everywhere scattered in almost endless profusion; to watch the vivacious energies of our people, digging down the mountains, and casting up highways over the valleys, loading the bosom of every river and lake with the fruits of their toil, and spreading the wings of commerce on every sea; to watch the majestic movements of a thousand steam palaces, and the whirlwind speed of a thousand locomotives along our iron highways; to gather into one imposing view all the genius, and energy, and enterprise, and freedom, and security, and power which abound, that I might trace these results to their cause. As I meditated, the fountain head stood discovered. It was the meeting house in which a pious and educated ministry expounded the vernacular Bible to the people. Had it not been for this, America to-day might be as contemptible as Spain, as imbecile as Mexico, as abhorred as Italy, or as execrable as Austria. But our fathers, blessed men who feared God more than death, whose piety was sublime, whose minds and hearts had grown strong from a death grapple with tyranny, and whose vision, taking in the future, led them exultingly to cry out, "We shall not die, but shall live in our children, and in our children's children unto the latest generation!"—Our fathers planted the meeting houses in our valleys and along our hill sides, whence might be heard the voice of God's special ambassadors. From this simple instrumentality have sprung these blessed results which are to be seen in New England and the Middle States. And this is the exalted mission of the American Home Missionary Society. Palsied be the arm which would strike at this instrumentality, consecrated as it is by the blessing of Jesus Christ in making the wilderness to blossom as the rose! Dumb be the tongue which would distil the venom of jealousy into the hearts of these twin sisters which have so long, and so lovingly, and so successfully urged on this great benevolence in the most glorious empire beneath the sun!

Mr. President, do for the West what our fathers did for us, and the East shall be reproduced on a gigantic scale at the West. Let every family hear the voice of the living preacher, and before this instrumentality, made efficient by the Divine Spirit, Jesuitism, Infidelity, and every pernicious error shall perish, and the West shall be saved for the sake of the world.

Address of Rev. John P. Gulliver, of Norwich, Ct.

ON MOVING THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION:

RESOLVED—That the cause of civil and religious liberty throughout the world can be most effectually promoted by the thorough evangelization of our own country.

It is the singular good fortune of this Society, Mr. President, to be identified in its progress with the growth of this great nation. Other objects of Christian benevolence are comparatively stationary, and gather about them, at the commencement of the enterprises with which they are associated, as much of interest and importance as at any subsequent period. Not so with the enterprise of Home Missions. Every step—every bound, I might rather say—which is made by this country in the career of progress, every enlargement of our territory, every addition to our population, every increment of wealth, every advance in national greatness, has reacted upon this Society, increasing the interest which invests it and enlarging the sphere of its action and usefulness. Why, sir, it is but a few years since the only object of this enterprise was to supply a few feeble churches in New England with an evangelical ministry. Then New York was added to its field. In a few years we began to hear of the “Great Valley,” and in words of eloquence and power we were entreated to save the West, and to deliver the country from the control of Romanism. Then came that vast empire on the Pacific, all unoccupied by good or evil, but filling up monthly with tens of thousands of the children of every clime; and the career of Home Missions seemed to have reached the acme of interest and importance. But to-night, sir, we occupy still higher ground, a future still more vast spreads beneath our view, a destiny still more sublime awaits our advance. By the events of the past few years, America has become, to borrow a phrase which the peculiarities of the times have originated, America has become “a power in the Earth.” Not by the terror of our arms, not by the skill of our diplomacy, not by the extension of our commerce, not by the enlargement of our territory, not by our attainments in literature and art, but simply by our example, we have shaken the nations. Two years ago we stood astonished at the work of our own hands as we gazed upon the prostrate thrones, the supplicating monarchs, the fugitive ministers of revolutionary Europe. The deepest sympathies of our hearts were moved at the revulsion which followed. Nor has our interest been allowed to flag; for one of the heroes of that struggle has since passed through the length and breadth of our land, assuring us in the name of his bleeding country, in the name of the oppressed millions of Europe, that America is indeed “a power in the Earth.” And now, till the present moment, there are no questions which have sunk deeper into the heart of our people than these—How are the nations to be made free? Who is to free them? and especially, What part are we to take in the struggle?

A few moments’ discussion will perhaps convince us that these questions may receive a satisfactory answer, and that such an answer will in substance be this—Christianity alone can make the nations free. Christianity will effect this change, mainly through the agency of this country. The power of this country in contributing to this result, will depend upon the purity of its Christian character and principles.

Christianity alone can make the nations free. Consider for a moment this proposition. That is a great mistake, and a very foolish one, which many make who suppose that political institutions can be transferred from one people to another, as one might borrow and wear his neighbor’s garment. Forms of government are the product of the opinions, habits, character and history of a nation. One people must have a despotism, and no other government will have any permanency or strength among them. Another must have an aristocracy. Another a republic. And you might transplant an orange grove from the tropics to the polar regions with as fair a prospect of succeeding in your experiment, as you would have in the attempt to make an elector of a Russian or a serf of a New Englander. Such changes require deeper work than political revolutions can perform. This truth France has demonstrated to the satisfaction of the world, if not to her own, by a hundred visionary experiments. Especially should we notice that the government of a people must be molded by its religion. The religion makes the government, not the government the religion. No government can stand, which in its general spirit and principles does violence to the religious sentiment of a nation. On the other hand, the religion of a people, although it be superficial and superstitious, will impart permanence and strength to any government which fully coincides with it. China furnishes us a wonderful illustration of this truth. From a period scarcely more than one hundred years after the flood, down to the present hour, its political system has stood almost without a change. Revolutions have occurred, dynasties have risen and fallen, but the government is the same thing to-day, in all its essential characteristics, that it was three thousand years ago. What is the explanation of this extraordinary fact? Simply this—that the government is the precise fac simile of the religion. The religion of the Chinese consists in the worship of their ancestors. The state religion, it is true, is based upon the teachings of Confucius. Buddhism also prevails, as do other forms of religious faith; but none of them can be regarded strictly as a national religion. The only religious principle which has sunk deeply and universally into the heart of the nation is reverence for parents and ancestors. Upon this principle the government is based. It is strictly a patriarchal system. The Emperor is the father of his people—the officers of government are his representatives. The authority of such a government is never questioned in a Chinese mind until, by its conduct, it destroys its claim to the paternal character. So Russia, which, although it undoubtedly contains within itself the seeds of its own destruction, may now be regarded as the most stable and the most thoroughly compacted power of Europe, owes nearly all its strength to the complete identification of its government with the religion of the people. To the great mass of those semi-barbarous hordes the Emperor is a God. His authority and that of the Church have been most skillfully blended. Obedience to him thus becomes a religious duty. Even their ideas of right and wrong become inextricably confused. The law of God and the law of man are scarcely, if at all, distinguished from each other, and conscience does little else than inculcate an abject submission to the powers that be. These illustrations might be easily multiplied, and they will all concentrate upon one conclusion, viz., that governments must derive their stability from an intimate alliance with the religion of the people.

Let us now advance another step. These wonderful results have been produced by the most superficial forms of religion. The faith of the Chinese scarcely strikes deeper than the very surface of his character and conduct. The sentiment of veneration is excited, and his hopes and fears somewhat aroused. But beyond this it is a mere religion of the muscles. It is a daily bowing before tablets containing the names of revered ancestors, and the burning of incense in their honor. It forms no controlling principle, it awakens no strong affection, it excites no animating hope. It never brings even to the sincerest worshiper the peace of communion with God, the strength which faith secures, or the joy of forgiven sin. And yet this feeble, superficial, unsatisfying religion, has kept that wonderful government in vigorous existence for more than 3,000 years. The religion of the Russian is, with an occasional exception, the merest formalism. He is indeed attached to it, so far as he is attached to anything. He believes in it, so far as he believes in anything. His hopes are built upon it, so far as he has any hope at all. But this affection, and faith, and hope are strong rather in consequence of the absence of any rival than from an inherent power. There is nothing in his religion which sinks into the depths of the soul. There is nothing in it like the faith which works by love and purifies the heart, and thus awakens that invincible energy by which its possessor can overcome the world. And yet that religion is strong enough to bind together that vast empire, to concentrate its power in the arm of a single man, and to make it a terror in the earth.

What, then, I ask, may not Christianity effect? What strength may it not bring to any government which coincides with it, which sympathizes with it, which grows out of it? I need not attempt to describe to you its power in the soul. I need not speak of the affections it awakens, of the purposes it forms, of the hopes it excites, of the control it exercises over the whole man. I need not remind you of the deeds it has done in the past, of its daily achievements, or of its future destiny. You will readily agree with me when I assert that the government which possesses its complete alliance, which fully coincides with its doctrines and its spirit, may stand against a world in arms. You will have no hesitation in admitting that in Christianity we have an agency capable of effecting for man's political and social welfare what no other agency can effect, and what no other power can successfully assail.

Is, then, such a government possible? I do not ask if it actually exists, for we well know it does not; but is it possible? Can a government be conceived of, whose institutions and laws shall be so perfectly in accordance with Christianity that they shall receive its full and cordial support? Surely, we may answer, Yes. But what will that government be? It will not be a despotism, nor an aristocracy, nor a government free to one class, or condition, or color, and not to another; but it will be truly a free government, an equal government, a government for the good of all; and as necessary to these ends, whether its form be that of a monarchy or a republic, it will be a constitutional government.

Need I say that such a government will accord with the benevolent spirit of Christianity? Remember what Christianity is. Universal love is its pervading characteristic. In love all its precepts are summed up; love is its badge of discipleship; love breathed and lived in the life of its founder, and when faith hath ceased and hope hath disappeared, love shall flourish in unfading beauty in the heaven it reveals of eternal and unmingled joy. A government might be greatly imperfect in all other respects, but if it truly and consistently sought the highest good of all its subjects, it would center upon itself the warmest affection of every Christian man; it would intrench itself among the best sympathies of the human heart; it would be supported by the strong arm of Christianity; it would flourish and grow beneath the fostering care and constant smiles of the great Father of all.

Such a government would also accord with the democratic spirit of Christianity. Christianity knows no distinction among men except in knowledge and virtue. Christianity visits the cottage of the peasant and the palace of the king alike. Against all alike it brings the charge of deep guilt in the sight of God. To all alike it sends its messages of consolation. To all alike it offers an atoning Saviour and the renewing Spirit. In the presence of the Infinite Jehovah, in the prospect of a boundless eternity, it sinks into insignificance the petty distinctions of earth, and ranges upon a common level the heirs of a common immortality.

Christianity, then, will naturally develop a free and equal form of government. Nay, I hesitate not to go still farther, and to assert that it will necessarily produce a free government, and that it cannot exist in its purity and power without achieving this result.

Mr. President, who is this Christian man? Into what form can you mold him? What use can you make of him? The Christian is a soldier. He serves under the command of Immanuel. In all that affects that service, he knows no other leader, he recognizes no other authority, he obeys no other orders. It is not for him to inquire what difficulties or dangers are involved in the execution of his high commission. It is enough for him to know that he is commanded to succor the perishing, to relieve the distressed, to defend the honor of his Master and the laws of his kingdom. If toil and conflict or even death be involved in the issue, that is only what he has long anticipated and is fully prepared to meet. He is a formidable antagonist who asks no favor, fears no opposition, dreads no danger, to whom toil is a pastime, conflict a chosen employment, and death but the portal of triumph and honor!

The Christian is a philanthropist. Love is his religion. Love is the master passion of his soul. If his fellow men are wronged, crushed, enslaved, his whole being is stirred. Grief, pity, indignation fill his heart. If a fitting opportunity offer, he will act as well as feel; and then woe be to those who have erected the throne of unrighteousness and oppression. Let but Christianity teach the people to love their neighbor as themselves, and the doom of the tyrant is sealed!

The Christian is the friend of God. He was chosen by the Infinite Jehovah from before the foundation of the world to peculiar privileges and honors. He daily sits down to a banquet with the King of kings. He has become a temple of the Holy Ghost—a habitation of God through the Spirit. He daily communes with the Great Creator. He approaches his God with the confidence and familiarity of a child. He converses with him as a man commeth with his friend. His soul is elevated, his powers are invigorated, his whole nature is ennobled. He soars from earth to Heaven! He dwells fast by the throne of the Eternal! Who is to approach such a man with orders and titles, with ribbons and medals—the contemptible gewgaws with which the tyrants flatter the weak and the wicked? Who is to trample such a man in the dust? Who is to say to the favorite of Heaven, “Stoop, thou slave!” Ah! the men who pray are dangerous men to the ungodly kings of the earth! They may issue their decrees; they may utter their threats; they may ply promise and bribe; they may uncover the lion’s den; they may open the jaws of the burning, fiery furnace, but there is a power within and above the men of prayer which bids defiance to royal rage, and brings them off conquerors, and more than conquerors, through Him who loves them!

Christianity—I repeat it—Christianity alone can make the nations free. Other religions have given a powerful support to governments which have sought their alliance. Christianity is capable of lending an arm whose strength has never yet been fully felt. Other religions have conceived and brought forth and nourished to a giant growth the despotisms of earth. The false doctrines they have taught, the selfish principles they have encouraged, the slavish spirit they have fostered, have produced their natural fruit in tyranny, servitude and woe. In Christianity you find the germ of all that is free, of all that is noble, of all that is manly, of all that is God-like in man. Go! bind the winds, silence the thunder, roll back the waves of the heaving ocean, but think not to put chains upon a nation of the soldiers of Heaven, of the lovers of man, of the friends of God! Let the despots exult in their easy victory over the feeble, unenlightened, unevangelized nations of Europe. Their triumph will be short! The Spirit of the Lord shall ere long lift up the standard, and a voice, as the sound of many waters, shall proclaim to the world the great truth, “Where the Spirit of the Lord is, THERE IS LIBERTY!”

But I have detained you too long from the practical question, which after all is the question of deepest interest on this subject, How is Christianity to effect this result? Through what agency, by what power, will its influence be brought to bear upon the oppressed nations? My answer is, AMERICA IS TO BE THE AGENT, and the purity of its Christian character the power by which Christianity is to make the nations free. In advancing this proposition you will not understand me as presumptuously hazarding a prophecy in regard to that future which no human eye can penetrate. I speak only of the strong probabilities in the case; and yet they are probabilities so strong as to amount almost to a certainty.

Nor would I in a vainglorious spirit exclude the agency of other nations in working out this great result. Germany will do much. France, in her wild, impulsive, erratic way has done much and will do more. Hungary and Italy have borne themselves most wisely and heroically, and inspire the highest hopes for the future. England—God bless her!—has for long been the bulwark of freedom, and as she disentangles herself more and more from the remnants of her ancient feudal institutions, her voice and arm will become more and more mighty in the struggle.

But it is not without reason that the chief hopes of the friends of freedom are centered upon this country. Some of these reasons, though of great importance, are very familiar to you, and I need only refer to them in passing.

We have no State Church. There is no interference of government with religion. Christianity, consequently, can attain a full and natural development.

There are no remains among us of ancient feudal and despotic institutions.

With the single exception of Slavery, from which we must work ourselves free before we can possibly accomplish our destiny, we have none of those cumbrous, unmanageable inheritances from the past which embarrass the progress of every reform in Europe. But the doom of this relic of barbarism is sealed. Powers are gathering to hasten its downfall which no human might can resist. Its funeral knell may any day strike our ears.

Our isolated position, protected by an ocean on either hand, gives us another important advantage.

Our central position, midway between the eastern and western shores of the great Eastern Hemisphere, must ere long place in our hands the commerce of the world, and give us an incalculable influence over its destinies.

The fact, also, that we furnish an asylum for the poor, the oppressed, the adventurous of all nations, thus appropriating to ourselves a vast proportion of the productive power of the world, and creating ties innumerable, ties which no convulsions can sunder, which bind us to the heart of every nation of Europe, is a consideration of prime importance.

But I wish to present, prominently, another view of the subject.

What is now the great want of the world? What does the cause of civil and religious liberty chiefly demand? Mr. President, the world needs an example. The world, more than all things else, needs the example of a government which shall be the true product of Christianity, which shall be permeated by its spirit, controlled by its principles; which shall present to the nations the practical fulfillment of the law—"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Such an example, no matter how obscure or feeble the people who should give it, would develop a power against which despotism could not stand a day. I care not how many millions of the subservient, courageous, hardy sons of the North the Czar may summon at his bidding—I care not how many more millions Austria may array under the banners of despotism—I care not for the national armies of Prussia—nor for the mad antics of France—nor for the fulminations of His Holiness; let us only have the light and power of one such example, continued long enough to prove the experiment successful,—and the battle is fought, the victory is won!

See what our own example has already done. Imperfect as it is—inconsistent as it is in many respects, it contributed more than any—more than all other causes, to produce the recent upheaving in Europe. It is doing, at this moment, more to change the political condition of man, than all the armies and navies, than all the diplomacy and king-craft of the world.

They talk, sir, of intervention—of remonstrating with the absolutists, of endeavoring to terrify them by the utterance of our opinion. What care they for our opinion or remonstrances so long as we do not deprive them of the power to do as they please?

They talk of armed intervention. Ah! well would it please the despots to see the energies now so successfully employed in creating knowledge and wealth, in subduing the forest and conquering the sea, in evolving all the elements of national greatness, to see these energies drawn from their legitimate channels into an exhausting war carried on at a distance of three or four thousand miles. Well would it please them to counteract the mighty influence of this nation among the masses of their subjects, by exciting patriotism and national pride to resist America, by arraying their people in maddening contest with republicans, by teaching them to regard as enemies those whom they are beginning to consider their only friends. No! It is not the opinion or the arms of America which causes trembling at Petersburg, and Berlin, and Vienna. It is our example they fear. It is a moral contagion they strive to avert by their vexatious quarantines. It is the opinion of their own subjects, which is spreading itself like the extending of internal fires, and which ere long will burst with volcanic might beneath their thrones. This is the work which America is now doing in Europe; this is the sublime part she is now playing on the theater of affairs—this is her noble contribution to the cause of human freedom. I wish you could know how anxiously the monarchs and ministers of Europe guard against this influence of ours. I wish you could see how wistfully they watch for our halting. I wish you could observe for yourselves how every fault or flaw in our system or ourselves is searched out and published far and wide. I wish you might know how familiar every European is with the story of the wrongs we have done the red man, of our repudiation of our just debts, of our theft of Texas, and of our invasion of Mexico—how well he is informed in regard to every peculiarity of manner, of expression and of custom among us, and especially how thoroughly he appreciates the inconsistency of the institution and laws of slavery, with our loud professions in regard to liberty and equality and the inalienable rights of man. I wish you could see how generally the guillotine and the reign of Terror are associated in the minds of men with American slavery, and how all these revolting ideas are linked to the idea of republicanism. The definition which multitudes would give of a republic, if they should precisely utter the ideas they have, would be something like this: "A loose and feeble sort of government, which allows men to plunder and enslave and murder their fellow men as they please." These false and exaggerated notions are promulgated with the greatest diligence, and every occurrence which favors them is carefully made known. In the very depths of Russia, where the people scarcely know of the existence of our nation, where at least no good report of us has ever penetrated, I found the history of our so-called fugitive slave law was quite well understood. Said an intelligent Russian nobleman to me, "What strange people you republicans are!—we have nothing so bad as that in Russia." These are the means which the enemies of God and man find most efficacious to check and to destroy the influence of this country in behalf of the cause of liberty. Would to God they received no aid from ourselves! Would to God the American traveler could lift his hand to heaven, and declare that these accounts are, from beginning to end, lying fabrications! If that could be, the tide of revolution would roll like an ocean over Europe. If that could be, the crushed Italian and the bleeding Magyar would no longer appeal to distant strangers for aid and succor. An inherent energy, animated by the hope we should excite,—molded by Christianity, guided by enlightened reason,—would develop among every people a power which could easily overturn the feeble dynasties by which they are now enslaved, and which would permit no haughty despot to leave his own tottering throne to render aid to his distressed compeers.

I repeat it, then, in no vain or boastful spirit, but in the deep conviction that I am giving utterance to the great truth of the times—the truth which should prominently occupy our thoughts and guide our actions—the battle of the world's freedom is to be fought on our own soil. The thorough conformation of our institutions and customs and laws to the spirit and principles of Christianity is the grand problem, the successful solution of which is to emancipate the nations. Such an alliance of our government with Christianity will secure for it a permanence, a strength, a vigorous and expansive growth, in all that is truly great—unparalleled in the previous history of the world. It will consolidate, as no temporizing connivance at outrage and wrong can ever do, our extended sisterhood of states into one compact and powerful whole. It will guard us alike against the dangers of internal dissensions and foreign attack. It will secure for us the admiration and love of every manly heart. It will awaken among our own sons a spirit of devoted patriotism which shall enlist every energy of their being, and vindicate the truth of that fine saying of the ancients, "Dulce et decorum est, pro patria mori"—a sweet and honorable thing is it to die for our country. We shall derive a powerful support from the approval and affection of the good and the noble in all lands. Upon us their warm hopes shall be centered: for us their earnest prayers shall ascend; to us they will point every perplexed and storm-tossed navigator upon the rough ocean of public affairs. A pure and steady light shall blaze out from our rock-bound shore and our lofty mountains. "America!" shall be the watchword of liberty! It shall be spoken in the secret assembly of thoughtful and determined men who consult for their country's deliverance, and the sound shall rekindle light in their eye and courage in their heart! It shall be whispered from cottage to cottage amid the vales of Italy, over the plains of Austria, and along the steppes of benighted Russia; and the story of our freedom and our happiness shall open many a blinded eye, shall soften many a seared heart, shall liberate many an enslaved arm! It shall be spoken in the Cabinet of the tyrant, and the word shall send paleness to his lips and faintness to his soul! It shall be spoken in the hour of desperate and bloody encounter; and the rising shout shall drown the din of conflict, while the rallying hosts of freedom shall roll back the tide of battle, and strike again and victoriously for liberty, for humanity, and for God! Never had a nation offered to it a destiny so sublime! Never had the friends of humanity such room and verge for the prosecution of their philanthropic enterprises. Never had the followers of Jesus such an opportunity to establish his kingdom—the kingdom of righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost, all through the world. It is no distant, difficult enterprise, brethren, in which we are called to engage. The work is at our own door. We have not to fear the hostile principalities and powers of earth. Far beyond their reach, beneath the protection of freedom's flag, we can prosecute our enterprise in peace. We have not to expend our sympathy for struggling humanity in vain regrets that we can do nothing for its relief. We have the power to sap the foundations of every despotic throne, to break in pieces every foul ecclesiastical combination for the temporal and spiritual subjugation of man. We need not enter upon the hazardous experiment of war. Ours may be a peaceful and bloodless victory—the victory of a pure example, of a christian life, of an unsullied exemplification of a government permeated and controlled by the great christian law, “Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.”

This is the high position now occupied by our Home Missionary enterprise. It is no longer merely a Home Missionary Society—it has been made by the grand events of the few past years a World's Missionary Society. The work which it is doing is, under God, a work for all races and all time. It employs the most potent instrumentality ever devised to sway and mold men's hearts, the favorite instrumentality of heaven—the voice of the living preacher. Its object is the thorough evangelization of this country. It aims to bring our entire population under christian influence. It seeks to make God's law understood and respected alike in the humblest cottage and in the halls of legislation. If these objects can be attained, our national character, our laws, our institutions will all bear the impress of Christianity. The government and religion of the people will be thoroughly blended. They will become identified in the reverence and love of the hundred millions of men who will soon be spread over our vast territory. The exhibition of such a government—of a people so prosperous, so happy, so just, so true to the principles of liberty and the precepts of Christianity, will be irresistible. Nation after nation will copy our example and participate in our happiness. Tyranny will hide its diminished head, barbarism will be numbered among the things that were, war will be known only on the pages of history; and throughout the world there will be but one kingdom, and that the kingdom of righteousness—and but one king, and he the glorious Prince of peace, whose kingdom shall be an everlasting kingdom, and to whose dominion there shall be no end!

Address of Rev. Asa D. Smith, D. D., of New York,

ON MOVING THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION:

RESOLVED, That by many voices of prayer, and many converging lines of Providence, we are urged and encouraged to cordial and earnest co-operation in the work of home evangelization.

It was lately my mournful privilege, to follow to the grave, the remains of an aged and venerable man, who for more than half a century had been a bright and shining light in the church of Christ. Since we laid his honored dust in its last resting place, my heart has been much moved by a single significant and suggestive sentence in a letter from a surviving daughter, now sojourning in sunny yet shadowy Italy. “I never felt,” she writes, “as I now feel, the value of ancestral prayers.” Well might she write thus, from such a land, in anticipation of such a death, with such memories of the past clustering in her heart. Ancestral prayers! Point me not to coats of arms, or books of heraldry; tell me not of titled names in my genealogical line; rehearse not to me feats of arms or exploits of statesmanship; tell me not of a golden inheritance, of title deeds and overflowing coffers. But count up to me, if you can, the prayers of my progenitors, prayers which have anticipated coming generations, which have secured for them beforehand the blessing of God, which have written their names in the Lamb's book of life. More precious shall they be to me than gems from the ocean or ingots from the mine. As God's good angels, guarding the paths I tread, hovering over my roof-tree, folding their wings by my hearthstone.

But there is another application of the sentiment I have quoted, quite appropriate to the present occasion. I call to mind, as I think of the salvation of our land, the goodly lineage in which as a people we rejoice. I think of the ancestral prayers which began with our beginning, and have multiplied with our progress. From the deck of the Mayflower I hear them, from amid the snow-covered graves at Plymouth, and from "the sounding aisles of the dim wood;" from the new-found home of the exiled Huguenot, and from the altars where knelt the immigrant Hollander. Of no other nation, since the world began—save only God's chosen people—were the foundations so laid in faith and prayer. Potent with God indeed, for ages past, have been the supplications rising continually from our father-land; and they will ever be, we trust, Britain's defense as well as her glory. Yet the voices that come from her early history, are voices of superstition from Druidical altars, under the sacred shade of the spreading oak and the twining mistletoe. It is a thought, perhaps a fancy, of some of the philosophers, that a word once uttered never perishes from the atmosphere—that onward endlessly the vibrations go. Oh, if it be so, if there float above us and around us all the voices of prayer which have been uttered for our land by its departed generations, and if these voices could but be blent together in one imploring cry, it would ring out from the Gulf to the Lakes, and from ocean to ocean. Here, under God, is one of my chief encouragements touching our beloved country. When I gaze upon my children as they sleep quietly upon their pillows, and anxiously ask, what, when I am gone, shall be their lot, and the lot of their children and their children's children—a lot linked for weal or woe with that of the thronging millions of our nation's coming history—my heart is comforted by the remembrance of the ancestral prayers which have entered into the ears of the Lord God of Hosts, and which, as surely as his throne standeth firm, shall not be in vain. If Queen Mary dreaded the supplications of John Knox, more than a hostile army, may we not deem these prayers our walls and battlements, our mailed and invincible legions? I come, as I think of them, with a warmer heart and a more firmly nerved arm, to the counsels and cares, the toils and sacrifices of our Home Missionary enterprise.

But the resolution speaks of Providence also. These two P's go together—wherever there is good prayer, there will be also, you may be sure, a good Providence. To the present period of time, and, if I mistake not, to our own broad land, a thousand lines of history have for ages been converging. Wonderful is the concatenation of human events. Wonderful is God's timing of them, with reference not to the present alone but to the Gospel's ultimate triumph. They stand in just the right connection. They come not too soon—they come not too late. Dr. S. went on to give several illustrations of this point. There was the invention of the mariner's compass, hardly completed till the dawn of the 14th century. Why was it not earlier achieved? Better as the world had been, that the nations be kept apart. They would have come together to little profit—chiefly to bite and devour one another. Little, probably, thought Flavio Gioia, as he toiled in his obscure workshop at Naples, of what God designed. But the mariner's compass was given to the world, just long enough before our continent was to be discovered, to have it ready as a tried and reliable guide to Christopher Columbus. The art of printing, comparatively useless would it have been for ages preceding its advent. What was there then to print? Would you have given to the press the profitless jargon of monkish speculation? Better let it lie in the cells of the monasteries, coated with dust. But note again the hand of God. Just long enough before the Reformation was the press given to the world, to have it ready for use on Luther's Bible—that bible whose blessed influence has reached even to us. And just rapidly enough has it been advancing toward perfection to meet the unfolding exigences and opportunities of this free-land of ours.

There is a legend about Faust's having collusion with the Devil—a mere legend, of course. But if the worthy man could revisit earth now, and take a look at one of the huge cylindrical presses, almost within the sound of my voice, would he not be tempted to think the evil one had somehow a hand in it. Yet it is not his hand, but that of the good Lord. The discovery of America, this too, was at just the right time. It was well that it should remain unknown till God could winnow three kingdoms for the seed wherewith to sow it. The reformation—at just the right juncture did it occur, to make on this virgin land the first moral impressions, and a long series of like enormities, what were they but the furnace and the crucible, out of which, for American circulation, came the Puritan gold, seven times purified? A like timeliness was there in the discovery and introduction of the steam power, the invention of the magnetic telegraph, and other achievements of science and art. For our times, for our land, and through us for the world, have the Bezeleels and Aholiabs from age to age been working. And lo! at last, the wand of Providence points to the shores of the Pacific, and the Golden Gate opens there, through which—our own land saved—salvation is to be poured on waiting Asia.

The resolution takes a further view. It speaks not merely of operation, but of co-operation. Great is the work before us; and it is of God's wisdom, his permissive wisdom at least, that there are different bands of laborers—different societies, and men of different shades of opinion in our own Society. Whoever in all the vast field—on whatever prairie, in whatever wilderness, by whatever foaming torrent of the north, or sluggish water-course of the south—proclaims the glorious Gospel of the Son of God—no matter what peculiar livery he may wear—no matter what particular shibboleth he may utter—I hail him as a brother, and I bid him God speed. Yea, were the Gospel preached even “of envy and strife,” yet in view of what that Gospel is, of what our land's salvation is worth, and of the relation it bears to the salvation of the world—I would say, with something of Paul's magnanimity, “Notwithstanding, every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is preached, and I therein do rejoice, yea and will rejoice.” We may move in different orbits, yet, if it be around the Sun of righteousness, why stay in our course to oppugn each other? Shall ardent Mercury complain of frigid Uranus, or ringed Saturn of belted Jupiter? Why should the commingled rays in the same beam of light quarrel with each other because of their different hues? Let them shine on rather, each after his own peculiar manner, till the whole landscape be painted as by the finger of God. It is the glory of that Christianity which beats in the heart of this Society, that it is truly Catholic, it is felicitously co-operative. It makes much of an essence, but little of an ism; it makes much of salvation, but little of a sect. It feels continually, that if Christ be magnified, if the beauty of holiness be imparted to the individual soul, if spiritual organisms be scattered over the land as depositories of truth, and centers of influence—if that kingdom be built up which consisteth “not in meat and drink, but in righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost—it matters little, comparatively, what becomes of this or that party interest. Not, said the speaker, that I have no ecclesiastical preferences. I have long sailed in the good old Presbyterian ship. I know the ropes pretty well, and think they are good enough ropes. Deeply interested am I to have the gallant craft ever headed toward the haven, and kept in good trim; her compass right, and her canvas pressed to the utmost. She will carry a great deal of precious freight, and carry it safely. But the worst and most perilous stuff that men have ever attempted to encumber her with, is sectarianism. It will prove as a rot in her timbers, and as a fire in her hold. I declare to you, sir, that if it must be put on board, much as I love the old ship I do not know but, like certain animals in a certain emergency, I shall make my escape. But let us aim at better things. No other spirit than that of an enlarged catholic Christianity befits the magnitude of the enterprise we have in hand. To think of substituting for it a narrow, partizan bigotry, were like putting a pigmy to do the work of a Kentucky giant, or a purling rill in place of the Father of Waters.

Animated by these clustering prayers, and by these converging lines of Providence, impelled by an unselfish, unsectarian spirit, let us gird ourselves anew for our noble work. The millions already occupying the great valley, beckon us onward; and I hear the voices of other millions, almost "as of numbers without number," pressing toward the Rocky Mountains, and destined soon to throng the Pacific slope—heterogeneous millions gathered from every land and lineage under heaven, here to be assimilated, enlightened, elevated, saved. I remember, too, that every acre of that whole broad West belongs to Christ; it has been bought with his blood, it has been bedewed, as it were, with his tears. Let his love constrain us. Let our hearts be stirred, too, by the grandeur of our object! It will not have been accomplished till throughout all our borders, in every hall, and every hut, not excepting even "Uncle Tom's cabin," the Gospel shall have done its perfect work. Our beloved country then, in the words of glorious old Milton, shall be "as an eagle muing her mighty youth, and kindling her undazzled eyes, at the full midday beam, at the fountain itself of heavenly radiance, while the whole noise of timorous and flocking birds, with those that love the twilight, flutter about her, amazed at what she means." Nay, the nations shall know what she means. That sweet and blessed charity which has wrought so mightily at home, through a thousand avenues shall flow abroad, and mainly through her wise and holy evangelism, the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ.

* The original thirteen States.

The total number of deaths in the United States, for the year ending June 1st 1850, was 320,194.

Since the Census of 1840, 1,166,432 square miles, including Oregon, have been added to the territory of the United States, by which it has been extended from 2,055,163, to 3,221,595 square miles. This does not include the great Lakes which lie upon our northern borders, or the bays which indent our Atlantic and Pacific shores.

The absolute increase in the population in ten years, including the amount acquired by additions of territory, has been 6,188,260; and the increase per cent. has been 36.25, viz.:

New England States, (6)	22.07 per cent.
Middle States, (3)	30.32 "
Southern Atlantic States, (7)	19.19 "
South-western States, (8)	47.86 "
North-western States, (6)	59.08 "
States east of the Alleghanies (16)	23.86 "
States west of " " (14, excluding California)	53.47 "
White population,	38.28 "
Free Colored,	10.09 "
Slaves,	28.58 "

If one third of the population of Pennsylvania and Virginia be considered as belonging to the Great Western Valley, the comparative population and political power of the two sections of the country will be as follows:

	POPULATION.		REPRESENTATIVES.
	1840.	1850.	1840.	1850.
States east of the Mountains,	9,654,139	12,049,846	134	128
States west of the Mountains,	7,364,715	11,207,877	89	105
Difference,	2,289,424	841,969	45	23

From this statement it appears, that in ten years, the East has lost six and the West has gained sixteen representatives, and that the majority of Eastern Representatives in the next Congress will be only twenty three. Four Territories send each one delegate, who is not entitled to vote. The present ratio of representation, is 1 to 93,716.

Emigration.

The number of immigrants who have arrived at the port of New York during the last ten years, is as follows:

Year.	Year.
1842 74,949	1847 166,110
1843 56,302	1848 191,909
1844 61,002	1849 221,799
1845 82,960	1850 226,287
1846 115,230	1851 289,601
280,443	1,095,706
	280,443

Total in ten years, 1,376,149

In the same period, 1,639,829 foreign passengers have arrived in all the ports of the United States; and it is estimated that the total number of immigrants into the United States since 1790, and their descendants, amounted in 1850, to 4,350,934.

Of those who arrived at New York during the last year, there were

Irish . . 163,256	French . . 6,064	Dutch . . 1,798	Poles . . 422
Germans . 69,883	Swiss . . 4,499	Italians . . 618	All others . 982

What follows from these Facts.

The bearing of such facts as the foregoing has frequently been pointed out, while yet the facts themselves lay in the uncertain future. But now, they have arrived—they are existing history. The day has come, when the numerical and political control of the country is no longer, unquestioned, in the hands of that portion of the people who live amid well rooted and flourishing institutions, surrounded by churches and pastors and all the ripe and healthful organizations of settled society, such as schools, colleges, and the prompt and efficient administration of law. The sceptre is passing away into the hands of a people strong in their impulses, conscious of their rapidly growing strength, and ambitious of using it—a people, too, comparatively undirected and unrestrained by the influence of institutions of religion and education. With them, the noisy sectarian and the radical demagogue have equal chance for a hearing and an influence with those who represent the learning and experience of ages. Into such hands are about to be entrusted the control of our national destiny and influence. Do not such considerations reveal an occasion for a measure of devotedness that the American churches have never exercised?

The Error of the Past.

The Christian community have never yet properly apprehended the greatness of the work committed to them, nor the urgent necessity for its early accomplishment. Many have, indeed, believed it to be great, but have not conceived of its immensity; they have felt that something should be done without delay, but they have not apprehended that the immediateness of this work was its most prominent and essential feature. And thus, while our christian people have annually congratulated each other on the little progress that has been made; and have gone on extending their own enterprises and multiplying their luxuries and enjoyments, the swelling surges of population have rolled on higher and farther upon the land, and broken over the mountain crest which flanked the western coast: and now pour over the vales of Oregon and California. How shall we overtake and fix in obedient subjugation to religion and law, these on-rolling nations? We are already too late to do all that is needful: we should have been ten times more active in years gone by. But

What shall we do now—what can we do?

We do not believe there is or can be any other question of equal moment before the American people. It is a question for every private Christian—since each man's zeal or apathy will have a share in the answer: it is a question for every pastor, whose teachings form the opinions and guide the efforts of his people; it is a question for every candidate for the ministry, and for instructors of youth; for all who can speak, or labor, or give, or pray. In our inmost souls we believe, that the interests at stake are so immense, and the evils to be apprehended from the comparatively slow progress of the Gospel are so great and imminent, that all christian and philanthropic men ought at once to concentrate their anxieties on this great subject; that not only should no convocation of clergymen or laymen for any philanthropic purpose be allowed to separate without doing something to deepen the general sense of its vastness, and help forward its accomplishment, but that meetings for specific consultation and action should be held, and the claims of our country and the methods of saving it should be carried home to every church and every christian closet. O that, for once, denominational jealousies and personal ends might be sunk in the absorbing enterprise of bringing the whole land under the dominion of the Gospel! Could such a result be achieved, it might safely be left to the piety and good sense of a regenerated nation to work out the problems of the best form of church organization, and for conducting christian institutions in the most effective manner! And does not He who died for the world, and who bade his Church to disciple it, require of such a people as ours—so situated, endowed, and blessed—to do something far transcending what we have yet done, or are at present proposing to do?

Illustrations of the Missionary Work.

What Home Missions have done in Western New York.

The growth of the church, in Western New York, has been remarkable. The churches have been blessed with revivals that have honored God, and saved men. In 1800 there was scarcely a Presbyterian or Congregational church. In 1805, there were less than 12. In 1815 less than 38. In 1826 there were 191 Presbyterian churches, and 10,000 communicants. In 1836 there were 280 Presbyterian churches, and 25,000 communicants; and in 1841, there were 381 Presbyterian and Congregational churches, and 30,000 communicants. Now there are 400 Presbyterian and Congregational churches, 336 of which, have been aided by this agency. There have been, it is thought, 60,000 different persons connected with the Presbyterian and Congregational churches in Western New York, half of the survivors it is supposed are now at the West, and in other parts of our land, and doing much for the evangelization of our country.

The work the A. H. M. S. has done for Western New York, is the work God calls it to perform for our whole country. This is its mission; and with the continued blessing of God, and the confidence of the churches, it will carry forward this work to its completion. During its 25 years existence there have been raised on this field, for the A. H. M. S., $204,490. Of this sum, $119,174 have been voted to the missionaries; showing a surplus of $85,316. Nearly one fifth of the whole receipts, and more than one third of the whole sum voted the missionaries, have been contributed by the few gentlemen composing the board of the Western Agency. But this is not all.—Every talent expended on this missionary field has gained other five talents beside—It has roused up the people to support their ministers, to build suitable houses for worship, to raise money for Bible, Tract and Sabbath school operations, and to send the Gospel to a dying world. It is believed that a million of dollars has been raised in Western New York, and expended for religious purposes, at home and abroad, that would never have been raised, but for some such missionary organization as the Western Agency.

Reproductive Benevolence.

The funds bestowed on Missionary churches, in a few years become the good seed with which other fields are planted.

Last week I returned from a visit to B. D. and Q. where I had been to get some assistance towards our church. I obtained about $112, which seemed pretty liberal considering the circumstances. In Q. the Presbyterian church had that day taken a collection of nearly $100 for Home Missions; one of the Congregational churches had just expended $800 for repairs; the other Congregational church are preparing to build for themselves, at a cost of some thousands. In D—— also, expenses were proposed respecting their meeting house, and sundry large contributions had recently been made. In B—— I obtained just half of the whole amount. I should not have mentioned all these particulars, had I not felt the force of them while visiting these churches, and their bearing on the labors of your Society. Where would all these able churches have been but for the agency of the A. H. M. S., which nourished them in their infancy? And how many years is it since they still depended on your aid? We who traverse the fields where your seeds are scattered, and who witness also the precious revivals in some of the churches, realize that it is no idle labor in which you are engaged.

But contributions are realized in living members, as well as in pecuniary gifts.

"The pastor of the church in East S., is a son of one of the early settlers and church members. Since its organization it has furnished not far from a hundred members for churches at the West, and a still greater number from the community, whose characters had been formed under its influence. Six young men from that church have entered the ministry, four of whom are now laboring at the West.

"The church in West S., has dismissed, since its organization, twenty eight years ago, about thirty members, on their removal to the West. Probably more than twice that number have gone there from the community within the limits of that church, and in a great measure, under its influence. Five young men hope-fully converted under that influence have entered the ministry. Three of these, who commenced their course of preparation while connected with that church, are now laboring at the West. During the last two years, one family in the same church, has sent four young persons, educated and professedly pious, to the West as teachers. That church has received probably eight hundred dollars in all from the H. M. Society."

How a Missionary feels in view of the Destitutions.

There are many points in the settlements west of us, where a missionary could find work enough now. Churches are already forming on the Missouri river, and calling for ministers! Settlements are forming even west of the Missouri. Who will supply the spiritual wants of these rising multitudes? You may think me too sanguine; but I regard the work of elevating these western communities, socially and religiously, by planting churches and institutions of learning, as paramount to every other benevolent enterprise. Not a church nor a college can be planted here whose influence will not be felt ultimately the world over.

Obstacles to Success.

The Desolation of Unholy Fires.

A missionary thus feelingly laments the irreparable injury done on his field by fanaticism and contention.

It is astonishing to mark the evils of injudicious conduct here, in those professing to preach the Gospel. Most of the present generation will, in all probability, perish forever, in consequence. They have been imposed upon, and they now impose upon themselves. The rubbish must be removed before we can build. How slow the process; how laborious the task! God must help, or multitudes must perish. Romanism, bad as it is, is not our chief danger in our new settlements. The fires of fanaticism and sectarianism, that burn over those parts of the country where there is nothing to hinder, is more destructive to religious principle, and more corrupting to society than can be conceived without personal observation. The mass of the community in this county can be won by no kindness, induced by no courtesy, and awakened by no considerations, to attend on the means of grace. They are not gospel-hardened, but worse; they have, multitudes of them, received and rejected another gospel, which is not the Gospel: and stupidity, presumption, and fanaticism now characterize their conduct. They have no Sabbath in their year, and no fear of God in their eyes.

Wolves in Sheep's Clothing.

My heart almost faints at the difficulties which I have to meet: and these are not found alone, or principally, among worldlings, but among religionists. A class of Baptists called "Ironsides" go strongly against any moral movements. This Bible distribution is "all a speculation, a money making scheme." They say men are not moral agents; that there is but one moral agent in the universe and that is God. The fact is, that in this vicinity, the great obstacle to the conversion of the impenitent consists in the inconsistencies of those who profess to be religious.

Within the last year a man who was shot and severely wounded by an indignant husband, for insulting his wife, has succeeded in building up, or associating a church of 114 members. He only asks the people to believe in Christ as the Son of God, and be baptized, which, he says, is all the Scriptures authorize him to ask. He denies the influence of the Holy Spirit and the necessity of private prayer. But the people are becoming weary of this and of kindred forms of heterodoxy, and are looking with anxiety to the establishment of such churches as are supported by your Society.

Prejudices.

The mass of the people are made to believe that the Presbyterians think themselves above them, and hence they treat us much after the same manner as they do most of the modern improvements in agriculture and mechanics. They go to hear the "learned" preacher, and to see the new-fashioned plow, and the deep furrows which it makes; and then they return home, and partly from sloth, and partly from envy, cling the tighter to the old rickety plow, and to the see-saw, 'hum and spit preacher,' feeling that improvements are for others. They seem glad enough to hear Presbyterian preaching, provided it costs them nothing; but when it comes to "jinin" the church, why, to-be-sure, that must take place at a "big meeting," where there is a great deal of shouting and "hallelujah singing" a going on."

Degradation.

The rage for horse-racing has for some weeks prevailed to an unparalleled degree. A noted professional horse-racer takes his wife with him to the races, where she mingles with the men as well as with the women, bantering them for a "bet." They are now, and have been for several days, here on this business. "A shameless woman is the worst of men." But this unsexing conduct is, in this community, by no means disreputable. The jockeys train their horses on the race ground on the Sabbath with impunity, and members of churches claiming to be evangelical, do not, so far as I know, even remonstrate against it. And this is not surprising, for doctrine regulates practice. Their creed in general is as taught preceptively by most of their leaders, and, as it appears, practically by all, that the observance of the fourth commandment is a great sin. I believe the Sabbath is spent more or less in every family as a day of social merriment and recreation. Hence, minds even though pensive in the sanctuary, are almost sure to be filled with levity before the congregation separates, by the trifling conversation to which they are exposed. The effects of the Gospel, though apparently powerful while it is coming from the lips of the living speaker, generally seem more evanescent than the flying cloud. In view of such influences, I am often, after preaching to an apparently serious and anxious congregation, filled with the most gloomy apprehensions that my message will prove only a "savor of death unto death."

Neglect of Parental Instruction.

There is a painful fact, with which I meet on every hand—and the evil is, without doubt, increasing—and that is, the neglect of faithful parental instruction. It is to be feared that a greater part of the religious instruction which the children of multitudes within the pale of Christ's church, and who have covenanted to walk in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless, (and one of these commands is, "Thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up,")—is obtained in the Sabbath school or in religious meetings, but not where this command requires. No wonder, whilst this is the case, that so many children bring down the gray hairs of their parents with sorrow to the grave, and that disregard of all religion, profaneness and Sabbath-breaking and similar sins, abound so much amongst this class, and that the children of professors of religion compose so large a share of this unhappy number. Often have I put familiar questions to children, as for example, Who died to save sinners? or, Where is God? And frequently have had them look at me with a kind of surprise, as though they never heard of such things before, and were unable to give any answer. At other times, when sufficiently advanced to express their views, unbelieving or skeptical opinions are drawn out with regard to the reality of religion.

Moral effects of frequent Removals.

If emigration produces even in a small degree "a tendency to social decline," this tendency must be increased by a periodical removal. The remark of Dr. Franklin, that "three moves are as bad as a fire," is here reversed. Men are constantly removing to increase their wealth. An improved farm will sell for an advanced price, and they can repeat the experiment of removing to the frontier. The idea of escaping from moral restraint is not, therefore, the only motive for a frontier residence. This habit produces several unfavorable results. Such persons are constantly in a new settlement. Being in some measure secluded from the influence of education, refinement, and moral and religious restraints, they become insensibly, if not willingly, remiss in every duty. They also feel less interest in their own neighborhood, and less concern for its social improvement. "My residence is merely the lodging place of a wayfaring man, I shall soon leave it."

It ought, however, to be added, that men, and women also, acquire in this way, habits of energy, patience, self-denial, and many other qualities, which, if religiously directed, might qualify them to become good soldiers of the cross. It was said of the American Revolution, that the times made the men. Circumstances greatly modify the elements of Western character; it is unpolished, but potent for good or evil. The social, moral, and political influence of the West will soon be predominant in our country. May it be sanctified, and made fit for the Master's use!

Evils of waiting too long.

These societies are now sensible of what was their principle mistake. It was waiting to be stronger when they were actually growing weaker every year of delay. Now the very materials with which they might have built, are corrupted and destroyed, and still they are in the way of other materials, and can be displaced or assimilated only by the most laborious process, and the greatest prudence. Nor is this all. They exert a depressing and discouraging influence over too many who profess to be Christians. These difficulties might be avoided were the children of light as wise in their arrangements as the men of this world. There is only one redeeming consideration, and that is—the perfect illustration that is given of the power of truth, and the value of permanent religious influences. This has been a mighty encouragement to me, while it has increased a hundred fold my attachment to those principles and institutions that the American Home Missionary Society is laboring to establish.

Lights and Shades.

Gospel Victories.

We have enjoyed three seasons of refreshing from the presence of the Lord; one, last spring, in a neighborhood a few miles from our village; another, commencing the last of November in another neighborhood; and the third in this place, commencing with the dedication of our house of worship, at which time we began a series of meetings that continued for two weeks. These resulted in the hopeful conversion of about 30 souls; the other two seasons of interest were attended by the hopeful change of some 35 or 40.

Three young men, connected with our church, have the ministry in view. One of them is a German, not yet two years from his fatherland.

During this winter there has been a revival among the Germans in this vicinity, which has resulted in the hopeful conversion of some 10 or 15. It appears to be a genuine work.

Twenty family altars have been erected the past year, in connection with the labors of your missionary, and more than thirty in the field which he occupies.

Our house of worship is completed in the midst of deep poverty and great discouragements. We have fought and won a great battle in respect to temperance; and liquor is now retailed only by stealth.

What a prodigious alteration must ensue, and what advantages must follow to the community in which sixty or seventy souls, in the judgment of charity, are born anew from above, thirty new family altars set up, the house of God erected, and the life-blood of intemperance no more allowed free circulation! Surely, such results ought to make the year in which they have been granted, a jubilee in the grateful recollections of that people; for, without doubt, in these events is involved the eternal destiny of multitudes, not of the present generation alone, but of those who shall come after, and who will thus receive a training in the right ways of the Lord.

Accommodations for Worship.

There is to be a meeting this week to devise means for erecting a house of worship. On this item your missionaries could fill out glowing reports. Six months of experience in northern Wisconsin has often made me think of the pains taken to secure the comfort of speaker and hearer in our Eastern churches. When I enjoyed them, I sometimes heard people complain of inconveniences. The temperature might not be exactly right. But in Wisconsin we accommodate the houses of worship with a range of temperature, from 10 below to 100 above zero.

In our small village, too, we have a range of time, almost as wide as is that regulating the temperature of our school houses. Often, one third of the congregation come in after the sermon has commenced. Every time my eye glances at Meneeley's advertisement of church bells, and I think of the annoyance of the preceding Sabbath, I could wish myself possessor of a part of Astor's estate. If with its possession I could unite a benevolent heart, I would be a liberal subscriber to a new propaganda, furnishing the poor churches at the West with bells, thereby greatly increasing facilities for doing good.

Sixteen Years' Church Extension.

Much has been accomplished for church extension, on the field of the Philadelphia Home Missionary Society, in the last sixteen years. More than forty churches have been raised to a position of self-support through its assistance, and some of these are among the strong and influential churches of our denomination. At least two thirds of these churches, during their partial dependence upon our Society, erected houses of worship. While the Society aided them in the support of their pastors, they were encouraged to embark in the enterprise of church building, and to complete so important a work. The missionary aid received from our Society, stimulated the congregations to make sacrifices to secure the permanence of their organization, by building places of worship, where they and their children might worship God, and which they would regard with peculiar emotions as their religious home. Every year, some of the congregations, aided by us, tell us they have commenced the erection of a place of worship, and others inform us that they have completed such buildings; and generally these buildings are unencumbered with debt, or nearly so, when they are dedicated to the worship of God.

The Commission has Come!

The very welcome commission arrived this week, and brought much joy to me and to my family. Even my little girl, when her brother arrived from the Post Office, ran to me at the wood pile, almost out of breath, and cried out, "The commission,—the commission has come!" Such is the estimate placed upon the Home Missionary Society even by the little children of the Western missionary. They know very well that your noble institution is their best earthly friend in these western forests.

Value of the American Home Missionary Society.

The renewal of my commission has just been received with such feelings as can be known only by those in similar circumstances. What a providence, I am ready to exclaim, that such an instrumentality should be raised up for ends so noble and God-like! What could our widely extended country do without its agency? Its design is to occupy almost the whole territory from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Under God it is our only hope, that the teeming multitudes, who will hereafter occupy this vast region of hills and valleys and prairies, will be molded for God and usefulness, and their unequalled resources be prevented from becoming the greatest curse to our nation and the world. Those already in the western field with the scattered sheep, have no source to look to but to God and the A. H. M. Society. Should the A. H. M. S. withdraw her laborers from the wide field of her occupancy, the very pall of death would hang over the land, and the poor and the destitute, dwelling in the distant cabins and hamlets, would, if sensible of their loss, sit down in utter despair.

A Sunday School in the Woods.

There has never been a school at N. till last summer. The good people thought they were too much scattered. An effort was made, and $25 raised at once for a library, and, to the astonishment of everybody, between 80 and 90 scholars came forward to join the classes. Our house would not hold them and leave room for teachers to move about. So the boys took to the woods. Each teacher went to a fallen tree and arranged his class upon it. These classes were scattered about, out of sight of each other. I have never seen a more interesting school; and what makes it so is, that teachers and scholars take so much interest in it. Some come six or seven miles.

How the Work was begun.

The revival commenced with the church of which I am pastor, and I may say, with the pastor himself. My own unworthiness, and a sense of the responsibility resting upon me as a watchman on Zion's walls, came home to my heart with crushing weight. I sought relief in communion with my Saviour, and tried to cast the burden upon his willing hands. The ear of God seemed open to my earnest, importunate prayer, and I renewed my consecration to him, and labored with the expectation of meeting a happy result. The brethren and sisters began to feel their responsibility, and to come up to the help of the Lord. Sinners were pricked in their hearts, and cried for mercy. Other christian denominations joined us, and the work moved steadily forward.

A Christian Community eight years old.

In February of 1846, this church was organized with eight members. Last Saturday, I was installed as its pastor. Rev. Mr. Reed, Agent of the A. H. M. S. in this state, preached a sermon to the church and congregation on the subject of Home Missions. A minister, formerly from New England, remarked that it sounded very strange to hear brother R. saying what we must do for Home Missions; we, while we can almost see the foot prints of the savage, and hear the echo of his war whoop about us, talking about Home Missions! And why should we not? We are children of Home Missions, and may we not soon become supporters and defenders of our parent? But few years we hope, and have strong reason to believe, will pass, before we shall cease to need your aid, and joyfully prosecute the work of refunding what has been received from your treasury.

What changes do a few short years work out in our new settlements! How soon is the Indian hunting ground turned into the fruitful field, adorned with churches and blessed with the sweet and heavenly influence of Christianity! And how speedily do those whom we nurture in their infancy, become our most efficient helpers in extending into regions, yet more remote and destitute, the Gospel of the kingdom!

The Ground burnt over.

The rubbish must be removed before we can build. How slow the process; how laborious the task! God must help, or multitudes must perish. Romanism, bad as it is, is not our chief danger in our new settlements. The fires of fanaticism and sectarianism, that burn over those parts of the country where there is nothing to hinder, is more destructive to religious principle, and more corrupting to society, than can be conceived without personal observation. Oh, if the ministers and churches of our land, who sustain your Society, could see what I have seen, and feel what I have felt, they would thrust their missionaries and their money upon the advancing wave of population as it foams towards the setting sun. A few years' delay, and how many must perish; what mountains of difficulty must be removed or overcome! The mass of the community in this county can be won by no kindness, induced by no courtesy, and awakened by no considerations to attend on the means of grace. They are not gospel-hardened, but worse; they have, multitudes of them, received and rejected another gospel, which is not the Gospel, and stupidity, presumption, and fanaticism now characterize their conduct. They have no Sabbath in their year, and no fear of God before their eyes. In these circumstances our hope is principally with the young, and these it is most difficult to reach, in by far the greatest number of cases.

Farther Yet.

There are many points in the settlements west of us, where a missionary could find work enough now. Churches are already forming on the Missouri river, and calling for ministers! Settlements are forming even west of the Missouri. Who will supply the spiritual wants of these rising multitudes? I sometimes almost resolve to go west myself, and leave my present place for some one else. I cannot endure the thought that this beautiful country should be given up to Satan. I think our pious young men at the East would say, without hesitation, "Here are we, send us," if they could be impressed with a sense of the importance of this work. You may think me too sanguine; but I regard the work of elevating these western communities, socially and religiously, by planting churches and institutions of learning, as paramount to every other benevolent enterprise. Not a church nor a college can be planted here whose influence will not be felt ultimately the world over. Every such institution brings this people more and more under the power of the Gospel, and increases the moral influence of the nation upon the world. I pray that God will wake up our pious young men to this subject.

The Gospel the only Hope.

The state of things, morally and religiously, is worse in this community than I have ever before seen it any where. Sin, open and outrageous, abounds; all sorts of errors are held. There are some skeptics and many Universalists, whose style of life, bad every way, is the natural and necessary growth of their principles. If there was ever a place in want of Gospel influences, here is one. Nothing, I am sure, nothing but that Gospel which is the power of God unto salvation, can elevate society here, restore public sentiment to a healthy tone, and allure the devotees of Mammon and vicious pleasure to the peaceful paths of true wisdom. A genuine, thorough and extensive revival—that is what we want and seek; that, in spite of all inauspicious appearances, is what I venture, sometimes, when faith is strong and trust full, to expect. If by the aid of your Society, under God, this place should be recovered from the arch enemy, one of whose strongholds it now is, that one victory were enough to satisfy any man that the Home Missionary work is worth its cost a thousand times told. Such a victory, desperate as the case now looks, is possible with God; for it, we will hope, and pray, and toil.

TWENTY SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY.

The AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY held its Twenty Seventh Anniversary in the Metropolitan Hall, New York, on Wednesday evening, May 11th, 1853.

HENRY DWIGHT, Esq., President of the Society, occupied the chair, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. WILLIAM PATTON, D. D., of New York.

The Treasurer's Report was read by Mr. JASPER CORNING, the Treasurer of the Society.

An abstract of the Annual Report of the Executive Committee was presented by Rev. MILTON BADGER, D. D., one of the Secretaries.

On motion of Rev. JOHN N. LEWIS, of Salisbury Mills, N. Y., seconded by Rev. JOHN GRIDLEY, of Kenosha, Wis.,

Resolved, That the Reports now presented be adopted, and published under the direction of the Executive Committee.

On motion of Rev. E. L. CLEAVELAND, D. D., of New Haven, Ct., seconded by Rev. P. H. FOWLER, of Utica, N. Y.,

Resolved, That the present aspects of the Home Missionary field, while they afford great encouragement to labor, also demand a more energetic prosecution of our work.

On motion of Rev. AZARIAH ELDRIDGE, of New Bedford, Mass., seconded by Hon. WILLIAM JESSUP, LL. D., of Montrose, Pa.,

Resolved, That in view of the promising age, successful fortunes, and commanding position of America, her speedy and thorough evangelization is of the first importance.

On motion of Rev. JULIAN M. STURTEVANT, D. D., President of Illinois College, seconded by Rev. JOSEPH S. CLARK, D. D., of Boston, Mass.,

Resolved, That it becomes us to recognize with devout gratitude the evidence which is furnished in the history of our Home Missionary enterprise, that the spirit of heroic self-denial, so characteristic of early Christianity, still survives, and has been not a little revived in these latter days.

The numerous and highly intelligent auditory were instructed and delighted by addresses from Rev. Dr. CLEAVELAND, Rev. Mr.

ELDRIDGE, Judge JESSUP, and Rev. Dr. STURTEVANT, setting forth the claims and encouragements of the Home Missionary enterprise. The dangers which threaten our country; the peculiar advantages of the present time for molding the character which our nation is to sustain; the distinguishing facilities which America possesses for forwarding the conversion of the heathen world, and the indications that such is the destiny appointed her by the Most High, were impressively exhibited. These exercises were diversified by appropriate hymns, sung by the whole assembly, under the direction of Mr. GEORGE ANDREWS.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. NATHANIEL HEWIT, D. D., of Bridgeport, Ct.

The Society then proceeded to the election of officers for the ensuing year, when the following were chosen :

CONSTITUTION
AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ART. 1. This Society shall be denominated THE AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

ART. 2. The object of this Society shall be, to assist congregations that are unable to support the gospel ministry, and to send the Gospel to the destitute, within the United States; also to co-operate with evangelical Christians in the support of Home Missions in nominally christian countries, to such an extent as the funds of the Institution may justify.

ART. 3. The officers of the Society shall be a President, Vice Presidents, a Treasurer, an Auditor, one or more Secretaries for Correspondence, a Recording Secretary, and fifty Directors, who shall be annually appointed by the Society; and who, together with the Directors for life, shall constitute a Board, seven of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened.

ART. 4. The officers and Directors shall appoint an Executive Committee of fourteen, (including the Treasurer, the Secretaries for Correspondence, and the Recording Secretary,) residing in the City of New York and its vicinity; five of whom shall be a quorum, at any meeting regularly convened. The Committee shall have power to appoint its own meetings, form its own rules of business, and fill any vacancies in its own number which may occur during the year, and to convene special meetings of the Board or Society; shall appoint missionaries and instruct them as to the field and manner of their labors; shall have the disposal of the funds; shall create such agency or agencies for appointing missionaries, and for other purposes, as the interests of the Institution may require; and shall make an Annual Report of their proceedings to the Society.

ART. 5. The Treasurer shall give bonds, annually, to such amount as the Executive Committee shall think proper.

ART. 6. Any person may become a member of this Society, by contributing annually to its funds; thirty dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Member for life; and one hundred dollars paid at one time shall constitute a Director for life; and any person on the payment of a sum which, in addition to any previous contribution to the funds, shall amount to one hundred dollars, shall be a Director for life. An executor, on paying a legacy of two hundred and fifty dollars to the funds of this Society, shall be a Member for life; and the payment of a legacy of one thousand dollars shall constitute a Director for life.

ART. 7. Any Missionary Society may become Auxiliary, by agreeing to pay into the Treasury of this Society the whole of its surplus funds, and sending to the Secretaries for Correspondence a copy of its Constitution and Annual Reports, mentioning the names of its Missionaries, and the fields of their operations.

ART. 8. Every Auxiliary Society, which shall agree to pay the whole of its funds to this Society, shall be entitled to a missionary or missionaries to labor in such field as it may designate; at least to the amount of its contributions; provided such designation be made at the time of payment.

ART. 9. The officers of all Auxiliary Societies shall be, ex-officio, Directors; and annual contributors to their funds shall be members of the Society.

ART. 10. This Society shall meet annually in the city of New York, on the Wednesday next preceding the second Thursday in May.

ART. 11. No alteration shall be made in this Constitution without a vote of two thirds of the members present at an annual meeting; nor unless the same shall have been proposed at a previous annual meeting, or recommended by the Executive Committee.

TWENTY SEVENTH REPORT.

DURING the year that is now closed, six of the Missionaries of this Society have been removed by death—Rev. Oliver Brown and Rev. Allen Clark, in Connecticut; Rev. Levi Rose, in New York; Rev. C. L. Adams, in Wisconsin; Rev. William A. Thompson, in Illinois; and Rev. S. H. Hazard, in Iowa. They were toiling in the vineyard with fidelity and patience, and amidst evident tokens of the divine blessing, until called, several of them unexpectedly, to their recompense on high.

While we mourn the departure of these, our brethren, and of many others whose benefactions and prayers have been consecrated to the missionary work, we would not be unmindful of the goodness of God in preserving the lives of the Officers of the Society, and of so many of its valued counselors and friends, and in giving so much success to their united efforts for the advancement of his kingdom. Missionaries have been found ready to go forth into the most distant and laborious fields; infant churches and destitute settlements have received them with joyful hearts; those who have contributed of their substance to sustain the Institution, have furnished the means of enlarging the sphere of its usefulness; churches have been multiplied, and their membership and strength increased; the preaching of the word has been attended by greater numbers, and to many, we have reason to believe, has been made effectual unto salvation. Though the year has not been distinguished, as have some former years, by the outpouring of the Spirit, yet many of the churches have enjoyed seasons of refreshing, from the presence of the Lord, of great interest and power. The record we are permitted to make is peculiarly encouraging. The advanced position of the Society, while it calls for gratitude and praise to Almighty God, in whom is all our strength, should stimulate its friends to higher purposes, and stronger faith, and more self-sacrificing efforts to make our whole land Immanuel's, a mountain of holiness and a dwelling place of righteousness.

The various operations of the Society, in connection with its auxiliaries, agencies, and principal missionary fields, are particularly noticed in the body of the Report, under their appropriate heads; such details as can be presented in a compact form, are embraced in the following

GENERAL TABLE,

SUMMARY OF RESULTS.

The number of ministers of the Gospel in the service of the Society the last year, whose names are found in the General Table—together with those engaged in superintending the missionary work, and who are mentioned in connection with the respective Auxiliaries and Agencies—is 1,087.

Of these, 874 were in commission at the date of the last Report, and 213 have been since appointed.

They have been distributed in 27 different States and Territories, as follow: in Maine, 101; New Hampshire, 46; Vermont, 58; Massachusetts, 54; Rhode Island, 9; Connecticut, 45; New York, 158; New Jersey, 9; Pennsylvania, 45; Delaware, 3; District of Columbia, 1; Virginia, 7; North Carolina, 2; Georgia, 1; Arkansas, 1; Tennessee, 5; Kentucky, 6; Ohio, 96; Indiana, 58; Illinois, 118; Missouri, 30; Michigan, 80; Wisconsin, 83; Iowa, 55; Minnesota, 6; California, 6; Oregon, 4.

This distribution gives to the New England States, 313; the Middle States, 215; the Southern States, 12; and the Western States and Territories, 547.

Of the whole number in commission, 584 have been the pastors or stated supplies of single congregations; 288 have ministered to two or three congregations each; and 215 have extended their labors over still wider fields.

The aggregate of ministerial labor performed is equal to 878 years.

The number of congregations and missionary stations which have been fully supplied, or where the Gospel has been preached at stated intervals, is 2,160; while many others have enjoyed the occasional labors of the missionaries.

Ten missionaries have been in commission as pastors, or stated supplies of churches of colored people; and 71 have preached in foreign languages—17 to Welsh, and 46 to German congregations ; and others to congregations of Norwegians, Swedes, Swiss, Hollanders, and Frenchmen.

The number of Sabbath school scholars connected with the missionary churches and stations, is not far from 72,500.

The contributions to benevolent objects, reported by 678 missionaries, is $27,905 03.

The additions to the churches, as nearly as can be ascertained, have been 6,079, viz.: 3,362 on profession of their faith, and 2,717 by letters from other churches. Fifty six missionaries make mention in their reports of revivals of religion in the congregations to which they have ministered ; in connection with some of which there have been 50, 75, and in one case 95 hopeful conversions. The number of hopeful conversions reported by 426 missionaries, is 2,888.

Forty seven churches have been organized in connection with the labors of the missionaries during the year ; and 39 have attained to such a degree of strength and prosperity as to need no longer the fostering care of the Society. Fifty four houses of worship have been completed ; 50 repaired or improved ; and 66 are in the process of erection. Twelve churches have provided their ministers with comfortable parsonages. Eighty nine young men, in connection with the missionary churches, are reported as in different stages of preparation for the gospel ministry.

THE TREASURY.

Resources. The balance in the Treasury, April 1, 1852, was $9,907 15. The receipts of the succeeding twelve months have been, $171,734 24 ; making the resources of the year, $181,641 39.

Liabilities. There was due to missionaries, at the date of the last Report, $11,432 63. There have since become due, $173,751 38 ; making the total of liabilities, $185,184 01.

Payments. Of this sum, $174,439 24 have been paid ; leaving $10,744 77 still due to missionaries for labor performed. Towards canceling these claims, and redeeming the additional pledges on commissions not yet expired, making in all, $84,240 33, there is a balance in the Treasury of $7,202 15.

PROGRESS.

The new fields of labor entered, the churches organized, the souls converted, the houses of worship built, and the congregations that assume the support of the ministry without further aid, are reliable tokens of the progress of the Society from year to year. Gratifying evidence peculiar to the last year, is seen also by a glance at the results which have been enumerated in connection with those of other years. The receipts exceed those of the preceding year, by $11,671 99; 22 more missionaries have been in commission; 16 more years of ministerial labor have been performed; 212 more congregations have been blessed with the preaching of the Gospel, and 6,000 more children instructed in Sabbath schools. The large reinforcement, sent out to the Society's missions on the Pacific coast, and which will be noticed more particularly in another part of the Report, constitutes, likewise, a grateful, as it is a most important feature in the advances of the year. The interest awakened in the churches in this mission, and in the early planting of christian institutions in that new world, is a sure pledge that our brethren there will not be forgotten, nor resources be wanting to sustain and cheer them in their labors, and to send out yet many other enterprising and devoted men, to share with them their toils and their recompense of reward.

COMPARATIVE RESULTS.

The following Table gives a comparative view of the amount of receipts, expenditures, number of missionaries, new appointments, congregations and missionary districts, years of labor performed, additions to the churches, and pupils in Sabbath schools, for each year since the organization of the Society.

It also exhibits, in the tenth column, the average expenditure, each year, for a year of missionary labor, obtained by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of the year, by the number of years of labor performed. And in the eleventh column, by dividing the sum total of the expenditures of each year by the number of missionaries employed, is shown what the average to a missionary would be, if the expenditures were equally apportioned among them.

Remarks.—1. From the foregoing table it will be seen that in each of the ten years, from 1830 to 1840, and from 1840 to 1850, the receipts were more than doubled.

2. The total of receipts, for the twenty seven years, is $2,537,154 64.

3. The total of years of labor is 14,836. These years are reckoned in each report, by adding together the months of labor which the missionaries have actually performed.

4. The average expenditure for a year of missionary labor, for the first twenty five years, is $167. This includes the entire cost to the Society of obtaining the missionary, defraying his expenses to his field, and sustaining him on it, as well as all the expenses of conducting the Institution. The increased average of recent years has been occasioned by the greater number of those who have held full commissions, and the expensiveness of more distant missions, particularly of those on the Pacific coast.

5. The average annual expenditure to a missionary, for the first twenty five years, is $122. The difference between this amount and the average for a year's labor, is occasioned by the fact that a missionary is named and counted in a report, though in some cases he may have labored but a fraction of the year.

6. The whole number of additions to the churches is 120,680.

7. The fifth column—that of new appointments—shows how many have to be called in each year, to supply the places of those whose support is assumed by the people, the vacancies occasioned by death, sickness, removals and other changes, and to make the increase, if there be any, over the number of the preceding year.

PRINCIPAL AUXILIARIES, AGENCIES AND MISSIONARY FIELDS.

MAINE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

WILLIAM T. DWIGHT, D. D., President; JOHN HOW, Esq., Treasurer; BENJAMIN TAPPAN, D. D., Secretary. Office at Portland.

The receipts of this Auxiliary for the year ending March 1st, were $11,762 27. The expenditures were $11,517 96; leaving an apparent balance of $244 31; but this is more than absorbed by previous obligations for a greater amount. Various congregations and individuals within the State have, within the year, paid directly to the Parent Society the sum of $385 50; making the total receipts for this cause during the year, $12,147 77.

One hundred and one missionaries have labored in this State during more or less of the year past, distributing their labors among 107 churches. One church has assumed the support of its pastor. Two congregations have erected houses of worship; one has repaired, and another has purchased a sanctuary; and in two cases, the missionaries have within the year been installed pastors of their respective flocks. Six of the churches aided have been visited with revivals of religion.

The vast field which this Auxiliary has cultivated now for forty six years, is one of undiminished interest, though in some respects, of increasing difficulties. The hardy sons of Maine, from the great extent of her sea-coast, have peculiar facilities for maritime adventure, and for emigration; and thus, a drain, both of the numerical and pecuniary strength of her churches, has recently been going on. Consequently, the dependent parishes require quite as much assistance as at any time within a few years past. Still, the Society is enabled not only to sustain them, but every year to enter on the cultivation of new fields. Six settlements are mentioned in the Report as having thus engaged the attention of the Trustees; and of others it is stated, that in view of the increased attachment of friends, the softened hearts and prejudices of enemies, the deeper feeling and revived spirit of prayer in the churches, and the universal thoughtfulness evinced, hopes are awakened, that God has designs of mercy, and will redeem from those long desolate communities a people to his praise.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

NATHANIEL BOUTON, D. D., President; SAMUEL FARRINGTON, Treasurer; Rev. BENJAMIN P. STONE, Secretary. Office at Concord.

Since the last anniversary, Rev. ABRAHAM BURNHAM, D. D., lately the venerable President of this Society, has been released from the service of the church on earth, to enter on the rest and the rewards of that state, where there is no need for one to say to another, "Know the Lord."

The income of this Society for the year was $5,964 17; and the expenditure within the State, $4,385 18. Of the receipts, $609 04 were directed by the donors to be paid to the Parent Society, and $500 received the same disposition by vote of the Trustees of the Auxiliary. By adding $1,596 18 sent to New York without passing through the treasury of the State Society, we have the sum of $2,705 22, raised in New Hampshire for the West; and a total of $7,560 35 for the cause of Home Missions, since the last Annual Report. This is an advance of $484 88 above the receipts of the previous year, legacies excepted.

The whole number of missionaries employed was forty six; these have labored for the benefit of forty eight congregations, in all but three of which churches exist. These embrace about two thousand communicants, and have in their connection about 2,900 Sabbath school pupils. One church has passed from the list of dependent churches. Six or eight have experienced more than usual religious interest during the year; but on the whole, the spiritual aspects of this portion of the great field have not been encouraging. The friends of Christ find their stimulus to effort in this State, not so much in apparent success, as in the manifest will of the Master, who bids them "Occupy till I come." When he comes to receive an account of their toil, then, and not till then, will the time of their labor cease. "So long," the Secretary remarks, "as there are more than two thousand of the Lord's poor among us, dependent upon their more favored brethren for the bread of life; so long as one third, at least, of our territory is yet a moral wilderness; so long as there are two hundred thousand immortal beings on our soil regarding their own eternal interest with indifference; so long as the spiritual health of our whole land is endangered by the noxious miasma floating in every direction from these corrupt fountains,—so long will patriotism and the love of Christ urge us to do what we can to save the lost, and comfort the needy multitudes around us."

The great and effectual hindrance in the way of a more complete ministration of the Gospel to all the neglected portions of the State, is the want of a sufficient number of laborers properly suited to the work. The Trustees say in their last Report, "No field, offering reasonable inducements for missionary operations, has been neglected, when men supposed to be adapted to the peculiarities of our work could be obtained; but it has always been slow to occupy any field, with men better fitted, in the judgment of the Trustees, for other purposes than our service. To employ such men as God and his church approve, is our anxious care. But where shall we find them in sufficient numbers for our necessities?"

VERMONT DOMESTIC MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

HON. ERASTUS FAIRBANKS, President; C. W. STORRS, Esq., Treasurer; Rev. J. F. STONE, Corresponding Secretary. Office at Montpelier.

The treasury of this Society has received during the last twelve months, $5,857 46. The amount expended was $5,762 76; and there is still due to missionaries, $1,109 60, which is some $335 less than the indebtedness at the close of the previous year. In addition to the above, Vermont has contributed directly to the Parent Society, $4,731 12; making the total of Home Missionary collections for the year, $10,588 58.

Fifty eight missionaries have labored under appointment of this Society, the aggregate of whose services is somewhat more than forty four years. The number of churches and missionary fields, wholly or partially supplied, was sixty three. The general aspect of the churches aided is encouraging. While sickness and emigration seriously diminished the attendance in some cases, the congregations and Sabbath schools have generally increased.

The Christians of Vermont have a peculiar interest in the Home Missionary cause, arising from the circumstances of their own State. Being one of the youngest of the New England sisterhood, her own wastes were not yet built up when the great movement towards the West and South commenced. Consequently, her older towns were not so well supplied with firmly rooted religious institutions, as to bear, at once, the draft made by emigration upon their means and members, and the expense of evangelizing the newer and less populous towns. Hence, we have the spectacle of the churches blessed with an able and fruitful ministry, which yet, from the depleting effect of emigration, are scarcely able to maintain their present standing. To leave these to die, would be to convert fields, hitherto fruitful in contributions for benevolence, and in missionaries and pious teachers and church members for the West, into worse than barren wastes. Meanwhile, more than seventy towns are still destitute of Congregational preaching, and, many of them, of preaching of any kind. Thirty of these—the more hopeful of the destitute, some with churches, which ought to be occupied without delay—for the want of means must remain in this affecting state of destitution.

MASSACHUSETTS HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

LEONARD WOODS, D. D., President; BENJAMIN PERKINS, Esq., Treasurer; JOSEPH S. CLARK, D. D., Secretary. Office in Boston.

The receipts of this Auxiliary, during the last year, were $29,103 35. Of this sum $5,867 have been expended for missionary purposes within the State, and $23,000 remitted to the American Home Missionary Society for its general purposes; making the total of expenditure $28,867. The Parent Society has also received from Massachusetts, during the year, from individuals, congregations, Auxiliaries, and in payment of legacies, $15,572 45. Of these amounts no less than $38,572 45 has gone beyond the limits of the commonwealth, to assist in the great evangelical struggle for the salvation of the country. The total contributions of the year from the State to this object, have, therefore, been $44,675 80; making, as was also the case last year, more than one fourth of the entire annual revenue of the National Society. If intelligent and consistent patriotism, whose genuineness is certified by generous and effective deeds, be the ground of precedence among the tribes of our Israel, Massachusetts deserves to be regarded as our banner State.

The number of missionaries bearing the commission of the Society during the year, was fifty four. In reviewing the catalogue of assisted congregations, we find that nine have been enrolled since the last Report, while eleven others have ceased to receive aid, of which eight sustain the ministry from their own resources.

The survey contained in the last report of this Auxiliary, shows the beneficence and efficiency of its operation. One hundred and twenty three churches—nearly one third of those in the State which support themselves—have been brought up to this position by the Society, from absolute dependence on charity; and more than half of this result has been accomplished within ten years. Still greater progress may be hoped for, in time to come, should the promised reform in respect to Temperance prove successful. "Many of the waste places in Massachusetts," the Report informs us, "were originally demoralized and impoverished by rum; and the missionaries have always found much to do in resisting the evils of intemperance; though not always with much prospect of success. But the recent popular movement in favor of a more effectual suppression of the liquor trade, has revived their hopes and enlisted their cordial coöperation. Should the proposed reformation be permanently effected, no branch of business in the State will suffer greater curtailment than this of Home Missions. There would hardly be need of a missionary society to reclaim the old wastes that have so long baffled the designs of charity."

RHODE ISLAND HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

JOHN P. CLEVELAND, D. D., President; B. WHITE, Esq., Providence, Treasurer; Rev. CONSTANTINE BLODGETT, Pawtucket, Secretary.

The receipts of this Auxiliary were, last year, $1,495 72. A donation of one thousand dollars was also received from the Connecticut Missionary Society. Expended during the same period, $2,020 75. The increasing liberality of the Christians of the State to this cause, appears in the amount of $1,270 70, furnished by them for the general objects of the Parent Society, in addition to the amount bestowed on their own destitutions.

Nine missionaries have been in commission since the last report. The influence of the churches aided, upon the interests of education, order, morality and religion, is becoming more and more obvious, and furnishes an argument for Home Missions of growing strength and conclusiveness. "In all the conflicts of truth with error, or of morality with sin, the missionaries are battling for the right. It is testified of them, that they have been found faithful to their trust; and although large grants from the Missionary Treasury have been required to sustain them, the outlay has proved to have been as wise as it was indispensable to their being retained on the field."

CONNECTICUT MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

REV. HORACE HOOKER, Secretary; E. W. PARSONS, Treasurer. Office at Hartford.

The receipts of this Society for the past year, were $7,485 06. The amount expended for missionary purposes within the State, was $5,151 04; the sum of $1,000 was appropriated in aid of missions in the sister State of Rhode Island; and $2,000 was sent as a donation to the Parent Society. There was also contributed to the latter from various sources in the State, the additional sum of $22,871 85; making the total for Home Missions, during the year, $31,022 89—the largest annual gift ever made by that State to Home Missions, and larger by $6,258 31, than the contributions of the year before.

During the same period, forty five missionaries have been in commission. Five churches which formerly received assistance do not apply for it the present year. "There is, obviously, a growth and stability in the number of members and in attachment to the institutions of the Gospel, manifested by increasing readiness to incur expense for the purpose of enjoying them." "Old meeting houses are repaired or replaced by new ones; parsonages are provided; permanent funds for the support of the Gospel are increasing; while the various means for rendering public worship comfortable and attractive, are introduced."

As illustrative of the enlarged spirit with which the Directors of this Auxiliary prosecute the missionary work, we may quote the expressions of satisfaction in their Report in view of the application of the bounty of that State, to propagate the Gospel in Oregon and California. In view of those distant shores becoming the starting points, whence evangelical influences are to go forth over the vast Pacific world, they suggest, that "the purest doctrines and forms of Christianity are, at this moment, imperatively demanded on those western borders. If the light there be darkness, how great will be the darkness that will settle down for other long ages over the nations on the other side of the Pacific." On those distant portions of our field, Home and Foreign Missions now meet and mingle. "If ever there were room for preferring one of these causes to the other, that time is past. Both are Foreign—both Home. Among the Catholics of Europe, Foreign Missions are not only preparing residents for the Western Valley, but shaping the hearts and minds of those who are to be our own neighbors and fellow citizens. In the Celestial Empire, the Foreign missionary is training the heathen to preach the Gospel to their own countrymen in California; while Home Missions on our western borders will send back Chinamen to their own land, with the abundant blessings of the Gospel of Christ."

PHILADELPHIA HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

THOMAS FLEMING, President; HENRY PERKINS, Treasurer; Rev. ROBERT ADAIR, Secretary. Office at Philadelphia.

During the year ending March 1st, this Society received $9,235 53. Its expenditures for missionary labor within its bounds, and for expenses of the Society, were $7,639 98. It also remitted to the Treasury of the Parent Society, $60; and there has also been received by the latter, from various sources on the field of the Auxiliary, $1,243 48. The whole amount realized for the cause was, therefore, $10,479 01.

In the States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and the District of Columbia, which constitute the field of this Auxiliary, fifty six missionaries have been in commission, and have accomplished some 47 years of ministerial labor. Notwithstanding the disastrous effect of those changes which emigration and the engrossing excitements of business occasion, there have been many encouraging facts in the history of individual congregations, as well as a general advancement over the whole field. The churches which are able to sustain themselves, are becoming aware that they have something more to do; that the destitute around them, have claims upon their philanthropy; and accordingly, they are putting forth influences to revive and encourage churches which were rapidly sinking; and are also making more thorough and systematic arrangements for collecting funds for this cause, and to supply houses of worship. Several newly settled districts, into which the spirit of enterprise is driving its avenues of traffic, are creating a large demand for the means of grace. The woods, and mountains, and streams of water, and places where no man dwelt or ever thought of dwelling, are filling up with an active and enterprising population; thus bringing upon the Auxiliary increased responsibilities in behalf of a vast region which seems devolved upon its peculiar care. The Society has already done much in such communities. In some of them,

"Where once there was moral desolation and ruin; where the sound of the church-going bell was never heard; now, there is an attractive church building, whose spire is seen from the distance; the privileges of the sanctuary are enjoyed; the Sabbath is observed as holy time, and the cause of temperance is advanced. The benign influence of these little churches is beginning to be felt, and the moral darkness to pass away, before the light that shines from these watch-towers of Zion. Such results already achieved in these mountain districts, justify our expectations of still other successes in those rapidly opening regions."

REV. RICHARD F. CLEVELAND, Secretary, Clinton; J. E. WARNER, Treasurer, Utica.

This Agency covers that portion of the State of New York, lying east of the counties of Cayuga, Tompkins and Tioga; north of Delaware and Greene; and west of the Hudson river. Received by the Auxiliary, $4,957 92; remitted from this field directly to the Parent Society, $2,427 82—in addition to $1,050, the balance of a legacy; total from this section of the State, $8,435 04. The Agency has expended for its local purposes $3,556 70; and the balance goes to the great national enterprise.

Forty nine missionaries have been employed, whose labors have been bestowed on 70 congregations and destitute districts. An aggregate of thirty five years of ministerial service has been performed, and not less than 5,000 souls have enjoyed statedly the various salutary benefits of the christian ministry. At least, the ordinary share of happy results have been reported. Five missionaries mention revivals as having occurred; and others are encouraged by tokens of approaching good. During the year, five houses of worship have been completed; two others are in progress; and five have been repaired and improved. In some instances, debts which encumbered the churches have been liquidated; and in others, parsonages have been secured. Four congregations, during the year, have undertaken to sustain themselves; and others look forward to an early attainment of the same position.

The Report of this Agency shows, that even in the State of New York, now comparatively one of the old States, "the increasing facilities of travel and commerce, the consequent growth of population, the rise in the value of real estate and the staple of manufactures, with the general success of business enterprises, especially in the newer counties, are multiplying fields for evangelical effort, and originating fresh appeals for Home Missionary aid. This Society is regarded as the most reliable instrumentality for meeting these demands. Individual churches and ecclesiastical bodies include its agency in all their calculations for religious progress. So essential has it been, and must still continue to be, that the abstraction of the churches which it sustains, would leave a wide and portentous breach; and the cessation of its beneficent operations would discourage, if it did not entirely arrest, aggressive measures for the future. Consequently, the principles and policy of the Society, we are assured, are the more highly prized by the ministry and the churches, the more nearly they are examined and the better they are understood."

The Board of the Central Agency give their testimony to the qualifications of the laborers in their employ; to their indefatigable diligence, their patience in afflictions, their self-denial, purity and weight of example; as well as the manifold and happy fruits of their culture. Under their ministrations, the pastoral office is becoming more respected, and all the institutions of Christ's house are assuming a character of increasing stability and, of course, produce richer and more abundant blessings.

WESTERN AGENCY, N. Y.

REV. JOHN A. MURRAY, Secretary; W. T. SCOTT, Treasurer. Office at Geneva.

The receipts of this Agency—which covers twenty counties in Western New York—have been, for the year, $8,565 26, besides various sums, amounting to $2,291 68, which have been forwarded by the donors to the National Society at New York; making the total from this field, $10,856 94. This is $1,236 32 more than the income from the same territory for the previous year.

On this general field, fifty eight missionaries have been sustained; three of the number deriving the requisite aid through the Missionary Committee of the Presbytery of Rochester. Sixty six churches, besides neighboring settlements, have enjoyed more or less of these ministrations.

In several missionary districts, although the churches are small and the number of conversions has not been great, there have been such results of a state of special revival, as greatly to strengthen the communities where they have occurred. Family altars have been set up; the prayer meeting, which had become almost obsolete, is an object of interest and attraction; the voice of inquiry after salvation is heard among those without; external facilities for reaching the sanctuary and enjoying its privileges are multiplied; the number of believers is increased, and the order of God's house established. In seven or eight cases, the increase in the number of converts is so great as to warrant their being properly classed as revivals. In two instances, from thirty to forty; in another, sixty; and in another, as many as eighty souls are mentioned as the hopeful subjects of renewing grace. The details of endeavor to erect and repair houses of worship possess unusual interest, as showing a growing regard for the public institutions of religion. Striking instances have occurred, in which these efforts were attended with the immediate formation of vigorous congregations, and the establishment of the pastoral relation. During the past year, the wants of the destitute have been brought to light more than in previous years. Large sections, to which emigration was checked ere it had carried in all the institutions which are essential to social order, have been gradually sinking into neglect. The germs of churches which, in some cases, gave promise of becoming many years ago the trees of righteousness that would cover the land with their shadow, have perished. Others are in a deplorable condition, without houses and without preaching; others still, destitute of the ministry, their little places of worship abandoned to errorists or rotting down through neglect. For such communities there is no hope of resuscitation, except by external aid, such as it is the office of Home Missions to furnish. To this work the Agency proposes to address itself. Such were many of the fields which have already been reclaimed by its instrumentality in other days. Many of those which are now so strong that they promise to live and to be abiding blessings in the towns where they are situated, were once as destitute and unpromising as any which now claim the sympathy and kind offices of their abler brethren.

WESTERN RESERVE AGENCY, OHIO.

REV. MYRON TRACY, Hudson, Secretary; T. P. HANDY, Cleveland, Treasurer.

The receipts of this Agency, the past year, have been $3,855 35; and $785 94 have been forwarded from individuals and churches to the Treasury of the Society in New York, making the aggregate of contributions to the cause from this field, $4,641 29. Of this sum, $3,868 39 have been expended within the bounds of the Agency.

The number of missionaries who have been in commission on this field during the year, is forty eight, of whom thirty eight have been sustained by the funds of the Agency. Three have preached in Welsh, and one in German, and have supplied regularly seven congregations composed chiefly of those who could be reached with the Gospel only through these languages.

The churches of this region have not enjoyed, during the past year, a large measure of spiritual prosperity. Three of the missionaries, however, report seasons of unusual religious interest in their congregations, and several others speak of individual cases of hopeful conversion. Tokens of external improvement also are visible. Two congregations have, within the year, provided themselves with parsonages; three houses of worship have been erected, and four others have been materially improved. Two churches have been organized in fields dependent upon missionary aid for the preaching of the Gospel.

This field has enjoyed missionary culture for a longer period than any other in the Western States; and few others in any part of the country contain more precious and enduring monuments of this enterprise. But the population of this region has become comparatively dense, the habits and customs of society have become fixed, and rapid and striking changes, even under the power of the Gospel, are not to be expected, as in the newly settled portions of the missionary field. Adverse influences, moreover, have abounded. The numerous divisions and subdivisions which have taken place among those who formerly co-operated in all religious movements, have retarded the growth of many churches, and postponed the day of their pecuniary independence. The strength and efficiency of others have been greatly impaired by the discussions and controversies with which that region, more than most others, has been agitated. The churches of this section have also contributed largely to swell the passing tide of emigration that has flowed into the remoter West. In view of these facts, and of the unusual dearth of the special influences of the Spirit, it was not to be expected that the report of a single year of missionary labor would record numerous and striking changes on this field.

But if we embrace in our review a period of ten years, we see that a great work has been accomplished. In 1843, when the present Secretary of the Agency made his first report to the Society, the entire income from this field was but $582 81, and the whole number of missionaries employed was eighteen, only a portion of whom were sustained by the funds raised on the field. The contributions for the last year, as has already been stated, have risen to $4,641 29, and the number of laborers employed to forty eight. Many churches have, during this period, passed from the list of beneficiaries to that of contributors; new fields of missionary effort have been entered, where the good seed of the kingdom is beginning to yield its increase, and a growing interest is manifest in sending the Gospel to the regions beyond. Notwithstanding all opposing and distracting influences, therefore, encouraging progress has been made, and we have but to persevere in our appointed work, with the assurance that, here, as elsewhere, patient continuance in well doing will have its appropriate and abundant reward.

MARIETTA AGENCY, OHIO.

Rev. THOMAS WICKES, Secretary; CHARLES SHIPMAN, Treasurer. Office at Marietta.

Since the last Annual Report, no material change has occurred on the field covered by this Agency. Most of the destitutions to which particular attention was then called, are still unsupplied. The number of missionaries in commission during the past year, is twelve, which is but one more than the number reported the preceding year.

The contributions to the treasury of the Agency during this period, have been $444 04.

These few laborers, though struggling against peculiar obstacles, and unable to meet the full demands of this important field, are cheered by evident tokens that their labor is not in vain in the Lord. Multitudes, scattered over this hill country of Ohio, as sheep having no shepherd, have been visited and fed; the feeble churches are gradually though slowly gaining strength; the strongholds of error are yielding to the power of truth; and the Gospel, through God's appointed agency, is visibly advancing to its predestined triumph. But this progress must be slow, so long as the means employed are so inadequate. As this territory lies adjacent to the Southern States, it has gathered a population exceedingly diverse in origin, and heterogeneous in character, which is widely scattered among its hills and valleys. Owing, also, to its geographical position and features, it has remained comparatively secluded and neglected, till every species of error and false doctrine has become firmly entrenched. It is only by a continued and greatly increased expenditure of missionary effort that this region can be brought under the predominant influence of the Gospel, and these feeble and languishing churches nourished up to the stature of self-support.

The present aspect of the field presents some peculiar features of encouragement. Exhaustless treasures of mineral wealth, which have been disclosed, are attracting thither an enterprising population. Educational and other kindred interests are awakening new attention, the value and necessity of evangelical institutions are more adequately appreciated, and increased disposition is manifested to aid in sustaining them. But the laborers are few. A large increase of their number is urgently demanded, to bring this important field under cultivation, and to gather the precious harvest.

CINCINNATI AGENCY, OHIO.

Rev. HENRY LITTLE, Madison, Indiana, Secretary; E. M. GREGORY, Cincinnati, Treasurer.

Twenty eight missionaries have been sustained the past year by the resources of this Agency, which have amounted to $3,641 93.

The whole amount contributed to the cause of Home Missions during the year by churches and individuals in Ohio, is $5,408 99; the contributions from Indiana have been $1,744 04.

The records of missionary labor on this field since the last Annual Report, afford evidence that God has crowned the year with his goodness. The lives of all the missionaries have been spared, and they have prosecuted their appropriate work with great fidelity and encouraging success. Upon many of the churches in missionary districts God has poured out his Spirit, and the seed for which the husbandmen have watched and waited through many years of toil and self-denial, has sprung up and borne fruit a hundred fold. Some of the revivals reported have been remarkable for their extent and power. It is proper to state, also, that in many of the churches planted and nursed by missionary effort, but now able to sustain the ministry, similar visitations of the Spirit have been enjoyed. "To some of them," says the Secretary, "there has been an accession of numbers, which would have constituted, of itself, a church larger and stronger than our second class churches. Over almost the whole of Indiana, and a large portion of Ohio, we find multitudes of young converts beginning their song of praise, and rejoicing with joy unspeakable; while older Christians, in waiting upon the Lord, have renewed their strength."

A work more silent and unobserved, yet hardly less important, has been accomplished in the more neglected portions of this missionary field. In some of the older settlements, owing to the destitution of religious privileges, error and vice of manifold sorts had gained a frightful prevalence; in others, feeble churches were long since organized, but were left without the preaching of the Gospel, and had become nearly extinct; while other centers of influence had sprung rapidly into existence and importance, along the new routes of travel and traffic. The missionaries have carried the gospel message to such of these points as they have been able to reach; and a good work has been begun. This has been accomplished, however, in most cases, by extending the labors of the missionaries more widely than is compatible with their greatest efficiency.

In order to occupy regularly all the posts where only this desultory labor has been performed, and to make aggressions into the yet unvisited moral wastes, a large additional force of missionary laborers is required. We would join our voice to the appeal of one who has long held a prominent post of observation in this field, and commend the facts it contains to the attention of those whom it most concerns.

"The State of Indiana now numbers one million people, and is advancing in population, wealth, and political importance with great rapidity; and, counting up the numbers of those who assume the functions of the gospel minister, 'great is the company of preachers.' But without stopping to disparage any, or to undervalue the services of even the most ignorant or the least qualified, let us take a survey of this old missionary ground—once traversed by the faithful pioneer missionary, Father Dickey, now gone to his last reward, and with him by kindred spirits, early in the field, and who yet labor on, many of whom the frosts of age are whitening for the harvest.

“Our churches entirely destitute are not less than 20 ; many of which, planted by the Home Missionary, and for many years fostered by your Society, are left to languish—it may be to die—for the want of some to break to them the bread of life. Besides, there are vast sections of the country filling up with a dense population, where new churches might and ought to be planted. But where are the laborers? Let some of the young men, lingering unemployed around the altars of the East, gird up the loins of their minds with the true apostolic and missionary girdle, and come into this field, and fill our vacancies, or make places for themselves, and gather in the wide-spread harvest.”

The field covered by this Agency has been divided, and the portion of it lying in the State of Ohio assigned to Rev. MARCUS HICKS, who has recently been appointed an Agent of the Society, to reside at Columbus. Rev. HENRY LITTLE acts as Agent for Indiana, and resides at Madison.

ILLINOIS.

Rev. ARATUS KENT, Galena, Agent for Northern Illinois.

Since the last Report, the Society has aided in the support of one hundred and eighteen ministers within the limits of this State. It has received contributions from its churches to the amount of $3,368 15.

The field assigned to the Agent for Northern Illinois, comprises 23 counties, containing about 250,000 inhabitants. He bears honorable testimony to the zeal and devotedness of the missionaries stationed in that portion of the State, and gratefully acknowledges the goodness of God in the success with which he has crowned their labors. Many of the churches have made considerable advances in strength and contributions towards the support of gospel ordinances; and a few have enjoyed glorious effusions of the divine Spirit. Six houses of worship have been erected, four churches have been organized, and materials have been gathered, and much preliminary work has been performed at many points where churches may be organized hereafter.

This Agent has now been laboring in this part of the missionary field for 24 years, and has witnessed and participated in nearly all the prominent events of its religious history. When he entered upon his work as a missionary of this Society, in the spring of 1829, there was not another evangelical preacher, nor an evangelical church of any denomination, on the Mississippi above St. Louis, nor in the whole region now occupied by Northern Illinois, and the States of Wisconsin and Iowa. There are now on the same territory about 350 ministers, and more than 400 churches of the denominations acting through this Society; and nearly all of them have been aided for a longer or shorter period by its funds. Though planted originally in feeble infant settlements, they now occupy the most important centers of influence in this region, and have been foremost among the agencies employed for its moral and religious culture. "Thus," says the Agent, "has your benevolent Association, under my personal observation, contributed vastly to the improvement of society in this portion of the West. It has turned back the tide of error, infidelity, and vice. It has cordially coöperated with all kindred agencies. It has promoted the rapid growth of evangelical literature. It has reached forth and gathered up the youth and brought them under the sanctifying power of Sabbath school instruction. It has been foremost in every judicious measure of moral reform. It has everywhere raised up strenuous advocates of Sabbath consecration. It has laid hold of the strong frontier mind, checked its roving habits, subdued its iron will, elevated its depraved affections, and led it in sweet subjection to the Prince of Peace."

The Agent of the Society for Central Illinois, was removed by death, a short time previous to the commencement of the year covered by this Report, and his place has not yet been supplied. Though the progress of the missionary work has been, from this cause, somewhat retarded, yet the reports of the missionaries employed on this field, indicate such a measure of the divine blessing, in multiplying the seed sown, as calls for our grateful recognition, and encourages to redoubled diligence in our work.

Southern Illinois is assuming new interest and importance as a field of missionary effort. Its physical character has been so generally misunderstood, and its moral condition and wants so long neglected, that all efforts to establish there the institutions of religion, are made in the face of peculiar obstacles. More rubbish must be removed, and more labor expended in preparing the soil to receive the good seed of the kingdom, than in most other fields. But through the joint agency of secular enterprise and missionary effort, a rapid change is going forward. Many places where no preaching but that of "another Gospel" had ever been heard, and which had become notorious as the haunts of wickedness, have been brought under religious culture, the feeble churches are gathering strength, the prevalent vices of the community have been in a measure checked, and a brighter day is dawning upon this neglected portion of the missionary field. The Society has been seconded in all its efforts by the efficient Missionary Committee of the Presbytery of Alton, which comprises the 39 Southern counties of the State. The churches of this Presbytery have also contributed during the year $570 15 towards the support of the missionaries laboring within its bounds.

The churches of this State have recovered in a great measure from the depressing effect produced by the repeated failure of the crops, and are now exposed to new difficulties and dangers from causes of an opposite character. Times of abounding worldly prosperity have returned ; vast schemes of internal improvement are undertaken ; the stagnant mind is quickened ; new avenues to wealth are opened, and the thirst for it is stimulated ; new temptations to Sabbath desecration, and other forms of vice, are created ; immigration of the worst class is invited, and all the agencies of evil are plied with desperate activity. If the standard of the Gospel is to be reared against the inrushing tide of error and wickedness ; if the mighty resources and energies of this State are to be employed for Christ, and the advancement of his kingdom and glory in the earth, the churches must not withhold their hand from the work which they are performing there through the agency of this Institution, but prosecute it with increasing vigor, and on a more extended scale.

MISSOURI.

REV. WILLIAM HOMES, Secretary. GEORGE K. BUDD, Treasurer. Office at St. Louis.

In this State thirty missionaries have been employed during the past year. Though several new appointments have been made, yet, in consequence of removals, from failure of health and other causes, the whole number of laborers in commission exceeds by only one the number reported the preceding year.

The receipts of this Auxiliary for the past year have been $1,209 56, and the whole amount of contributions to the cause of Home Missions from the State is $1,369 86.

The records of missionary labor which have been received by the Society from this field since the last report, contain abundant evidence of the fidelity and zeal of those who have been acting under its commission, and of the signal blessing of God upon their labors. Revivals of religion have, perhaps, been less frequent than during the year preceding ; yet in all parts of the State, which have enjoyed missionary labor, visible progress has been made. On the western borders of the State, society has been deluged with the tumultuous tide of emigration to the Pacific coast ; but God has enabled his servants to lift up and hold up a standard against it ; and on a few of the congregations he has shed plenteously the effusions of his Spirit. It appears from the report of the Secretary, who has made extensive tours of observation in different parts of the State, that many of the most formidable obstacles to the progress of truth are slowly giving way ; prejudices are softened ; "Slavery, that dreadful power which paralyzes industry and enterprise, is evidently waning before the intelligence, morality, and progress by which the present is distinguished ; a healthful moral influence of great value is exerted, and thus much good is accomplished."

Yet there are peculiar hindrances to the establishment and permanence of gospel institutions in this State. In addition to that just referred to, the immense immigration from the continent of Europe is introducing a frightful amount of infidelity, intemperance, profanity, and Sabbath desecration. Owing to its position, on the frontier, it is the thoroughfare and temporary resting-place of a vast and motley multitude on their way to the promised land of Mormonism, and to the land of gold, who scatter everywhere the seeds of moral pestilence in their path. For the ability to cope in any degree with these difficulties, the churches of this State are dependent mainly upon the aid which this Institution affords. On this subject the Secretary testifies as follows: "Missouri owes a debt of gratitude to the American Home Missionary Society, surpassed by that of no other State. From the first existence of the Society, twenty-seven years ago, to the present time, the aid extended has been constant, prompt, and liberal. Of the 56 churches connected with the Synod of Missouri, two in the city of St. Louis are all that have not solicited and received missionary aid. Let the beneficent hand thus extended be now withdrawn, and of the 38 ministers scattered over this State, and composing the four Presbyteries of this Synod, three-fourths would be compelled to seek other fields, or to resort to secular employment for support."

"Yet we are deeply and painfully impressed with the necessities and destitutions of this great State. It is now divided into 106 counties, 80 of which are without the ministrations of the Gospel, by men in our connexion, and many other counties have but a partial supply. We believe that Missouri has elements of greatness not surpassed by any State in the Union. Its partially developed fertility of soil, its inexhaustible stores of mineral wealth, its vast facilities for commerce and manufactures, its extensive system of railroads, not only crossing and recrossing it, but extending from ocean to ocean—works now in progress and soon to be completed—give to Missouri a position of importance not yet estimated. Though our sons and daughters, by thousands, are finding a home on the Pacific coast, yet such is the immigration to our borders from other States, and from almost every nation on the globe, that our increase is nearly ten per cent. yearly. Let our population become as dense as that of Massachusetts, and we shall have 8,500,000 inhabitants. Yet this State is capable of sustaining a denser population than the Bay State. What shall be the character of these coming millions, and who shall rule them? Shall this greatness and wealth be laid at the feet of Christ, or shall this be the empire of Mammon, infidelity, corruption, and death? Let the patriot and the Christian answer; and they must answer soon. Nothing short of a gospel ministry in the self-denying, patient toil of faith, under the constraining love of Christ, can secure the prevalence and permanence of the institutions of the Gospel, and the elevation and salvation of the millions of this great Valley of the West.

MICHIGAN.

REV. CALVIN CLARK, Marshall, Agent.

The number of laborers under commission from the Society, in Michigan, during the year, is eighty, and the amount contributed to its funds by churches and individuals in the State is $2,980.

Large accessions have been made to several of the missionary churches, as the result of revivals which were enjoyed during the previous year, and several others during the last year have enjoyed precious seasons of refreshing from the presence of the Lord. Four houses of worship have been erected by missionary churches—three of them in important centers of influence, one of which is the capital of the State. A few among the many destitute sections of the State have, within the year, been supplied with the preaching of the Gospel, and under its faithful ministrations the wilderness and the solitary place have become glad. But the demand for additional laborers is still urgent. Five counties are particularly mentioned as affording inviting fields, that should be occupied without delay. The valley of the Muskegan, on the northern frontier of the white settlements, containing nearly 2000 inhabitants, is almost entirely destitute of the preaching of the Gospel, in connection with any denomination.

The history of the missionary enterprise in this State, and the present aspect of the field, present abundant encouragements to the more vigorous prosecution of this work.

In 1830 the Territory of Michigan contained a population of 30,000 souls. There was not, at that time, a settled pastor, and but one Protestant house of worship in the Territory. The only ecclesiastical body was the Presbytery of Detroit, which contained six ministers and six churches. The first Congregational Association was organized in 1837. The ecclesiastical bodies have multiplied to 13 or 14, and the churches,—Presbyterian and Congregational,—to about 200, nearly all of which have been planted by the agency of this Institution. Many of these churches are not only self-sustaining, but efficient helpers of the cause to which they owe their existence, and of every other beneficent agency. In addition to the $2,980 contributed the past year to the cause of Home Missions, more than $3,000 have been paid into the treasury of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and corresponding sums to other benevolent Societies.

The change that has taken place in the general tone of public morals is no less striking. For several years after the State was settled, it was a common remark that the Sabbath had not yet crossed Lake Erie. There is now a growing reverence for that day in the community generally; the doctrines of the Bible, as preached by the missionaries of this Society, are held in higher esteem; the pastoral relation is more fully appreciated and more generally sought; Bible class and Sabbath school instruction receive increased attention; and all the other agencies wielded by the church and the ministry for the moral improvement of society, are gaining increasing favor and influence.

The Secretary calls attention to some facts which enhance the importance and claims of this State as a field of missionary effort. A large portion of it is yet a wilderness, the home of the deer and the otter, the great hunting ground of the remnant of the tribes that have roamed over these wilds. But owing to the increased railroad facilities, the tide of immigration which has hitherto flowed around this State, is now flowing into it, and spreading itself over its vast northern wilderness.

Congress has recently made an appropriation for the construction of a ship canal around the Sault St. Marie, which will unite, by a navigable channel, the waters of Lake Superior with those of the Atlantic, and the resources of copper, iron, timber, and fish, which will be opened to the world, will soon cover the waters of this vast inland sea with an extensive commerce, and line its shores with an industrious population. Already there are earnest and unanswered calls for ministers of the Gospel, from several settlements in this region; and this whole State has never, perhaps, presented a more urgent appeal than she is now making for the vigorous prosecution and rapid expansion of the missionary work.

WISCONSIN.

REV. DEXTER CLARY, Beloit, Agent.

The Society has had in commission in this State, during the past year, eighty three missionaries, who have supplied regularly 119 churches, and preached statedly at many other points where organized churches do not exist. Seven of these missionaries have preached to congregations of Germans, five to Welsh, and one to Norwegians.

The contributions of the churches of this State to the funds of the Society have amounted to $667 03.

The record of missionary labor on this field for another year furnishes gratifying evidence of a wise and efficient husbandry, and of the presence and favor of Him who alone giveth the increase. The Agent states that more than seventy of the churches have enjoyed seasons of special religious interest, as the result of which accessions have been made to the number of about 500 souls. Many of the churches are recovering from the pecuniary depression under which they have suffered for several years; and the friends of Zion are greatly encouraged in their endeavors to lengthen her cords and strengthen her stakes. Sixteen churches have been organized, and two that have hitherto been dependent upon missionary aid have undertaken the support of their own pastors. Unusual interest has been awakened in the work of erecting houses of worship, and during the year eight have been completed, and ten others are now in process of erection. Nearly one hundred, however, of the churches of this State, are still destitute of edifices dedicated to the worship of God.

The circumstances under which the missionaries on this field are called to prosecute their labors, are such as require them to make full proof of their ministry. A larger proportion of the population than in most other western States, is composed of foreigners. Of these, the Germans are most numerous and influential. Refugees from civil and religious despotism, they associate all forms of church organization with the instruments of oppression in the old world, from which they have fled, and which they hold in intense abhorrence. The refined Pantheism which they have learned in Germany, here degenerates into downright Atheism, which manifests itself in avowed hostility to the Church, the Sabbath, the Bible, the cause of Temperance, and the institution of marriage. Not less than five newspapers, published in the German language, are of decidedly infidel character. The missionaries of this Society have been foremost in all efforts to check the diffusion of this malignant poison, and are recognized as among the most efficient conservators of the cause of learning, morals, and vital Christianity.

The Agent of the Society for this State, urges its claims for a large addition of missionary laborers. "Between 20 and 30 churches are now destitute. In several other fields, each of which is inadequately supplied by one missionary, the services of two are urgently demanded. Villages are springing up where railroads have been, or are soon to be constructed, and should be early occupied. Settlements are being made on the Mississippi, Bad Axe, La Crosse, Black and Chippewa rivers, extending from the mouth of the Wisconsin to the St. Croix River, a distance of 250 miles. This region comprises five counties, and contains but one missionary. It affords an ample field for several more. On the Wisconsin River and its tributaries, is a district extending northward from Portage 150 miles, and including Adams, Portage, and Marathon counties, with 4,000 or 5,000 inhabitants, in which there is but one missionary. In the whole region lying between the Wisconsin and Wolf Rivers, called the 'Indian Lands,' there are two missionaries to a population of 4,000 or 5,000 souls. Other portions of the State are equally destitute."

On the same Agency which has planted the churches and supplied the ministry of the older settlements of this State, rests the responsibility of following these pioneers into the remoter wilderness, and gladdening their hearts and homes with the messages of the Prince of Peace.

IOWA.

REV. JULIUS A. REED, Davenport, Agent.

Fifty five missionaries have been under appointment in this State since the last Report, which exceeds, by five, the number sustained the preceding year. The contributions to the treasury of the Society, during this period, have been $546 70.

The whole number of N. S. Presbyterian and Congregational ministers in the State, who are acting as pastors or stated supplies of churches, is 65, and the number of churches in the same connection is 81. Of these, seven are self-sustaining, and thirty one are provided with houses of worship. One church has assumed the entire support of its pastor within the year, and thirteen church edifices have either been completed, or are now in process of erection.

In consequence of the efforts made for the last-mentioned object, and of the heavy losses which many of the churches have sustained from emigration to California and Oregon, the amount of pledges for the support of the ministry has not increased as much as was hoped; yet a considerable advance in this respect, has been made.

As the State has now partially recovered from the effect of the repeated failure of the crops, and of the devastating floods by which it has been impoverished; and as its resources are being rapidly developed, and its wealth increased by internal improvements, the churches, it is believed, will be enabled to contribute more largely hereafter for the support of gospel institutions.

Several of the missionary churches have enjoyed, during the year, seasons of spiritual refreshing, by which large accessions have been made to their numbers and strength, and thus their stability and influence for good have been greatly increased. Others, not thus favored, are gradually overcoming the peculiar difficulties incident to their frontier position, and are advancing in all the elements of stability and influence.

There is yet an extensive missionary field in this State, to which the efforts of this Society, and of the denominations acting through it, have never been extended. More than 20 counties, containing a sufficient population to require missionary culture, are yet unsupplied with the stated preaching of the Gospel by ministers of these denominations. Four of these counties have a population ranging from 3,500 to 7,000; ten others have an average of 1,000 each, and the remainder not less than 500. The Agent, who is familiarly acquainted with the religious condition of the State, declares, that twenty six ministers are needed at once to supply organized churches, and other fields that, by neglect, are constantly becoming more difficult of cultivation; and that 40 additional missionaries could now be fully and economically employed.

In regard to the prospective growth and claims of the State, he adds as follows: "The wave of emigration from New England, New York, and Northern Ohio, has hitherto spent itself in Wisconsin and Northern Illinois, because the communications by steam all terminated on the Lake shore. But two railroads have already approached within 80 miles of the Mississippi, and in another year will reach it. Iowa will then be within 60 hours of New England. It is confidently expected that within two years, railroads from the lakes will communicate with the Mississippi, opposite to this State, at four, if not six, different points, and that in three years there will be a continuous railroad communication from the heart of Iowa to the Atlantic ocean. These improvements will increase our population at a rapid rate. But from what source is this multitude to be supplied with the preached word? Unless the rate of ministerial supply be far greater than it has been hitherto, the consequences must be fearful."

MINNESOTA.

This region, though long associated with missionary toil and enterprise, is now entering upon a new era as a field of evangelical effort. It was discovered and explored nearly 200 years ago by missionaries of the Romish Church, who sought to convert the powerful tribes of savages who dwelt near the head waters of the Mississippi, to their faith. The first Protestant mission within the present limits of Minnesota, was established by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions among the Ojibwa Indians, twenty years ago, at Sandy Lake, 250 miles by land north of the falls of St. Anthony. Soon afterwards, another mission was established among the Dakotas, on the west bank of the Mississippi, a few miles below the Falls. By the purchase of the lands belonging to these tribes, and their consequent removal, all the missionary stations of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions in this portion of the Territory, have been abandoned. In 1849 a Territorial Government was organized; and in the same year two missionaries commenced their labors there, under commissions from this Society;—one of them at St. Paul, and the other at Stillwater. Two additional laborers were sent to the Territory in the following year; one of whom was stationed at the Falls of St. Anthony, and the other at the junction of the St. Croix and Mississippi rivers. In all the places occupied by these missionaries, churches have been organized, which are exerting a wide and growing influence in forming the moral and intellectual character of these infant communities.

The discovery of gold in California, and the temporary diversion of the tide of emigration from its wonted channels, operated as a temporary check upon the growth of this Territory; but during the last year it has received a large accession to its population from the Eastern States. Two additional missionaries have also been commissioned for this field, one of whom occupies the same post, and ministers to the same churches, in connection with which he has long labored as a missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. The Indian members of these churches, however, have removed with their tribe to their new homes in the neighborhood of Lac-qui-parle. The other missionary supplies the destitute settlements on the Mississippi, from the Falls of St. Anthony, northward, to Sauk Rapids, a distance of ninety miles.

Within the past year, a treaty has been ratified by the Senate of the United States, which has opened to settlement by whites, the valley of the Minnesota for several hundred miles; and numerous claims have already been made as far westward as the mouth of the Blue Earth River. The climate, productions, and physical features of this Territory, give it some peculiar attractions to emigrants, especially those coming from portions of the East which lie upon the same parallels of latitude. Its comparative exemption from some of the diseases which prevail in other portions of the West; its numerous lakes and streams of pure water; its extensive forests of maple and pine; its immense water power; its beautiful and fertile prairies, are drawing thither a class of hardy and industrious emigrants from the East, who desire to transplant, in this remote wilderness, the social and religious institutions under which they have been reared. The seed time is now; and there is, perhaps, no part of our country which, under a prompt and efficient culture, will yield an earlier and richer harvest.

CALIFORNIA.

The missionary work in California has shared, to some extent, in the strange vicissitudes which society there has experienced. Soon after the accession of this territory, in 1848, and before the discovery of its mines of gold was announced at the East, two missionaries were commissioned for this field, and sailed in the autumn of that year. They found that nearly the entire population had forsaken their homes for the ravines of the mountains; and for a considerable time the state of society was such as to render questionable the expediency of further missionary outlays. But in 1850, a State government having been organized, and society having assumed a more permanent form, three additional laborers were appointed. The Committee then resolved to await, for a time, the result of these experiments, and of the strange events which were occurring on that coast.

Within the last year, the claims of California as a field of missionary effort, seemed to assume new urgency. It had been admitted into our National Confederacy as a sovereign State; gold-getting, from a wild and headlong passion, had become a regular occupation; thriving towns and villages were springing up, and the farming districts were becoming occupied with the families of permanent settlers, needing and demanding the privileges of the Gospel. Tens of thousands of foreigners, too, were flocking thither from South America, Europe, China, and the islands of the Pacific. The labors of the missionaries already in the field, had been signally successful. In San Francisco, San José, Marysville and Nevada, flourishing churches had been gathered, commodious houses of worship erected, and the entire support of the missionaries assumed by the people to whom they ministered. Urgent appeals were made by these brethren, in behalf of important towns, some of them entirely destitute of evangelical preaching, though containing several thousands of inhabitants, where ministers of suitable qualifications would find an ample field, and, after a short period, a competent support.

In these circumstances, the Committee considered it important to send a large reinforcement to this field. Accordingly, six missionaries were commissioned, and sailed with their families from New York, in the ship Trade Wind, November 13th, 1852. Their lives were exposed to extreme danger, from a fire in the ship, which occurred off the coast of Brazil; but the passage was otherwise prosperous, and they arrived at San Francisco in good health, on the 24th of February. The individuals comprising this company, and the stations to which they have been respectively designated, are as follow:—Rev. Edward B. Walsworth supplies the church at Marysville, made vacant by the failure of the health of Rev. Mr. Brayton; Rev. Samuel B. Bell is stationed at Oakland, on the eastern shore of the Bay of San Francisco; Rev. William C. Pond occupies a destitute field in the northern suburbs of San Francisco; Rev. Silas S. Harmon is stationed at Sonora, in the Southern Mines; Rev. John G. Hale at Grass Valley; and Rev. James Pierpont at Placerville.

Most of the places above named are new but important fields, where the ground is to be cleared and the foundations of the spiritual temple laid by the missionaries; but they have been cordially received, and it is believed that they will be sustained, after a brief period, by those to whom they minister. The experience of those previously sent out justifies this expectation. The churches which they have planted have not only relieved the Society of all pecuniary responsibility for their support, but have already begun to return its benefactions. And these are but the first fruits of an abundant harvest. The work to be done in this field by missionary agency is one of peculiar difficulty, and involves much pecuniary expense. But if its claims are promptly and liberally met, if the fountains of influence which have been opened among these mountains are made pure, if the church, like the prophet at the streams of Jericho, shall go forth to the spring of the waters and cast the salt in there, the streams that will issue thence shall clothe those distant shores with moral verdure and beauty, and bear the ark of salvation to the perishing of other lands.

OREGON.

The circumstances which have hitherto operated unfavorably to the missions of this Territory, and prevented an earlier reinforcement of them, were adverted to in the last Annual Report. The liberal grant of land by the Government to actual settlers, still operates to separate the inhabitants so far from each other that they are not easily associated in religious efforts. This difficulty, however, has been partially obviated by increased facilities of intercourse, and by the large immigration which has taken place during the past year, by which the size and importance of some of the business centers have been increased. In view of these changes the Executive Committee have deemed it important to send additional laborers to this field. Accordingly commissions have been granted to Rev. Obed Dickinson, and Rev. Thomas Condon, who sailed from New York in the Trade Wind, on the 13th of November last, and arrived in Oregon on the 3d of March. The former is stationed at Salem, the present capital of the Territory, and the latter at St. Helens, on the left bank of the Columbia, a few miles below the mouth of the Willamette.

Rev. Mr. Lyman has continued his labors at Portland, which is situated at the head of navigation on the Willamette River, and is at present the most important place in the Territory. A church of twenty members has been organized, and a commodious church edifice erected at an expense of $6,400. This church is recovering in some measure from the effect of the dispersion which followed the enactment of the "Land Law," and its influence is already widely felt in behalf of the cause of temperance, education, and every effort to promote the well-being of society.

Rev. Mr. Atkinson, who is stationed at Oregon City, twelve miles above Portland, has spent a portion of his time the past year in an effort, at the East, to procure the endowment of two literary institutions, which are regarded as vital to the interests of the cause of education in the Territory. Not the least important among the manifold labors of the missionaries have been their efforts to establish these and other institutions of learning, which, with the blessing of God, shall shed the light of science and religion over these shores for centuries to come.

The present population of Oregon is estimated to be 25,000. They are widely scattered, so that but a small number in most cases can be reached by each missionary. They are to be found along the shores of the Straits of De Fuca and Puget's Sound. They have penetrated the forests around the cascades of the Columbia. They have spread themselves over the fertile valleys of the Cowlitz and the Willamette. Settlements have been commenced on the banks of the Umpqua, and even to the boundary of California. In eight counties south of the Columbia River, comprising two thirds of the Territory, there were, a few months ago, but two Congregational and Presbyterian ministers. In three of these counties, which include the populous mining districts, no minister of any denomination was laboring. The whole region north of the Columbia, which has recently been constituted the Territory of Washington, was in a like state of destitution.

It is stated that not less than ten thousand immigrants entered Oregon in 1852, and it is confidently expected that the immigration will increase for many years to come. This expectation seems to be justified, not only by the natural features of the country and the strong inducements held out by the government, but by the peculiar relations which this region sustains to California. Upon its fertile prairies, its extensive fisheries, its gigantic forests, its beds of iron and coal, California must depend for some of its most important staples. Consequently labor and capital will find ample employment and a rich reward. To supply the religious necessities of the tens of thousands who are gathering there,—to plant over all these hills and prairies the tree of life, under which successive generations shall sit, and from whose fruit they shall be fed, is an end worthy of the continued and increasing effort of this Institution, and calls for the prayers and coöperation of all who love the cause of Christ.

CONCLUSION.

The completion of another annual survey of the work of this Society, impresses the Committee afresh with a sense of the solemn vastness of the charge committed to them. The fields they attempt to cultivate are so many and so wide; the people for whom they labor are so numerous and diverse; the obstacles to success so formidable; and the time allowed them for this great work by the speed of events, is so brief, that they stand almost bewildered by the awfulness of their trust. How little could our fathers, the venerable founders of this Institution, have conceived of what Home Missions were to become! However widely extended the indirect influence which they hoped their beloved Society might ultimately exert, their anticipations of its direct action never swept over so vast an area as it now pervades. The very name which they gave their association, when they baptized its infancy in tears of believing hope, shows that they expected its sphere would be almost exclusively domestic. They did not imagine the "Home" for which they sought to provide, would comprise so much that was then foreign in its origin and character. In their visions of their country's increase, they saw chiefly their own sons and daughters moving forth to extend the boundary of their homestead by slow accretions on its western edge. They dreamed not that the addition to our numbers from abroad, instead of resembling the percolation of individual drops, would so soon become the rushing tide of a river. They could not have believed, had one declared it to them, that four thousand miles distant, and yet upon our own shores, at a point quite unknown to commerce and to fame, we should now have a seaport, the third if not the second in importance on this Continent, and perhaps the fifth in all the world; and raised to this distinction in six short years. The originators of this enterprise were moved by a noble and expansive philanthropy; but large as were their aims, the purposes of God were larger still. They meant this Society for America; He meant it for the world—to develope here a spirit of evangelization and a system of measures, which should perform a Foreign Missionary work at Home and upon our own soil. The slow process of sending abroad the agents and apparatus of evangelization was too tardy to meet the exigencies of European society; something immediate in its action was needful. Nor would the old world, in its present state of political convulsion, be a field suited to the dissemination and growth of a spiritual piety.

The plan of Providence, therefore, was to transport myriads of foreigners to a land of mental, religious, and political freedom, where his grace had been making ready for their reception institutions, through which they might enjoy the saving influence of a pure Gospel. How else could the nations of Continental Europe hope for this blessing for many long years to come? Over all the lands from the Baltic to the Mediterranean, and from the Atlantic to the Black Sea, there spreads one wide malaria of Romanism, or of what is scarcely less devoid of spiritual life, Romanized Protestantism. Everywhere, the eye beholds the organized impostures of the Great Mystery of Iniquity, adorned by art, sanctified by solemn rites, enshrined in imposing cathedrals, venerable for age, and supplying to the soul a religion of sentiment and of the senses, instead of that which changes and sanctifies the heart. Into this the people are born; surrounded by it they live and die. It is mixed with all the scenes of life; it attends them in the haunts of business, to the house of feasting as well as to the house of mourning. It allows the subject thousands to trust in nothing else, to know nothing else. To doubt is a crime; and how then shall they discuss or reform the evils of the system under which they are in bondage? Of education, this system claims the supreme direction; it prescribes the limits within which inquiry shall be repressed; it seals up the fountain of knowledge, or drugs its waters with narcotic elements. A power behind the throne, and greater than the throne, it instills the spirit of despotism into the State; and then guides the application of that despotism to crush the spirit of liberty and to roll back midnight upon the awakening nations. The spirit of the Reformation has well nigh fled; and even the churches planted by the Reformers, grown weary of the unceasing struggle against the prevailing taste and genius of the people, seek repose by concessions to the surrounding formalism, lose their spirituality, surrender their Sabbaths, and lapse into a condition but little better than Popery itself.

Where, in such circumstances, can a movement for evangelical piety begin? Or how, against the leagued forces of Tyranny and Jesuitism, can it make headway? Without doubt, the day will come, when enough of vital truth shall insinuate itself into the hoary structure of European society, to explode the fabric and leave room for building again on better principles. But that day is distant; generations may first pass away. Long and desperate will be the struggle before Oligarchy and Priestcraft shall yield to freedom and truth; and terrible must be the social convulsions that attend the overthrow. Behold! then, the wisdom of God in the events that move the people of the old world, in uncounted thousands, to seek a refuge in this land, under a system of moral agencies that could never reach them in their original homes. Thus, in the wonderful arrangements of Heaven, our Home Missions become missions to the dwellers on the banks of the Danube and the Rhone; we set up our schools, our presses, and build our churches for Savoyards and Austrians; and distribute God's holy word, and preach without fear of chains and prisons, to the subjects of the King of the Sicilies, and even of the Grand Duke of Tuscany.

In these successive steps of expansion, by which God is magnifying the mission of his Gospel in America, we see unmistakable tokens of his design to use this Society, and such as this, for greater ends than it has ever yet attained. Its supporters do not merely hope for this; they expect it with rejoicing confidence, which increases with every new development of this wondrous age. And in view of the probable connection of their own imperfect agency with the mighty working of divine power, in rendering our land Immanuel's, they recognize the call of Heaven to greater singleness of motive, warmer zeal, and more perfect consecration of themselves to this holy enterprise. It is a great, a solemn work, thus to put forth the hand in the moral infancy of so great a people, to mold its character and destiny; and woe be to those entrusted with this responsibility, if the work be marred by their rashness or left undone through their neglect! Let it, then, be our fervent prayer, that while this Society is enlarged and strengthened, its agents multiplied and its means increased, Infinite Wisdom will guide its counsels, and lead it on through a long career of hallowed enterprise and usefulness, until the day when the "MOUNTAIN OF THE LORD'S HOUSE SHALL BE ESTABLISHED IN THE TOP OF THE MOUNTAINS AND EXALTED ABOVE THE HILLS, AND ALL NATIONS SHALL FLOW UNTO IT; AND MANY PEOPLE SHALL GO AND SAY, COME YE, AND LET US GO UP TO THE MOUNTAIN OF THE LORD, TO THE HOUSE OF THE GOD OF JACOB!"

† The Principal Auxiliaries are those of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and Philadelphia. For a summary of their expenditures, see the notices of these Societies, as referred to in the Table of Contents; for the amount appropriated in support of each missionary, see the tabular statement commencing on page 13; for further particulars, reference will be had to the published reports of these Societies.

‡ For the character of these Agencies, see page 100.

Relation of Auxiliary Societies, Agencies and Committees of Missions to the American Home Missionary Society; Applications, &c.

State and other large Auxiliaries.

Most of the State Missionary Societies were in existence before the formation of the National Society, and some of them—as the Missionary Societies of Connecticut and Massachusetts—were among the earliest organized efforts in our country for sending the Gospel to the destitute. They have voluntarily connected themselves as auxiliaries with the American Home Missionary Society, from a conviction that greater unity of plan and efficiency in action would thereby be promoted.

The terms by which such Auxiliaries—acting on the principles of the Parent Society, undertaking the supply of the destitute within their own bounds, and paying over their surplus funds to the Parent Institution—are connected with the Parent Society, are such as to secure the following objects, viz.:

First—The auxiliary is not superseded or overshadowed by the National Institution, but, on the contrary, is invigorated and sustained by connection with it.

This is secured by the provision that the Auxiliary is the sole agency for this cause that operates on its field. It controls all appointments in the State to which it belongs. From it alone, so far as its means will allow, the feeble churches receive assistance. Thus a direct relation and strong attachment is cherished towards it, in the hearts of the ministers and churches.

Again—While the local operations of the Auxiliary are thus encouraged and sustained, its connection with the Parent Society is such as to awaken an interest in the destitute beyond its own limits, and afford facilities for reaching them. It is not only a Society for local purposes, but it is also a branch of the National Society, and, as such, has the control of all agencies for the collection of funds within its own field, and can direct the manner in which its surplus resources shall be expended beyond its own limits. Thus, the State and other large Auxiliaries are not merely organizations to help the Parent Society; they are integral parts of it, bound together in one whole by a common interest in and free access, through the Parent Society, to the great field to be occupied, and governed by the same general principles and rules in carrying on the work.

Agents and Agencies.

Besides preaching to the destitute and taking up contributions for Home Missions, the Agents of the American Home Missionary Society exercise a general superintendence of the operations of the Society within their respective fields. By correspondence and personal visitation, they ascertain the wants of the destitute; assist them to obtain the preaching of the Gospel; and instruct and encourage them to develop their own means for its support. They receive applications for aid, and make such preliminary examination as may be necessary before submitting them for the action of the Executive Committee; and in other ways labor to insure a judicious and economical application of the Society's funds. At present, the Society has in its employ no merely collecting Agents, nor any whose services are not required for other purposes in the regions where they labor. The Secretaries of several of the larger Auxiliaries, are also the Agents for this cause in their respective bounds.

In certain districts, where the duties of an Agent are likely to be peculiarly responsible, there is associated with him a board of counselors selected from the region of his labors, called an Agency. These Boards of Agency differ from Auxiliary Societies, in that they have no independent existence, but are appointed by the Executive Committee from year to year, and are governed by rules which the Committee prescribe. Their office is to counsel and direct the Agent in carrying out the principles of the Society, and to give advice in relation to such local matters as may be submitted to them by the Executive Committee. The persons composing a Board of Agency, are selected for their intelligence and interest in this cause, and their influence in promoting it; and are so distributed over the field as to secure a personal acquaintance with its condition. The Agent of the Society is also the Secretary of the Agency with which he is associated.

These boards of counsel might not have been necessary, had the ecclesiastical bodies on the ground been able and disposed to pay sufficient attention to the missionary work, and to act as its directors in their respective bounds. But the ministers composing them are usually scattered over a wide extent of territory, and meet but seldom, and only at seasons when they are much occupied with other business; and accordingly it has been necessary in some cases to organize agencies for this specific work. But in other cases, Synods, Presbyteries, and Associations, have chosen to act as Auxiliaries to the Society, examining into the condition of the destitute within their bounds, and recommending the appropriate action for their relief. Ecclesiastical bodies thus related to the American Home Missionary Society, act through

Committees of Missions.

The American Home Missionary Society has ever regarded the ecclesiastical bodies as the appropriate judges of the standing of their own ministers, and of the wants of the churches in their connection. Accordingly, the commission issued to every missionary requires that his credentials be acceptable to that ministerial body of his denomination, within whose bounds he is appointed to labor. And the various Presbyteries, Associations, &c., are invited to appoint, each, a Committee of Missions from its own members, to receive applications from its churches, and suggest to the Society the action proper in each case. Such a Committee constitutes the official source to which reference can be had for information and advice, in all matters pertaining to missions in the connection to which it belongs. This mode of coöperation has been preferred by numerous ecclesiastical bodies, from the first formation of the Society. It guaranties to the churches of each denomination represented in the Society, that their respective claims shall be fairly considered, with all the advantage of having the endorsement of the body to which they belong. The advice of such a Committee, acting in the name and by the direction of the ecclesiastical body to which they belong, is regarded as the highest authority in matters pertaining to the standing of ministers and churches in their connection, and has the same influence with the Society, as that of a Board of Agency appointed by itself.

There is one limitation to this influence, however, which ought to be stated. Should any ecclesiastical body so far swerve from the principles of truth and gospel order, as not to retain the fellowship and confidence of the great body of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches in our land, that fact would cause its recommendations not to be respected, as a basis of action, by the Executive Committee.

As cases may occur in which the feeble churches may not be aware of the existence of any Board of Agency, or Committee of Missions, through whom to apply for aid, a general provision is made, that applications may be vouched by any two ministers of known and approved standing, who can certify to the facts of the case. If the information thus given is not sufficient, other facts are sought by the Executive Committee, with as little delay as practicable, from the most authentic sources from which they can be obtained.

Such, briefly, are the relations of the American Home Missionary Society to the various organs, through which the community seeks to act out its missionary feeling. It will be seen that this plan secures the united action, in the missionary work, of those whose views of doctrine and church order admit of coöperation, and whose interests in the great field are essentially the same. This combination insures a homogenous policy as to the manner and amount of appropriations, and the qualifications of missionaries; it has discouraged sectional feelings, and diffused throughout each part an interest in all the rest; and thus has formed ties between the West and East, along which has passed, from the latter to the former, a silent and invisible current of moral influences, more valuable, if possible, than all pecuniary grants. At the same time, the connection of the Parent Society with the various Associations that act with it, is such as to secure to them entire freedom in the missionary work, in their respective spheres, and an influence beyond them, in cultivating the waste places of our common country.

Applications for Aid.

Feeble congregations, applying for aid in supporting the Gospel, are requested to embody in their application the following particulars, viz.:

The name of the church or congregation; the number of communicants, and the average number of attendants on public worship; the denomination and size of congregations immediately contiguous, with the distance to their places of worship; the total amount of salary which the applicants propose to make up; the portion of that salary which they pledge for the given time, and the arrangements that are made for securing it; whether aid is expected from any other source; and the least amount that will suffice from this Society; whether the minister for whom a commission is desired, is the pastor of the church, or if not, whether any arrangements are made or contemplated in the course of the year, with reference to his installment. These statements should be signed by the trustees and elders or deacons, or by a committee of the congregation, and confirmed by the certificates of two or more clergymen, acquainted with the facts. Also,

The name and post-office address of the minister whose services they desire to secure; whether he is a resident of the place in which he preaches, and is engaged in any other calling than that of the ministry; his credentials; and the certificate of two or more ministers of known standing, as to his general character for piety, zeal, and acceptableness, as a minister of the Gospel.

Where the ecclesiastical body with which a church is connected has a "Committee of Missions" to act in their behalf, this Committee are the proper persons to certify the statements of the church, the standing of the minister, and his prospects of usefulness in the place where his services are desired; and the application should be sent to them for their endorsement and recommendation.

Applications, after being properly endorsed and recommended, should be addressed to the care of the Agent (or Secretary of the Agency, or Auxiliary,) for the region where the applicants reside.

As a general rule, the appropriations of the American Home Missionary Society are for twelve months from the date of the application; at the end of which, if further aid be needed, a new application must be made, containing all the particulars above stated, and endorsed and recommended in like manner. And each congregation applying for renewed aid, should furnish, in addition to other testimonials, the certificate of the missionary, that they have fulfilled their previous pledges for his support.

The address of the Society's Agents and the Secretaries of its Auxiliaries will be found on the cover of its Reports and of the Home Missionary. Where no such medium of communication with the Society exists, applications may be sent directly to the Society's Office in New York.

ADDRESSES

At the Twenty Seventh Anniversary.

Address of Rev. E. L. Cleaveland, D. D., of New Haven, Ct.,

ON MOVING THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION:

RESOLVED, That the present aspects of the Home Missionary field, while they afford great encouragement to labor, also demand a more energetic prosecution of our work.

MR. PRESIDENT :—The argument for Home Missions has lost nothing by familiarity. Repetition has not worn it out ; it has only worn it bright, the more effectually to flash conviction on the mind. It has been gathering, if not new elements, at least new volume and power. The subject expands under our gaze ; it grows upon our thought ; each succeeding year lifts it to a loftier position, and invests it with grander and more commanding claims. Like some vast mountain, rising from the bed of the sea, it is heaving itself up into the view of the nations—every day its horizon enlarges—every hour it attracts a wider and deeper interest. We need not to be plied with a continual succession of novelties, to produce conviction and excite interest in reference to this great cause ; the argument lies in facts already known. It is enough to stand on the margin of that vast territory we are to cultivate, and let the soul fill with the conception of its grandeur—its untraveled immensity—its interminable forests, whose sleeping echoes are yet to be awaked by the woodman's axe ; its lakes, into which, I had almost said, Great Britain might be planted, and be an island still ; its rivers, for which all Europe could not furnish an area without as many turns and doublings in their course, as the Israelites described in the wilderness ; its population of more than eleven millions, destined at no very distant period to become more than two hundred millions ; its destitutions and desolations ; its thousands growing up without the means of common education ; its tens of thousands who are forming characters without the influence of sanctuary, Sabbath, or Bible ; and its hundreds of thousands whose minds superstition hath blinded, "lest the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them." O, sir, if we have the spirit of Him, who, "when he saw the multitudes, was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted and were scattered abroad as sheep having no shepherd," we should need no other argument than to look at this vast field as it spreads out before us. Any multitude of immortal beings is an impressive spectacle ; but a multitude wandering from the fold of God, seeking rest and finding none, yet straying still farther from the source of life, is a sight to touch the tenderest chords of christian commiseration.

But, Sir, these multitudes are our countrymen ; and we are bound by the first principles of Christianity to provide for our own. They are one with us in government ; most of them in language ; all of them in interest. Their glory is our glory, their shame is our shame ; and their fall will be our fall. Our destinies are inseparable. And if the world has any hopes built upon the continued existence and prosperity of this republic; if the course of civil and religious liberty is to advance over the earth with the success of our great experiment; if, in its march to universal dominion, Christianity is to receive its mightiest impulse in this land of free institutions; if our triumph is to be a triumph for all nations and for all ages, then does it become us to look well into that field of Home Missions which God has committed to our care. There the momentous question is to be decided. The elements are gathering, the forces are mustering along those water-courses and over those broad prairies, which are to determine the future legislation, the general course, and final destiny of the whole country. We all know this. We have long foreseen that the controlling influences which are to mold, not only American government, but American literature, manners, morals and religion, are in due time to be found west of the Alleghanies. But have we considered how rapidly we are approaching that important period? Do we realize how near we stand to that critical moment of our history? In population we are now but about three millions ahead of our young competitor. Between 1840 and 1850, the increase of the Atlantic States was in the ratio of nineteen per cent., while that of the Western States was in the ratio of fifty seven per cent. In Congress, the Eastern States have but thirty five more representatives than the Western. And if we reckon with the West, as we ought of right to do, those parts of Pennsylvania and Virginia which pour their rivers into the Western Valley and are identified with its interests, then we have a majority of only nine representatives in Congress. And if we add the four delegates from the four territories, who, though without a vote, constitute a part of the Western representation, then the Eastern majority is reduced to five. Ah, how soon, how very soon, will this small majority disappear forever before the swelling tide of Western increase! We have long been talking of this event; we have fully expected it; yet who is not taken by surprise? While we have been looking at some distant point in the future, it is already upon us. The long predicted moment is come; the balance of power is beginning to poise on the mountains; millions of eyes are watching as it wavers and trembles towards the momentous decision, as if conscious that some great hour in the world's history is about to strike: a few more nights and mornings, a few more rains, a few more suns, nursing that gigantic growth, and the scale will turn and the scepter depart from our hands forever.

But, Mr. President, are we prepared for this great event? Is the West ready to take the helm and steer the ship of state safely on her course? I fear not. I fear her hand is too unsteady, her heart too little disciplined, and her eye too little practised in such navigation, to assume the responsibility. Much, I know, has been done for the West, but much more remains to be done before we can surrender ourselves to this new influence without serious misgivings. In view of the precious fruits which have crowned our labors hitherto, we have reason to thank God and take courage for the more vigorous prosecution of our work. And yet it is not to be denied that some of the difficulties with which we have to contend, are assuming new and more formidable aspects. The principal sources of danger are skepticism and superstition; and both of these at the present moment are undergoing fearful augmentation. Infidelity is receiving powerful reinforcements from Germany. A class of men are now coming over from that land in great numbers, generally as intelligent as our own people; many of them accomplished scholars from the German universities; as a body, competent for agriculture or any handicraft; enterprising, industrious, and often wealthy; taking a deep interest and exerting a weighty influence in our popular elections; yet with religious and political principles of the most radical and desperate character. Infidelity has never had such auxiliaries in this country before; it never wielded so powerful an influence. It is an influence which arms itself with the forces of cultivated minds, with the powers of science, and the fascinations of literature and art. It is an influence we have to meet, and to counteract which we need the whole armor of God.

But while this new danger threatens us from one quarter, Popery, from another quarter, is moving against us with unwonted activity. At no time, within the memory of the present generation, has the church of Rome exhibited so much energy and boldness in behalf of her peculiar objects. She has re-asserted before the world the right to persecute unto the death for opinion's sake; and now she is exercising that pretended right, by stretching forth her hands to vex the Saints; her prisons are filling with victims, and her instruments of vengeance are doing their dreadful work. For the first time since the French revolution, the policy of the great Continental States of Europe has come into coincidence with the ambitious designs of Rome. Revolutionary France, in her relapse to absolutism, has made her peace with the despotic powers to which she has so long been a terror, and become once more, as of old, the right arm of the Papacy. And full proof is she making of her title to this distinction. She has strangled the infant Republic of Rome in its cradle, and by her bayonets are the spiritual usurpations of Popery enforced upon that unfortunate people. She has recently driven the Protestant Missionaries of England from the Society Islands, and seized with violent hand on the precious fruits of those long years of patient, prayerful, self-denying toil. And now, in less than a twelvemonth since that outrage was perpetrated, even while I speak, her ships of war are ploughing their way to the Sandwich Islands, bearing in their "thunder-freighted keels" the same dread argument, to enforce the same infamous demands which have humbled the Tahitian group. Yes, Sir, the Sandwich Islands, raised in less than thirty five years, by God's blessing on our own missions, from the lowest savagism to the dignity of a civilized, enlightened and christian nation; the most illustrious and triumphant example of successful missionary labor in modern times; for which so much treasure and toil have been expended, so many prayers have been offered, so many tears shed, and so many lives given; the Sandwich Islands, so dear to the heart of every American Christian, and of Christians the world over, are to be bullied, under the muzzles of French cannon, into suicidal concessions, and if no intervention, armed or unarmed, appears for their deliverance, are to be seized in the name of Napoleon the Third, and of Pius the Ninth! Oh, can this ever be? Will our government suffer it? Will the God of missions permit it? Who knows but our new President has "come to the kingdom for such a time as this?" May God strengthen his heart and nerve his arm to protect that feeble nation with the shield of this mighty Republic!

Compare, now, these movements of the Papal powers abroad, with the proceedings of Romanists in our own country, and we shall perceive a correspondence, clearly indicating an identity of origin and purpose. This concerted, simultaneous, and truly formidable effort to overthrow the existing system of common schools, and to erect themselves into a state establishment, supported by public taxes, ostensibly for secular, but really for religious education, is conceived in the same spirit and with the same design as the more high handed transactions of the old world. It is the first combined attack they have ventured to make on our republican institutions. And though they have been signally repulsed, yet who, that knows the tenacity, and patience, and self-denial with which they pursue any great object, believes the danger is over? They will watch their opportunity; they will bide their time; and when circumstances seem to favor, they will return to the charge. They will avail themselves of our political divisions; and the party that would have their votes, may soon find that they can be had at no less a price than the surrender of our free schools. And who can say, looking at the past, who dare say, that no party in this country will consent to pay that price? Here is the source of their strength, and of our danger.

Mr. President, with these startling facts pressing upon our notice, it is evident that Rome is gathering up her mighty energies and preparing herself for some great move in that stupendous game she is playing for empire. What that move is to be, is among the things yet future. I do not say that the final struggle, the last decisive battle foretold in prophecy, is at hand. I will not call it "the time of the end;" and yet it may be the "beginning of the end." It is obvious that we are coming into closer quarters with the enemy; we are encountering a more incessant activity, a more effective discipline and concentration of forces; the contest thickens; and we are to expect harder work than we have had in time past.

If this be so, I submit whether we do not need a reinforcement of men, of means, and of the spirit of Christ; whether we ought not to throw into this cause a holier enthusiasm, and prosecute it with greater singleness of purpose. I have spoken of increasing difficulties and dangers, not to discourage, but to stimulate. There is nothing in all this to appall the heart that leans upon Omnipotence. Christian faith mans itself in view of difficulties; it gathers courage in the face of dangers. But the dangers must be seen, the difficulties must be felt, or nothing will be done to meet the emergency. To encourage men forward by the promise of a peaceful work, when they are certain to meet the iron hail of a deadly opposition, is to put the whole cause in jeopardy. Let us look calmly at the worst aspects of the case; and we shall learn, in the first place, our weakness—the indispensable step towards victory; and we shall learn, in the next place, where our strength lies. Caleb and Joshua saw the giants, as well as the ten spies who brought an evil report. But they also saw what the ten did not see, the God of the giants! And that is what made the difference between them and their brethren. That was why the one trembled and fled, while the other stood calm and firm; saying, “Fear them not, we be well able to go up against this people, for the Lord is with us.” And, Sir, what is this uncircumcised Philistine that he should defy the armies of the living God? What is there in the terror of his voice, in the height of his stature, in the swell of his muscles, or in the force of his weapons, to intimidate men who are in league with Omnipotence? The word of faith, in the mouth of some youthful David, may easily bring his pride and power to the ground. Oh, Sir, we have no want of resources; they are ample, if we will only use them. And can we fail to draw upon those resources in such a day as this? With the dread note of warlike preparation from the hostile camp ringing in our ears; with the portents of some great decisive battle thickening upon our sky; with such a country to save; with the destinies of the world at issue; shall we not strengthen ourselves in God, and gird ourselves for a more earnest and vigorous prosecution of the war? Let the sacramental host move at once, and move together, and move in the name and strength of the Lord, and they will move to a certain and glorious victory.

Mr. President, we are urged to such efforts by most animating encouragements. We feel that we are working in coincidence with the divine plan, as indicated in many an illustrious chapter of our history. Why, Sir, did God preserve this whole country more than a century after its discovery, for the English race, turning the foot of the Spaniard to the sunny regions of the tropics? Why did he induce Columbus, just before making land, to veer a few points southward, so that, instead of striking the coast of Florida, as he would have done, had he adhered to his original purpose of sailing due West, he struck the West India Islands? Why did God keep this great country from the English, until they had renounced the supremacy of the Roman Pontiff? And why did he keep it from the Protestants until they had purified the Reformed Faith from its still remaining Romish tendencies? Why did he wait until he had sifted three Protestant kingdoms for the precious seed wherewith to plant this western world? Why did he hold in check for two centuries the emigration of Papists and Infidels to this country, until the goodly vine, transplanted, had taken root and grown strong and filled the land with her boughs and her fruit? Why did he blast every attempt of the Spaniards to colonize the Valley of the Mississippi? Why, when La Salle, upwards of one hundred and seventy years ago, had taken possession of the whole country, from the mouth of the Illinois to the gulf of Mexico, politically in the name of Louis the Great, and spiritually in the name of the Church of Rome; and when, a few years after, the French attempted to realize the design of La Salle, by erecting a chain of forts through Peoria and Vincennes, towards the Southwest, building chapels and celebrating mass in the same—why did God drive them from every one of those posts and defeat their well-laid scheme? Why did he compel Napoleon the First to relinquish his cherished design of founding a French empire west of the Mississippi, by so embarrassing his affairs at home, that he was obliged to sell the whole territory to us for purposes of revenue? In fine, why were the immense treasures of California hidden from all the world, even from the keen-scented Spaniard, until she was annexed to this Republic? And tell me, if any one can, why was it that the title deed of transference had no sooner passed into our hands, than she gave up her mighty secret, and unlocked her golden gates? Is it possible not to see the hand of God in all this? Who can believe that a country, over which divine Providence has thus kept watch and ward for three and a half centuries, is to be given up after all to the superstitions of Rome? No, Sir, from these remarkable interpositions we gather the joyful assurance that God has reserved this broad land as an appropriate theatre for such a development of Christianity as the world has never seen. We believe that he has given the whole of it to his Son, that here he may achieve the most signal triumphs of his Gospel; that he is to gather together, in one, all peoples and languages, fuse them into common brotherhood, raise them to a more exalted manhood, and stamp upon them his own divine image. Hence, this exodus of the nations. When was there ever a simultaneous movement from all parts of the earth, tending to, and terminating in, one and the same land, but God was about to make some new and magnificent display of his providence or his grace? So, we doubt not, it is to be in the present instance. We believe that this endless stream of immigration will not inure to the advantage of Satan, but to the unprecedented enlargement and glorification of the kingdom of Christ. But we also believe that this is to be accomplished through the instrumentality of his people. And the surest indication that the end is to fail, will be the failure of the appropriate means. Here, then, is the great work of Home Missions. We are to supply this whole territory with the preached Gospel; to meet these swelling millions, as they pour into that theatre of our country's future greatness, with the influences of a pure Christianity; upon that young and forming character, to stamp the image of Christ so that no after changes shall be able to efface it; to give a direction to those gathering and growing energies, so that no subsequent revolution shall ever entirely divert them from the support of good government and sound religion; to save the West for the sake of the nation; and the nation for the sake of the world; to win for our Lord a field on which he may reap his richest harvests; a field where his Spirit may breathe on three hundred millions of hearts, bound together by one government and one language; a field from whose countless churches shall ascend, on each Sabbath morning, such an anthem of praise as never yet rose from earth to heaven; an anthem which, whether it mingles with the loud waves of the Atlantic, with the deafening roar of Niagara, with the thunder-voiced chorus of the great central valley, with the gentle breezes of the South, or is prolonged in majestic echoes on the Pacific, bears aloft the same familar tongue, the same sweet refrain, the same precious theme, the same new song—THE SONG OF MOSES AND THE LAMB!

Address of Rev. Azariah Eldridge, of New Bedford, Mass.,

ON MOVING THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION:

RESOLVED—That in view of the promising age, successful fortunes, and commanding position of America, her speedy evangelization is of the first importance.

It seems to be the duty of American Christians to evangelize all parts of the land in which they live. We can accomplish it more speedily and thoroughly than any other nation could. It is not as if a distant people, situated as the Chinese are, were in duty bound to evangelize America. This part of the work, required at our hands as a nation, is at home. It is brought near by the means of internal communication, and deposited before us. There are no ships to charter, no oceans to traverse, no boisterous capes to double, no barbarous languages to master, no walls of national exclusiveness and jealousy to force, and no principles of heathenish faith, connected with social customs, organized into religious rites and reared into political institutions, to eradicate and destroy. Such obstacles as these are both common and superable. The cause of Christ is not arrested by them. They disappear before the conquering progress of our Foreign Missions. There is not in them the shadow of a reason for the least relaxation of our efforts abroad. But they furnish an occasion for gratitude that the domestic part of our share in converting the world is so simple, direct, and comparatively easy. While not one farthing is to be withdrawn, and not an additional effort of any sort withholden from the foreign field, we labor with peculiar advantage within our own borders for the common cause. It is manifestly the will of the Lord that we do not relax our efforts at home, but take hold and strive with renewed zeal for the full possession of this our promised land.

Let me ask your attention to one or two particular reasons for the thorough and speedy evangelization of America.

Look upon her and please to consider, in the first place, her promising age. Why is it that wise and experienced friends of Christ's cause rejoice to behold the conversion of a man in his youth? For the very reason that he is young; that he is fresh, tender, and bright. The palsied hand, the hesitating tread, the unimpressible heart, the stereotype habits and character of age are not come upon him. He is beaming with hope and full of unfolding faculties. The future is all before him, his opportunities are to occur, his greatest strength yet to be attained, and his highest efforts to be put forth. The work of grace upon him is more thorough and effectual now than it could be at any future time. It is deeper down at the foundations of his character; it is farther back among the sources of his destiny. Converted thus early, all that he will become, with all that he can perform, is added at once to the side of the Lord.

Now the dew of youth is still upon this nation. She is not one of those who have grown old in ungodliness. She has not reached, nor is she approaching her maturity. Though not a people whose God is the Lord, she is still young, very young, she has just begun to be among the powers of the earth; her career is yet to be run, she has not entered upon any particular course. This is, therefore, the time to turn the nation towards the Lord. A work may now be wrought of supreme importance in the issue; principles may be impressed, and a general character imparted to grow up with the people and abide with them forever. It can be done more effectually during these early stages of development than at any subsequent period. They present a precious opportunity, which is passing away, never to return, as we progress in years and increase in stature. The friends of righteousness are bound to improve the opportunity, and not leave this nation to grow up a sinner. There is great occasion for them to labor with her faithfully. She is not what she should be, in many respects. The elements which mingle to compose our national being are such that we may well be apprehensive with regard to the future. Wise men across the water, friends of liberty and religion, look towards us with an interest not unmixed with anxiety. They watch our young demonstrations, half sportive and half fierce, now magnanimous and then grasping, in some things conscientious in others cruel and unjust, as those of a promising but untamed creature. O, that this nation may be converted in the morning of its days, that it be brought early to the right side of the great controversy, that it take a stand soon with the children of light and be learning to act at home and abroad according to the principles of inspired truth. I therefore find the first argument for its thorough and speedy evangelization in the susceptible age of America.

Look upon her, in the second place, and be kind enough to observe the robust condition of her health. Though youthful in the extreme, she is not at the present time a puny and squeamish exquisite. This is sometimes found to be the case. An unhappy climate or some other evil, physical, political or religious, will have produced the result. But never was a people in better condition and keeping. Established in a temperate zone, we grow like a plant by the river side. We have—let me say—an enormous appetite, with digestive forces to correspond. Besides internal sources of enlargement and strength, floods of immigration flow in from without and are well disposed of among us. The country never appears to be overloaded by them. As a thrifty boy can dispose of more food than a full-grown man, and is often less delicate about it, so it is with us as a people in regard to this foreign material. Young and hearty, we do not undertake to exclude them, but suffer them to come, a promiscuous compound of races, languages, affinities and habits. We do not deem it worth while to raise about them, when already here, many native American scruples. The better way were—the wholesome way is—to digest them, and that we proceed to do. They are taken in, being strangers all, and gradually Americanized. It is a difficult operation, or might be for most other nations. Few of them could accomplish it; they have not the internal vitality, the constitutional vigor. But there is enough in our national system, our body-politic, to do the thing handsomely. The American principle soon pervades and overmasters them. These July orations and the like, with our other rank sorts of self-glorification, hasten the process. They invigorate the gastric force and help on the work of assimilation. It is accomplished upon most in a space of time wonderfully brief. Before the first generation passes or the brogue is quite gone, their caps are thrown up for our coun-thry.

But so vast a transforming agency should be employed for Christ. It must be made ready and applied to the work of regenerating men. A country like this, so thronged from all quarters of the earth, and ruled by a people so controlling in their influence over it, ought to be evangelized without delay. A nation like this, whose organic law is so strong, whose principles of unity and growth—the vital force that makes millions of beings one, takes up every foreign admixture and draws from it the essence of national strength—is so vigorous and healthful; a nation which is not at all distressed at her time of life by such immense and incessant masses of raw material from abroad, which ventures to receive them and is able to transform them, through assimilation, into bone and muscle, sinew and nerve for her own purposes—such a nation is worth evangelizing speedily. It is a matter of plain christian policy to do it at once. She is in a situation to benefit those millions who are thronging hither as doves to their windows. She is calculated to be a stronghold for God's people in the future. If thoroughly evangelized, she will stand firm amid surrounding darkness and hold forth the light of truth. The opening gates of hell, the rushing waves of worldliness and sin will not prevail against her. I find, therefore, in her robust and vigorous health, another reason for a thorough and speedy evangelization of America.

Look upon her and remember, in the third place, the prosperous fortunes of the race which she represents. It is obvious, on the face of History, that there have been from the first chosen agencies and occasionally a favorite people under the direction of Providence. God endows them with certain traits, continues them in being and employs them according to his good pleasure. There may be no moral merit in such a distinction. They are often the unconscious and at times the unwilling servitors of his will. Yet he goes before them and is their rere-ward. They are preserved and prospered from age to age, on account of their availability. Now the single soul of a South Sea Indian or that of an Ethiopian may be worth as much as the soul of an Anglo-Saxon. And, in respect to the value of their own souls, the conversion of the Sandwich Islanders is an event of infinite importance. But the bearing of such tribes of men, when thoroughly evangelized, upon the ultimate conversion of the world, is not so important as that of some others. It is not likely that much public service will be devolved upon them in the future. There is reason to believe that they will soon be suffered to pass away. But there is a race whose whole career has been remarkable. Since its first appearance in History, human affairs have been affected by it and the greatest results have come to pass through its agency. It was called forth ages ago from the depths of a forest in Germany. Ancient Rome was then to be overthrown, and that was the first work which these, our ancestors, achieved for mankind. By the direction of Providence, they poured down from their home in the North, with broad breasts bare, white limbs agile and forceful, yellow locks streaming to the wind, and the Mistress of the World was swept from her bad eminence before them. Then Britain had to be peopled by those who would make something of her. She was at the time a small island in the Northwest, overrun by half-naked savages, the ultima thule of the known world. But men of this race were directed to pass over. The hand of the Lord was in it. Seven years from the hour their keels grated upon the shore, Hengist, their leader, sat upon the throne, and England began to rear herself among the nations. At length the time came for these western wilds to be occupied, and men of the same race were conducted over the ocean. They landed, they have taken possession, and America is rising up before the world. The race is a prosperous one. It is in the ascendant among mankind. The Lord chooses to preserve it and cause it to flourish. It is suffered to gain strength and spread itself. Black men bow down, red men fade away before it.

And now, should it not be filled with the spirit and reduced to the service of Christ? Shall we overlook, in our plans to evangelize the world, any important branch of a race with such forceful blood in its veins, such divine recognitions of trustworthiness in its history, such a prospect of great achievements and of controlling influence in its destiny? Shall not Saxon America, whose enterprising citizens are abroad over land and sea, hunting the monsters of the deep, gathering the products of every clime, mingling with all the nations of the earth, filling the whole world already with her influence, shall she not be evangelized? In the native character and prosperous fortunes of the race that holds possession of this land, I find a strong argument for its thorough and speedy evangelization.

Look again and observe, in the fourth place, the commanding position which she occupies upon the globe. When an important battle is pending, the arrangements of a great chieftain are made with forethought and consideration. His positions are taken according to the nature of the field and the disposition made of the enemy's strength. His forces are planted with a view to the service they will be required to render. Each division of his army may thus foresee what is expected of them, whether much or little, in the conflict to come. If, being strong men, whom he has tried before, they find themselves covered in a central position, where they may turn either way and pour down with advantage on the foe, it is enough of intimation for them. They look to their arms. They make ready for faithful and effective service.

Let us, in like manner, furnish ourselves as a people for the battle of the great day. I repeat it, Sir, we must fight. The great Captain of our salvation is waging war upon the powers of darkness, and the field is the world. His divine eye is over it all. His forces are marshalled with infinite wisdom. He has planted us at a post of great responsibility. Mark the central stand which we hold amid the unenlightened portions of mankind. Suppose them divided upon a broad scale into Indians, Africans and Asiatics. What peculiar facilities and obligations are increasing upon us, with regard to each one of these general divisions of the heathen world. We stretch across the middle of the Western Hemisphere, with multitudes of Indians at the North, and multitudes of Indians at the South. Around them, and through them, our citizens are called to pass and repass in every conceivable direction. Is any other nation so responsible as we, with respect to their spiritual interests? any other nation so set apart to it, and bound to be in readiness to meet this responsibility? Here we are, I may say, almost alone, with an immense population of Pagans and false religionists extending towards either pole, above us and below us, to the ends of our own continent, all of them to be evangelized by us, and we not yet thoroughly evangelized ourselves!

But these are not all, or even the principal part. Look to the right hand and to the left of our position. Here is Africa just over on the one side, and Asia just over on the other. Across the Atlantic are benighted millions, respecting whose welfare we are also under special obligations. On what other nation rests so much responsibility in respect to them as upon us? Have we not wronged them most grievously, and is it not in our power to make them due reparation. Others have wronged them, but we possess the means of giving them the blessings of Christianity. Their climate is deadly to white missionaries, but there are men among us who should be made ready to go in vast colonies and evangelize their fatherland. But across the Pacific, over against our Western frontier, are also the millions of Asia. There, China has been forced open for the truth, and Japan may soon throw her doors wide, while, from shore to shore of the peaceful ocean, the facilities of communication are constantly increasing. The Chinese are coming to our side and returning again by thousands. We shall be able to pour whole volleys of salvation from our golden gate across the water, directly into all those Asiatic regions of darkness and death. Yes, in every direction there are teeming millions of benighted souls which could better be evangelized by us than by any other people. At the North, the South, the East, and the West, they are waiting about us, and we are not fully prepared for the work. Here we are in the midst of them. It is a post of immense responsibility for a professedly christian people. If thoroughly evangelized, we might, standing here, do nothing but shine, like a city set on a hill, and the world would slowly become full of light. Standing here, we might, with zealous exertion and a right use of the means accumulating in our hands, send forth, over all the habitations of cruelty, floods of the grace that bringeth salvation. I therefore find, in the central and commanding position which she occupies, the fourth and last argument for the speedy evangelization of America.

Let the work of Home Missions go on. Push it forward with earnest endeavor. Qualify the people of this land, in sacred haste, with the grace of God diffused through every part, to be fulfilling their destiny. You are converting a nation in the bloom of youth. You are converting a nation of vigorous health. You are converting a nation with superior blood in her veins and heart. You are converting a nation, on high vantage-ground, at the head of all promising agencies for the conversion of the world.

Address of Rev. J. M. Sturtevant, D. D., of Illinois College,

ON MOVING THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTION:

RESOLVED—That it becomes us to recognize with devout gratitude the evidence which is furnished in the history of our Home Missionary enterprise, that the spirit of heroic self-denial, so characteristic of early Christianity, still survives, and has been not a little revived in these latter days.

MR. PRESIDENT, I am perfectly aware that I owe the honor of offering this resolution to the fact that I am a western man, and am supposed in some degree to represent western interests. Represent them! Would that I could represent them; but I cannot do that. It would take an angel's intellect and angelic eloquence to do it. But I can speak of some them, for I have seen them and my heart has felt them. This resolution speaks of the heroic where most men are very little inclined to look for it. What, heroism in the service of the four-hundred-dollar Home Missionary, living in his cabin in the wilderness,—heroism in the idea of his congregation gathered in some log school-house, without a choir, organ or pulpit,—heroism in such scenes as these! Yes, verily. What is the heroic? We cannot find it in the soldier of the regular army, who knows nothing about principle and is a mere automaton, wheeled hither and thither by some presiding despot. Instead of seeing heroism in his dangers and exposures, we see nothing but a very vulgar and ordinary business transaction. The world has at last learned, too, that heroism is not found in the conqueror or leader who wades through seas of blood to a throne; the world has learned at last that that is not heroism, but gigantic meanness. We can find heroism in the citizen soldier who comprehends principles and who is impelled by a love of liberty—the liberty of his fireside and of millions yet to be. We can recognize the hero there, though his only accoutrements are the rifle and knapsack, and though he falls to sleep among the undistinguished dead, with no rude stone to mark the place of his rest.

Who, then, is the Home Missionary? Is he the man who has offered his wares in this market and cannot sell, and is he now doing as any man in this city who finds his wares unsaleable here does, by sending them out west,—is he the man that goes west to hide his own obscurity? No, no, verily. The true hero is a man who comprehends a great principle, who grasps it and who lays his whole life on the altar of sacrifice to achieve it, to realize it. What, then, is the conception that lies at the foundation of the Home Missionary's life? It is a conception which is the grandest idea of the nineteenth century. Let us look at this conception for a moment. Mr. President, plant yourself for a moment at Rome in the days of the Scipios. The earth trembles under the heavy tread of Rome's steel-clad legions, and a very child can see what is to come. In a short time the world, from the Pillars of Hercules to the Euphrates, is to be grasped in the arms of that iron conqueror. We can foretell it, because we see the cause there. There is the struggle which has been going on for a thousand years, which is to embrace all civilization in one empire around the Mediterranean sea; and it is the destiny of Rome to realize it. And as Carthage falls and Greece falls, and all her arts are at the feet of the conqueror, and the noblest products of her pencil and chisel are brought to adorn his porticoes and temples, the world can see that the conception is about to be accomplished. And what heroes it produced, the heroes of blood! We know what it was done for. Ah, it was that the gates of Janus might be shut, and that, during a period of repose, "the first and the last the world enjoyed for a thousand years, the desire of the nations might come and the seed of the Gospel be sown broadcast."

Now plant yourself in the United States in 1850. Roman legions are no more: but a greater than Roman legions is here. Two hundred and thirty years before there landed on the coast of New England, amid the rigors of winter, that little band of adventurers which was more obscure than Romulus and his company of debtors and bandits. Aye, but they had no need to steal the wives and daughters of their neighbors, if they had had any neighbors, for their wives and daughters were with them in that great wilderness, with hearts as stout and courageous as their own. There is the Rome of the modern world, not with its legions, but with God's Bible free; and it is as easy to see, in the year 1850, that the power, the germ of which was planted there on Plymouth Rock, is now about to take possession of this whole globe, as it was in the time of the Scipios to see that Rome was to grasp the ancient world.

Where shall we find the heroes now? I will tell you where you will find them. Not in the legions, either Roman or American. The great idea of this enterprise is not legions and steel-clad warriors. It is peace,—it is that book (the Bible) and the institutions which that book founds. And the great idea which lies at the foundation of this Society, is to be found by tracing out that thought. We have been told, and told truly, that the balance is already waving in the air in equipoise, and about to fall on the west of the Alleghany Mountains—the balance of power in the United States. But there is a weightier truth we need to regard. It is, not only that the balance of power is crossing the Alleghanies, but that this power of American colonization is the weightiest element which is now at work in deciding the destinies of this whole planet. Have we dared to make a calculation? From 1800 to 1825 the population had doubled; and again, from 1825 to 1850. What shall we see in 1875? Will it not be doubled then, and once more in 1900? Suppose, then, this process to go on, for 150 years to come, with the same rapidity as for 230 years past, and the result will be, twice the number of human beings that at the present time dwell on our whole planet.

Here, in the midst of such a power as this, we are sitting and deliberating. Our Home Missionary enterprise, what is it? It is to evangelize this mighty power, a power which is evidently destined to take possession of this world. It would subdue it,—it would lay its hand on this lion's mane, and tame it to a lamb. All of the ancient empires of blood are represented in prophecy as ferocious beasts. We would not have our country a beast, with iron teeth and claws of brass? No; we would have it stand on its feet as a man, and that the heart of a man be given to it.

Nor is it enough that we send out Bibles and tracts and good books to teach the people. No, sir. This is a war of institutions—of the institutions of Protestantism with the institutions of Popery, and with that infidelity which would destroy all institutions. I take upon myself to say—what I have not time to prove, but it is the result of twenty three years' observation in the Western States—this conflict can never be decided by any itinerant agency. It must be decided by those who come and plant themselves on the soil, and there labor as good builders—for I prefer that figure—to gather materials and found a local church in every village, a church whose business it shall be to provide for the interests of worship in that particular locality as long as the sun shines or rain falls. And, in reference to this war of institutions, I am not intimidated. I know the sentiments of the west, and I have watched with interest this rising struggle. Is not Rome herself conscious that she is at this time engaged in the death struggle? Does she not know that her institutions cannot resist the influence of our free school system, that it is death to her, and that she must move now or never? Does not Rome know this? If she does not, I do. As to the question how it will be decided, I take it upon myself, humbly but with earnestness, to read a homily to the party that shall ever sell its influence against our free school system. Woe be to that party. Array the Protestant influence and strength against the party that would sell our free school system to Rome, and it will be annihilated,—it will be used up worse than the Whigs were at the last election. (Laughter.) Here, then, is our problem, and here is the conception that takes our Home Missionary to the West. He cannot, while this work is going on, abide here in the old home of civilization. If he has wares to sell, he will go where they are more needed. And if merchants cannot understand it, if the principles of trade cannot understand it, the Lord Jesus Christ can. The missionary longs to preach, as Paul did, "in regions beyond;" he longs to labor in a field where he will not use another man's line of things made ready to his hands. He hears the call of God to go into the wilderness, where as beautiful sanctuaries may be built, and as lovely as these. He loves the schools and colleges where he spent his youthful years, and the tears trickle down his cheeks as he leaves them; but the voice of God beckons him to go into that mighty wilderness, and there lay the foundations on which those who follow him may build schools and colleges as liberal and generous as these. That day he will never see; he will never see them except in their weakness and infancy. But God calls him to go and work in those foundations, and, if need be, to lay his bones there, and let the noble structure be reared above him. His bones will rise as well from that place, at the voice of the archangel, as from any other position. His record will be true, "He that loses his life for my sake shall find it."

There are specimens of the heroic in the Home Missionary's life from which I will never draw the veil. They rest there securely in the keeping of divine Providence. They will be revealed at last. I am not going to enter the domestic circle of the Home Missionary; I am not going to reveal the trials of that wife. No, no; we draw the veil,—we leave her with God. But I will tell you, I will not go to Carlyle for heroes, or to the battle field; I will go to the cabins of the missionary in the far West, and there I shall often find one of the noblest spectacles on earth—female heroism. I shall not find a wretched family. I may find coarse fare. I may find hard toil, and, for this world, poor pay; but I shall find a cheerful, joyous, gladsome family, where it will do my heart good to commune with the precious spirit that encircles it and dwells in it. The sacrifice of the Home Missionaries, for the most part, is an uncomplaining sacrifice. They do not tell their sorrows and hardships. Their communications are the dispatches from the regular army. They deal with the cause and not with the man. Their own privations are not to be reported. Such is generally the character of our Home Missionary reports, and such should it have been, in a few instances, in a greater degree than it has been.

All true Christianity has in it this heroic element. Let no man or woman in this assembly flatter himself or herself that they have a Christianity which will get them to heaven by excusing from this sacrifice, and which makes no provision in their case for this heroic element. Away with such Christianity! It will get hypocrites into the church, but never get souls to heaven. We have two forms of Christianity, so called, constantly before our eyes. One is a very sleek and solemn, but Mammon-worshipping Christianity, a Christianity that has no thought of self-sacrifice. 'No, do not talk to me of self-sacrifice; I am not going to reduce my comforts!' It delights them to see their children converted to God and heaven, but not so converted but that they can make money, nor so converted but that they can climb the ladder of fame and power; they have no idea of having them converted to make missionaries. Let me lift up the voice of solemn warning. Such conversion will take no child to heaven; a curse will rest on that family altar that sees no devotion but this. This is as true amid the palaces of wealth, to be found in this great city, as in the log cabin of the Home Missionary. There is but one law. It is true in the halls of theological learning, too. I wonder if there are theological students here to-night. Let me say, I have had a suspicion that this spirit of self-sacrificing is a little less prominent than it has been in some former times, in our theological classes. Let me tell that young servant of Christ, who chooses his field here among the long established and prosperous churches, because he is a little too good for the wilderness, the Lord will tell him he was not good enough for him. He will say to him, "Depart from me, I never knew you." That great law of cross-bearing has not been repealed, and it never will be repealed till the trumpet of the archangel shall sound.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LAKES.—The great Lakes have an area of 98,000 square miles. The area drained by those above Niagara Falls is 335,515 square miles—more than one third of a million.

RIVERS.—Missouri River, from the Rocky Mountains to the Mississippi, is 3,096 miles; to the Ocean, 1,395 miles—total, from the source to the sea, 4,491 miles; more than twice as long as the Danube. Mississippi River, from the source to St. Anthony's Falls, is 1,060 miles; to the mouth of the Missouri, 705 miles; to the Ocean, 1,395 miles—total length, 3,160 miles.

These rivers and their tributaries afford, together, 17,000 miles of navigable water. The area which they drain—constituting the great Valley of the Mississippi—is equal to 1,100,000 square miles.

Impressions respecting our position, from Observation Abroad.

The wide world does not furnish another field of Missionary labor so promising. I mean not by this, that other countries are not open to the Gospel, or that missionary efforts should be limited to our own land. God bless these efforts and increase them a hundred fold in every land. But I do mean, that our country preëminently invites and demands efforts for its evangelization. I do mean, that it is a more promising and a more important field than any other on the globe, and, therefore, calls for every heart and every hand to engage in it.

Do I seem to any to be taking too strong ground? Let me propose to them an experiment, which I sincerely wish all my hearers could try, to test this opinion. Let them take the next steamer across the Atlantic, and in one fortnight they would find themselves on ground very favorable for a comparison. They would be traversing lands where state religions exist, with all their pompous and imposing rites and ceremonies, with their exclusive and intolerant spirit, and their hostility to freedom of opinion, and to all that is vital in personal piety. Religion, there, is sustained by governmental decrees and by bayonets. Throttled in the embraces of the State, its lifeless form is made use of as a speaking-trumpet, through which are proclaimed, not the doctrines of God, but of man; such as the divine right of kings, the duty of unreserved submission to the Government and the Church; the infallibility of the Church, not of the Bible. The sweet countenance of gospel charity has been changed into that of a persecuting fiend; and the snaky locks of a gorgon cover her head, freezing and petrifying all around.—All places are full of religious forms, but, alas, to find its power, you must search long and deep. The very highways are studded with crosses and crucified Christs, with oratories and images of the virgin, while the towns abound with vast and venerable cathedrals and chapels, full of golden images, splendid paintings, sacred relics; and the magnificent organ peals along the sounding arches, and thrills the wondering soul, as the gilded priests chant their “te Deums,” their “Pater nosters,” and their “ave Marias.” You enter the convent at the sound of the vesper bell, and a thousand white-veiled nuns are kneeling around you, and gorgeous music lends enchantment to the vesper hymn. Everywhere in the streets you meet the cassocked priest, and often the imposing procession, while the multitudes uncover their heads as it passes. In short, to an American, accustomed to the simplicity of our modes of worship, the most prominent feature in European lands, save in the glorious fast-anchored isle,—and even there, to a great extent,—is, that in spite of the most imposing externals, the whole is little more than heartless formality,—a wretched substitute for the bread of life. Yet when he sees how firmly rooted is this system in the pride and prejudice, the worldly interest, the interests of despotic governments and a swarming priesthood, and how it is woven into the very texture of society, he cannot but feel that little short of a miracle will be required for effecting a revolution. With what deep interest, then, after only a few weeks of such observation in those lands, will the heart of the christian American turn towards his own country. In the hallowed language of our gubernatorial proclamations, he will exclaim, “God save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts!” Save our religion from the base alloy of formalism, superstition and intolerance. Save our system of education from the blighting touch of aristocracy and priestcraft. Save her free institutions from the savage ferocity of the ignorant and unprincipled many, and the grinding oppression of the despotic few. Save her, for the sake of the country. And God save that whole country for her own sake, and for the sake of the world. For, to save her, is to save the world; and, to lose her, is to lose the world.—President Hitchcock.

Why the New World is more hopeful than the Old.

The Gospel has never made rapid progress in any country where a false system of religion has entrenched itself behind the prejudices, the social habits, the pecuniary interests, the splendor of rites and forms, and governmental favor; and its most signal triumphs have been witnessed where the false system has but a feeble hold upon the public mind, or men have begun to think for themselves.—Certain conditions seem necessary, in order that this heaven may work; nor where these are wanting are we to expect success, any more than that the laws of chemistry will be set aside in the process of bread-making. God does sometimes, indeed, give unexpected success, by the power of his Spirit, to show that, after all, the efficiency lies with him. But such cases are exceptions, which we cannot calculate upon, and are not our rule of judgment or of duty.

Rise of Home Missions on the Pacific.

The American Home Missionary Society embarked in the work of planting the standard of the Cross on the Pacific Coast, in 1847. This event may be considered as marking an era in the history of this Institution. For twenty years the field of its labors had been rapidly increasing, but nearly every feature of its operations had continued the same. While it had been diligent in repairing the spiritual desolations of the Atlantic States, it had striven to keep pace with the progress of the new settlements in the great Valley of the West. From the shores of Lake Erie, and the banks of the Ohio, it had followed the retreating frontier across successive States and Territories, to and beyond the Mississippi,—sending forth the heralds of the Cross in the front rank of emigration, and planting in each infant community the germs of christian institutions. But, that it was to be summoned so soon to perform the same work for hundreds of thousands of our countrymen, on the shores of the Pacific Ocean, the most sagacious speculators upon “manifest destiny” had not yet dreamed.

The greater part of this vast territory was really, and all of it was practically, a foreign country, and one of the most remote on the face of the globe. The most feasible mode of transit to it was by a voyage of 18,000 miles, via Cape Horn and the Sandwich Islands—occupying, ordinarily, more than half a year. The only portion of the country to which the United States made any claim, was also claimed by Great Britain, and was occupied by some of the most powerful and savage tribes of Indians on the Continent. The number of white inhabitants, previous to 1840, was very small, and consisted mainly of English, Scotch and Canadian French, introduced by the Hudson’s Bay Company, and a few Americans who had deserted from ships, or had emigrated from the Western States in connection with trading expeditions. These settlers, together with a few Hawaiians, had intermarried with the Indians, and were little behind them in vice and degradation.

It was an appropriate field for foreign missionary effort, and was occupied as such by the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as early as 1834. On the 28th of September, in that year, Rev. Jason Lee, who was sent out by that Society, preached, at Fort Vancouver, the first sermon, so far as is known, that was ever heard in Oregon. A mission was soon established among the Flat Head Indians in the Valley of the Willamette; and in the following year another mission was commenced among the Cayuses, and Nez Percés, by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

As late as 1843, no considerable emigration to this part of the country had taken place. In that year, about 800 persons crossed the Rocky Mountains to seek a home on those distant shores. The emigration increased rapidly till the year 1846, when the number of white inhabitants was estimated at 10,000. Little had yet been done to organize christian institutions among them.

On the 15th of June, 1846, a treaty was concluded by the Governments of the United States and Great Britain, constituting the 49th parallel of latitude the boundary between the territories of the two nations, and leaving to the former Government an undisputed title to the whole country between that line and California. The accession to our national domain of this vast area, so well adapted in all its physical features to sustain a dense population, and already occupied by thousands of our countrymen, seemed to mark it as an appropriate field for cultivation by this Society.

To establish and conduct missions in a region so remote and difficult of access, sending forth missionaries upon a voyage of two-thirds the circumference of the globe, was an undertaking altogether novel in the history of Home Missions, and involving an unprecedented outlay of missionary funds. But the field was important, and, though so remote, it was properly a Home Missionary field. Its claims were unquestionable and urgent. The language of Providence to the Society, as the organ of the churches, seemed to be, as it was to Israel, when a sea lay between them and the land to be possessed, "that they go forward." Accordingly Rev. George H. Atkinson, the pioneer in this enterprise, embarked for Oregon, October 23, 1847, and arrived at Oregon City, his destined post of labor, on the 20th of the following June, having been detained nearly three months at the Sandwich Islands, awaiting an opportunity to obtain a passage to the mouth of the Columbia. Within a month from the time of Mr. Atkinson's departure, the mission of the A. B. C. F. M., among the Oregon Indians, was suddenly brought to an end, by the massacre of several of its members, and the American Home Missionary Society was called to assume the sole responsibility, so far as the denominations sustaining it were concerned, of proclaiming the Gospel and rearing the churches of Christ on those western shores.

In the autumn of 1848, a second missionary, Rev. Horace Lyman, was commissioned for this field, and was stationed at Portland, on the Willamette, 12 miles below Oregon City. Since that time, no additional laborers were sent to that Territory until 1852.

The discovery of gold in California, in 1848, produced an unsettled state of society in Oregon, very disastrous to the interests of the missions. The regular pursuits of life were suspended, and nearly the whole male population rushed to the mines. When, at length, the crowd of adventurers began to return, it was only to be dispersed again, from the towns and villages, by the operation of the "Land Law," which made liberal grants of land to actual settlers upon it. The population rapidly spread over the country; congregations were nearly broken up, and every form of social improvement was checked. In the face of these obstacles, however, encouraging progress had been made. At both the stations occupied, churches were organized, and houses of worship erected, and various other places have shared the occasional labors of the missionaries.

But far more important than these local results has been the influence which they have exerted in molding the character of this infant Territory, and in laying the foundations of public order, intelligence and virtue. The seed thus far sown, may seem but as "a handful of corn in the earth upon the top of the mountains," but it shall not perish, and ere long, over all the hills and prairies of this new-born empire, "the fruit thereof shall shake like Lebanon."

The treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo was ratified May 30th, 1848, by which Mexico ceded to the United States the Province of Upper California. This event added a vast area to our national domain, and imposed a new responsibility upon this Society, as the organ of the churches in supplying the destitute portions of our country with the means of grace. Though the treasury was empty, and pledges already made to the missionaries could not be redeemed, yet the Committee, walking by faith, prepared to obey the summons, and to occupy these new possessions in the name of the King of kings. Accordingly two missionaries were commissioned for California in the autumn of 1848.

Before they had embarked for their field of labor, the astounding announcement was received which turned toward that land the attention of the whole civilized world. The golden treasures which had slumbered from the Creation, awaiting the occupancy of the soil by a free Protestant people, were suddenly disclosed; and from every civilized land, but most of all from our own shores, eager multitudes rushed tumultuously thither to gather the golden harvest. The ancient solitudes of those mountain gorges swarmed with population. The waters of that magnificent bay, which had before been disturbed only with the keels of a few "hide droghers," bristled with the masts of a more numerous fleet than could be found in any other port on earth. Villages and cities sprang up, as by magic, along the river courses. From an obscure Mexican Province, leaped forth, Minerva-like, a full grown and full armed State.

To follow these self-exiled thousands with the institutions of the Gospel, and mold the chaotic elements thrown together on those shores into the forms of organized and christian society, was the appropriate work and evident duty of this Institution. This new responsibility the Committee were constrained to accept, notwithstanding the large pecuniary outlay it involved; and, in 1850, three additional laborers were commissioned for this field. They were cordially received, and, after a short period, their support was assumed by the people to whom they ministered. God has signally prospered their labors. In San Francisco, San José, Marysville, and Nevada, flourishing churches have been gathered, and commodious houses of worship erected. Extensive tours for exploration and preaching have also been made in different parts of the country, especially in the mining districts. The missionaries have, moreover, exerted a leading influence in restraining the prevalence of vice and crime, in creating an elevated and healthful public sentiment, in projecting educational enterprises, in diffusing general intelligence and religious truth, through the medium of the press—in short, in every movement connected with the laying of the foundations of institutions which are destined to bless the unborn millions who are to people those shores.

During the two following years no additional laborers were sent to the Pacific coast. This was not owing, however, to the diminished importance of the field, nor to inattention to its claims on the part of the Committee.

Urgent appeals were made to the Society in behalf of important towns—some of them entirely destitute of evangelical preaching, though containing several thousands of inhabitants—where a preacher of suitable qualifications would find an ample field, and, after a short time, a competent support. But men, adapted to a service so peculiar and difficult, were not readily obtained. As the result, however, of diligent effort on the part of the Committee, several offers of service were made and accepted, and, in November, 1852, eight missionaries, with their families, were dispatched to this distant field. Six of them have been stationed in California, and the remaining two in Oregon, where their arrival was hailed with the liveliest satisfaction.

AMERICAN HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY AND SLAVERY.

The minds of some philanthropic persons, in view of representations made to them, have been disturbed by the apprehension that the missionary patronage of this Society is so dispensed as to countenance—or, at least, not to discountenance as much as it ought—the system of slavery. This imputation does not distinctly charge, much less attempt to prove, that the Executive Committee or Officers of the Society, or any particular individuals of its agents or missionaries, are in favor of slavery, but that it gives aid and comfort to the system by supplying it with the sanctions of religion.

The only thing which has even the appearance of evidence for this, is the fact, that, in some forty or fifty cases, the Gospel is preached in the slave States at the partial expense of this Society.

So far from there being any justice in the injurious representation referred to, the position and action of the Society in relation to slavery clearly show, that they regard it as a great political, social, and moral evil; as a formidable hindrance to popular improvement, and especially to the spread of the Gospel and the salvation of souls; that, therefore, it is a subject on which the influence of the ministry may appropriately be brought to bear; and that the missionaries, who live where slavery exists, are bound, in the exercise of a due discretion as to times and methods, to make their ministry tend, in the most effectual manner, to the removal of this giant evil.

These facts might, it would seem, by this time, have been well understood. Although the Society has not felt called upon to make this subject specially prominent in the way of public discussion, its position, as above expressed, has by no means been concealed or uncertain, but has been distinctly made known in the Annual Reports and the Home Missionary, as well as in communications to the patrons and missionaries of the Institution.

For example, it is well known that this Society does not commission slaveholders as missionaries; that if any minister in its employ becomes, either voluntarily or involuntarily, the owner of a human being, he is dropped from the list of its agents.

Further, express and abundant declarations have been given of the Society's views of slavery, of its bearings on moral advancement, and the duty of the missionaries towards it. We will recall some of these declarations. In the Eighteenth Annual Report, amid an enumeration of hindrances to the evangelization of the land, it is remarked—

“Another obstacle—and one of increasing magnitude—which may well fill the heart of philanthropy with deep concern, is the existence of that horrible anomaly in American institutions, slavery—covering so large a portion of our territory, and enthralling more than two and a half millions of souls in a bondage worse than Egyptian, that prevents the most direct and effectual efforts for their salvation.”

In the Home Missionary for February, 1849, under the caption, “The Great Hindrance,” it is decidedly and earnestly claimed for the missionaries that they have a right to bring slavery and the questions that grow out of it to the test of the Scriptures and of argument. Again, in the number for Nov., 1850,—in reply to a correspondent who asked the Society to send missionaries to a slave State, who “will let slavery alone,”—the following language is used:

“Now, in reference to the subject of slavery, this Society deems it to be the province of the missionaries, as ministers of Christ, amenable to him and to their respective ecclesiastical bodies, to determine for themselves the occasions and the way in which they will bring the Gospel to bear on this and every other evil. It virtually says to its laborers, ‘You have God’s truth, the cure of all human ill; go and apply it.’ But we understand our correspondent and some others in the slave States to insist that to this subject the Gospel shall not be applied; that the missionary shall not speak, except he speak in one way; that, if he can defend slavery by the instructions of Paul, it is well enough; but, if he is opposed to it, and thinks Paul is so likewise, he is under the influence of eastern prejudice, and had better stay away! And the Society is virtually told not to send missionaries, with liberty of conscience and of speech, to do what they shall think is right, when, with Bible in hand, they shall meet slavery face to face; but to send only such as will wear a padlock on their lips and give the key into the hands of keepers. This cannot be done. On the contrary, let it be understood, that the great object sought in sending missionaries to the destitute is, as far as possible, to redeem them from all sin, and from all the forms in which it is mixed up with society; that if any minister can allow himself to have any other rule as to what he shall preach than his conscientious views of the mind of the Spirit, he lacks the very first qualification of a missionary; and that if utter silence respecting slavery is to be maintained, one of the greatest inducements to send or sustain missionaries in slave States is taken away. There is no use in blinking the fact that this admitted evil is a great hindrance to the spread of religion, to education, to moral and social prosperity; and no one will deny that the Gospel is its most direct and appropriate remedy. But if the preacher of the Gospel be prohibited from touching the evil with the remedy, where is the inducement to send him? Such appeals for missionaries react against those who make them. They discourage missionary effort, by taking away one of its great motives. They turn away missionaries to other fields. They indirectly injure those ministers who are laboring in slave States, implying that they are all silent on this subject; whereas, there are not a few whose mouths are not and cannot be shut, but who are, quietly and prudently, indeed, but yet faithfully and successfully, trying the potency of the Gospel upon this great evil. If our friends in the slave States wish us to send missionaries, or wish to induce missionaries to come to them, they must not prescribe any conditions which shall fetter the free action of intelligent and God-fearing men, acting on their sincere convictions of the nature and requirements of the religion of Christ."

In these publications—as well as by correspondence and personal intercourse—the people and the missionaries in the slaveholding States have been given to understand, that the latter are expected to make their ministry effective in enlightening the moral sense in regard to this and the attendant evils, and that they will be sustained by the Society in so doing; that when they are not allowed to seek this end by the use of such means as are appropriate to their office as ministers of the Gospel, the object of supporting them is in a great measure defeated; that they ought not to close their mouths on the subject of slavery any more than on other sins; but, that if the people in one city or village will not hear them, it is their duty to go another. Accordingly, in the use of their own judgment, formed on the ground, as to the time and manner of approaching the subject, they have made progress in awakening the consciences of their people, and securing the appropriate action in reference to it. That this progress has not been more rapid, is owing to the difficulties which environ this subject, and the exciting influences which tend to take it out of the domain of conscience into that of passion; still, there is a real and substantial progress, that cannot fail to be appreciated by those whose position gives them opportunity to form a candid and intelligent opinion. It is our firm conviction, that no other equal number of persons, in or out of the slave States, exert so great an influence as do these same missionaries, to bring the institution of slavery to be rightly regarded by those involved in it, and to induce churches to free themselves from its taint. It is not true that they suffer the subject to sleep; that they let it alone because it is a "delicate subject;" but they discharge their consciences whether their message be well received, or whether, as in some instances, it subjects them to opposition, opprobrium, and even to personal danger. When their endeavors to do this by a discreet use of the legitimate methods of the Gospel have not been tolerated, they have, in repeated cases, at the sacrifice of their own temporal interests, resigned their positions and departed to other fields.

Those who object to the Society because it has missionaries in slaveholding communities, seem to overlook the facts, that the number of such missionaries is comparatively small; that these are stationed, for the most part, in those portions of the slave States where the system has the slightest hold, and where it may be expected soonest to yield to moral influences; that, moreover, many of the churches to which they preach are known to contain no slaveholders. Some of those churches were formed, at the outset, on the principle of not admitting such members. Others, through the silent influence of the Gospel, have freed themselves from this embarrassment; and some of this class have been sustained in their position by the Society, in the face of strong remonstrances to the contrary. There are still other churches in various stages of progress towards a similar separation from slavery. By degrees, prejudices are softened, errors corrected, and better feelings diffused through the community around these churches. For example, a missionary states that "When he commenced his labors, the discussion of slavery in the pulpit usually produced great excitement in the community, and in some instances led to popular tumult. Now, no opposition is made to his speaking freely and strongly in condemnation of the system, both in public and private."

Another missionary in a slave State, writing to the Society, says—

"Another thing that I should perhaps mention as encouraging, is the growing opposition to slavery. The pulpit can now speak out on this subject, and men will hear. We are determined to remove this great difficulty in our way, or die in the attempt. As Christians and as freemen, we will suffer this libel on our religion and institutions to exist no longer."

"I feel that we owe it to God and to the oppressed race in the midst of us, to exhibit the whole truth in regard to this matter. I shall, however, be careful not to permit my influence or my ministerial character to suffer. As far as possible, I will carry out the Saviour's precept, to be wise as a serpent and harmless as a dove."

In the spirit here expressed, the missionaries are enabled to discuss this topic, not only in private conference, but also in the pulpit, on the Sabbath and on special occasions. During the last summer, a friend of the Society listened to a Fourth of July sermon, from one of its missionaries in a slave State, showing that "slavery is a fruitful source of social and political evil; that it is involved in all our national difficulties and dangers; and that these are inevitable and incurable while slavery exists." Such testimony against the system, and such efforts to remove it, are the more respected, and do the more good, from the fact that they are put forth, not at a distance, but in the very midst of slavery, and by persons who cannot be told that "they do not understand the subject."

While, therefore, the American Home Missionary Society may not be accomplishing all it could wish for the removal of this great evil, it is doing much. Some things which have been suggested, it does not attempt, because they do not seem to the Society, or to the great mass of judicious persons, to be right and proper. For example, it does not, as some would have it, wholly withdraw from the slave States. It does not, as others advise, make the exclusion of slaveholders from communion a condition of missionary aid, and thus interfere with the right of churches to define their own terms of membership. But it is doing whatever lies within its province to do. No practicable measure that is embraced within its legitimate sphere is overlooked. It bears as open and unembarrassed testimony against slavery; it ranks it among the chief evils with which the Gospel must grapple; it sustains no ministers in slave States who are implicated in this sin; it claims it as the right and the duty of the missionaries so to bring the Gospel to bear on this subject that the moral sense of their people shall be awakened and enlightened, and they may be led to free themselves from its guilt. When the missionary, in fulfillment of this duty, encounters opposition and obloquy, he is sustained by the sympathy and pecuniary aid of the Society, as long as there is hope of usefulness; and then, when duty bids him depart, he is assisted to enter other fields.

In consequence of this policy of the Society, advances, grateful to every christian heart, have been made on this subject by individual minds, by churches, and by communities; and our faith is so strong that "it is the tendency of the Gospel, where it is preached in its purity, to destroy sin in all its forms," that the Society intends to persevere in thus preaching it, and to make still more perfect proof of this efficacy. It will be found, therefore, not fleeing from slavery, and signaling its zeal by the severity of its denunciations at a distance; but meeting it on its own field, as Providence may permit, with this Heaven-appointed instrumentality, and speaking the truth in love on this as on other moral questions, await the results, under the unfailing guaranty, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world!"

In this position, the Society feels that it stands on the same ground as the great body of the New School Presbyterian and Congregational Churches—whose missionary organ it is—and is fully sustained by their action. Both of these important sections of the christian public have distinctly and repeatedly expressed their views on this general subject.

The General Assembly of 1818, in resolutions which are reaffirmed and commended to special notice by the Assembly of 1849, say:

"We consider the voluntary enslaving of one part of the human race by another, as a gross violation of the most precious and sacred rights of human nature, as utterly inconsistent with the law of God, which requires us to love our neighbor as ourselves, and as totally irreconcilable with the spirit and principles of the Gospel of Christ, which enjoins that 'all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them.'"

The Assembly of 1846, after referring to the action of previous Assemblies from 1787 to 1818, and declaring their adhesion to the sentiments expressed, declare:

"We cannot, therefore, withhold the expression of our deep regret that slavery should be continued and countenanced by any of the members of our churches; and we do earnestly exhort both them and the churches among whom it exists, to use all means in their power to put it away from them."

The Assembly of 1850 resolved:

"That the holding our fellow men in the condition of slavery, except in those cases where it is unavoidable, by the laws of the State, the obligations of guardianship, or the demands of humanity, is an offense, in the proper import of that term as used in the Book of Discipline, Chap. i., Sec. 3, and should be regarded and treated in the same manner as other offenses."

Similar sentiments have been expressed by many General and District Congregational Associations.

The "General Convention of Congregational Ministers and Delegates," held at Albany in 1852, also passed the following resolution, referring especially to the relation of slavery to Missions.

"Resolved, That in the opinion of this Convention it is the tendency of the Gospel, wherever it is preached in its purity, to correct all social evils, and to destroy sin in all its forms; and that it is the duty of missionary societies to grant aid to churches in slaveholding States, in the support of such ministers only as shall so preach the Gospel, and inculcate the principles and application of gospel discipline, that, with the blessing of God, it shall have its full effect in awakening and enlightening the moral sense in regard to slavery, and in bringing to pass the speedy abolition of that stupendous wrong; and that wherever a minister is not permitted so to preach, he should, in accordance with the directions of Christ in such cases, 'depart out of that city.'"

After such expressions of concurrent views of the principles and policy appertaining to this difficult and painful subject, may not the Society, in an honest endeavor to carry them out with all fidelity, count upon the confidence and coöperation of all true friends of freedom and humanity; and hope for continually increasing triumphs of the Gospel, gained through the enlightened judgments and consciences of those to whom it is preached.

LIGHTS AND SHADES OF MISSIONARY EXPERIENCE.

*Roman Catholic Intolerance.

A brief sketch of the religious trials of a lady may not be uninteresting.—Her parents and friends are Dutch Catholics; but her husband was an American, a brother of one of the female members of our church. On the death of her husband, her father offered to take her home, and provide for her and her three interesting little boys; but she, desirous of escaping the influence of the Romish religion, and of bringing up her children as Protestants, although poor, declined the offer, preferring to support herself by her own efforts. Accordingly she obtained a small dwelling of a brother-in-law, paying him rent. For a time she was allowed to live in peace, but soon her brothers and brother-in-law, perceiving that she attended Protestant meetings, associated with Protestant ladies in the sewing society, &c., began to disturb her. At length, finding their efforts to draw her back into Romanism unsuccessful, her brother-in-law informed her that she must leave his premises.

In the meantime, fearing a rupture, she had been corresponding with her late husband's friends here, relative to her removal to Iowa. Her friends here became much interested in her case, especially her brother and sister-in-law, who kindly invited her to come and share with them the home which the Lord had given them. So that when the heartless, cruel mandate of her relative in New-York came, she meekly replied, "Very well, I know where I can go." Then packing up her little all, she set out for this place, where she was kindly received by her friends; and, at our next subsequent communion, she publicly professed faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Does not this look a little like persecution? A poor, widowed daughter and sister, turned out of house and home, by those who should have been her protectors and helpers, and compelled to seek a home in this wilderness land, because she wishes to shield her little ones from the influence of the religion of her fathers, in which she has herself been educated, but is now aware of its danger to the soul, and asks to be permitted to worship God "according to the dictates of her own conscience."

A Roman Catholic paper at St. Louis, not long ago, made some very frank admissions in regard to the intolerance and persecuting spirit of Romanism. It intimates, too, that the reason why other papers of the same faith are not equally candid is, because they are either afraid, in this country, to confess the whole truth, or have too much policy to do so. In defending his course against the rebuke of one of his more prudent coadjutors, the editor uses the following explicit language:

"Is this doctrine of Toleration a christian doctrine, or is it not? Does it come from heaven or hell—from God or the Devil? Do we see anything of it in the Bible, in the Fathers, in the actions or writings of the Saints, in the treatises of the doctors of the Church? Was it heard of before the birth of Protestantism? Has it not been condemned by the Council of Constance, and repeatedly by the Supreme Pontiffs? Is it anything more [as advocated by some temporizing Catholic organs] than a convenient theory got up, that Catholics, living among Protestants, may meet with less ill will? * * * May we not expect the Church and christian rulers to act again as they have acted? Is it not our boast that the Church never changes; and is not her history an open book which all may read, which we cannot close if we would, and of which we are accustomed to say that we have no cause to be ashamed?"

The editor says, however, that he is "not in favor of roasting heretics," and professes that, "if this sort of work is to be revived, if persecution is to be renewed, we should rather be its victims than its agents." But then he adds:—"We say that the temporal punishment of heresy is a mere question of expediency; that Protestants do not persecute us here, simply because they have not the power; and that, where we abstain from persecuting them, they are well aware that it is merely because we cannot do so, or think that by doing so we should injure the cause we wish to serve." How much, within the limits of these restraints, is left for dissenting Catholics to fear!

Popular Expurgation.

There has been, and still is, a large amount of immorality in some of the settlements. When I commenced my labors in this field, six months ago, there was a gang of horse thieves living in it, whose depredations had long been a cause of annoyance and terror to the surrounding country, and whose immoral influence has been very injurious to some of the settlements. But, a few months ago, a large number of citizens, said to belong to this and a neighboring county, assembled for the purpose of lynching or driving them away. The thieves promised that, if a reasonable time was given to them to dispose of their property, they would leave; and it is supposed that most of those who were actually engaged in the gang, have either left or will soon leave.

A Church Confirmed.

At a village sixteen miles west, containing 400 inhabitants, is another field in want of a laborer. A little church was formed here, about ten years since, by our Presbytery. They had supplies for a few years, but the place was isolated, and the roads bad, so that for the last five or six years nothing has been done for them, and they have gone down into forgetfulness, both of their own interest, and their duty to God. A few weeks since I made them a visit during the week. I talked with them about their Zion, and preached for them the next Sabbath, in a borrowed church. But I saw that they had hung their harp upon the willows, feeling that there was no hope for them. I told them that there was yet hope; that all the orphan churches of this land might have hope, for the American Home Missionary Society, who may be said to be the mother of us all, in this western country, is stretching out her hands to them. They seemed to feel the quickening influence of such kindness; their courage was somewhat revived, and they now feel that they shall live, and shall finally become a part of that great spiritual building of which Christ is the builder. There will be, when gathered up, about twelve members. Here, too, we find some good men, and may the Lord stimulate them to much prayerful, holy action.

Infidel Efforts Unsuccessful.

Last week was a week of continued infidel influence. The Saturday evening previous, and Monday and Tuesday evenings of last week, a lecturer on Spiritual Rappings tried his influence; his lectures being decidedly infidel. The three succeeding days, an agent for an Infidel Club in Boston, with their publications, was here, by day continually hawking his books about through the streets and in taverns, and lecturing at night. He says he was a Methodist preacher for seventeen years; now he is an Atheist. A man of our county, formerly a resident of this place, and a county officer, and once our representative to the Legislature, was with him, and using all his influence, (which, fortunately, is not much at present,) to induce the people to attend; and I can truly say, I have been not a little encouraged by the result. But very few would even notice him. I have heard of but one man's receiving any of his books, and that as boot between horses. Last Sabbath, having a full audience, I contrasted the condition of nations without the Bible, with that of christian nations, and asked my people to judge for themselves whether a religion exerting everywhere such an influence was an evil to our world—a delusion—or the Word of God a mere fable. In the evening a Methodist Missionary among the Indians preached here to a very full congregation. He ably described the wretchedness of these Indians, and contrasted their condition, mentally, physically and morally, with that of the whites; and then assured the congregation that our Christianity was what had caused the difference. They were heathen; we blessed with the Bible. The infidel has now gone; and I believe he succeeded in doing us but little hurt. A most manifest and striking change in public sentiment has taken place during the time I have been here with regard to the value of the christian religion; and this encourages me to hope the time may yet come when the spiritual seed here sown will be seen springing up and bearing fruit to the glory of God. Be not discouraged, brethren, in aiding us. In due time we shall reap.

Baptism of a Corpse.

Her spirit had just departed, and the body was now laid in the attitude of its last repose, when a Romish priest, attracted by the lamentations of the family, entered the apartments. Walking hastily up to the bed on which the lifeless body was lying, he demanded, "Has she been baptised? has she been baptised?" To this the mother of the deceased gave a negative answer, when the priest again said, "Give me a bowl of water." At this the friends with one consent exclaimed, "It is too late, she is dead! baptism now can do no good." Regardless, however, of their remonstrances, the priest obtained his bowl of water, and in an unknown tongue, in the midst also of loud conversation, accompanied by cries and many tears, he hurried through the ceremony of baptising a corpse. Astonished and disgusted, I did not think it best to interfere, fully believing that such a baptism is just as valuable for the dead as the living. I could not, however, but be struck with the singular consistency of baptising a corpse in an unknown tongue.

Strong Current for Temperance.

Little is said on the subject of temperance at the present time, but there is a strong temperance current here, which will not soon subside. Alcohol can be obtained by going twenty miles for it. Some will get it and drink and give to their companions. But public sentiment here is right on this subject. These hidden works of darkness are viewed in their proper light, and are held in just abhorrence by the community in general.

A Rum Shop Closed by the Ladies.

Some time ago, a grocery was opened by a German, who persisted in retailing strong drink in spite of various attempts to dislodge him. Unfortunately the law was on his side. He had complied with the provisions of the statute, which allows any one to sell on giving bonds to a certain amount, on the principle of the Wisconsin law.

A few weeks ago, the ladies determined to take the matter in hand. Thirty or more organized themselves into companies of six each, and commenced a course of systematic visitation, one company going on each day. At first, though the man was somewhat disconcerted at the unexpected honor of a visit from six ladies, he was disposed to treat the matter as a very good joke, and facetiously recommended his liquors to the visitors. The next day, when another company called, he became angry, and scolded and threatened. The day after, the visiting Committee found the front door of the store closed against them, but speedily made their way through the back door. By the middle of the week, the man became thoroughly alarmed; and about the hour he expected a visit, he locked his store, and went away. The ladies called as usual, but, of course, without gaining admittance. About sundown, however, the man returned, and had hardly got the shop opened, and everything ready to supply his waiting customers, when in filed the platoon of visitors, with their tongues unloosed, and their zeal raised to a higher pressure from having been the longer repressed. On Friday, the man was gone and his store closed most of the day. He returned towards evening, and not daring quite yet to open his store, had stopped in at the blacksmith's shop, and was there condoling with one or two friends, in fancied security, when his unwelcome visitors were again upon him with their faithful reproofs. On Saturday, not a single detachment, but the whole regiment of ladies waited upon him in a body, and labored with him sufficiently, as they thought, to last over the Sabbath. Meanwhile they circulated a paper, to which they procured the signatures of most of the families in that part of the town, pledging themselves to purchase nothing at that store so long as liquor was sold there. The next week, one of the man's bondsmen left the place, and being unable to get new bail, in consequence of the movement of these ladies, he discontinued the open sale of liquor.

Collateral Benefits of an Active Ministry.

My labors have been as usual—preaching, visiting, and aiding in the cause of education and general improvement. We have nine school districts in the town, containing 850 children, who draw the public money. The clerks of these districts all expect me to furnish teachers for their schools; and I have had the privilege of employing eleven teachers for these schools the present season, most of whom are pious, pray in their schools, and, as to qualifications, are quite in advance of those employed in former years. Six of these teachers I obtained from Platteville Academy, two from Beloit Seminary, and two from Massachusetts, sent out by Gov. Slade. A good share of the children in these schools are marshaled under the banner of the cold water army, have monthly meetings for addresses on the subject of temperance, and singing under the direction of their teachers. They expect me to preside. They are exerting a happy influence in society, and especially at their respective homes.

Thirty Years' Struggle with Debt.

I hardly know in what terms to express my gratitude for the relief afforded me by the last draft of eighty dollars, which came to hand a few days since. My memory goes back at least 45 years, and for more than 40 of them I have been burdened with debts. From the moment I purchased a Latin grammar or commenced my course of study for the ministry, until a few days after you sent me that draft, I have been in debt, and nearly all that long (or short) period, I have been paying interest. Surely, if the Apostle was right in saying that we should "owe no man anything," it is truly desirable that a minister should be able to reach such a scriptural standard as early in life as 50. "The desire accomplished is sweet to the soul." Since I have broached this subject, I feel like illustrating my habits of economy by a fact or two. The only watch I ever owned I still have for a companion in all my labors. It cost me $10 in 1827. The horse that has performed the offices of cars and steamboats for a much greater distance than the circumference of the earth, still claims me for as good a friend as 16 years ago.

Changes.

In taking a retrospect of the six years past, I can note progress in several particulars, both in the church and in the community. Then, there was but one school house in the township, familiarly known as the "Old Center," situated in the midst of the grove, about a mile and a half from the nearest house, the common property of the whole community, where ministers of every stamp and denomination resorted, to "hold forth," each in his own peculiar way and manner. Its furniture, such as is frequently found in such buildings in new settlements, viz.: slab seats without backs, a board running round the room, supported by pins in the logs, for writing desk; and, when used for preaching, the speaker stood in one corner with a board before him, one foot by three, on which to lay his books or manuscript; one end of it was sustained by the logs and the other by two stakes, having one half his congregation sitting with their backs and sides to him. Now, there are nine school houses, some well seated, with black boards and other conveniences for imparting instruction; two meeting houses, Methodist and Presbyterian, conveniently seated and furnished. Temperance and kindred subjects have exerted a salutary influence, and many vices which were then very prevalent have now almost entirely disappeared. Yet there is much, very much to be done to retain the position that has already been acquired.

What is the Home Missionary Work?

We can think of no subject that is more constantly rising in importance before the minds of American Christians, than the home missionary work. A few years ago, it was a question of sustaining a few scattered, feeble churches, and of sending missionaries to gather churches in the new settlements. It has now grown upon the hands of all denominations of evangelical Christians, till it has become an immense work. It meets us in our very doors, in the oldest of our settlements; and our most populous cities have become our most needy missionary fields; while our new settlements, rising up like magic over an immense extent of territory, threaten to outstrip all our efforts. Our country has become a central point of attraction to the world, and from the four quarters of the globe, the pent-up waters are flowing in upon us. Ireland has emptied herself upon our eastern shores, and continental Europe is pouring her thousands into our western valleys, while China has landed her ten thousands upon our Pacific coast. And still they come. What is to be the result, as to their influence, upon our country's destiny, remains to be seen. It is a problem that demands the serious consideration of every Christian in the land, especially of those whom God has blessed with this world's goods.

The Last shall be First.

Here is a missionary who is literally on the frontier; and yet from the account he gives of the spirit of the people in favor of improvement and reform, it seems probable that they will soon be superior to many communities in the East, who have had a quarter or a half century of Gospel cultivation.

On my West I can extend my labors indefinitely—to the Rocky Mountains, for ought that I know—so that I may, for the time being, claim the honor of being a frontier missionary. West of my field there are no post-offices, no school houses, no organized towns, no school districts. Indeed, in the western and southern parts of my own field, there are neither school houses nor school districts; and as to houses of worship, they are visions of the future—some of them of the distant future.

In addition to my Sabbath labors, since I moved, I have visited nearly every family in the settlement, distributing tracts and getting subscribers to the American Messenger. I have succeeded in getting it taken in every family except one, so far as I have gone. I have obtained 50 subscribers, and expect some 8 or 10 more. Also, the Child's Paper goes wherever there are children. We have regular monthly Temperance meetings and addresses. We had a groggery last season; but it is broken up, so that I do not know of any place where liquor can be had.

The Path of Obedience, the Path of Hope.

There was one, an intelligent man of middle age, who, though under religious influences in early childhood in New England, has for a number of years been a disbeliever in experimental religion, and part of the time professedly a Universalist. He attended occasionally during the early part of our meetings, impressed apparently more by the earnestness of Christians than by any direct view of truth. At length, one evening, as he returned home from the meeting, he was convinced that there was one obvious duty, (even though there were no such thing as experimental religion,) which he had utterly neglected; and that was, to acknowledge God in his family. This duty he determined at once to perform. Accordingly, the next morning, when his family were all gathered around the breakfast table, he confessed his sin in this respect, and his sorrow that, sustained by the bounty of God for so many years, he had never thanked him for his goodness. He then invited them all to kneel with him around the family altar. When he arose from prayer, as he afterwards told me, he felt willing and determined to do every other duty that God should make known to him. A feeling of gratitude arose in his heart, as he thought of the wonderful goodness of God in sparing one who, for more than forty years, had treated him with such neglect. He no longer felt that God was too strict in his law; it seemed to him that it would be a pleasure to serve God; that whether he were Christian or not—whether he were forgiven or not, he hardly knew, and scarcely thought; in either case, he meant to serve God. He felt relieved and happy, he hardly knew why; but his predominant feeling was one of gratitude. That evening he made the same statement to the congregation which he had made to his family in the morning.

Conquests of Grace.

One afternoon I chanced to pass the house where lived a Universalist and his wife, upon whom I had not called for a long while, and who never attended meeting. Impelled more by a sense of duty than by any expectation of doing good, I stepped in. The wife was alone, and after a few moments conversation, I asked her if she loved the Savior and had a hope in him. She seemed at once affected by the question, and answered that she had formerly believed herself a Christian, but, now, for a long while had had no good hope. I told her of Christ's love, his willingness to forgive, and invited her to come, like the returning prodigal.

gal, immediately to him. She promised to do so, and I prayed with her and left. Afterwards her husband came in, and noticing a change in her appearance, inquired the cause. He then went out and invited some of their young friends to come in and dance at their house that evening, in order to dispel her feelings. They came, but she persuaded them to leave without dancing. I called a few days after, but, finding another lady with her, left a book for her to read, and was coming away without conversing with her on her own condition, when she burst into tears and asked me to pray before I left. On inquiring, she said she had kept her promise, and trusted that she had found forgiveness. The other lady seemed much affected as we knelt, and with thanks to God for his grace renewedly consecrated ourselves to him.

“Down East.”

On twelve occasions the last year, I have officiated at funerals, once, at a distance, over a bad road, of 40 miles. Through all this extent, and onward 30 miles further to the Canada line, and I know not how much further, there is an entire destitution of religious privileges, excepting a rare instance, at two or three points, of an occasional sermon. I was more deeply impressed on the occasion just referred to than ever before, with a sense both of the religious and other privations and hardships of the people, especially of those engaged in the lumbering business. The family where I stopped, tarrying two nights with them, were separated from their nearest neighbor, in one direction, by a space of ten miles; and in the other, by a space of five miles. The oldest of the three children, a lad of fourteen, died suddenly. At the first attack of the disease, the father was apprised that he could not live till a physician could be sent for and reach him—the nearest being in this place, and the road almost impassable. The best he could do was, to send some 15 or 20 miles for an aged Indian doctor, who came and did what he could, though to no purpose. The child died. Fifteen miles was the nearest place at which a coffin could be made; and the same distance, in another direction, was the nearest place at which help could be procured to make other preparations for the funeral. During the day I spent there, I visited, at a distance of five miles, a young man who was nearly killed by the falling of a tree. Another had badly frozen his ears and feet. A third had been knocked down by his cattle and a heavy load passed over one of his limbs, with which he limped, driving his team, some half a dozen miles. He had travelled ten hours in accomplishing a ten mile journey. Several others, I learned, had nearly perished; some for want of food; some from cold; others, by other hardships, caused by the blocking snow storm of December last. Six months of the twelve, in this region, annually wear away life in these exposures.

Enduring Influence of a Mother.

A peculiar and most interesting feature of the revival is, that it has taken hold of quite a number of the most influential men in this community—men well known as Skeptics and Deists, and averse to religion. One of this number, when sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind, said, “I have been for twenty years on board of the piratical ship of Deism, and my prayer to God now is, that I may do as much for Christ and his cause, as I have done to oppose him.” Another infidel of talent and respectability, under the power of the truth, bowed upon his knees, and cried in agony: “God of my mother, have mercy on me!” His mother is a devoted Christian in the state of New York.

“God of my Mother!” How much is revealed in that single exclamation; how conclusively it proves that this man had a mother, whose faithfulness left its impress on his soul too deep to be obliterated by time and sin; and how eloquently it pleads with other christian mothers to be diligent in inculcating the religion of Jesus, and encourages them to expect the quickening of the seed which they sow, though it lie buried long.

Cheap House of Worship Built.

Our only place of worship was a storehouse on the banks of the river, and of this we were deprived after a few Sabbaths. We then succeeded in procuring a third loft over a store. We soon found this room too small and very uncomfortable, crowded as it uniformly was. The thought of spending the winter thus was painful to us, as many who wished to attend upon the preached Gospel would be deprived the privilege. The question arose, "What can be done?" On the 10th of December we met for consultation. At this meeting, a plan was presented, the expense estimated for putting up a shanty meeting house, 24 feet by 42, with shingled roof, covering it with rough boards, battening the cracks, ceiling the inside with half inch boards, and filling between with saw dust. If $250 could be raised by subscription, we resolved to undertake the work. It devolved upon myself to raise the sum if possible. The success was beyond our most sanguine expectations. In two days, $350 were subscribed, and some of the timber for the frame on the ground. We were not, by cold or storm, prevented from prosecuting our labor till the work was completed. The second Sabbath in January, we were permitted to worship God in our own sanctuary. The house was filled, and thanksgiving, I doubt not, from hearts sincere, ascended to God for such signal manifestations of his goodness. This house, we expect, will accommodate us, until we are able to put up a permanent building, though the prospect is, we shall soon need more room. The ladies, encouraged by our success, immediately undertook to raise funds sufficient to procure lamps, Bibles and curtains.'

Extent and Variety of Home Missionary Labors.

The amount of set ministerial public labor required in this town, is two sermons on every Sabbath day, and one weekly evening sermon or lecture, with the usual amount of extra public labor in connection with lyceum lectures, educational interests, and the various benevolent local institutions. I have already learned that missionaries are called on more than others in all these matters, because, from the very fact of their being connected with the A. H. M. S., the public take it for granted they are men duly qualified. How important, then, that we sustain the character thus endorsed by the Society!

My experience painfully taught me in the East, that infidels propagated their principles extensively through the lyceums. Although we are not cursed here with the same forms of infidelity, yet we have a great deal of the Abner Kneeland kind, and I feel it important to be "on hand" at our lyceum, to guard our young men from insidious attacks made on Christianity and the Bible.

Christian Emigrants Welcome.

The great tide of emigration sets westward. The flood brings along some valuable families. Two families are about settling here from western New York. One of them a Deacon of a Congregational Church, with a large and intelligent family. It will be an invaluable addition to our society. I cannot describe to you the pleasure with which the home missionary hails such arrivals. After having fought the battle almost single handed for years, he knows how to appreciate fresh troops. But a small part of the emigration stops here. It is pouring into the new counties on the North and West.

Usefulness of Nelson on Infidelity.

I have circulated several copies of this book, both in English and German, in this region. I sold to the man above named, a copy in English, through one of my elders, who is a neighbor of his. His reading of that has resulted in his renouncing his infidelity; and he is now found regularly in the sanctuary. And at our meeting for church building, he was foremost among the counselors for the object, and seemed quite intent on having every thing done rightly, and done now, while they all have leisure to attend to it. He is a man of much wealth for this country.

Wonderful Rapidity of Growth.

At our recent meeting at Oshkosh, one brother related an interesting incident in regard to the past. He said, "Five years ago, I crossed the river at this place, and having the name of a gentleman, I inquired for him, and was pointed to the second frame building in the place, where Mr. J. was at work. On entering, instead of a stranger, as I expected, I found a well known member of my former church. After the kindly greetings and the commingling of tears of gladness, at the unexpected meeting of those who were more than friends—brethren in Christ—notice was given, all through the place, of an evening lecture, and the house was filled with eager listeners, to the first sermon, probably, ever preached in this place. An appointment was left for four weeks afterwards, when I preached to a full audience that came together from somewhere; I knew not whence."

I told the brother, that every part of his interesting narration seemed to me perfectly credible, but the single declaration that it was but five years ago. For we could look down Main street, thickly built upon both sides with large buildings and stores, having all the business appearance of a little city; two meeting houses, dwelling houses in every direction, steam saw mills on both sides of the river, and seven steamboats that touch at that place, with 2,000 inhabitants. All this, and much more, looked incredible as the result of five years. But, nevertheless, it is true; and this is but a specimen of growing villages along this line of improvements. Now is the time to mold the character of these places.

Comfort and Persecutions.

The false notions of many German emigrants respecting the nature of "liberty," in connection with the hatred which the natural heart feels to the truths of the Gospel, have broken out in acts of persecution towards some of our missionaries. Violence to their persons, as well as opposition to their doctrines, is not unfrequently threatened; and they are obliged to feel that they are "in perils oft."

It is too true, that many of the Germans throw off, in this land, the restraints of Christianity. One reason, among others, is a false conception of freedom. "We have been oppressed long enough by kings and priests in Germany," I have heard many say; "you can't get us under the yoke here again." But these very individuals are to be reached by the power of the Gospel, if preached to them in a clear, faithful manner.

I think the devil must somehow feel that his dominion here is in danger, therefore he is at work and is roaring. They do with the people as the boy with his dog, when he says: "Seek him! seek him!" Yea, one minister, and a ruling elder too, went with this subject into the pulpit, where he remarked that either God or I myself must be a liar. One man, after a sermon which was too pointed for him, said: "If he preaches one more sermon like this I will crush his last bone."

Plea of the Hungry.

In the places west of me I have, though small yet, as large audiences as I can reasonably expect—the settlements are new and the people scattered. They are very solicitous to have meetings held among them. Mentioning to them, during one of my visits, that I did not know how long I could continue to labor with them, I was almost pained with their expressions of solicitude on the subject. They plead for the preaching of the Gospel as some of our eastern friends have not heard hungry souls plead, else there would not be the lack there is of men for this field.
